Together, China, Pakistan test lethal pathogens

AGENCIES

New Delhi/Beijing, Sept 15: Under the garb of Xi Jinping's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI), China's Wuhan Institute of Virology and Pakistan Army's Defense Science & Technology Organization are conducting experiments on deadly pathogens to expand potential bio-warfare capabilities.

An Australian investigative media group The Klaxon, in an exclusive report in August this year, revealed that the two countries have been carrying out extensive research operations on deadly 'animal to human' pathogens in Pakistan involving more than 7000 Pakistani farmers, herders and other animals.

The Wuhan scientists have been conducting tests in collaboration with Rawalpindi in Pakistan since 2015, the Klaxon reported. The programme is funded by China under Xi's ambitious BRI project.

The results of at least five studies conducted on some of the world's deadliest and most contagious pathogens - West Nile Virus, MERS-Coronavirus; Crimean-Congo Hemorrhagic Fever Virus; the Thrombocytopenia Syndrome Virus; and the Chikungunya Virus - have been published in scientific papers between December 2017 and March 9, 2020. The China-Pakistan research involves experiments and genome sequencing of the deadly viruses. One of the studies thanked Wuhan's National Virus Resource Centre for "providing the virus-infected Vero cells".

In its comprehensive report, the Klaxon reported that each of the five studies stated it was "supported" by the "International Cooperation on Key Technologies of Biosafety along the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor". The Klaxon said "international cooperation on key technologies program" has not been formally announced, and the only public references to it appear to be in the acknowledgements sections inside the five scientific papers it obtained.

The China-Pakistan Economic Corridor, or CPEC, is the flagship component of China's Belt and Road infrastructure programme, both of which were announced in 2015. "The Belt and Road program has been widely criticised as being a veil for Chinese colonial expansion, which lumps poor countries with unsustainable amounts of debt and so undermining their sovereignty, enabling China to exert control and influence over them," the Klaxon reported.

As recently as late 2018, Pakistan's government publicly attempted to push back against the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor, declaring it a bad deal, but it was almost immediately overruled by Pakistan's powerful military, which has said it would defend the programme "at all costs".

After the BMC demolished what it termed as illegal alterations at the actor's bungalow at Pali Hill September 9, Ranaut moved the high court. A division bench had stayed the demolition, saying that the civic body's actions seemed "malafide" (having dubious intentions). ## Indian economy to contract 9 pc: ADB

New Delhi, Sept 15: India's coronavirus-battered economy will shrink by 9 per cent this fiscal, the Asian Development Bank (ADB) said Tuesday saying growth outlook remains highly vulnerable to either a prolonged outbreak of the pandemic or a resurgence of cases.

This will be the first time in four decades that the Indian economic growth will contract. In its Asian Development Outlook (ADO) 2020 Update, ADB forecasts a strong recovery for the economy in FY2021, with gross domestic product (GDP) growing by 8 per cent as mobility and business activities resume more widely.

"India imposed strict lockdown measures to contain the spread of the pandemic and this has had a severe impact on economic activity," said ADB Chief Economist Yasuyuki Sawada. Sawada further noted that "it is crucial that containment measures, such as robust testing, tracking, and ensuring treatment capacities, are implemented consistently and effectively to stop the spread of COVID-19 and provide a sustainable platform for the economy's recovery for the next fiscal and beyond."

With lockdowns stalling private spending, ADB said GDP will shrink by 9 per cent in April 2020 to March 2021, sharply down from its June's forecast of (-) 4 per cent. "The growth outlook remains highly vulnerable to either a prolonged outbreak or a resurgence of cases, with the country now having one of the highest number of COVID-19 cases globally," It said.

"Most of the channels are running for the TRPs," the bench observed. There should be some kind of self-regulation in the media, the apex court said

e-MUSTER ROLL

Govt wages to workers to be paid on DBT mode

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Sept 15: In a step ahead to bring in more transparency in governance, the state government has decided to implement e-muster roll to directly transfer wages to the bank accounts of labourers in all works that are being executed by government departments.

Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik Tuesday reviewed the progress in implementation of the new system. In the first phase that would be launched October 2, this initiative will be implemented in projects worth more than Rs 10 crore in the departments of works, water resources, panchayati raj & drinking water, rural development and housing & urban development.

Under this initiative, muster rolls will be maintained in electronic format (E-muster roll) so as to prevent manipulation and ensure transparency. This will also ensure stricter monitoring of minimum wages and timely deposit of ESI and EPF dues.

The Chief Minister directed all departments to have the system in place by January 1 next year for universal implementation of the system.

Stating that the project is a critical step towards transparency and accountability in executing works, he emphasised on use of robust technology in implementing this initiative along with enabling legal frame work.

Concerned officials were asked to undertake state level training and capacity building programmes among staff, extensive awareness campaign for all categories of workers to make them aware of this and sensitisation of other stakeholders like banks and concerned agencies.

The works department will be the nodal department for execution of this initiative under the 5T charter. All departments have been directed to have provisions for incentivising and penal provisions under the system.

New Delhi, Sept 15: The Supreme Court Tuesday restrained Sudarshan TV from telecasting two episodes of 'Bindas Bol' programme, which are scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, saying it prime facie appears to "vilify" the Muslim community.

"At this stage, prima facie it does appear that the programme does vilify the Muslim community," the apex court said while staying the telecast of two episodes of the programme on alleged infiltration of Muslims into the bureaucracy.

A three-judge bench headed by Justice DY Chandrachud, which was hearing a plea which raised grievance over the programme, said it would hear the matter September 17. The bench, also comprising Justices Indu Malhotra and KM Joseph, suggested that a committee can be appointed to help in self-regulating the electronic media. "We are of the opinion that we may appoint a committee of five distinguished citizens who can come up with certain standards for the electronic media. We don't want any politically divisive nature and we need members who are of commendable stature," the bench said.

The counsel appearing for the petitioner has sought reliefs, including injunction on broadcasting of the programme whose promo had claimed that channel would show the 'big expose on conspiracy to infiltrate Muslims in government service'. The bench, which said it is necessary to hear the matter further, observed that court is duty bound to preserve the "salutary principles" It referred to the Cable TV rules and said that "defamatory, false and reflective of half-truth and innuendos" must not be shown.

The bench said that pending further orders, the channel is "injunctioned from making any more broadcasts on this subject on any other name too".

Senior advocate Shyam Divan, appearing for Sudarshan TV, told the bench that the channel considered it an investigative story on national security and the programme has 10 episodes. "Most of the channels are running for the TRPs," the bench said. There should be some kind of self-regulation in the media, the apex court said while raising questions over the programme.

3 vaccines at clinical trial stage, says ICMR

AGENCIES

New Delhi, Sept 15: The Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) said on Tuesday three vaccine candidates against the coronavirus disease (Covid-19) are in the clinical stage of trials in India and one of them will soon begin Phase 3 trials after getting clearances.

Covid-19 vaccine candidates being manufactured by Cadila Healthcare and Bharat Biotech have completed the first phase of the trial while the Serum Institute of India (SII) will begin with Phase 3 trial after getting the nod, Balam Bhargava, ICMR's director general, said during the health ministry's briefing.

Union Health Ministry Secretary Rajesh Bhushan, who was also at the press conference, said no one has presently applied for the emergency authorisation of the vaccine.

Bhargava said the country distributed the Covid-19 curve in such a way that it did not have many deaths and did not witness a huge peak. The comments came against the backdrop of All India Institute of Medical Sciences Director Dr Randeep Guleria's statement that India is witnessing a second wave of coronavirus.

"During the peak in Europe and the US, there were huge numbers of mortalities. We took learning from that and were able to distribute the curve in such a way that we did not have those deaths. This was attributed to the lockdown. We were able to distribute the curve and did not have a huge peak at all," said Bhargava, at a press conference, on being asked about the second wave.

The country's overall Covid tally stands at 49,30,237 and 9,90,061 of them are active cases. Emergency authorisation is not only for vaccines but for drugs, with an existing provision in the Drugs and Cosmetic Act for this. It is an accelerated process which permits the regulator to grant permission which is distinct from regular marketing authorisation.

