Puri: Devotees might catch glimpse of Holy Trinity soon

POST NEWS NETWORK

Puri, August 6: Devotees may soon have the opportunity to get glimpses of Lord Jagannath and his siblings at Srimandir here, said Srijagannath Temple Managing Committee member Ramchandra Dasmahapatra Thursday.

Dasmahapatra claimed that deliberations are on to introduce online registration for devotees to visit the 12th century shrine. However, sources in the Shree Jagannath Temple Administration (SJTA) made it clear that the shrine authorities have not taken any decision on the issue. Many devotees, meanwhile, opposed any move to introduce online registration system for visiting Srimandir.

According to Dasmahapatra, the residents of Puri city would get the chance to visit Srimandir in the initial phase. Subsequently, devotees from other places would have the opportunity to visit the shrine and pay obeisance to the Holy Trinity. "A blueprint is being devised to introduce an online registration system for devotees. Devotees can register themselves by submitting their identity cards and other details. The shrine authorities would inform the devotees regarding the date and time of their visit to the Srimandir," he said.

It is worth mentioning here that the temple authorities had introduced a set of guidelines for devo-

■ GOLD TO FETCH HIGHER LOAN AMOUNT

AGENCIES

Mumbai, August 6: The Reserve Bank Thursday kept interest rates on hold to contain elevated inflation, even as it allowed banks to restructure some corporate and individual loans.

It also raised the limit of loans that can be availed against gold ornaments and jewellery and announced additional liquidity measures over and above those that have already been taken to reduce the asset-liability challenges in the NBFC sector over the last 3-4 months.

After reducing the interest rate by a total of 115 basis points since February, the six-member Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) voted unanimously in favour of the status quo, leaving repo rate at 4 per cent, RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das said on the three-day deliberations of the panel.

The committee expects inflation to remain elevated in Q2 (July-September), ease only in the second half of 2020-21 fiscal.

The 115 basis point rate cut this year was on top of the 135 basis points reduction in an easing cycle last year.

"Given the uncertainty surrounding the inflation outlook and extremely weak state of the economy in the midst of an unprecedented shock from the ongoing pandemic, the MPC decided to keep the policy rate on hold," he said.

Das said the central bank would remain "watchful for a durable reduction in inflation to use the available space to support the revival of the economy."

MPC meet highlights

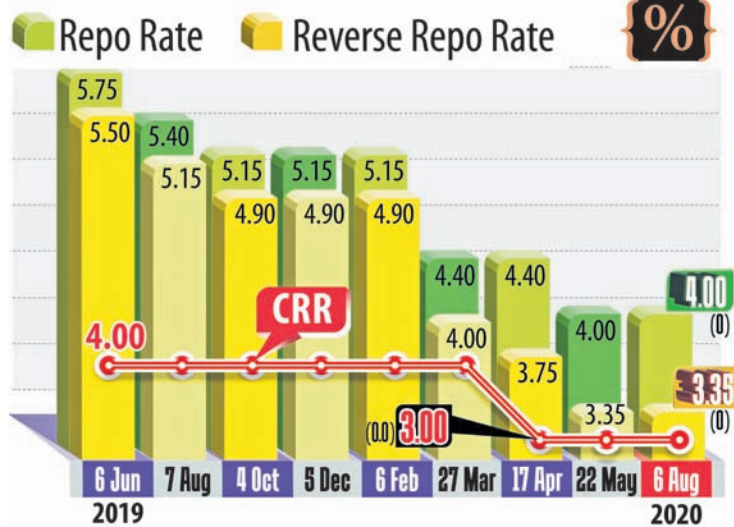

- Policy rate unchanged at 4%, reverse repo at 3.35%
- Loans against gold enhanced to 90% of the value from current 75%
- Select stressed MSME borrowers eligible for loan restructuring
- GDP growth to be negative in current fiscal

The committee, however, unanimously decided to continue to keep its accommodative policy stance "as long as necessary to revive growth".

Report on Chinese intrusions vanishes

Denying China is in our territory and removing documents from websites won't change the facts

New Delhi, August 6: A document acknowledging Chinese intrusion into Indian territory was taken down Thursday by the Defence Ministry two days after it was uploaded on the MoD website.

"Chinese aggression has been increasing along the Line of Actual Control (LAC) and more particularly in Galwan Valley since May 5, 2020. The Chinese side has transgressed in areas of Kungrang Nala, Gogra and north bank of Pangong Tso Lake on May 17-18," stated the document.

The document said ground level interactions were held between the armed forces of both sides to defuse the situation. A Corps commanders' flag meeting was held on June 6. "However, a violent face-off incident took place between the two sides on June 15, resulting in casualties on both sides."

Subsequently, said the document, a second corps commander level meeting took place on June 22 to discuss the modalities of de-escalation. "While engagement and dialogue at military and diplomatic level is continuing to arrive at mutually acceptable consensus, the present standoff is likely to be prolonged," the ministry said.

Meanwhile, Congress asked the government why the report mentioning Chinese 'transgressions' in eastern Ladakh was taken down with party leader Rahul Gandhi alleging that removal of the document from websites would not change facts. The document, was removed Thursday morning following publication of a media report based on it.

"Forget standing up to China, India's PM lacks the courage even to name them," Gandhi tweeted while tagging the news report based on the Defence ministry document.

The ministry report for the month of June had also said the situation in eastern Ladakh arising out of "unilateral aggression" by China continues to be sensitive and requires close monitoring as well as prompt action.

Almost 50 per cent posts vacant; major equipment defunct

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, August 6: Even though thousands of patients from across Odisha and neighbouring states rush to All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS), Bhubaneswar in case of emergencies, apathy of the institute's management is putting their lives in danger. An RTI reply has brought to fore massive irregularities in this premier health institute of the state.

The RTI filed by noted Human rights activist Akhand revealed that almost half of the faculty positions at the hospital lie vacant. Similarly, various medical equipments needed for emergency surgical operations have been defunct since installation.

The data revealed that the AIIMS recorded an increase of around two lakh more patients during 2018-19 than the previous year.

The AIIMS in its reply to the RTI application mentioned that around 114 posts have been lying vacant out of the total sanctioned 305 faculty post. The percentage of vacancy stands at 37.37%.

Similarly, around 49 per cent non-faculty posts including regular, contractual and deputation have been lying vacant at AIIMS. There are 1,864 non-faculty vacant posts as against the sanctioned strength of 3,776 in the institute.

Most astonishingly, several life saving machines have been lying defunct since their installations at AIIMS, touted as the most advanced medical institution.

The defibrillator machine that restores the normal heartbeats of a cardiac patient by sending an electric pulse or shock to the heart at the most critical moment has been lying defunct.

"We have issued advertisement for the appointment of faculty but there are very few applicants and most of these are reserved posts. The defunct equipment mentioned in the RTI reply constitute a small percentage of the total equipment in use. All these machines are under warranty," said Gitanjali Batmanabane, director, Bhubaneswar AIIMS.

BCCI, Vivo cancel IPL deal for 1 year; may resume later

AGENCIES

New Delhi, August 6: With 44 days left for the 13th edition of the Indian Premier League, the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) has decided to suspend the partnership with title sponsors Vivo.

This comes after the IPL Governing Council had Sunday decided to retain the company as title sponsors. "The Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) and vivo Mobile India Pvt Ltd have decided to suspend their partnership for Indian Premier League in 2020," BCCI said in a media release.

The move to retain Vivo Sunday had seen a lot of backlash and there were even trends on social media about boycotting the league and the BCCI felt that it was in national interest to suspend the sponsorship deal as fan sentiments are a priority for the board.

Earlier Monday, the Confederation of All India Traders (CAIT), which is spearheading a movement for boycott of Chinese goods, also criticised BCCI's decision to retain VIVO, the Chinese company, as IPL's title sponsor.

Breastfeeding safe now but take precautions, say AIIMS docs

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, August 6: Doctors at the All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS), Bhubaneswar Thursday claimed that breastfeeding during the Covid-19 pandemic is safe but preventive measures should be taken by the mothers.

WORLD BREASTFEEDING WEEK

The experts said that available research shows transmission of Covid-19 through breast milk is highly uncommon and hasn't been reported till date (as per advisories from Unicef and WHO).

Several neonatal, community medicine specialists from AIIMS and Unicef, Odisha in a media interaction tried to allay the fears against the practice of breastfeeding by mothers. Most of them even advised to continue with breastfeeding even if the mother is Covid positive.

"There is no evidence of vertical transmission of coronavirus from mother to child from breast-feeding. We at our hospital have seen three such cases of Covid positive mothers giving birth to kids and nursing them. It is quite safe but the mother must practice safe hygienic practice like washing hands and wearing masks while nursing the child," said Dr

Pankaj Mohanty, Associate Professor, Department of Neonatology, AIIMS, Bhubaneswar.

SAFE PRACTICES

- Always wash hands with soap and water before and after contact with the infant
- Routinely clean surfaces, which the mother has been in contact with, using soap and water
- If the mother has respiratory symptoms, use of a face mask when caring for the infant is recommended
- Maintain physical distancing with other people and avoid touching eyes, nose and mouth

The doctors said that newborns should not be isolated from the mothers after birth.

Dr Swayam Pragyan Parida, Associate Professor, Community Medicine Department from AIIMS, Bhubaneswar said, "There are several myths doing the rounds at this time of pandemic which include bar on breastfeeding if mother is sick or Covid positive but the fact is it depends upon the kind of illness and in fact, mother's milk itself acts as a treatment to the child."

Dr Sonu H Subba, Head Community Medicine and Family Medicine, AIIMS, Bhubaneswar, said that Covid-19 pandemic has added the post partum depression of many new mothers.

Saurav Bhattacharjee, Nutrition Specialist from Unicef, Odisha said that breastfeeding prevents the newborns from several diseases and must not be shunned.

"Breastfeeding in the initial phases of a kid helps in boosting their immune system which can help them in fighting against diarrhoea, pneumonia and many other diseases besides ensuring their overall mental and physical well-being. The healthcare workers must counsel mothers for breastfeeding post birth especially during the pandemic time," he said.

August first week is observed as World Breastfeeding Week every year to improve the practices among the mothers of small children and enable the creation of a supportive environment for successful breastfeeding of babies.

‘Hospital on Wheels’ for non-Covid patients in Ganjam

AGENCIES

Berhampur, August 6: With several hospitals turning away non-Covid patients, amid the surge in coronavirus cases, the Ganjam administration has launched mobile health units to provide them basic medical services at their doorsteps.

The initiative—Hospital on Wheels—will be of great help to those in need of immediate treatment, especially in the rural parts of Ganjam, among the worst-affected districts in the state, a senior official said.

Five mobile health units, each consisting of at least one doctor, a pharmacist and other health-care workers, will provide medical aid to those suffering from ailments other than Covid-19, District Collector Vijay Amruta Kulange said.