One example is the US FDA giving emergency authorisation to Remdesivir. Emergency authorisation to Remdesivir was given by the India regulator too. About the Sputnik vaccine, Bhushan said: "Russia has a good history of vaccine manufacturing and hence, we assume that this vaccine is also good. There is a dialogue going on between the high-level committee of the governments of India and Russia. We are trying to work out its mechanism."

'Nepotism is an overrated debate'

Mumbai: Filmmaker Anubhav Sinha feels the raging debate over nepotism, which has found fresh steam after the death of actor Sushant Singh Rajput, is overrated. "Nepotism is an overrated debate. It exists everywhere and I have been telling this from the day one. Too much has been made out of the word 'nepotism'," Sinha said. He opened up on the issue of favouritism, too, and he admitted not being too aware of the newly-popular term 'movie mafia' before. "Speaking of 'mafias', I haven't heard this term too many times in regards to the industry. Yes, favouritism and bullying exist in the business and it exists in every business. But we all should be very careful about our fellow workers. We all should think about each other and work in a friendly manner," said the Thappad director.

Sonam heavily trolled for lauding Jaya's speech

Mumbai: Actress Sonam Kapoor is being trolled all of Tuesday for saying she wants to be like Jaya Bachchan when she grows up.

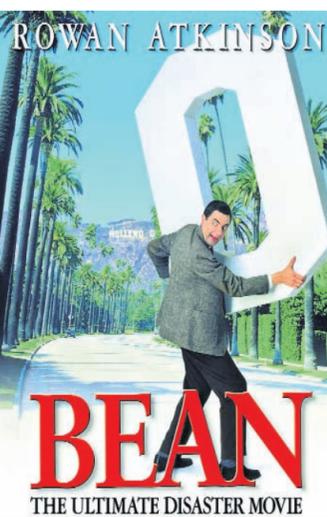

Veteran actress and Samajwadi Party member Jaya Bachchan in her speech at the Rajya Sabha has alleged that a continuous attempt is being made to defame the film industry.

Extending support to her, Sonam Kapoor tweeted from her verified account: "I want to be her when I grow up." Netizens immediately replied to her tweet, questioning the 35-year-old actress what does she mean by 'growing up' at 35.

"Aur kitna grow?? U already became an aunty. Do u think urself to be sweet 16?? And yes, say directly that u too wanna support consumption of drugs & save criminals like Jaya! #WeStayUnited4SSR," tweeted a user: "kaun se class mein padhti hain aap (in which class do you study?)" asked another user: "Chachi, you are already 35 now. So when you will grow up?" asked another user: "Sonam Kapoor still thinks of growing up?" Acted in movies, modeled, gossiped on Karan Johar shows, got an award, and later got married. When will she grow up? God! " exclaimed another user.

THIRTY YEARS ON Mr Bean is essentially a kid in a man's body: Atkinson

Mumbai: The popular Rowan Atkinson-starrer series, Mr. Bean, has completed a 30-year run. The English comedian star said he always believed that the show had a very good chance of being successful and long-running, partly because the character is essentially a child in a man's body. "I always believed that Mr. Bean had a very good chance of being successful and having longevity, partly because the comedy is mainly visual and partly because Mr. Bean is essentially a child in a man's body. Across all races and cultures, the behaviour of children tends to be the same and so is easily identified and laughed at," Atkinson said. What makes Mr. Bean relevant today, 30 years on? "His childish, anarchic behaviour will always be funny," Atkinson replied. Talking about his fondest memories from filming Mr. Bean, Atkinson said that he found filming the show 'stressful.' "I'm sorry to say that I find all filming stressful but Mr. Bean especially so, because of the burden of responsibility I feel to make it funny. Of course, you have support from other excellent actors but whether the jokes work or not, tend to be down to me. And that's stressful," the 65-year-old actor reasoned. He added: "However, I enjoy it when it's over! I enjoy whatever success we have. If an audience finds it funny, then it's been worth it." Were there any moments when Atkinson wanted Mr. Bean to speak? "Often, which is why he speaks a lot in the first Mr. Bean movie (Bean: The Ultimate Disaster Movie, released in 1997). We felt that he had to talk more, so that we could tell the story. He talks more in the latest cartoon episodes. I find the way he talks funny," he said.

₹1,580Cr earmarked for revamping SCB

CM Naveen Patnaik had announced ₹1,000-crore package for modernising the SCB in Nov last year

Bhubaneswar, Sept 15: The Odisha Bridge & Construction Corporation Limited (OB&CC) has estimated a requirement of Rs 1,580 crore for the proposed revamping of SCB Medical College and Hospital in Cuttack.

The cost includes development of additional facilities of 1,000 beds and two playgrounds along with hostel facilities, staff quarters and administrative buildings at the hospital.

The Works department has sought funds from Health and Family Welfare (H&FW) department for execution of the mega project.

The OB&CC has selected a Gurgaon-based agency as master planning and programme management consultant for redevelopment work of the SCB Medical College & Hospital. The consultant will provide services including designing, preparation of master plan, organisational development, contractor selection, project supervision and monitoring during the construction period.

"Considering requirement of funds to take up initial activities for the project and payments to the consultants as per contract, the H&FW department is requested to place a 5 per cent (Rs 79 crore) of IPC with OB & CC," Works secretary Krishan Kumar wrote to H&FW additional chief secretary PK Mohapatra.

In November last year, Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik had announced Rs 1,000-crore package for modernising and revamping of the medical college in Cuttack. The plan was to make it state-of-the-art and the 3,000-bed integrated hospital with the latest medical facilities. The actual expenditure will be much more than the preliminary estimates, sources said.

GOVT TRIES TO EVADE DEBATE ON IRREGULARITIES COMMITTED DURING THE PANDEMIC: TARA

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Sept 15: The Odisha Congress Tuesday said that they are in no mood to tolerate the abolition of Question Hour during the upcoming Assembly session in the light of COVID-19 outbreak.

Congress leader Tara Prasad Bahinipati Tuesday urged the Speaker to convene an all-party meeting for a better clarity on the proceedings.

"There is information of doing away with the Question Hour. We have not given any support to the closure of the Question Hour and will never do it. There should be an all-party meeting convened at least three days before the Session to have more clarity," he said.

The Jeypore MLA said that at the Centre the BJP government tried to close down the Question Hour to reduce the debate on the irregularities during the COVID times and in Odisha, the BJD government had been attempting to use the same tack. He said that the ruling dispensation is trying to evade debate on the irregularities committed by the government during the pandemic.

"The Assembly Secretary's letter does not answer several of our doubts and not clear enough. There are a lot of issues like whether there would be Zero Hour or not and moving of other motions which have not been clearly addressed by the Secretariat before the session," he said.

He also added, "I urge the Speaker to convene the all-party meeting. This is the practice of the Parliament. Why are you not following such practices? Why doesn't the Speaker do live telecast of the Assembly proceedings like in the Parliament?"

The leader demanded not to do away with the Question Hour as well as the Zero Hour. Moving of Adjournment Motion as well as Private Member's Bill should also be allowed, he said.

He also supported the process of COVID testing of MLAs before the session. He said, "We all are ready for the COVID test before the elec-

SESSION IN LINE WITH PARL: BJD

BHUBANESWAR: Biju Janata Dal (BJD) leader and member of the Odisha Assembly Amar Satpathy Tuesday said that the proceedings of the upcoming Assembly Session would be in line with the Parliament.

He was responding to the concerns raised by the Congress party on the proceedings of the Assembly. He said that the proceedings would be done under some restrictions owing to the global pandemic.

"The working of the Assembly would be restricted keeping in mind the COVID outbreak. This is the same practice adopted in Rajya Sabha and Lok Sabha. Many states have not convened their House sessions but we have decided to conduct the Monsoon Session," he said.

He also added, "The state Congress lacks information on abolition of Question Hour. It was done in Parliament and in many states including those ruled by the Congress. The party has also raked up the issue in the Parliament too."