“If any patient exhibits symptoms of Covid-19, doctors will advise him or her to undergo swab tests. The patient will be shifted to a Covid Care Centre or a hospital if he or she tests positive for the disease,” the Collector said.

Two mobile units will cover the Berhampur Municipal Corporation (BeMC) area, and the rest will cater to patients in three subdivisions—Berhampur, Bhanjanagar and Chhatrapur, Kulange said.

“The doctors at the mobile health units will attend to patients suffering from diseases other than Covid-19, much like what is being done at the clinics of Urban Primary Health Centres in the BeMC area,” the Collector explained.

Lauding the initiative, health activist Suresh Chandra Sahu said many ailing residents in the remote areas, who do not have access to medical facilities amid the pandemic-induced restrictions, will benefit from the move.

“While residents of the BeMC area can visit a nearby clinic for treatment, those living in the rural parts do not enjoy any such facility. The mobile units will be able to bridge the gap to an extent,” he said.

Outfit opposes privatisation of Covid care

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, August 6: Members of civil society, Thursday, opposed the attempt of the state government to allow more private corporate hospitals to handle the Covid care in the state citing lack of accountability of the players.

In a submission to the State Chief Secretary Asit Tripathy, members of the Lok Sakti Abhiyan have asked the state government to take the onus of treatment of the viral disease to ensure accountability of the public health crisis.

“It is matter of regret that the state government preferred to open Covid treatment centres in private corporate hospitals where the authority or their doctors are not accountable to public interest. The government hospitals are more responsive and more responsible for public health,” Prafulla Samantara, Chairman of Lok Sakti Abhiyan said.

He also cited lack of facility and care given to the COVID patients from the state.

“There are flaws, negligence and mismanagement in dealing with Covid patients and in COVID centres. There are covid centres which are lacking basic sanitary needs. There are insufficient doctors to look in to so for the treatment is concerned,” a communication from the outfit to the chief secretary said.

State pushes farmers into distress: Cong

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, August 6: The Odisha Congress, Thursday, said that the farmers in the state are staring at crop loss and damage due to the lackadaisical approach of the state government.

Congress leader Debasish Patnaik Thursday held a press conference and attacked the state government over its alleged apathy towards the farmers of the state.

He said, “People engaged in farming are struggling for survival. The lack of drip irrigation and proper drainage system has created new problems. The farmers may lose their farm produce due to this. Many may not even get their insurance.”

He also said that the state has been misleading the people with regard to connecting the farmers with social media like Twitter and WhatsApp. “The state government is more interested in doing misleading publicity on social media. A BJD MP has now opened help centre to help the people of Odisha to get jobs outside Odisha. The state government has failed in skill mapping of migrant workers and they would return back to other states for jobs,” he said.

The Congress leader said that the state government is running out of urea fertilizer for the farmers.

“They have failed to arrange such agricultural inputs to ensure the livelihood of farmers. This can lead to loss of their livelihood. The government is busy preaching the farmers through social media.”

Mayurbhanj: Rural housing scheme reduced to debris

MONEY EXCHANGING HANDS RANGES FROM ₹10K TO ₹20K PER UNIT

POST NEWS NETWORK

Kaptipada, August 6: Rural housing scheme for the poor has gone haywire in Mayurbhanj district with the rich and influential people grabbing all the benefits while actual beneficiaries stay deprived of it, a report said.

The harrowing tale of a 67-year old widow of Aswakoti village under this block becoming homeless after the collapse of her house is a case in this point. She has taken shelter in her neighbour's verandah after her house caved in due to heavy rain Wednesday night.

The woman was identified as Jema Dei, a native of the village under Lavanyadeipur panchayat in this block. The woman was living alone in a thatched house as a portion of the house collapsed in incessant rain that battered the area Wednesday night.

She escaped death by a whisker and has taken shelter in her neighbour's verandah. She is living on food given by others as it is difficult for her to cook in her neighbour's verandah. She no longer feels safe to live in the damaged house as it might fully collapse anytime soon.

However, the reality is different in this tribal block where many poor beneficiaries are getting deprived of the scheme while the rich and influential people are reaping the benefits, he alleged. This has happened due to a nexus between the officials and public representatives, he added.

A tribal, who has made it to the list, said on condition of anonymity that the officials and public representatives are demanding bribe from them despite their name finding place in the list.

They are collecting bribes ranging from ₹10,000 to ₹20,000 from gullible villagers to allot work order for a house. The name of a beneficiary is struck off from the list if he objects to their demand, he said.

Ganjam Collector for utmost caution in August

POST NEWS NETWORK

Berhampur, August 6: People in Ganjam district should be more careful as August is likely to be more challenging, District Collector Vijay Amruta Kulange Thursday said.

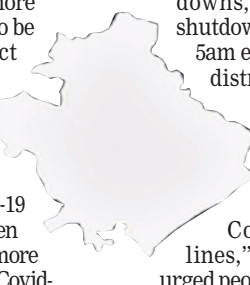

"The district is recently witnessing a gradual decline in the daily spike of Covid-19 cases. But it can never be taken lightly. Rather, we should be more careful and strictly adhere to Covid-19 guidelines since August month is a crucial one," Kulange said.

"Besides two-day weekly shutdowns, there will be shutdown from 4pm to 5am every day in the district in August. Legal action will be taken against those found violating Covid-19 guidelines," he added. He urged people to voluntarily report about their health conditions if they suffer from flu or experience any symptoms of Covid-19.

Notably, the district Thursday crossed 12,000 mark with 268 new cases. Ganjam's Covid-19 tally now stands at 12,080. Keonjhar Covid tally close to 1K; 52 local cases spark fears KEONJHAR: With 56 fresh positive cases Thursday, Keonjhar's tally inched towards 1000 mark. The district's tally now stands at 992.

What has been the cause of concern for both the administration and local residents is that out of 56 fresh cases, 52 patients have contracted the virus locally.

While the administration is yet to give the details about the local cases, all the patients have so far been shifted to Covid-19 hospitals. This apart, while close relatives of these patients have been asked to isolate themselves, lists of those who came in contact with these patients are under preparation.

Of the total 56 positive cases reported Thursday, only four were from quarantine centres. Among the total 992 cases, 689 patients have been discharged from Covid-19 hospitals and 299 patients are undergoing treatment.

Timber smuggling rampant in Dhenkanal as forest dept looks away

POST NEWS NETWORK

Parjang, August 6: Costly timbers can be seen lying near Suratnali village under Dihadol section of Mahabirod range in Dhenkanal forest division these days. Local forest officials, when asked why the timbers have not been seized, said seizure is not the solution. "We are looking for timber mafias," they argued.

Local residents alleged that the forest department's attitude was only encouraging the timber mafia to go on chopping trees.

A number of residents from Suratnali village under Chandpur panchayat recently spotted sal, teak timbers lying in nearby forest. Having known that the timber mafia smuggles these timbers to Panigengutia, Batasingh, Rod, Palasahi and areas on the other side of Brahmani river including Bido, Khadagaprasad, Nadhara and Dhalpur, they immediately intimidated forest guard Niranjana Nayak about the smuggling. Last Thursday, a team led by ranger Subrat Behera visited the spot, found the timbers lying in the forest and returned. Surprisingly, they did not seize them. This has disheartened the villagers.

The forest department across the state has been asking nearby villagers to act as informers to keep a check on timber smuggling. Curiously in Mahabirod range, they do not even bother to seize timbers here when informed by us, rued a local man. The non-cooperation by the forest department has irked villagers who alleged that the timber mafias were smuggling the timbers in cahoots with forest department officials.

When contacted, forester Sudarshan Sethy refuted the allegation that forest department officials are acting hand in gloves with the timber mafias. "The ranger has asked us not to bring timbers as there is no space in the office to keep them. Our focus is to nab the mafias," he added.

Besides, the ranger threw the ball to the DFO's court. Ranger Subrat Behera said, "DFO has directed us to nab the timber mafias instead of carrying out seizures. That is why we have not seized the timbers."

After coming to know about Runu, our correspondent visited her at her tea stall. She was giving the tea a nice stir in a pot. When asked on what prompted her to be a roadside tea seller, she retorted back the much heard reply "It is COVID-19 that has pushed actors, actresses and folk art performers to the brink," she replied.

Runu said she started her career as an opera artiste with 'Triranga Gananatya'. Later she joined 'Konark Gananatya' in 2002 and has still been associated with the troop. Over the years, she has performed a spectrum of roles starting from a dancer to a comedian.

"Konark Gananatya's Badnam Heli Tori Pain, Kaincha Mali, Brahma Chandala, Akhi Abujhaku Luha Abujha and Dukha Deigala

Daradi Bandhu are some of the plays that gave me great satisfaction. After every stage show, we are eager to know audience's reviews. And their reviews about my roles in the said plays were tremendous," she asserted.

She and her husband Litu Mohapatra, who works as a manager for artistes, had to return to their village as staging of opera shows was not allowed following the outbreak of coronavirus and subsequent restrictions.

Back at home, her family comprises a differently-abled father Nishikant Rout, a sick mother Tapati and their daughter.

"While we are somehow able to meet the daily family expenses, the medicine cost of my parents keeps ailing me. We earn ₹200 to ₹300 per day from selling tea and snacks. I hope soon everything will become normal and we will again entertain people," she said.

Nayagarh, August 6: An ancient cave where once Vaishnobadevi was worshipped was discovered in Melatoila hill near Bodhipatana of Narendrapur panchayat under Ranpur block in Nayagarh district.

Believing it to be the abode of Vaishnobadevi, people have already started worshipping the deity.

According to the villagers, it was a goatherd that first spotted the cave while tending goats nearby. He immediately informed the elderly villagers about his discovery.

Hearing about the cave from the goatherd, the villagers first did not believe him. However, they later decided to visit the spot to see for themselves if he was telling the truth.

Reaching the spot, they were taken aback and stood rooted to the spot after seeing the cave.

They found out that at one point Vaishnobadevi used to be worshipped inside the cave.

According to the villagers, after sunset they hear the sound of ululation (Hula huli) resonating from the cave.

MYSTERY ABOUNDS

It was a goatherd that first spotted the cave while tending goats nearby and immediately informed the elderly villagers about his discovery

As the news spread, people from nearby villagers have started making a beeline at the cave to offer 'puja' to the deity. Some elderly villagers quoting their forefathers said that years ago saints used to stay in the cave. They used to be the worshippers of Vaishnobadevi.

As time rolled on, those saints left the cave due to some reasons and since then the cave had been lying abandoned and unnoticed covered with wild growth of bushes and trees.

Local people have once again started worshipping Vaishnobadevi. The elderly villagers said there are seven rooms inside the cave. "More research is required to know more about the cave," they observed.