Satpathy said the main objective now should be how to cooperate with each other and run the House smoothly amid the difficult time.

"We all will work according to the Rules of Procedures formed for the session and the Assembly," he said. When asked about the lack of COVID care to patients in the state, he said, "We are taking all care to protect the rights and interests of people from different parts of the state who want treatment. We have reserved 50 per cent beds even in private hospitals for treatment of COVID patients. The rise in cases has posed new challenges."

Don't rush COVID patients to twin cities, Collectors told

Patients insisting on being referred to Bhubaneswar or Cuttack should be counselled and dissuaded, as there is life risk in transport, says PK Mohapatra

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Sept 15: In the wake of rising COVID-19 cases in Bhubaneswar and Cuttack, the state government Tuesday directed Collectors and CDMOs not to rush patients from other places to twin cities in a routine manner.

"The COVID patients requiring critical care should be first managed in ICU/HDU of all districts instead of being referred to Bhubaneswar or Cuttack in a routine manner," Health & Family Welfare (H&FW) additional chief secretary PK Mohapatra wrote to all the Collectors, municipal commissioners and chief district medical officers (CDMOs).

He directed the officials to provide training at grassroots level and district-level hospitals to ensure proper patient management and reduce referrals.

The hospitals at district and lower levels have been instructed to follow the notified referral policy to enable seamless coordination between the sending and receiving hospitals. "Patients insisting on being referred to Bhubaneswar or Cuttack should be counselled and dissuaded, as there is life risk in transport," he said.

During shifting of critical patients, emergency medical technicians should be sent along so that the patients do not develop hypoxia. Unless stable, no patient should not be transported, he said. He advised to give Remdesivir medicine to moderate patients.

To decrease the load on ICU, the additional chief secretary directed the COVID hospitals to have step-

Banker among two held for loan fraud

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Sept 15: The Economic Offences Wing (EOW) of the state Crime Branch Tuesday arrested two persons, including a senior official of Punjab National Bank (PNB), on charges of Rs 2.5-crore loan fraud in 2017.

The accused Srikanta Prasad Prusty, a senior manager-cum-assessment officer at PNB's Jaydev Vihar branch here, and Kalyan Prasad Mishra, proprietor of M/s KP Solutions in Nageswar Tangi area here, have been arrested under Sections 406, 420, 467, 468, 471 and 120B of the IPC, a statement issued by the EOW read.

The EOW's move came in response to a complaint of the circle head of PNB in Bhubaneswar with the investigating agency. It was alleged that Mishra, who deals in wholesale and retail trading of tiles, sanitary items and electronic items, had conspired with a few PNB officials and availed a cash credit (CC) of Rs 2.5 crore by mortgaging the property of three guarantors. During enquiry, two of the guarantors denied having signed the documents and kept the properties as mortgage against the loan.

During investigation, it was found that Mishra used forged KYC documents, including electricity bills and voter identity cards in names of three guarantors, who purportedly acted as guarantors for the loans and mortgaged their immovable property located at Madhupatna area in Cuttack during 2017. Later it was found that one of the guarantors had died way back in 2014, more than three years before the loan was sanctioned, the EOW said.

"Prusty, the then senior manager of PNB Bapuji Nagar Branch, in criminal conspiracy with the loanee, had recommended sanction of the loan to the tune of Rs 2.5 crore to the accused by accepting the forged documents and mentioning that he had verified the identity of the guarantors," the EOW statement read.

COVID posed challenges to nutrition in women: Experts

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Sept 15: Experts working with the state government, All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS), New Delhi and Unicef during a brainstorming session Tuesday said that COVID posed new threats to nutritional aspects of women in Odisha.

"During the pandemic, women from marginalised sections faced several issues like loss of livelihood, lack of cooked mid-day meal due to closure of Anganwadi centres, markets and schools which led to food insecurity. The diversity of food got disrupted," said Babita Mohapatra, Additional Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of Odisha Livelihood Mission.

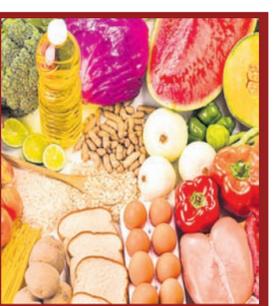

She also cited data from National Family Health Survey (NFHS) and said that several women in the state are still under-nourished and such traits can affect the overall health of the kids in the state. She also talked about the several efforts taken by the government.

Former Dean of AIIMS, Bhubaneswar Vikas Bhatia said that a good number of women in Odisha are anaemic but severe anaemia ranged only 1 per cent of the population. "This shows that the anaemic conditions of Odisha women could be tackled with interventions like availability of folic acid and other government aids. Tackling it is quite possible," he said.

ECoR's maiden fly ash load through business devpt units

As many as 58 wagons of fly ash were loaded from Tata Steel BSL Limited Siding at Meramandali and left for West Bengal

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Sept 15: In spite of challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic, Indian Railways has undertaken a slew of initiatives to boost freight operations. The East Coast Railway (ECoR) has started transporting commodities both in tariff and non-tariff sectors.

In order to increase Railway's share in transportation, the ECoR is now getting closer to trade and industry bodies through its recently launched Business Development Units (BDUs) so that various sectors including non-bulk goods traffic can be transported by Railways.

These units are attracting trade and industries for transportation of their products, which being moved on road, by rail. For this, an incentive of 40 per cent in freight has been given as per the different schemes provided under BDU.

One rake consisting of 58 wagons of fly ash was loaded from Tata Steel BSL Limited Siding at Meramandali and left for Ambuja Cement Eastern Limited at Sankrail in West Bengal September

Fly ash is a fine powder and a by-product of burning pulverized coal in electric generation from power plants. It is a pozzolan, a substance containing aluminous and siliceous material that forms cement in the presence of water. When mixed with lime and water, fly ash forms a compound similar to Portland cement. This makes fly ash suitable as a prime material in blended cement, mosaic tiles, and hollow blocks, among other building materials. When used in concrete mixes, fly ash improves the strength and segregation of the concrete and makes it easier to pump.

On frequent interaction by BDUs with the customers and industries, the ECoR is now exploring ways to increase miscellaneous non-bulk goods traffic to strengthen Railway's share in traditional commodities being carried at present.

'ECMO can help curb state's COVID fatalities'

POST NEWS NETWORK

Cuttack, Sept 15: Extracorporeal membrane oxygenation (ECMO) would go a long way in curtailing the novel coronavirus-related mortality rate in Odisha, state government's technical advisor on COVID-19 Jayant Panda said, Tuesday.

The senior healthcare expert said that he has recently suggested the state government for using ECMO.

"Odisha's COVID-19 mortality rate is 0.49 as against the national average of 1.65 per cent. Hence, using such technology in case of critically-ill COVID-19 patients would definitely help reduce the fatalities. People should be made aware about the high-end technology—ECMO," Panda pointed out.

ECMO is an extracorporeal technique of providing prolonged cardiac and respiratory support to persons whose heart and lungs are unable to provide an adequate amount of gas exchange or perfusion to sustain life. ECMO would be a life-saver for a person infected with COVID-19, according to a senior health expert.

How does it work?

The ECMO machine is connected to a patient through plastic tubes (cannula). The tubes are placed in large veins and arteries in the legs, neck or chest. The ECMO machine pumps blood from the patient's body to an artificial lung (oxygenator) that adds oxygen to it and removes carbon dioxide. Thus, it replaces the function of the person's own lungs. The ECMO machine then sends the blood back to the patient via a pump with the same force as the heart, replacing its function. The perfusionist or ECMO specialist will adjust the settings on the machine to give the patient the amount of heart and lung support they need.

About the duration of usage, the expert said that the machine should be used depending on how the patient's condition progresses, said the expert, adding that the machine is currently being used only at a few healthcare facilities in India.

"The way Odisha saw a huge success in plasma therapy, ECMO can also play a key role in saving many precious lives in COVID times," Panda pointed out, adding that it will take Odisha to a new level in COVID management.