Shine & slump

Gold prices are making new records with every passing day. The precious metal (24 carat) Thursday inched up by Rs 225 to Rs 56,590 per 10 grams. It had closed Wednesday with an astounding gain of Rs 1,365. Weak dollar and concerns over economic growth worsened by galloping virus cases in the world are holding up international gold prices, as investors in western countries continue to put their faith in the yellow metal. Silver and gold have been the best performing assets so far this year with 40 per cent and 50 per cent returns, respectively and there is still a lot of upside. Ever since the outbreak of the pandemic, the price of gold has been relentlessly rising. There is a marked contradiction in the demand and price matrix, though. Demand for physical gold has slumped while its price has been escalating. Gold imports in the June quarter (April-June) saw a sharp plunge at 70 per cent to 64 tonnes—an 11-year low—as against 213 tonnes during the same period last year. What drives the current surge in gold prices? The demand drop is largely due to massive economic disruptions caused by the Covid-19. The pandemic broke out when the entire world was already in the grip of a global slowdown. Public demand has evaporated and so has consumption. People's incomes have drastically fallen. Job opportunities have gone through the window. Workers across industries and regions are struggling to live with truncated pay and job losses. In such desperate times, it is only natural that people hold on to whatever savings they are left with. Certainly not a time to spend on gold. Discretionary spend on gold, a major factor behind movement of gold, has come to naught. There is a drastic fall in demand for gold in China and India—world's two largest gold consumers. However, the fall in demand for gold in Asia has been more than made up by a surge in demand in western countries. Investors in Europe and America are piling into gold as a safe haven in the pandemic-ravaged economy, helping push its prices. Influx into exchange-traded funds this year in Europe and the US are at record level.

Although India is a major consumer of gold, its market is highly price sensitive. Buyers tend to shy away from gold whenever there is a markup in its price. The current slump in gold demand is largely due to its prohibitive prices. Moreover, repeated lockdowns/shutdowns in the country have ensured that businesses are shuttered and people stay inside. Shops have shut and malls have emptied. As regards lockdowns/shutdowns, there is no clear direction from the government. The pattern of lockdowns and shutdowns has so far been rather erratic. Shops and commercial establishments are a confused lot. The fluidity of the situation has forced them to shun planning. The sharp rise in Covid-19 caseloads in July and August has dashed hopes of an early reopening of the economy. The situations are likely to remain so in near to medium term. If the demand in India and China for physical gold bounces back, the price will further run up. These are rather uncertain times for all stakeholders of gold such as traders, dealers, investors, artisans and consumers. With the discretionary spend on gold completely switched off, the yellow metal will have a troubled time ahead. The RBI Thursday raised the loan-to-value (LTV) on gold loans for non-farming purposes to 90 per cent from earlier 75 per cent. This would mean the same amount of gold can fetch larger loans when mortgaged with banks. This may not necessarily boost demand for gold in India as its current prices are already sky-high. At the most, this may raise short term liquidity for people holding onto gold. Gold will continue to shine amid slump.

Talk turkey

There are three well-known stories about this, none of them wholly convincing. We do know that it's a US term. It's first recorded in 1824, but is probably much older; one suggestion is that it goes back as far as colonial times. What the explanations have in common is of real turkeys. But the meaning of the phrase seems to have shifted down the years. To start with, it meant to speak agreeably, or to say pleasant things; nowadays it usually refers to speaking frankly, discussing hard facts, or getting down to serious business. The change seems to have happened because to "talk turkey" was augmented at some point in the 19th Century to "talk cold turkey", with the modern meaning. In the course of time it was abbreviated again, with the shorter form keeping the newer meaning. (The other meaning of "cold turkey" is unrelated.) The most prosaic answer is that the "to talk pleasantly" sense came about through the nature of family conversation around the Thanksgiving dinner table. It is also suggested that it arose because the first contacts between Native Americans and settlers often centered on the supply of wild turkeys, to the extent that Indians were said to have enquired whenever they met a colonist, "you come to talk turkey?" The most complicated explanation is a story about a colonist and a native who went hunting, agreeing to share their spoils equally. At the end of the day, the bag was four crows and four turkeys.

Tall tale

Tall is one of those curious words, like nice, that has had more meanings down the centuries than you can shake a stick at. Back in Anglo-Saxon times it meant swift or prompt, and later on it variously had senses of fine, handsome, bold, strong, brave, skilful and a good fighter. It was only in the sixteenth century that it started to mean somebody or something physically higher than normal. (Even now, we can speak of somebody being five feet tall, in which tall means having a specified height, not being of more than average height.) A little later, certainly by the 1840s, Americans had started to use it for something exaggerated or highly coloured, as in phrases like tall stories or tall writing. It's closely connected with tall order, something that is thought to be hard to achieve, and there were other phrases as well, such as tall time, meaning a long time, which Charles Dickens used. "Tall tale" obviously belongs in among these. I haven't been able to track down its earliest recorded use (for some reason, the Oxford English Dictionary has nothing earlier than 1933) but I did find this, from a lesser-known work by Jerome K Jerome of 1893 called Novel Notes: "I've come across monkeys as could give points to one or two lubbers I've sailed under; and elephants is pretty spry, if you can believe all that's told of 'em. I've heard some tall tales about elephants".

A police officer sees a man driving around with a pickup truck full of penguins. He pulls the guy over and says: "You can't drive around with penguins in this town! Take them to the zoo immediately." The guy says OK, and drives away. The next day, the officer sees the guy still driving around with the truck full of penguins, and they're all wearing sun glasses. He pulls the guy over and demands: "I thought I told you to take these penguins to the zoo yesterday?" The guy replies: "I did . . . today I'm taking them to the beach!"

As the Covid-19 pandemic rages on, our understanding of it is improving. Through a combination of epidemiology and physics—including knowledge of the virus's character and how aerosols float in the air—we are learning more about how the microbe infects new hosts. This understanding is fueling hopes that we will soon be able to counter the pandemic more effectively. But it has also led to some contentious exchanges regarding the social sciences and the interaction between social norms and the law.

Ever since the pandemic began to spread beyond Wuhan and around the world, there has been an increasingly acrimonious debate as to what all preventive measures should be decreed by governments and enforced by public officials and the police, and which should be promoted as social norms. Unfortunately, this debate has become so polarised that people are immediately classified as right-wing or left-wing depending on their view. Because people often do not like to be categorised in this way, and certainly not wrongly, many are reluctant to express themselves on this important question.

In fact, on many coronavirus-related matters, we need enforceable laws. Especially in the early days of the pandemic, when people understood little about the virus, treating public-health measures as matters of personal choice was folly. Because some people decided to gather in large groups and not wear face masks, the disease became widespread in some countries, with Brazil under President Jair Bolsonaro and the United States under President Donald Trump being prime examples.

But it would be equally dangerous to swing to the other extreme and make governments solely responsible for changing our behavior. Autocratic regimes, in particular, are liable to use the pandemic as a pretext to arrest opponents and silence dissent. Furthermore, excessive government control is often the first step toward crony capitalism, whereby a few big firms use the levers of

COVID, COMMON SENSE

As we understand more about Covid-19 and how the virus spreads, we can decide when we should socially distance ourselves, and by how much. The six-foot (1.8-meter) rule may need to be interpreted flexibly state power to stifle competition and repress wages.

Social norms are often more effective than government mandates, because they allow a degree of flexibility that statutes cannot provide. In Ithaca, for example, there is a bridge on Forest Home Drive that has featured in studies of games and social norms, including in William Ferguson's book Collective Action and Exchange. The bridge is so narrow that cars can pass only in one direction. Regulating the traffic flow by law might entail making it a one-way bridge, or requiring cars to travel from left to right in the morning and right to left in the evening. Or the law might require drivers to alternate, with one crossing from left to right and the next in the opposite direction, resulting in wasted space behind each car.

What happens in the absence of legal regulation is far better: There is a norm whereby three or four cars cross in one direction, and then the drivers behind them stop, allowing three or four cars to come from the other side. Because the norm, unlike a law, is flexible, you might, if you are in a hurry, decide to cross the bridge as the fifth or sixth car, delaying those waiting on the other side by a few seconds.

As we understand more about

Covid-19 and how the virus spreads, we can decide when we should socially distance ourselves, and by how much. The six-foot (1.8-meter) rule may need to be interpreted flexibly. For example, if you are talking to a much taller person, or someone who holds their chin very high, you may need to move back an extra foot in order to allow any infected aerosol to complete its arcing journey from face to floor.

What we need are guidelines with an articulated rationale, so that people can adjust their behavior to the context. In a widely cited recent paper, for example, the University of California, San Francisco's Monica Gandhi and her co-authors show that face masks not only protect others from your Covid-19 germs, should you be carrying them, but also protect you from other people who may be infected.

There is thus both a social and a selfish reason for you to wear a mask. But if you are walking alone on a beach, you have every reason not to wear one. It is also reasonable not to wear a face mask in the company of people with whom you cohabit, given the likelihood that either all or none of you have the virus.

As we learn more about Covid-19, we will develop better rules for ourselves. But two caveats are in order. First, many epidemiological studies warn that, for certain findings, causality has not yet been established. In fact, we can never establish causality definitively. We must regard all such claims with a dose of skepticism and the awareness that we may revise them later.

This is another reason to prefer the greater flexibility of social norms to the heavy hand of the law. For example, we now know that up to 40 per cent of people infected with the coronavirus are asymptomatic. In societies where only some people wear masks, the share of asymptomatic carriers could be as high as 90 per cent, as happened during one outbreak in Oregon. If they are not wearing a mask, their lack of symptoms puts us off guard, implying that wearing a mask may indirectly cause Covid-19 to spread more. This is of course not an argument for disregarding masks. Rather, it is a reminder that all ideas, whether rooted in folklore or science, must be combined with common sense to optimize our behavior.

Health sector in doldrums

With the number of Covid-19 victims rising exponentially, it is vital to assess where India stands in terms of medical capacity to provide the necessary healthcare. India's poor health infrastructure belies any hope; and the health sector is in doldrums. The nation ranked low at 145th among 195 countries in terms of healthcare access and quality, as per recent global assessments.

To start with, the doctor-population ratio. Here, it is 1:1456 against the WHO recommendation of 1:1000. This means, for a 1,000 population, India has only 0.9 doctors as against the world average of 1.6. India is behind China with 2 doctors and Pakistan and Sri Lanka one doctor each for a 1,000 population. If the number of government beds in India is considered, it was 0.7 per 1,000 population in 2011, which has declined to 0.58 in 2015 and further to 0.53 in 2017—as against a world average of 2.7.

Dismal health expenditure figures have triggered massive pressure on the existing health infrastructure, which is further enfeebled in the aftermath of Covid-19. As per a World Bank report in 2017, India's total healthcare spending was 3.53 per cent of the GDP, much lower than world average of 9.896 percent. However, public expenditure/government spending on healthcare as a percentage of GDP is a better index of the health-welfare of a people than the total health expenditure as a percentage of the GDP. On this count, India's performance is even more abysmal. Of the total public health expenditure, the Centre's share is 25 per cent.