Farmers protest in Sambalpur

POST NEWS NETWORK

Sambalpur/Deogarh, Sept 15: Hundreds of farmers of Sambalpur and Deogarh districts are fuming over 'inordinate delays' in clearing the insurance claims of their damaged crops for last two years.

"For the last two years, we have been running to the offices of tehsil, DRCS and the agriculture department to get our insurance money, but our plight has fallen on deaf ears of the administration and the concerned departments," said some farmers who staged agitations, protesting non-payment of crop insurance in Sambalpur, Monday.

Farmers of Dakara panchayat under Maneswar block of Sambalpur have started relay hunger strike at the tehsil office since Sunday.

Farmers from Dakara panchayat walked 30 km to the tehsil office amid blistering heat and started the hunger strike. They were adamant on their stand that they would not leave the place unless they are given any written assurance from the administration about clearance of their insurance money.

They wanted explanation from the Collector over 'inordinate delays' in payment of insurance.

The farmers warned that 10 farmers will sit in hunger strike in turns every day until their insurance is cleared.

The tehsildar held talks with agitating farmers, but it was futile. According to farmers, their crops were insured in 2018 kharif season. The crop got damaged due to unseasonal rains and pest attack in most parts of the district.

The Revenue department, the insurance company concerned and the Statistics department had conducted survey of the crop loss and prepared a report. Several panchayats in the district were en-

"Two years have passed, but their insurance claims have not been cleared," they fumed.

About 800 farmers have approached the administration several times in the past about insurance, they said. An agitator said majority of the farmers in some panchayats have not received their compensation money.

Reports from Deogarh said, about 85 per cent of farmers in the district were covered under Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojna in 2019-20. The co-operative societies have not yet paid their insurance till date. Though the farmers have taken up the issue with the administration in the past, no step has been taken till date, farmers alleged.

Members of Deogarh Zilla Sangharsh Samiti staged a hunger strike at the Collectorate Monday. Assistant Collector Kaibalya Kar talked to farmers, urging them to withdraw their agitation. However, the farmers refused to do so and warned that their agitation will go on until their insurance claims are settled. DAO Pradip Kumar Sahoo later assured the farmers that crop insurance claims will be cleared soon.

However, farmers remained adamant on their stand.

MGNREGA wages yet to be paid

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bolangir, Sept 15: Hundreds of daily wagers launched an agitation at the DRDA office in Bolangir Tuesday to protest against delay in wage payment and massive corruption in the execution of projects under Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA) scheme and demand timely release of their wages.

MGNREGA beneficiaries from Belapada came to the DRDA office to lodge their protest.

They alleged that massive irregularities were committed in the projects under the MGNREGS at Kenkeba and Madhyapur villages.

"We had to do hard labour under the scheme with a hope to earn for our families. Our wages have not been cleared till date due to corrupt officials, Gan Sathis, GRSS.

The workers protest near the DRDA office in Bolangir, Tuesday.

In some cases, wages of the beneficiaries have been misappropriated through forged bank accounts," the agitating workers alleged.

They demanded action against the corrupt officials and those involved in the irregularities. Social activist Achyut Sipun demanded a vigilance probe into the alleged irregularities.

The delay in disbursement of wages has become a dissuading factor for workers, who did not find any incentive in working under the scheme anymore, the workers fumed.

It may be noted here that the Act stipulates payment of wages within 15 days of completion of work. The Act also allows for compensation of 0.05 per cent every day.

Residents spend sleepless nights over jumbo menace

POST NEWS NETWORK

Deogarh, Sept 15: Elephant menace has returned to haunt 15 villages under Deogarh block in Bolangir district as elephants have been on a rampage and destroying crops and houses in the area for the last few days.

A herd of 14 elephants have trampled crops, maize and vegetables in Uparjhar, Mukundapur, Udhar and Gaibahal panchayats.

The animals also damaged crops at Gurudipalli, Bandhapalli, Phatamunda and Gengali. The Forest department, meanwhile, has been accused of failing to keep the animals at bay. This has led to discontent among the locals.

The animals are holed up in Mathakhia reserve forest and come to Bhima hill. As they have been damaging crops, farmers are spending sleepless nights trying to drive them away with drums and torches.

On the other hand, the Energy department has resorted to power cuts from 7 pm till 7 am to save the animals from electrocution.

As a result, people in 15 villages have to live in dark for the last several days.

The forest department has engaged 20 staff to drive away the animals.

Worthy to note, the frequent intrusions by the pachyderms to the farmlands have robbed the farmers of their sleep. Crops in large tracts of farmlands were destroyed by the elephants in the above three villages. This situation has led to widespread panic among the villagers.

OFFICIALS OF CONSUMER WELFARE AND CIVIL SUPPLIES DEPARTMENT BLAME THE FLOODS FOR SUCH A SITUATION

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar/Balasure, Sept 15: Onion and potato prices have increased the woes of the consumers across the state amid the COVID-19 pandemic. One can safely say the spiraling costs of onions and potato are bringing tears to the eyes of the people. Both are now being sold above ₹40 per kilogram.

The Odisha government has said that prices of these two commodities have sky-rocketed across India. However, consumers here have complained that it is making a huge dent in their pockets.

However, it is not just that the prices of onions and potatoes have increased. Prices of other vegetables have also shot up due to the recent floods which destroyed large amounts of vegetable crops in different parts of Odisha. Retail traders said that they have no option but to increase rates as they have to shell out extra cash to procure vegetables from farmers and middlemen.

Odisha's famous wholesale market Chatra Bazar is situated in Cuttack. Onions and potatoes are being sold at ₹100/3kg there. In other markets of the Silver City, potatoes are being sold at ₹40 per kg while for onions the price is varying between ₹36 to 40 per kilogram.

Similarly, in markets here and those in Balasure, the prices of both potatoes and onions are hovering around the ₹40-mark for one kilogram.

Traders in Angul district have started hoarding the stuff as shortage will enable them to increase the prices of both potatoes and onions. Consumers alleged that in some places the prices of onions and potatoes have gone over ₹40 per kg.

Shopkeepers however, said they have no option but to increase the prices. They said they are being forced to shell out large amounts to get the vegetables from middlemen.

"We have already reduced the consumption of potatoes as the price is very high. In the last month, we have been buying potatoes at around ₹35 per kilogram and ₹37 for each kilogram of onion. So, it is indeed a difficult time for us amid the COVID-19 pandemic," said Jayanti Panda, a homemaker staying at UNIT-IX in Bhubaneswar.

Officials of Consumer Welfare and Civil Supplies department blamed the floods for such a situation. They assured that the 'government is keeping a close watch on the situation' to see that prices do not escalate anymore.

Decrease in production due to the COVID-19 pandemic has affected the prices of onions and potatoes. The situation is likely to continue for some more days, the officials said.

It should be stated here that the Centre has banned the export of onions a couple of days back with immediate effect. People are hoping that this will bring down the prices of the staple consumer product within a short time.