The National Health Policy 2017 had recommended that the government's spending in health sector should be 2.5 per cent of the GDP by 2025. But, it is still ranging from 1 per cent to 1.29 per cent. India's public expenditure on health as a percentage of the GDP is far lower than those of the poorest countries. India occupies the 170th position out of 188 countries in terms of public health expenditure.

As per World Bank data in 2017, India's public health expenditure as a proportion of GDP is 0.96 per cent against a world average of 5.89 per cent. India spends even lower than that of Bhutan with 2.37 percent, Sri Lanka 1.64 percent, and Nepal 1.24 percent.

In terms of per capita health expenditure per year, as of 2017, India's $69.29 per cent is too low when compared to world average of $1061.14. According to the National Health Profile of 2018, the public per capita expenditure on health increased from Rs 621 in 2009-10 to Rs 1,112 in 2015-16. That comes to Rs 93 per month or Rs three per day. Sri Lanka spends about four times as much. Question is: how people can cope with Covid-19, with a mere Rs 3 per day?

According to a WHO report, the total health spending is growing faster than the GDP in low and middle income countries (close to 6 per cent on average) than in high income countries (4 per cent). Health system resources are coming less from households paying out of pocket and more through pooled funds, in particular from domestic government sources. But, in India, this is declining.

India's health sector is the most privatized in the world. As out-of-pocket expenditure proportionate to total health expenditure in 2017, Indians spent 62.10 percent on health, compared to a world average of 18.207. According to National Health Profile data, the cost of treatment has been on the rise in India, which has led to inequity in access to healthcare. National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) says that, troubled by illness, 3.85 lakh people committed suicide between 2001 and 2015.

The countries that have emerged as developed in course of time have seen increased expenditure in health as a percentage of GDP. Cuba spends 11.71 per cent of the GDP in health; with 10.47 per cent of the GDP being public health expenditure—the highest in the world. Cuba has 8.4 doctors per 1000 population, with 5.2 government beds for a 1,000 population.

Without increasing health care expenditure, relying on the health insurance route alone will serve no purpose. If the government invests more on health or provide health facilities to people at cheaper rates, they will have more income at disposal to spend. With the rise in discretionary spending, demand will rise, leading to an increase in economic activities and thereby faster growth and development.

Sushant, cops

Sir, Sushant Singh Rajput's 'suicide' is embroiled in controversies. Even after nearly two months, the Mumbai police do not have any substantial lead to the case. When the family of the actor, the Bihar government and the Centre favoured a CBI inquiry, it was surprising that the Mumbai police was busy only in issuing statements to the media, and not taking the investigation forward. The Maharashtra government too has not acquitted itself well. It rather added to the controversy by putting the inquiry police officer from Patna in quarantine, affecting the investigations. It is astonishing that the Mumbai Police is not attaching due importance to such a sensitive and high profile case. Is it to be understood that the police administration in the financial and entertainment capital of the country is bent on losing its good image built over the past many years? Sushant deserves a better deal from the Mumbai cops.

Sanjib Das, CUTTACK

Sushant, CBI

Sir, Promising actor Sushant Singh Rajput has passed away in mysterious circumstances, and his death is under probe. While the investigations are on, a controversy has erupted between the cops of Mumbai and Patna.

For the parents and family members of Sushant, they are not in a mind to certify this as a case of suicide, though circumstantial evidence points to such a possibility. After losing his only son, Sushant's father K.K. Singh reached up to Prime Minister Modi, seeking the Centre's help to unravel the mysteries behind the death. The Supreme Court deserves thanks for its intervention in the matter and recommending a CBI investigation. This is the way forward now. A prime suspect vis-à-vis the situations leading to this death, actress Rhea Chakravorty, has urged the Supreme Court to shift a related case from Patna to Mumbai. This was done after the Bihar Police lodged an FIR against her for allegedly abetting the actor's suicide.

What the large number of fans of Sushant wants is immediate identification of the culprits behind the actor's death. It would not be a bad idea if the Supreme Court steps in to monitor this probe, considering the huge public interest involved.

Is Goa’s lone COVID hosp well equipped

State IMA president urges the govt to relocate the COVID facility to the precincts of the state’s top medical facility – the Goa Medical College

Panaji, August 6: The Goa chapter of the Indian Medical Association (IMA) Wednesday expressed concern over the increasing number of deaths at the state’s only designated Covid hospital. It cited non-availability of specialists at the centre as one of the possible reasons for the spate of recent deaths.

The IMA also expresses sadness at the abrupt transfer of the head of the designated COVID facility, Ira Almeida, earlier this week

State IMA President S Samuel also urged the Goa government to relocate the Covid facility to the precincts of the state’s top medical facility – the Goa Medical College – for better care of symptomatic patients.

“IMA Goa is extremely concerned about the rising number of deaths. We feel that non-availability of senior experts and non-availability of investigations like CT scan and MRI scan are major factors,” a statement issued by the association said Wednesday.

More than 60 persons have died after testing positive for Covid-19 in Goa ever since the pandemic broke out in March this year. Most of the fatalities have occurred at the Employees State Insurance hospital in South Goa’s Margao town, which has been designated as a Covid facility, the state’s only such facility.

According to the state Health Ministry protocol, while symptomatic patients are treated at the ESI hospital, asymptomatic patients are admitted to the several Covid Care Centres in Goa or are allowed to home quarantine themselves.

The IMA has also urged the Goa government to change its protocol and discontinue the practice of admitting symptomatic patients to the ESI hospital.

“We feel the government must seriously think of starting a 250-bed Covid hospital block at the Goa Medical College itself. It will help in good management logistically, and there will no split in workforce also, which is extremely important in these times when there is scarcity of experts,” Samuel said.

“The ESI hospital can be converted into a Covid Care Centre with oxygen facilities, which will admit patients with moderate symptoms and comorbidities who will be managed by MBBS doctors under the health services,” the state IMA President said.

The IMA also expressed sadness at the abrupt transfer of the head of the designated Covid-19 facility, Ira Almeida, earlier this week.

“We believe that her efforts require greater appreciation. We feel she should be reinstated immediately or should be posted in such a position that she could be helpful to the government in this time of crisis with her immense experience,” the statement said.

Goa, which was Covid-free in May, now has more than 7,000 confirmed Covid-19 cases, out of which 1,901 are active.

Stop cruel methods to kill male chicks, Goa hatcheries warned

Use of nitrogen and other inert gases for killing newborn chicks should henceforth be adopted, the govt tells hatcheries and poultry farms

AGENCIES

Panaji, August 6: Following petitioning by PETA, the Goa government’s Animal Husbandry and Veterinary Services (AHVS) department has told hatcheries and poultry farms from using “cruel methods” to kill newborn male chicks.

People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals Thursday welcomed the directive issued by the Director AHVS Santosh Desai.

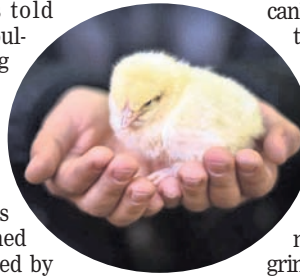

“It is brought to the notice of all hatcheries and poultry farms operating in the state of Goa to stop the cruel methods used for killing newborn male chicks and other unwanted chicks in the hatcheries,” the circular issued by Desai said.

“Methods recommended by the Animal Welfare Board of India and the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals rules 2019, which prescribes the use of nitrogen and other inert gases for killing newborn chicks should henceforth be adopted,” it also added.

PETA in its petition to the Goa government department had said that the egg industry “commonly kills male chicks because they can’t lay eggs, while both the meat and egg industries routinely destroy other unwanted chicks, including those who are weak or deformed.”

“Common killing methods include grinding, crushing, burning, or drowning them and even feeding them alive to fish,” the animal rights’ organisation said in a statement issued here Thursday. “Through the order, the state government also made a pioneering policy decision that once in ovo sex-determination technology – which identifies male embryos at an early stage of development so that an egg, rather than a live bird, can be destroyed – is commercially available in India, the state will adopt the technology,” the statement also said.

NIH Roorkee to study salinity in Goa’s Mhadei river: Centre

Mhadei is an inter-state river which spans across Goa, Karnataka and Maharashtra

Panaji, August 6: The Union Ministry of Jal Shakti has appointed the National Institute of Hydrology, Roorkee to study the salinity in Goa’s Mhadei river, according to Union Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat.

“Moreover, you may also recall the discussions held on March 6, in respect of the Mahadayi river water dispute and as discussed in the meeting, taking into account the concerns raised by you regarding issue of salinity in Mahadayi river; this ministry has assigned National Institute of Hydrology, Roorkee to take up the study of salinity of Mahadayi river and submit a report to this Ministry,” Shekhawat said in a letter to Goa Chief Minister Pramod Sawant, which was released by the CMO to the media Thursday.

Sawant in March this year, had written to Shekhawat, requesting the Union Jal Shakti Ministry to give the Goa government an opportunity to plead its case against a series of dam projects proposed by the Karnataka government across the Mhadei, an inter-state river which

Mixed response to reopened gyms, yoga centres

AGENCIES

Bangalore, August 6: As hundreds of gyms and yoga centres here reopened Wednesday after remaining shut for over four months due to the extended Covid-induced lockdown, the response on the first day was mixed due to various reasons.

“The response has been tepid on the first day of reopening of our gym due to coronavirus scare and strict guidelines, which allows only limited number of members to work out at a time,” trainer Vishwanthar Ramaiah at the Iron Cult gym at Basveshwarnagar in the city’s northwest said.

In contrast, response at yoga centres was good despite the new guidelines also limiting the number of practitioners at a time to ensure physical distancing.

“Though we have been holding online classes since April, many of our members came on the first day of reopening the centre as it is conducive to do yoga under personal supervision,” SGS International Yoga Kendra guru Niranjan Murthy said from Padmanabhnagar in the city’s southern suburbs.

In compliance with the ‘Unlock 3.0’ guidelines of the Union Home Ministry issued July 29, the Karnataka government July 30 allowed gyms and yoga centres in the state to reopen from August 5 with strict measures like wearing Panaji, August 6: War of words between Goa Chief Minister Pramod Sawant and Governor Satya Pal Malik over construction of a new Raj Bhavan complex continues.

Meanwhile, Union Minister of State for Defence Shripad Naik Thursday also weighed in, saying the new official Governor’s residence could be built after the Covid-19 crisis tides over and the state’s finances are in order.

Speaking to reporters in Panaji, Naik also said that there was no question of starting a casino operation in Raj Bhavan, slamming the Opposition for spreading falsehood.

India rebuffs China, refuses to disengage

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, August 6: The present stand-off with China is likely to be prolonged, said Defence Ministry in a status report on border tension in Eastern Ladakh. The ministry has put out an update on Chinese aggression on Line of Actual Control on its website.

The report stated that the situation in Eastern Ladakh arising from "unilateral aggression by China continues to be sensitive and requiring close monitoring and prompt action based on evolving situation."