REIN IN THE DRAGON

China has got the small countries of the world in a debt-trap by liberally distributing loans to them. The question is, who will save these countries from its grip? Now the debt-ridden countries have no alternative but to support China. In such a situation, how will big countries fight China? At present, in at least 100 countries, dictators masquerading as democrats are sitting in the lap of China

All of you must have read about the dreaded Kalia Nag (serpent) in our mythology. The lake in which it lived had become so poisonous that even the birds and animals passing over it used to die. Even the river Yamuna had become poisonous due to its venom. Lord Krishna jumped into that lake. Kalia Nag had a hundred heads. When Krishna crushed him, Kalia Nag realised its mistakes. In today's context, China wants to subjugate the whole world just like Kalia Nag. Besides being the world's second largest economy, it is equipped with all the resources of genocide like atomic bombs and biological weapons. There is no existence of dignified human life or human rights in China. In 1989, it had used tanks to crush the student protests and ruthlessly killed them for demanding a democratic set-up in the country. If such a country loses even one lakh soldiers due to its misadventure, what difference will it make to it? But can democratic countries like the US, Japan or India think so? We can't think so because we know the worth of human life and human values. China is exactly the opposite. It has no faith in the philosophy of 'live and let live.' It has banned temples, mosques and churches. It has sent off Lord Buddha from its soil. It's fraught with cunningness and fraud. On one hand, it pretends to negotiate with India and on the other hand plays a bloody game of grabbing our land on the border. It talks to our defence minister Rajnath Singh in Russia, the next day it says it will not cede even an inch of land. It is clever and devious like a demon. The question is how to overcome such a country. Here I want to make it clear that I have no malice towards the citizens of China. They are my friends. I remain worried for them because the dictatorship of the Chinese Communist Party has made the lives of the people there hellish. It has suppressed the electronic and the print media so that the real news does not reach the citizens. I am opposed to the demonic government that has imprisoned more than one million Uyghur Muslims. It has got the small countries of the world in a debt-trap by liberally distributing loans to them. The question is, who will save these countries from its grip? Now the debt-ridden countries have no alternative but to support it. In such a situation, how will big countries fight China? At present, in at least 100 countries of the world, dictators masquerading as democrats are sitting in the lap of China. China is openly supporting terrorists. If we want Hafiz Saeed to be declared as a terrorist in the United Nations Security Council, China imposes a veto. Is it easy to fight China like this? The amazing thing is that despite the atmosphere turning against China in the whole world, it is browbeating everyone. It has crossed swords with the US. It is trying to usurp Taiwan like Tibet. It is fighting with Japan. There is a ruckus in the South China Sea and the Red Sea. Here, it has created a war-like situation on the Indian border. India is acting with restraint, otherwise a war would have already started. China has been messing with Europe, its approach is the same with Australia. On the Hong Kong issue, it directly violated the agreement with Britain but no one could save Hong Kong. A new case of China's antics has come to the fore. Many people in various states of America received unopened packets which read 'ornaments.' When people opened it, they found various types of seeds in it. As soon as the US government came to know of this, it started collecting these seeds and asked people not to sow them. After this, similar packets have been received in other countries. India has also issued an advisory regarding this last week. But it is difficult to understand how the seed packets reached other countries because there is no permission to carry any seed or plant from one country to another. China has kept silent on this matter. It has only said that it is investigating the case. You may recall that when wheat was sent to our country by the US in the period of starvation, red wheat seeds also came with it. Today due to the presence of 'carrot grass' in our millions of hectares of land, it has become non-cultivable. With this action of China, it seems that it wants to destroy the fertile land of other countries of the world. It's a form of bio-warfare on the sly. I do not understand how the world will control China, which is becoming uncontrollable. I want to congratulate the US, which has shut its business to a great extent. India has also taken some steps with restrictions on Chinese apps, but will China mend its ways after all these measures? I don't think it will mend its ways that easily! For this, it is necessary that the powerful nations of the world forget all their differences and unite and tighten the screws on China. ## No land, some peace

Israeli Prime Minister Binyamin Netanyahu has hailed the agreement normalising relations between Israel and the United Arab Emirates – which the two countries will sign at a White House ceremony on September 15 – as a historic step that equals Israel's previous peace deals with Egypt and Jordan. The Israeli leader also boasted that the agreement with the UAE vindicated his 'Netanyahu doctrine' of peace for peace, rather than land for peace. But even peace with a country with which Israel does not share a border and has never fought a war required Netanyahu to give up his plans to annex large parts of the West Bank. So, there was a 'land for peace' aspect to the deal after all.

More important, Netanyahu's 'doctrine' practically buries the concept underlying the 2002 Arab Peace Initiative: that an Israeli-Palestinian peace should be the precondition for normalisation of Arab states' relations with Israel. The Arab League itself has rejected the Palestinians' request to condemn the Israel-UAE deal, and the pact also signals the defeat of the Israeli left's vision of Palestine as the key to peace with the Arab world.

Throughout the many decades of Arab-Israeli antagonism, Arab states have betrayed the Palestinians no less than Israel has. In his 1979 peace agreement with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin made far-reaching commitments on the Palestinian question. But both leaders knew that theirs was a separate peace driven by vital strategic needs – as shown by its subsequent survival despite Israel's ever deepening occupation and settlement of Palestinian lands.

Why, then, has Mohammed bin Zayed, the UAE's ruler, invited the rage of the betrayed Palestinians by normalising relations with the Jewish state? First, he proved to be a man with the courage to call a spade a spade. Gulf states including the UAE and Saudi Arabia have had discreet security relations with Israel for years. As a major military and technological power in the Middle East, Israel has become a necessary ally for conservative regimes shaken by the 2011 Arab Spring, the threat of Islamist radicalism, and Iran's growing regional clout.

But it is mainly the fear of a withdrawal from the region by the United States that is bringing Arab states closer to Israel. They saw how US President Donald Trump refrained from any direct military response to Iran's devastating September 2019 attack on Saudi Arabia's oil installations. Moreover, Trump didn't even respond to Iran's downing a few months earlier of a sophisticated US surveillance drone over the Strait of Hormuz.

The idea that peace with Israel also means peace with America had always been a fundamental motive behind the Arabs' decision to consider reconciliation with the Jewish state. Sadat signed the 1979 peace agreement because he wanted to shift Egypt's strategic orientation from the Soviet Union to the US. The $2 billion in annual military aid that Egypt still receives from the US is a direct product of that peace. And Syria, Israel's staunchest Arab enemy, evinced interest in peace only after the Soviet Union collapsed.

The Emiratis do not need America's money, but they do need its continuous involvement in Middle Eastern affairs. Israel is the guarantee that America will always be around, and offers the UAE a path into the US Congress, where arms deals and financial packages are approved.

The Trump administration's apparent decision to sell F-35 stealth fighter jets to the UAE has been an important objective in the Emirati peace strategy towards Israel. These advanced warplanes – which only the US and Israel currently possess – will secure America's engagement with the UAE, and add muscle to a small country that has global ambitions and many enemies.

Chief among these foes are Qatar and Turkey. Both countries support the Muslim Brotherhood, a UAE nemesis, which explains Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdoğan's virulent reaction to the normalisation deal. In Libya, the UAE is fighting together with Egypt and Russia in support of the Tobruk-based Libyan National Army led by Field Marshal Khalifa Haftar, while Turkey and Qatar are backing the internationally recognised government in Tripoli. The UAE has also sought to check Turkey's punitive incursions against Kurdish forces in northern Syria.

Framing the Israel-UAE agreement as part of the continuous effort to contain Iran, as Netanyahu and the Trump administration are doing, is a convenient way to make the F-35 arms deal palatable to increasingly isolationist US public opinion. The truth is that the UAE has been pursuing a prudent strategy vis-à-vis Iran. It recently abandoned the Saudi-led coalition in the war against Iran's Houthi proxies in Yemen, and has even disengaged from Trump's sanctions regime against Iran.

Be that as it may, Netanyahu is right to say that the Palestinians are losing their most important strategic asset: their veto power over an all-Arab peace with Israel. Bahrain has already announced that it will follow in the UAE's footsteps, and more Arab countries are likely to do so as well. The region is changing, and the Arabs are accepting that Israel is a legitimate strategic player. Palestine, the supposed epicenter of the region's worries, has become a disposable cause.

The Palestinians must recognise that they have brought this situation on themselves by their serial rejection of peace offers in the past. How could they assume that the Arab states would forever mortgage their national interests in a changing region to fulfill Palestine's implausible expectations? Should they not now shift strategy, stop their 'boycott' of the US, and engage Israel in the search for a realistic peace plan?

In US, democracy's win is also its loss

Melvin Durai

EVEN IF A POLLSTER CAN PREDICT WHICH CANDIDATE WILL WIN MORE VOTES, PREDICTING WHO WILL WIN THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE IS MUCH HARDER

The polls look good for Joe Biden, the Democratic nominee for president in America, putting him as many as 12 percentage points ahead of President Donald Trump nationally. But public surveys also looked good for Hillary Clinton in 2016; yet, Trump managed to eke out a victory.

Because America is a democratic country and believes strongly in democratic principles, the candidate who received the most votes was declared the loser.

After receiving almost three million fewer votes than Clinton, Trump got to celebrate at a huge victory party. At his inauguration, quite aptly, there were three million fewer supporters than he expected.

In the upcoming presidential election, Trump is almost guaranteed to receive fewer votes than Biden. But the big question on everyone's mind is this: Will Trump celebrate victory again?

Nobody really knows for sure, except MK Damodaran, a 68-year-old Kerala numerologist. According to him, Trump supporters can begin planning their victory parties.

As Damodaran told a news agency, "November 3, 2020 is the day of the US presidential election, which is strongly lucky for incumbent President Trump. His date of birth is June 14, 1946. As such, his birth number is 5 (1 + 4). Besides, he was born in the Sun sign Gemini that is ruled by planet Mercury. Number 5 is represented by planet Mercury."

What about Biden's numbers? Damodaran has also analysed them, deeming the former vice-president's chances of winning the top office as "very remote."

Someone needs to inform Biden of this, because the poor man is spending millions of dollars on a presidential campaign that is doomed to fail. It would be wise for him to concede early and save everyone a lot of trouble.

Perhaps you're skeptical about a numerologist's ability to predict the outcome of an election. If so, I'd like to know whom we should rely upon instead. Achilles the Cat?

Achilles is a deaf Russian cat that correctly predicted the winner of several matches at the 2018 FIFA World Cup. All we have to do is put two bowls of food in front of the cat, one with a photo of Trump stuck to it and the other with Biden.

But Achilles, unfortunately, is not perfect. It incorrectly predicted that Nigeria would upset Argentina at the World Cup, causing premature dancing in the African country.

It would make more sense, perhaps, to rely on public polls – telephone surveys that ask a random sample of people about their election preferences. The problem with polls is that people don't always do what they say they will. A voter named John Smith may tell the pollster that he likes Biden and strongly believes in exercising his right to vote. But on Election Day, Smith may decide that he strongly believes in exercising his right to watch football all day.

Another voter, Rohit Sharma, may tell a pollster that he's unlikely to vote. But on Election Day, he may decide that voting is an important duty for every citizen, especially since his wife has put a sign on the couch: "Non-voters sleep here."

Even if a pollster can predict which candidate will win more votes, predicting who will win the Electoral College is much harder. The Electoral College is the reason why Hillary Clinton lost the 2016 election despite gaining more votes than Trump.

Here's how it works: each state is given a certain number of electoral votes, depending on its population. Pennsylvania, for example, has 20 electoral votes and neighbouring Ohio has 18. The electoral votes are allocated to each candidate in a winner-takes-all system. So if Biden wins Ohio by three million votes, but loses Pennsylvania by just 3 votes, Trump will be ahead in the Electoral College by 20 to 18 – and true democracy will be a loser again.

Will America ever get rid of the Electoral College? I'm not sure, but I hope MK Damodaran will be able to tell me.

WORDSWORTH

To wit

To wit is now just a fixed expression. It's a shortened form of that is to wit meaning "that is to know; that is to say; namely," from the English verb wit "to know." This was a strong verb with past tense wot, as in "A garden is a lovesome thing, God wot." In Old English it was spelt witan, and even further back it was linked with a Germanic verb meaning "to see." In the first of these senses, it's closely connected with the modern German verb wissen; in the second it's the origin of our witness. It developed further to refer to a person's understanding or judgement or mind (hence "keep your wits about you").

Defying Covid rules

Sir, With no sign of the Covid-19 pandemic abating even six months after its outbreak, people are getting tired of the restrictions and are more in a mood to defy them. They now tend to ignore norms such as wearing of face masks, maintaining physical distance and use of hand sanitizers. Hence, there is little surprise that, of late, Khurda district has been recording an average of 600 positive cases and five-to-ten Covid deaths per day. While the government has relaxed the regulations gradually and with the UnLock 4.0 in place, people seem to be taking the Covid precautions lightly. Although the Odisha government has issued guidelines on following the Covid-19 precautions and safety measures, it is business as usual at market places, with people caring little for safety norms. This is more so at market places, commercial establishments, malls, supermarkets and such other business areas. Although safety measures were followed in the initial days of the relaxations, the rules are being increasingly ignored. People can be seen standing close to each other at provision stores, garment shops and vegetable markets. The situation is no different at hotels, bars, restaurants and wine shops. Many are not wearing masks in a proper manner; thus defeating the very purpose. With the number of infections rising alarmingly, the district administrations must make sure the people strictly adhered to the rules and regulations.

Bhushan's case

Sir, Senior lawyer in the Supreme Court, Prashant Bhushan, says, "Paying the fine doesn't mean I have accepted the verdict," vis-à-vis the tweets he posted on social media on two different occasions. He should have refused to pay the fine of Re.1 if he had indeed not accepted the verdict. There is no need for arguments in courts if a party to a dispute gracefully accepts the guilt. In the case of Bhushan, there was a choice for him either to accept the token fine or undergo imprisonment for three months. He exercised the choice given to him and opted to avoid a jail life. Now, it is for the people to say whether he accepted the punishment or not. Bhushan might be again trying to provoke the top court. This issue must be treated as closed by the SC when lakhs of other petitions are vying for its attention.

NEET HEAT IN TN ASSEMBLY

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Chennai, Sept 15: The National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test (NEET) - the entrance exam for medical colleges - generated heated debate in the Tamil Nadu Assembly Tuesday.

Chief Minister K. Palaniswami replying to a Special Call Attention motion said NEET was brought by the Congress-led United Progressive Alliance (UPA) government in which DMK was a partner.

Palaniswami said it was late Chief Minister J. Jayalithaa who had moved the apex court to get NEET cancelled. But it was the UPA government which brought it back.

He also said it was the DMK which is responsible for the death of 13 medical college aspirants in the state.

Members of Congress objected when ALADMK lawmaker Inbadurai said it was advocate Nalini Chidambaram, wife of former Finance Minister P. Chidambaram, who had argued in favour of NEET in the court.

Inbadurai also said DMK was part of the UPA when NEET was introduced. Palaniswami said it was not wrong information.

Congress members demanded the Speaker expunge Inbadurai's remarks which the latter refused. With the Congress lawmakers continuing to disrupt proceedings, Speaker P. Dhanapal ordered the marshals to evict them.

On his part DMK President and Leader of the Opposition MK Stalin, speaking on the motion, said NEET was not there in the state till late M Karunanidhi was Chief Minister of Stalin said the central government was silent on the two resolutions unanimously passed by the Assembly to exempt Tamil Nadu from NEET.

Differing appeals on contempt of court action against Surya

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Chennai, Sept 15: The issue of initiating contempt of court proceedings against actor S. Surya following his statements on the judiciary has evoked differing appeals, both for and against such action.

Sitting Madras High Court judge, Justice SM Subramaniam has written to Chief Justice AP Sahi to take contempt of court action against the actor for criticising the judiciary and for undermining the integrity of judges as well as the judicial system.

On the other hand, six retired High Court judges - K Chandru, KN Basha, T Sudanthiram, D Hariparanthaman, K Kannan and GM Akbar Ali - and Manithaneya Makkal Katchi (MMK) leader MH Jawahirullah Monday requested Chief Justice Sahi not to take contempt of court action against the actor as it would impact freedom of expression.

The six retired judges said that the matter should be left as it is. "It is our duty to make this appeal to your good selves so that the court is rid of any unnecessary controversies," said a letter signed by Justice Chandru (retd) on behalf of all other five retired judges.

MMK leader Jawahirullah said Surya, citing the virtual hearing of the cases by the courts due to the Covid-19 pandemic, had wondered if it was right on the part of judges to order students to write the NEET exams, and if Surya's views are taken as contempt of court, it goes against the freedom of expression guaranteed in the Constitution.

In a letter to Chief Justice Sahi, objecting to the actor's statement, Justice Subramaniam said, in his view, Surya's statement amounts to contempt of court as the judiciary has been criticised and the integrity and devotion of the judges as well as judicial system have been undermined.