The ministry stated that Chinese aggression has been increasing along the Line of Actual Control and more particularly in Galwan Valley since May 5, 2020. The Chinese side transgressed in the areas of Kugrang Nala, Gogra and north bank of Pangong Tso lake on May 17 and May 18.

"Consequent to this, ground level interactions were held between armed forces of both sides to defuse the situation. Corps Commander Level Flag Meeting was held on June 6, 2020. However, a violent face-off incident took place between the two sides on June 15, 2020 resulting in casualties of both sides," the ministry stated.

It further pointed out that subsequently second Corps Commander Level Meeting took place on June 22, 2020 to discuss modalities of de-escalation process.

"While engagement and dialogue at military and diplomatic level is continuing to arrive at mutually acceptable consensus the present stand-off is likely to be prolonged," the report stated. The report ended with saying that "prompt action based on evolving situation" should be taken.

The third meeting took place on June 30 and it went on for around 12 hours. During the meeting, all contentious areas of stand-off were discussed to stabilise the situation.

China had agreed to move back in Pangong Tso but did not. India claims Line of Actual Control at Finger 8 and Chinese are sitting between Finger 4 and Finger 5. Similar differences exist in Depsang and Demchok.

India warns China

Washington/New Delhi: The government Thursday warned China against attempts to interfere in India's internal affairs after Beijing unsuccessfully initiated a discussion in the UN Security Council on Jammu and Kashmir. In a statement issued by the Ministry of External Affairs, the government said that this was not the first time that China has sought to raise a subject that is solely an internal matter of India. "As on previous such occasions, this attempt too met with little support from the international community. We firmly reject China's interference in our internal affairs," the government said. The government Wednesday received a letter of support from the US House of Representatives Committee on Foreign Affairs which held China responsible for the aggression along the Line of Actual Control (LAC) in Ladakh.

itary delegates held deliberations about disengagement of troops and materials at the borders for 15 long hours. Indian delegates asked Chinese People's Liberation Army troops to completely withdraw from Pangong Lake and Depsang.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, August 6: Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray Thursday took stock of the state administration's preparedness in the wake of the incessant heavy rains in Mumbai and other parts of the state, including Kolhapur where the Panchganga river was flowing close to the danger mark.

A statement issued by the Chief Minister's Office (CMO) said Thackeray asked the authorities to remain alert and ensure citizens do not face hardships. He spoke to the authorities concerned and officials of the India Meteorological Department (IMD), it said.

Mumbai city received 331.08 mm rainfall while the suburbs received 162.3 mm downpour from Wednesday till 8.30 am on Thursday. The city witnessed strong winds at a speed of 106 km per hour while elsewhere it was 70 to 80 kmph, it said.

The chief minister asked the officials concerned to take up clearing of the uprooted trees on a war-footing.

He also praised the railway police and the National Disaster Response Force (NDRF) personnel for their efforts in rescuing 290 passengers from two local trains stranded on flooded tracks near Masjid Bunder in south Mumbai on Wednesday.

The statement said a railway employee was killed due to electrocution from a motor pump in Masjid Bunder while one person was injured when a tree fell on him in Kurla.

Water-logging in different parts of the city was cleared fast by the civic staff, it said.

There were 361 incidents of uprooting of trees and branches and 15 incidents of wall collapse in Mumbai, it said.

Thackeray asked Konkan and Pune divisional commissioners to focus on shifting to safer places those living near the rivers, whose water levels were rising due to heavy rains, in Kolhapur; Raigad and Ratnagiri districts.

There are 16 NDRF teams deployed in rain-hit areas of the state out of which four have been sent to Kolhapur.

Thackeray asked the authorities concerned to remain alert in view of the water level in the Panchganga (Kolhapur), Kodavali (Ratnagiri) and Kundalika (Raigad) rivers flowing close to the danger mark.

Sushant case: CBI takes over probe

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 6: The CBI has taken over investigation into the actor Sushant Singh Rajput death case from the Bihar Police after registering an FIR of alleged criminal conspiracy and abetment to suicide against his rumoured girlfriend Rhea Chakraborty, officials said Thursday.

The case will be probed by a special investigation team under Superintendent of Police Nupur Prasad and will be supervised by DIG Gagandeep Gambhir and Joint Director Manoj Shashidhar, both senior IPS officers from the Gujarat cadre, they said.

The agency acted swiftly on a reference from the government in Bihar, the home state of 34-year-old Rajput, where his family had lodged an FIR against Chakraborty, they said. The Patna police had registered the FIR under IPC sections related to alleged criminal conspiracy, cheating and abetment to suicide, among others.

The case has gone to the CBI on a reference from the Bihar government which has been forwarded to the agency by the central government. A state government cannot give a case to the CBI. It is routed through the Department of Personnel and Training, the nodal ministry for the CBI.

Seeing anguish over the death of Rajput in Bihar, which goes to assembly polls later this year, the state referred the matter to the CBI even as the Mumbai Police is probing the main case related to alleged suicide of the actor.

Labourer turns millionaire

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Panna (MP), August 6: A labourer became a millionaire overnight when he unearthed three diamonds worth Rs 30 lakh to 35 lakh at a diamond mine in Panna district of Madhya Pradesh, a senior official said Thursday.

While digging a shallow mine, the labourer, identified only as Subal, found three diamonds with net weight of 7.5 carat, Panna district's diamond officer R K Pandey said. Experts have valued the precious stones at anywhere between Rs 30 lakh and 35 lakh.

The labourer has deposited the stones at the district diamond office and they will be auctioned

A few days ago, another labourer had managed to find a 10.69 carat diamond from one of the mines in Panna in the Bundelkhand region of Madhya Pradesh. Panna, otherwise located in a backward region, is world famous for its diamond mines.

Ashok Gehlot govt gets a breather

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Jaipur, August 6: Amid the ongoing political crisis in the state, the Rajasthan High Court Thursday gave some relief to the Ashok Gehlot government in the case challenging the merger of six BSP legislators with the ruling Congress and seeking a stay on it.

Disposing of a petition filed by Bahujan Samaj Party national Secretary Satish Mishra and Bharatiya Janata Party MLA Madan Dilawar, a division bench of Chief Justice Inderjit Mahanti and Justice Prakash Gupta said that notice, issued earlier by a single judge bench, should be delivered to all six former BSP MLAs, by August 8.

As the ruling party MLAs are camping in a Jaisalmer hotel, it said that the Jaisalmer District Judge should ensure timely delivery of the notice, taking the help of the local Superintendent of Police.

The notice should also be published in Jaisalmer newspapers, said the court.

The BSP and the BJP leaders had approached the division bench on Tuesday, challenging the order of a single judge bench that refused to stay the functioning of the six as Congress legislators.

Contending that the single judge bench has not given them interim relief, and that the notice it had issued to the MLAs concerned had not reached them as they are in Jaisalmer, they demanded that the court should, therefore, stay the merger order.

The single judge bench earlier issued notice to the Speaker, the Assembly Secretary and six MLAs on July 30 and slated the next hearing on August 11.

'Pak trying to sneak weapons into J&K using UAVs'

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Sninagar, August 6: Pakistan has adopted a new technique of sending arms and ammunition to Jammu and Kashmir using unmanned aerial vehicles (UAVs) and several such incidents have been detected in the recent past, Director General of Jammu and Kashmir Police Dilbag Singh said Thursday.

He also said less than 200 militants are currently active in Jammu and Kashmir, and just 26 terrorists could enter the Union Territory from across the border so far this year. "Pakistan has been trying to send arms and ammunition to militants through drones (UAVs). We have detected several such incidents in the past," Singh said here.

The police chief said such incidents of Pakistani UAVs carrying weapons were detected in Kupwara, Heera Nagar, Kathua and Rajouri. Another modus operandi of Pakistan to dispatch weapons through trucks to Jammu and Kashmir was unearthed in Punjab in the past, he said.

"There has been a huge shortage of weapons for the militants operating here," the police chief said. The DGP said Pakistan has intensified cross-border firing this year so that terrorists could be pushed into Jammu and Kashmir.

"There has been 75 per cent more firing from across the border in the first seven months of 2020. There were 487 incidents of firing from Pakistan till July this year in comparison to 267 such incidents in the same period in 2019. The firings are cover to infiltrate militants. So far, just 26 militants could infiltrate into Jammu and Kashmir," he said.

Singh said due to sustained anti-militancy operations, the security forces have been able to curtail the number of active militants in Jammu and Kashmir to less than 200 now from 300 to 350 terrorists a few years ago.

Referring to local youths joining militancy, the DGP said 80 such youths have joined different terror groups this year of which 20 are now active and the self-life of such militant is now a maximum of 90 days.

"Eighty local youths have joined militancy this year so far of which 38 were killed and 22 arrested. Just 20 of those who have joined militancy are active now," he said. The police chief said as many as 150 militants were killed in 2020 so far, of which 30 are foreigners and another 39 are top commanders. "The terrorist groups are leaderless and facing a huge shortage of weapons," he said.

Claiming success of the anti-militancy operations in last two years, the DGP said it has happened as the security forces have gone against the terrorist support structure -- the Jamaat-e-Islami (JK), Hurriyat and their members and the Over Ground Workers (OGWs). Most of the leaders of the Jamaat and Hurriyat and OGWs are under custody and their funding has been halted, he said.

Singh said a Terror Monitoring Group (TMG) has been set up with representatives from the Jammu and Kashmir Police, Enforcement Directorate, Income Tax Department and a few other organisations, and the body is continuously working to curb funding of terrorists and their supporters. "Almost all links of sending money through hawala, western union money transfer and in tiffin boxes of couriers were shut," he said.

The police chief said security grade has been improved along the International Border and the Line of Control and as a result, six encounters have taken place along the borders so far this year.

Fire claims 8 Covid patients

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Ahmedabad, August 6: Eight coronavirus patients died in a fire inside the ICU ward of a private hospital in Ahmedabad city in the early hours of Thursday, officials said. A para-medical staff member of the hospital was injured in the tragedy. A cumulative compensation of Rs 6 lakh each for the families of the deceased -- five men and three women -- was announced by the Centre and Gujarat government.

The blaze broke out around 3.30 am on the top floor of the four-storey Shrey Hospital in Navrangpura area, officials said. It is one of the 60-odd 'designated' private hospitals which have been authorized by the Ahmedabad Municipal Corporation (AMC) to treat coronavirus patients.

"Eight coronavirus patients admitted in the ICU ward on the fourth floor of Shrey Hospital have died due to fire. 41 other COVID patients who were in the general ward on bottom floors were rescued and shifted to SVP Hospital," said Rajiv Kumar Gupta, an IAS officer.

Shrey Hospital was sealed for investigation, said Gupta, who has been deputed in Ahmedabad as an officer on special duty. Preliminary investigation showed that the fire was caused by a short circuit, he said.

Gupta, Municipal Commissioner Mukesh Kumar and Principal Secretary (Health) Jayanti Ravi visited the spot. "We have learned that an electric short circuit led to a blast. The blaze spread in the ward within minutes," said Kumar.