He contended that Surya's statement "... reveals that the Hon'ble Judges are afraid of their own life and rendering justice through video conferencing. While so, they have no moral (right) to pass orders directing the students to appear for NEET Exam without fear."

"The said statement, in my considered opinion, amounts to contempt of court as the integrity and devotion of the Hon'ble Judges as well as the Judicial System of our Great Nation are not only undermined but criticised in a bad shape, wherein there is threat for the public confidence on the Judiciary. Thus, Cine Actor Mr Surya has committed contempt, warranting contempt proceedings to uphold the majesty of our Indian Judicial System," Justice Subramaniam said.

Differing with Justice Subramaniam, the six retired judges, in their letter to the Chief Justice, said "such a construction made on the statement of Surya will be slightly off the mark and it does not require any action as requested by the learned Judge."

"When four students had committed suicide in the state fearing the NEET exam, an artistic person's over-reaction should not be taken seriously and out of context, they said. However, supporting Justice Subramaniam's views, the Tamil Nadu Advocates' Association (TNAA) in a letter to the Chief Justice condemned Surya's statement.

According to the TNAA letter written by its president S Prabhakaran, the actor, by criticising the administration and judicial functioning, has brought down the reputation of the judiciary.

Prabhakaran said Surya had issued the statement with an intention to ban NEET which is a matter before the apex court.

He said the apex court is issuing guidelines on the conduct of the NEET and had rejected the plea for online exams.

Court restrains media from publishing trial of rape accused bishop

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Kottayam, Sept 15: A local court has restrained the print and electronic media from publishing any matter relating to the trial in the alleged rape of a nun by Bishop Franco Mulakkal, without its permission.

Additional Sessions Judge Gopakumar G issued the order, restraining the media from publishing any matter relating to the trial and procedures of the case, including discussions about the evidence tendered by the witnesses, without the court's previous permission.

The order was passed on a petition by Mulakkal, seeking in camera trial, alleging that the prosecution had leaked to the media a part of the 161 Statement of a witness before the preliminary start of the case and the media had started a discussion pertaining to various aspects of it.

The Judge said there was nothing on record to show that the prosecution had shared the 161 Statement (statement of witness recorded by police) to the media.

"The statements of the witnesses are information falling within the public domain. Such statements have to be distinguished with the statement given by a victim. The bar is only in revealing the identity of the victim. There is no law that absolutely prohibits publication and discussion about the statement made by a witness other than the victim," the court held, adding the part of the prayer seeking action against the prosecution cannot be allowed.

The court had framed charges against the accused August 18 this year and the trial of the case has commenced.

Since an allegation of rape is involved, the trial has to be conducted in camera, the court observed.

Pointing out that proliferation of the media and the increased competition among the visual media had accelerated coverage of the news, but often at the risk of its accuracy and quality, the court said the opportunity afforded through the visual media to make lengthy discussions about matters over which the panellist and moderators have no direct knowledge, has made the situation 'more grim.'

"The common man often misapprehends their comments as true words. Even before the commencement of the trial, a strong public opinion is created against a person, which severely affects the presumption of innocence available to him," the court held.

The rape case against the Bishop was registered by police in Kottayam district. In her complaint to the police in June 2018, the nun had alleged that she was subjected to sexual abuse by the bishop between 2014 and 2016.

The Special Investigation team which probed the case, arrested the bishop and charged him with wrongful confinement, rape, unnatural sex and criminal intimidation.

140 teenager suicides in 6 months: SHRC seeks report from Kerala

A study says that family disputes, troubled love affairs, failure in examinations, issues over mobile phones, two-wheelers were among the major reasons for the suicides

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Thiruvananthapuram, Sept 15: At least 140 teenagers killed themselves in Kerala for trivial reasons in the last six months, a study said, prompting the state Human Rights Commission (SHRC) to direct the Social Justice Department to examine the effectiveness of its suicide prevention measures.

In his direction to the Director of the department Monday, SHRC chairman Antony Dominic also sought a report on the initiatives taken to prevent suicide by youngsters.

"As per a complaint received by the panel, a study conducted by DISHA, an NGO, shows that at least 140 youngsters in the age group of 13 to 18 had committed suicide during the period of January 2020 to June 2020," a commission release said.

CM Pinarayi Vijayan had in July said instances of suicidal tendencies were being witnessed among children and termed it as an 'extremely serious social issue'

The study said that family disputes, troubled love affairs, failure in examinations, issues over mobile phones, two-wheelers were among the major reasons for the suicides.

"Thiruvananthapuram district has the highest number of suicides with 22 youngsters having taken the extreme step, followed by Malappuram with 20 suicides," the SHRC said. The complaint said that the ineffectiveness of 'village child protection councils' has resulted in the rising number of suicides among youngsters.

The release said the SHRC asked the Social Justice Department to review the effectiveness of the suicide prevention measures being taken up by it and sought a report.

Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan had in July said instances of suicidal tendencies were being witnessed among children and termed it as an "extremely serious social issue."

"Since March 25, when the national lockdown was imposed, 66 children, below 18 years of age, have ended their lives due to various reasons," Vijayan had said.

NIA set to quiz minister in gold smuggling case

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, Sept 15: Widening its probe into the Kerala gold smuggling case, the National Investigation Agency (NIA) is all set to question Kerala Minister KT Jaleel in the next two days, officials said Tuesday. "We will record the statement of Jaleel in the Kerala gold smuggling case," a senior NIA official told IANS.

The official clarified that he is not named in the case, but the agency wants to question him to know if there was any gold smuggling activity under the guise of distribution of religious texts.

Jaleel, who is the state Higher Education Minister, was questioned by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) last Friday. Following this, the opposition Congress and the BJP had demanded his resignation.

The NIA official also said that the anti-terror probe agency is going through the digital evidence it collected so far from the possession of Swapna Suresh, the kingpin in the case, which points fingers to VIPs with whom she was associated with. Earlier, a team of NIA led by Superintendent of Police travelled to United Arab Emirates (UAE) to question several other accused named in the case. The official said that a team of NIA officials will once again visit the UAE as part of its probe in the coming days.

The gold smuggling case was unearthed when P.S. Sarith, a former employee of the UAE Consulate in Thiruvananthapuram, was arrested by the Customs July 5 when he was facilitating smuggling of 30 kg gold in diplomatic baggage to the state capital from Dubai. Things turned murkier when the name of Swapna Suresh, a former employee of the Consulate and later employed with the IT Department, surfaced. Later, her links with now-suspended IAS officer M. Sivasankar, then posted as Principal secretary to Kerala CM Pinarayi Vijayan and also the IT Secretary, came to light.

UK restores idols stolen from TN temple back to India

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

London, Sept 15: A set of three idols of Lord Rama, Sita and Lakshmana, stolen from a temple in Tamil Nadu decades ago, were restored to the Indian government Tuesday after a collector voluntarily offered to hand it back on discovering their true history.

The theft dates back to 1978 and led to an investigation by the Idol Wing of the Tamil Nadu Police working along with colleagues in the Metropolitan Police in London.

The unnamed collector, who had acquired the statues in good faith, was informed about their dubious provenance by the Met Police.

After matching them up with archival photographs from the 1950s held at the French School in Pondicherry, it was proved that the idols in his possession were those belonging to the Vijayanagara period and stolen from Sri Rajagopalaswami Temple at Ananthamangalam in Nagapattinam district of Tamil Nadu.

In a ceremony streamed from India House in London in keeping with the limit on gatherings due to the COVID-19 restrictions, priests from Sri Murugan Temple in London conducted a short religious ceremony for their handover to India.

"Today marks the successful completion of the search and rescue operation of these very beautiful idols, which were consecrated and worshipped side by side for years. We wanted to ensure these deities were handled with due reverence and propriety before they are shipped back to India," said Indian High Commissioner to the UK Gaitri Issar Kumar.

"On behalf of the government of India, I hope this will inspire museums and collectors to carefully look and check their collections and help us restore deities that belong to the people of India and have been worshipped for centuries," she said.