According to Chirag Patel, a hospital attendant who saved the lives of three elderly patients, there were eleven patients on the fourth floor when the fire broke out. The deceased were identified as Lilavati Shah (72), Jyoti Sindhi (55), Ayesha Tirmizi (51), Navneet Shah (80), Arif Mansoori (42), Narendra Shah (62), Arvind Bhavsar (78) and Manu Ramli (82).

The two IAS officers have been asked to submit the inquiry report in three days, the Chief Minister's Office said in a statement. Deputy Chief Minister Nitin Patel said that another attendant received 25 to 30 percent burn injuries while trying to save the patients. The attendant and 41 patients were shifted to SVP Hospital, he added.

Twist in Mallya case

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, August 6: In a new twist in the Vijay Mallya case, a certain document connected with the case in the Supreme Court has gone missing from the apex court files.

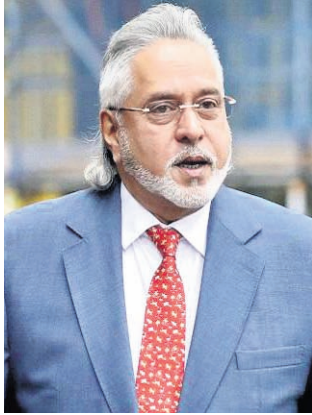

A bench comprising Justices U.U. Lalit and Ashok Bhushan adjourned the hearing to August 20. It was hearing the review plea filed by Mallya against a July 14, 2017 judgment wherein he was found guilty of contempt for not paying Rs 9,000 crore dues to banks despite repeated directions, although he had transferred $40 million to his children.

The bench was looking for a reply on an intervention application, which it seemed, has gone missing from the case papers. Parties involved in the case sought more time to file fresh copies.

On June 19, the Supreme Court sought explanation from its registry regarding Mallya's appeal against the May 2017 conviction in the contempt case for not repaying Rs 9,000 crore dues to banks not listed for the last 3 years.

A bench comprising Justices Lalit and Bhushan had asked the Registry to furnish all the details including names of the officials who had dealt with the file concerning the Review Petition for last three years.

The bench said according to the record, placed before it, the review petition was not listed before the court for last three years. "Before we deal with the submissions raised in the Review Petition, we direct the Registry to explain why the Review Petition was not listed before the concerned Court for last three years," said the bench.

In May 2017, the apex court held him guilty of contempt of court for transferring $40 million to his children, and ordered him to appear on July 10 to argue on the quantum of punishment.

The bench said let the explanation be furnished within two weeks. "The Review Petition shall, thereafter, be considered on merits," it added. In 2017, the apex court passed the order on a contempt petition against Mallya by a consortium of banks led by the SBI.

The bhumi puja was performed on Wednesday by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Apart from the Prime Minister, Adityanath, Governor Anandiben Patel and RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat were also present.

INDIA REJECTS PAKISTAN'S CRITICISM

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 6: India Thursday strongly rejected Pakistan's criticism of the launch of construction of the Ram temple in Ayodhya and asked the neighbouring country to refrain from "communal incitement".

External Affairs Ministry Spokesperson Anurag Srivastava also asked Pakistan to desist from interfering in India's internal affairs. "We have seen the press statement by the Islamic Republic of Pakistan on a matter internal to India. It should desist from interfering in India's affairs and refrain from communal incitement," Srivastava said.

"While this is not a surprising stance from a nation that practices cross border terrorism and denies its own minorities their religious rights, such comments are nevertheless deeply regrettable," he added. He was responding to a question on Pakistan's criticism of the laying of foundation stone of the Ram temple in Ayodhya on the site of the Babri Masjid.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday laid the foundation of the Ram temple in Ayodhya at a grand ceremony. Last November, the Supreme Court paved the way for the construction of the Ram temple at the site where the 16th century Babri mosque was demolished in December 1992.

ED raids ex-J&K minister's son

The central probe agency has filed a money laundering case against Hilal Rather and others, under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, taking cognisance of a CBI FIR and Income Tax Department probe against him that pertains to a Rs 177-crore alleged bank fraud

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 6: The Enforcement Directorate (ED) Thursday conducted multiple raids in four cities in connection with a money laundering case linked to a bank fraud probe against Hilal Rather, the son of former Jammu and Kashmir minister Abdul Rahim Rather, officials said.

They said the raids were carried out at 16 locations in Kashmir, Jammu, Delhi and Ludhiana. The exercise has been undertaken to collect evidence, they said.

The central probe agency has filed a money laundering case against Hilal Rather and others, under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA), taking cognisance of a CBI FIR and Income Tax Department probe against him that pertains to a Rs 177-crore alleged bank fraud.

The CBI has alleged that Hilal Rather entered into a criminal conspiracy with the then officials of the Jammu and Kashmir Bank to get loans of about Rs 177.68 crore in alleged violation of rules and guidelines.

His father, a former finance minister of the erstwhile state of Jammu and Kashmir, is a National Conference (NC) leader. "The loans that were sanctioned for construction of flats were allegedly diverted and misappropriated by the accused using the bank accounts of his employees," the CBI had alleged.

It was further alleged by the CBI that the accused submitted forged certificates and bills to the bank. In a charge sheet filed before special court in Jammu this March, the CBI had named the then branch heads of J&K Bank, New University Campus branch, Iqbal Singh and Arun Kapoor apart from Hilal Rather.

Detailing alleged omissions on part of bank officials, the CBI had said they "did not" verify certificates and helped Rather in siphoning off the loan amount and laundering of money. The I-T Department too had raided him in June last year on charges of alleged tax evasion.

"During the search, it was detected that the tax evader (referring to Hilal and his group) has been given illegal benefit of Rs 60 crore by J&K Bank," the CBDT had then said in a statement.

No benefit of plasma therapy to reduce Covid-19 mortality risk: AIIMS trial

AIIMS DIRECTOR DR RANDEEP GULERIA SAID THURSDAY NO CLEAR MORTALITY BENEFIT OF CONVALESCENT PLASMA THERAPY WAS SEEN DURING A TRIAL CONDUCTED AMONG 30 COVID-19 PATIENTS

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 6: Convalescent plasma therapy did not show benefit in reducing mortality risk among COVID-19 patients, according to an interim analysis of a randomised controlled trial done at AIIMS here to assess the efficacy of this mode of treatment.

The therapy involves taking antibodies from the blood of a person who has recovered from COVID-19 and transfusing those into an active coronavirus infected patient to help kickstart the immune system to fight back the infection.

AIIMS Director Dr Randeep Guleria said Thursday no clear mortality benefit of convalescent plasma therapy was seen during a trial conducted among 30 COVID-19 patients.

During the trial, one group of patients was given convalescent plasma therapy along with the standard supportive treatment while the other group only received standard treatment. The number of fatalities recorded in both the groups was equal and there was not much clinical improvement in the condition of patients, he said.

"However, this is just an interim analysis and we need to do a more detailed evaluation to see if any sub-group may benefit from plasma therapy," Dr Guleria said. He also underlined that plasma has to be tested for its safety and should have sufficient antibody to be useful to COVID-19 patients.

The efficacy of convalescent plasma therapy in moderate to severe coronavirus-infected patients was discussed in the third National Clinical Grand Rounds (CGR) on COVID-19 held on Wednesday.

"Plasma is safe. As far as its efficacy is concerned, we do not have a green signal yet. So the clinical use has to be very judicious and within the ambit of national guidelines," Dr Monish Soneja, additional professor in the Medicine department at AIIMS, said at the webinar.

Convalescent plasma therapy has been listed as an investigational therapy for off-label use in coronavirus infected patients because as of now there is no conclusive evidence for its efficacy, Dr Soneja said.

About the initial findings of the randomised controlled trial, Soneja said, "Convalescent plasma is not a magic bullet." It may be used particularly in early moderate stage of the disease.

There may be a subset of patients with certain characteristics who may benefit from plasma, he said, adding, "This is a work in progress as we do not know those characteristics."

The findings highlight that relatives of the patients should not insist on plasma therapy until and unless the treating doctor considers the patient fit for it and where he may think that the mode of treatment would be beneficial, Dr Neeraj Nischal, associate Professor in the department of medicine at AIIMS, said.

Agra, August 6: A slithering serpent triggered a state of panic amongst members of a family as soon as they spotted the uninvited guest comfortably perched in a drawer of the almirah in their bedroom, perhaps waiting for dinner time to move out.

The local police man contacted the NGO Wildlife SOS which sent its team to nab the reptile. A two-member team from the NGO geared up with necessary rescue equipment and rushed to the location. After ensuring that the occupants were at a safe distance, the team carefully extricated the distressed cobra from the almirah and transferred it in a safe transport carrier. It took 30 minutes minutes for the rescue operation. The reptile was safely rescued by the team and was later released back in its natural habitat.

Baijura M.V. Director Conservation Projects for Wildlife SOS, said, "We are glad that more and more people are reaching out to us for help, rather than taking matters in their own hands. Snake sightings increase in the monsoons and our teams work round the clock to ensure no call for aid goes unanswered."

Kartick Satyanarayan, CEO and Co-founder of Wildlife SOS, said "Being one of the four most venomous snake species to be found in India, our team had to exercise a lot of caution while conducting the rescue in order to avoid any unnecessary casualties. Sometimes these rescues can be dangerous and risky, but our team is trained to handle and carry out such sensitive operations, in the interest of public safety and protection of urban wildlife."

The cobra was kept under observation for a few hours and later released back in the wild. India is home to a variety of snake species ranging from extremely venomous snakes like the Cobra and Common krait to relatively harmless and non-venomous ones like the Common sand boa, Red sand boa, Wolf snake & Rat snake.

The 49-year-old jeweller, who has been lodged at Wandsworth Prison in south-west London since his arrest in March last year, appeared via videolink before District Judge Vanessa Baraitser at Westminster Magistrates' Court in London for a regular 28-day "call-over" hearing.

Germany tightens travel restrictions

Berlin: Germany will require people arriving from countries deemed high risk, such as the United States, to take coronavirus tests starting this weekend, the health minister said Thursday, as the country recorded its highest daily tally of new infections in three months. German officials have voiced alarm over a steady upward creep in the number of new infections over recent weeks.

The UN Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs in Sudan said late Wednesday that 14 of Sudan's 18 provinces have experienced flooding in recent days. An unscheduled port visit led to disaster

AGENCIES

Moscow, August 6: The chemicals that went up in flames in Beirut's deadliest peace-time explosion arrived in the Lebanese capital seven years ago on a leaky Russian-leased cargo ship that, according to its captain, should never have stopped there.

"They were being greedy," said Boris Prokoshev, who was captain of the Rhosus in 2013 when he says the owner told him to make an unscheduled stop in Lebanon to pick up extra cargo.

Prokoshev said the ship was carrying 2,750 tonnes of a highly combustible chemical from Georgia to Mozambique when the order came to divert to Beirut on its way through the Mediterranean. The crew were asked to load some heavy road equipment and take it to Jordan's Port of Aqaba before resuming their journey onto Africa, where the ammonium nitrate was to be delivered to an explosives manufacturer. But the ship was never to leave Beirut, having tried and failed to safely load the additional cargo before becoming embroiled in a lengthy legal dispute over port fees. On Tuesday, that stockpile caught

LEBANESE VENT FURY AT LEADERS

Residents of Beirut vented their fury at Lebanon's leaders Thursday during a visit by French President Emmanuel Macron, blaming them for the deadly explosion that ravaged the capital. Shouting, "Revolution!" they crowded around the visiting leader who promised to press the politicians for reform. For many Lebanese, Tuesday's giant blast was the last straw after years of corruption and mismanagement by a political elite that has ruled for decades. The blast, which killed more than 130 people, wounded thousands and left tens of thousands homeless, is believed to have been caused when a fire touched off a stockpile of 2,750 tons of highly explosive ammonium nitrate that authorities left sitting in a warehouse for years — despite a customs official's repeated warnings.

China sentences Canadian to death

Relations between China and Canada soured over the arrest of Meng Wanzhou, an executive and the daughter of the founder of Chinese tech giant Huawei, at Vancouver's airport in late 2018

Beijing, August 6: China has sentenced a third Canadian citizen to death on drug charges amid a steep decline in relations between the two countries.

The Guangzhou Municipal Intermediate Court announced Xu Weihong's penalty Thursday and said an alleged accomplice, Wen Guanxiong, had been given a life sentence. Death sentences are automatically referred to China's highest court for review.

The brief court statement gave no details but local media in the southern Chinese city at the heart of the country's manufacturing industry said Xu and Wen had gathered ingredients and tools and began making the drug ketamine in October 2016, then stored the final product in Xu's home in Guangzhou's Haizhu district. Police later confiscated more than 120 kilograms (266 pounds) of the drug from Xu's home and another address, the reports said. Ketamine is a powerful pain killer that has become popular among club goers in China and elsewhere. The US wants her extradited to face fraud charges over the company's dealings with Iran. Her arrest infuriated Beijing, which sees her case as a political move designed to prevent China's rise as a global technology power. In apparent retaliation, China detained former Canadian diplomat Michael Kovrig and Canadian entrepreneur Michael Spavor, accusing them of vague national security crimes. Soon after, China handed a death sentence to convicted Canadian drug smuggler Robert Schellenberg in a sudden retrial, and in April 2019, gave the death penalty to a Canadian citizen identified as Fan Wei in a multinational drug smuggling case.

FB deletes Trump's Covid post

Houston: Social media giant Facebook, for the first time, has removed a post from US President Donald Trump in which he claimed that children were "almost immune" to COVID-19, saying it violated its policy against spreading "misinformation" about the novel coronavirus. The post in question was a video clip of a Trump interview on Fox News Channel uploaded by the Trump campaign Wednesday. The US President claims in the clip that children are "almost immune" to COVID-19. While much remains unknown about the novel coronavirus, children can contract COVID-19 and are believed to be able to spread it to others, even without symptoms. "This video includes false claims that a group of people is immune from COVID-19 which is a violation of our policies around harmful COVID misinformation," Andy Stone, a Facebook policy spokesperson said in a statement. It is the first time that Facebook has removed a post from Trump entirely, rather than labelling it, as it has done in the past, making it a rare instance in which it has been willing to censor the president.

Hiroshima marks 75th atomic bomb anniv

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Tokyo, August 6: Hiroshima Thursday marked the 75th anniversary of the atomic bombing on the Japanese city of by the US during the Second World War; with its Mayor urging the international community to unite against serious threats to humanity.

Speaking at the Peace Memorial Park near Ground Zero, Hiroshima Mayor Kazumi Matsui said countries should put aside their differences and come together to overcome both man-made and natural challenges, reports The Japan Times newspaper.

A moment of silence was observed at 8.15 a.m., the exact time of the bombing on August 6, 1945. But this year's ceremony was drastically scaled down due to a recent spike in the number of coronavirus in Japan. There were only about 880 seats, less than one-tenth of the usual number, and scrapped sections allocated for general admission. Matsui further said that "the people of the world must unite to achieve nuclear weapons abolition and lasting world peace".

Also at the ceremony, Prime Minister Shinzo Abe said "each country must step up efforts to remove a sense of mistrust through mutual involvement and dialogue", amid the severe security environment and widening differences between nations' positions on nuclear disarmament.

He did refer to the Treaty on the 57-member organisation, which is the second largest intergovernmental body after the UN, for the foreign ministers' meeting since India revoked the special status of the Jammu and Kashmir in last August.

However, there has not been any positive response from the OIC, the biggest bloc of Islamic countries in the world, to Pakistan's request so far. "I am once again respectfully telling OIC that a meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers is our expectation," Foreign Minister Shah Mahmood Qureshi said during a talk show on ARY News Wednesday.

"If you cannot convene it, then I'll be compelled to ask Prime Minister Imran Khan to call a meeting of the Islamic countries that are ready to stand with us on the issue of Kashmir," he threatened.

A major reason behind the OIC's inaction has been Saudi Arabia's reluctance to accept Pakistan's request for one specifically on Kashmir. Riyadh's support is crucial for any move at the OIC, which is dominated by Saudi Arabia and other Arab countries.

During a virtual meeting of the OIC Contact Group on Jammu and Kashmir held "on the request of Pakistan" June 22 also, Qureshi had urged the grouping to "step up its efforts" to resolve the Kashmir issue.

Michelle Obama reveals she has 'low-grade depression'

Washington, August 6: Former US first lady Michelle Obama says she has been suffering from "low-grade depression" due to the coronavirus pandemic, the rising racial injustice and the "hypocrisy" of the Trump administration.

Amid all the challenges facing the country, Obama said she is managing the "emotional highs and lows" by trying to maintain a routine, trying to not be hard on herself, getting outdoors and spending time with her family, NBC News reported. "I know that I am dealing with some form of low-grade depression," she said in the latest episode of her podcast released Wednesday.

"Not just because of the quarantine, but because of the racial strife, and just seeing this administration, watching the hypocrisy of it, day in and day out, is dispiriting," the channel quoted her as saying. In the episode, Obama, 56, spoke with the Washington Post opinion columnist and friend Michele Norris about the rise in protests over racial injustice since the death of George Floyd. Floyd, 46, died after being arrested by police outside a shop in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

RBI to set up 'Innovation Hub' for financial inclusion

AGENCIES

Mumbai, August 6: The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) Thursday said it will set up an 'Innovation Hub' in the country for ideation and incubation of new capabilities which can be leveraged to deepen financial inclusion and promote efficient banking services.

'Easy liquidity policies have helped NBFCs'

Mumbai: RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das has defended the easy liquidity stance of the central bank, asserting that the private sector entities have benefitted out of the policy. Das said the measures, which got adopted with deep rate cuts, have also ensured faster transmission of the policy rates into the actual lending by banks, in turn helping the economy. At present, the overall excess liquidity is at over ₹5 lakh crore.

"The Innovation Hub will support, promote and hand-hold cross-thinking spanning regulatory remits and national boundaries," RBI said in its 'Statement on Developmental and Regulatory Policies'. The Hub, it added, will act as a centre for ideation and incubation of new capabilities which can be lever-

EU RETAIL TRADE BACK TO PRE-PANDEMIC LEVELS

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Brussels, August 6: Eurostat, the European Union's (EU) statistics agency, said that the bloc's retail sale in June regained 99.7% of the volume that it had reached in February before the COVID-19 pandemic.

The seasonally-adjusted volume of retail trade increased by 5.7% in the euro area in June and by 5.2% in the EU compared with the previous month, Xinhua news agency quoted Eurostat as saying Wednesday.

The statistics agency also revised its earlier estimate of the retail trade volume to 20.3% increase in the euro area and 18.3% increase in the EU in May.

'Sustainable mining can propel economic growth'

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, August 6: The ongoing outbreak of COVID-19 has slowed economic activities with declining livelihood and opportunities. Amid such situation, the Federation of Indian Mineral Industries (FIMI) and Indian Bureau of Mines, Ministry of Mines, Government of India (IBM) stated that mining sector could be the key to tide over the economic crisis caused by the COVID-19 pandemic.

FIMI and IBM stated that a state like Odisha has the lion's share of the country's natural resources accounting for 25% of coal reserves and over 50% of bauxite reserves. Also, an extensive coastline provides the coastal state a direct gateway to the global trade market.

Over the years, the Indian Aluminium industry has invested over Rs. 1.4 lakh crore in Odisha.

FIMI believed that even with bauxite reserves of 2 billion tons, Odisha-based industries have to meet their bauxite requirements from imports, rendering them eco-nominally unviable and globally uncompetitive. Further, the federation said, due to imports, the industries operate at reduced capacity causing loss of local jobs. Import of bauxite, one of India's most abundant ores, has caused an estimated forex loss of over 400 million dollars

Odisha has the potential for a multi-fold growth in bauxite production from current 12-13 MT to over 50 MT per annum, thereby fulfilling the domestic bauxite requirements of the country in the last five years itself.

Odisha has the potential for a multi-fold growth in bauxite production from current 12-13 million tonnes to over 50 million tonnes per annum, thereby fulfilling the domestic bauxite requirements of the country. FIMI and IBM suggested that sustainable mining approach to tap these vast natural resources will attract huge investments in the coastal state, to tap the growing aluminium demand which is expected to double from 4 to 8 million tonnes in the next 5-7 years and will need fresh investment of over ₹1.8 lakh crores ($ 25 Billion).

The mining sector can provide local livelihood opportunities to over 5 lakh migrant workers who have been forced to return due to the ongoing pandemic.

A recent study pegged the employment potential of the mining sector at over 48 lakh direct jobs by 2025 - with the potential to create over five crore jobs directly and indirectly.

BCCI, VIVO SUSPEND IPL PARTNERSHIP FOR ONE YEAR

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 6: The BCCI Thursday suspended the IPL title sponsorship deal with Chinese mobile phone company Vivo for the event's upcoming edition amid the Sino-India border face-off.

The BCCI sent out a one-line statement, without giving any details, to say that Vivo will not be associated with the IPL this year.

"The Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) and vivo Mobile India Pvt Ltd have decided to suspend their partnership for Indian Premier League in 2020," the press release stated.

The company, on its part, stated that the association is being paused. "The Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) and vivo Mobile India Pvt Ltd have mutually decided to pause their partnership for the 2020 season of Indian Premier League," it stated.

Vivo won the IPL title sponsorship rights for five years from 2018 to 2022 for a reported sum of ₹2190 crore, approximately ₹440 crore per annum.

It is learnt that the two parties are now working out a plan in which Vivo might come back for a fresh three-year period starting 2021 on revised terms. However, a top BCCI official offered a divergent view.

"Here we are talking about diplomatic tensions and you expect that after November, when IPL ends and before the next IPL starts in April 2021, there would be no anti-China sentiment? Are we serious?" the veteran official told this agency on conditions of anonymity.

The anti-China sentiment in the country peaked after the violent face off between the Indian and Chinese troops in eastern Ladakh. India lost 20 soldiers in the clash, while China also acknowledged unspecified casualties.

The stand-off at the Line of Actual Control (LAC) caused outrage across India with several calls for boycott of Chinese companies and products.

The BCCI is now likely to float a tender for new IPL title sponsors as mandated by its constitution. The glitzy T20 league starts September 19 in the UAE, forced out of India due to the rising COVID-19 cases.

The new development is in stark contrast to what came out of Sunday's IPL's Governing Council meeting, where it was decided that Vivo, along with all other sponsors, will remain on board.

This was after BCCI had announced in June that all sponsorship deals pertaining to IPL will be reviewed in the aftermath of the clash at the Galwan Valley.

However, after Sunday's meeting, there was a huge backlash on social media about BCCI holding on to Vivo. Both parties then began thrashing out an amicable separation plan, at least for this season.

However, the end of this deal could spell losses for the franchises as they get a substantial share from the sponsorship pool. Half of the annual Vivo sponsorship money is distributed equally among eight franchises which comes to ₹27.5 crore.

Manchester, August 6: Real Madrid will be looking to overturn a 1-2 first leg deficit when they travel to Manchester City for the second leg of their last 16 UEFA Champions League (UCL) contest, Friday night.

City recorded an impressive victory when the pair met at the Santiago Bernabeu back in February, meaning that Real have plenty to do if they are to advance to the quarterfinals of the competition once again.

It would be fair to say that it has not been quite the season that the City supporters would have been hoping for. Indeed, in addition to giving up the Premier League trophy to Liverpool, the Citizens suffered a 0-2 defeat to Arsenal in the semi-finals of the FA Cup as they surprisingly bowed out.

Pep Guardiola's side did lift the EFL Cup courtesy of a 2-1 win over Aston Villa back in March, but it would go down as a disappointing campaign if that was the only silverware that they were to secure in 2019-20.

The English giants are in a strong position to reach the quarterfinals of the Champions League, though, holding a 2-1 advantage from the first leg of their clash with Madrid at the Bernabeu.

City would have been feeling good about themselves after the first leg, but there is a degree of uncertainty heading into the reserve match due to what has transpired across the world of football in recent months.

City ended their Premier League season with a thumping 5-0 win over Norwich City, which saw them finish on 81 points, 18 behind champions Liverpool in the Premier League table. They have been full of goals since returning to the field in June but have also lost to Chelsea, Southampton and Arsenal.

The Citizens were beaten by Tottenham Hotspur in the quarterfinals of last season's competition, while they have only won one of their five two-legged knockout ties against Spanish opposition, losing each of their last four, which will be a concern as they prepare to welcome the reigning La Liga champions.

City's last home game against a Spanish club saw them lose 1-3 to Barcelona in the group stages of the 2016-17 competition, although they have won four and lost just two of their nine previous home matches against teams from Spain.

Guardiola's side will be the favourites to progress considering what happened in the first leg back in February, with the onus very much on Madrid to turn the tie around.

The special circumstances, surrounding the contest, mean that anything is possible, though, and it remains to be seen whether the Manchester giants can hold off the threat of Los Blancos to advance to the final eight once again.

Last season was actually the first time since 2009-10 that Madrid failed to reach at least the semifinals of the competition as they bowed out to Ajax in the round of 16, and an exit at this stage would have to go down as another huge disappointment considering their pedigree in the competition.

Madrid have won their last seven away matches in the round of 16, though, while they have been victorious in 16 of their last 25 European away fixtures, suffering just five defeats, which is a brilliant record at this level.

The Spanish outfit have also won eight of their 12 two-legged knockout ties against English clubs in European competition, notably overcoming City in the semifinals back in 2016 courtesy of a 1-0 success.

That said, only on one previous occasion have Madrid lost the home first leg of a European tie and still managed to progress, which occurred back in 1971.

The last meeting between the two sides came in the semis of the 2015-16 competition, and the Spanish giants advanced to the final courtesy of a 1-0 aggregate success

City's 2-1 victory in the first leg in February was therefore their first success against the capital giants

EUROPA LEAGUE RETURNS

Man Utd, Inter reach quarters

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gelsenkirchen (Germany), August 6: Manchester United and Inter Milan booked their places in the Europa League quarterfinals as continental soccer returned in empty stadiums amid the coronavirus pandemic.

United won 2-1 against LASK Linz Wednesday to complete a 7-1 aggregate win over the Austrian club, five months after the first leg was played. LASK held the lead on the night for two minutes after Philipp Wiesinger's 55th-minute goal, but Jesse Lingard soon leveled for United. Anthony Martial scored another for United in the 88th.

The win sets up a quarterfinal reunion for Solskjaer with his former Norway teammate Stale Solbakken, the coach of Copenhagen. They played together at the 1998 World Cup.

Inter beat Getafe 2-0 with goals from Romelu Lukaku and Christian Eriksen. It was a one-off game played in Germany because they did not complete a first leg before the European season was suspended.

Lukaku gave Inter the lead with his 30th goal of the season, picking up Alessandro Bastoni's high pass in the 33rd minute and holding off a defender before stroking the ball low into the far corner. Eriksen made it 2-0 in the 84th, hammering in a loose ball in the penalty area two minutes after he came on from the bench.

Earlier, Shakhtar Donetsk and Copenhagen also advanced.

Shakhtar, the 2009 UEFA Cup winner, won 3-0 in the second leg against Wolfsburg to complete a 5-1 victory on aggregate. The Ukrainian club didn't score until a goal from Junior Moraes in the 89th minute. Moraes and Manor Solomon added a goal apiece in stoppage time.

Copenhagen reached the quarterfinals of a European competition for the first time after overturning a 0-1 deficit from the first leg against Istanbul Basaksehir to win 3-1 on aggregate thanks to two goals from Jonas Wind.

All games from the quarterfinals onward are being played in Germany over a single leg. None will have fans. Games began with a minute's silence designated by UEFA to honor victims of the coronavirus pandemic.

European football's governing body didn't arrange a coordinated whole-team gesture aimed at racial injustice, though team captains wore armbands reading 'No To Racism'.

Masood ton props Pakistan

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

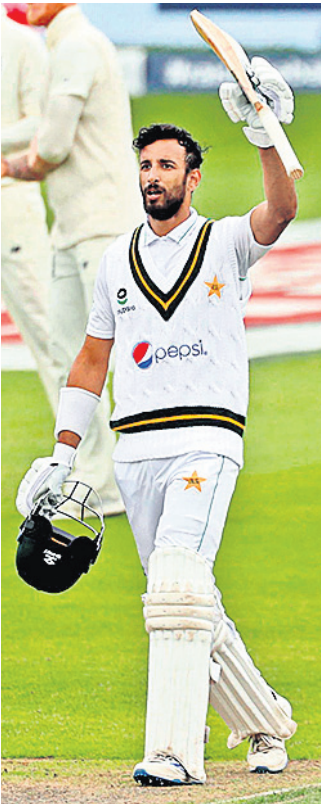

Manchester, August 6: Opener Shan Masood (151 batting, 314b, 17x4, 2x6) scored a gritty century as Pakistan reached 312/8 against England at tea on Day 2 of the first Test being played at the Old Trafford, Thursday.

Masood got to his third ton in a row by milking James Anderson for two runs as batting coach Younis Khan rose to his feet, flashing his signature smile as the 30-year-old reached triple figures in 251 balls, showing composure of the highest order.

The second session almost belonged to Pakistan after Masood and Shadab Khan (45, 76b, 3x4) shared a 105-run stand for the sixth wicket.

Shadab looked good for a fifty until off-spinner Dom Bess had him go for a wild wipe through the line, top edging the ball to England skipper Joe Root who took an easy catch at mid on.

Jofra Archer (3/45) then removed Yasir Shah and Mohammad Abbas in quick succession just before tea but there was no stopping Masood who made the most of his two reprieves on Day 1 - Jos Buttler dropped and missed a stumping when he was batting on 45 - to hold one end up and soak in all the pressure to bat majestically.

Earlier, resuming the day at 139/2, Babar Azam (69, 106b, 11x4) couldn't contribute anything to his overnight score as he was enticed into a false drive by James Anderson who had him caught at first slip by hosts' skipper Joe Root.

Asad Shafiq (7) followed suit soon after as Ben Stokes took a superb catch at second slip off Stuart Broad's bowling to get rid of the new batsman.

Wicketkeeper Mohammad Rizwan tried to play watchfully alongside Masood at the other end but half an hour before the end of the first session, Chris Woakes (2/43) did him with a wider from the crease delivery that caught Rizwan's edge of the bat and flew to 'keeper Buttler.

BRIEF SCORES (AT TEA): 312/8 (Shan Masood 151 batting, Babar Azam 69, Shadab Khan 45; Jofra Archer 3/45, Chris Woakes 2/43) vs England. Match to continue.

Sanchez set for permanent Inter deal

Gelsenkirchen (Germany): Inter Milan will turn Alexis Sanchez's loan from Manchester United into a permanent deal, United manager Ole Gunnar Solskjaer said. Asked about reports that Sanchez would become an Inter player on a permanent basis, Solskjaer told British broadcaster BT Sport Wednesday that: "I can confirm that. Alexis has had a good time over there, a good player, so we wish him all the best." The 31-year-old Chilean forward has been on loan with Inter since August after he struggled for playing time at United. Sanchez struggled to match expectations after joining United from Arsenal in 2018 and scored five goals in 45 games.

Dutch cyclist in induced coma after crash

Warsaw (Poland): Dutch cyclist Fabio Jakobsen was put into an induced coma after sustaining head injuries in a crash on the final stretch of the Tour de Pologne race in southern Poland, organisers said. Sprinting for the win at the end of the event's opening stage Wednesday, Jakobsen was sent flying into the side barriers after a collision with fellow Dutchman Dylan Groenewegen. Jakobsen was airlifted to a hospital in serious condition and was put into an induced coma, the Tour de Pologne press office said. Race director Czeslaw Lang blamed Groenewegen saying, "Groenewegen changed his trajectory, was pressing Jakobsen to the right side and on top of that stuck out his elbow. You don't do that."

Premier League reverts to maximum three-substitution rule

London: The Premier League (EPL) will revert to a maximum of three substitutions in matches next season with England's top division clubs deciding to no longer allow two additional changes. Clubs previously backed the use of five substitutions to deal with the congested schedule after the league's pandemic-enforced 100-day shutdown ended in June. Despite the International Football Association Board allowing the temporary use of five substitutions next season, the league won't be adopting it. The rule had been seen to favor bigger clubs with more depth in their squads. A maximum seven substitutes will be allowed on the bench but only three can be brought on when the new season begins around September 12.