The UK-based collector behind the handover, who has chosen to stay anonymous, was described as a lover of Indian art and culture.

Addressing the virtual event, officials from the state government of Tamil Nadu praised his voluntary intervention and expressed the hope that no further action will be taken against him.

"The voluntary handover of these idols highlight two enforcement issues: the need for effective communication and dialogue, and the proper documentation of all cultural heritage, which would not only act as a deterrent to thefts but also help as evidence without which the outcome of this case may have been very different," said Tim Wright, from the Metropolitan Police.

Minister of Culture and Tourism Prahlad Singh Patel, connecting virtually to the event from Delhi, welcomed the repatriation of the statues, which he said was among over 40 "priceless" stolen artefacts restored to India since 2014.

He also revealed that documentation from the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) and other experts has been collated for the British Museum as part of efforts to seek the repatriation of another idol which belongs in India.

Kerala police version of 'George Floyd' attack keeps Twitter abuzz

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Kochi, Sept 15: Social media has been abuzz with activity ever since picture of a police official squatting over a young Congress worker pinning him to the ground to allow Kerala Higher Education Minister KT Jaleel's convoy to pass through, surfaced.

It was Sunday evening, when the picture became public. The social media users immediately equated it with the unfortunate incident of George Floyd, a black American, who was killed in Minneapolis, US, when Derek Chauvin, a white policeman, knelt on the 46-year-old's neck for several minutes leading to his death eventually.

Floyd was handcuffed as he was pinned face down, calling for his mother and repeatedly saying 'please' and 'I can't breathe.'

State Congress vice-president and two-time former legislator PC Vishnunadh said it was indeed shameful for the Kerala Police, for what happened. "Just see the cruelty that was shown to one of our young activist Antony, who turned into victim of police high-handedness, as literally a replay of what happened in the US was played out," said Vishnunadh. Antony and Youth Congress workers took to the streets Sunday evening and protested against Jaleel demanding his resignation after he was questioned by the Enforcement Directorate.

While some protesters were chased away by the police manning the roads, Antony fell down and when he was trying to get up, a police official saw to it, he was pinned to the ground, till Jaleel's convoy passed.

9,800 block observers are 'eyes & ears' of BJP

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Patna, Sept 15: Ahead of the upcoming assembly elections in Bihar, the Bharatiya Janata Party's IT cell has been playing a pivotal role in its election campaign. Nearly 9,800 observers at the ground level are turning out to be the 'eyes and ears' of the party. Manan Krishna, state Convener of the BJP IT cell, said every development related to the economy and social and cultural aspects as well as the weaknesses of the opposition parties were minutely observed by party workers at the block level and accordingly strategies were being formulated at the state headquarters in Patna.

"We have 9,800 block-level observers spread across 38 districts in Bihar. They are associated with us and are non-paid workers. They keep an eye on every activity, including development work as well as aggressive statements or incidents involving slip-of-tongue by the opposition leaders. They send feedback to us, we filter it and follow it up by selection of important stories of individuals, groups and incidents having a political impact. The news points are also sent to leaders concerned of the respective constituencies apart from the top state and Central leadership at Patna and Delhi," Krishna said.

One such example emerged in the Kati Assembly constituency when a group of four or five men returned during the corona lockdown and started a dairy project. They were now claiming that their earnings had increased manifold and reached a stage of self-reliance.

"We highlight such stories on public platforms as well as on social media to inspire others about how they turned a natural calamity into an opportunity. It is also our core mantra for the Bihar Assembly elections," Krishna added.

Sharing his experience, Krishna said besides the feedback of the block observers we also monitor newspapers, news channels and different social networking sites. We have an efficient and qualified team which comprises 20 members who continuously monitor developments round the clock at the state headquarters in Patna.

Apart from them, some professionals contribute their services part-time during the morning and evening sessions. All of them are non-paid workers inspired by the ideology of the BJP. Some of the team members belong to technical fields like software engineering and call centres, which returned during the pandemic.

China in illegal occupation of 38K sq km of Indian land: DefMin

AGENCIES

New Delhi, Sept 15: China is in illegal occupation of 38,000 square km of Indian land and it considers another 90,000 square km as its own, Union Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said in Parliament Tuesday, adding that the Line of Actual Control (LAC) is not clearly delineated.

The Defence Minister said that China has tried to disrupt the ground situation in May and June and it led to India's response. "We have told China that such incidents won't be acceptable to us," Rajnath said.

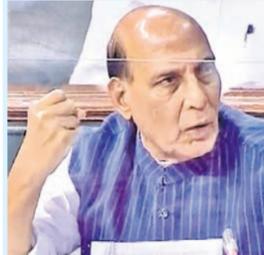

China continues to be in illegal occupation of approximately 38,000 sq km in the Union Territory of Ladakh. In addition, under the so-called Sino-Pakistan 'Boundary Agreement' of 1963, Pakistan illegally ceded 5,180 sq km of Indian territory in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir to China. China also claims approximately 90,000 sq kms of Indian territory in the eastern sector of the India-China boundary in Arunachal Pradesh, the minister said.

China does not accept the customary and traditional alignment of the boundary between India and China. "We believe that this alignment is based on well-established geographical principles confirmed by treaties and agreements, as well as historical usage and practice, well-known for centuries to both sides," the minister said.

The two countries had engaged in discussions during the 1950s and 60s but these efforts could not yield a mutually acceptable solution.

Both India and China have formally agreed that the boundary question is a complex issue which requires patience and have committed to seeking a fair, reasonable and mutually acceptable solution through dialogue and peaceful negotiations. In the interim, the two sides also agree that maintenance of peace and tranquillity in the border areas is an essential basis for the further development of bilateral relations.

The Defence Minister said as yet there is no commonly delineated Line of Actual Control in the border areas between India and China and there is no common perception of the entire LAC.

Therefore, in order to ensure peace and tranquillity in the border areas, especially along the LAC, the two countries have concluded a number of agreements and protocols. Under these agreements, the two sides have agreed to maintain peace and tranquillity along the LAC without prejudice to their respective positions on the alignment of the LAC as well as on the boundary question. "It is on this basis, that our overall relations also saw considerable progress since 1988. India's position is that while bilateral relations can continue to develop in parallel with discussions on resolving the boundary question, any serious disturbance in peace and tranquillity along the LAC in the border areas is bound to have implications for the positive direction of our ties."

A key element of both the 1993 and the 1996 agreements is that the two sides will keep their military forces in the areas along the Line of Actual Control to a minimum level. These agreements also mandate that pending an ultimate solution to the boundary question, the two sides shall strictly respect and observe the LAC.

Furthermore in these agreements, India and China also committed to clarification and confirmation of the Line of Actual Control to reach a common understanding of the alignment.

Fake news on lockdown duration set off large scale migration: MHA

AGENCIES

New Delhi, Sept 15: The Union Home Ministry Tuesday told Parliament that migration of a large number of migrant workers during lockdown was triggered by panic created by fake news. This was stated by MoS Home G Kishan Reddy in a reply to an unstarred question by TMC MP Mala Roy. She had asked the reasons why thousands of these labourers ended up walking home post lockdown.

In his reply, Reddy stated, "The migration of a large number of migrant workers was triggered by panic created by fake news regarding the duration of lockdown. And people, especially migrant labourers, were worried about an adequate supply of basic necessities like food, drinking water, health services and shelter. However, the central government was fully conscious of this, and took all necessary measures to ensure that during the period of the inevitable lockdown, no citizen should be deprived of basic amenities of food, drinking water, medical facilities etc."

However, in reply to MP Mala Roy's another question regarding the number of people who died during the said migration, the minister said the Centre does not have the data as it is not maintained centrally.

During the unprecedented Covid-19 pandemic, there were several deaths reported causing a countrywide outcry, forcing even the Human Rights Commission to sit up and take notice, demanding action by the Centre.

The MHA further stated that to contain the spread of Covid-19 in the country, the central government took various measures, considered essential for the safety of people including migrant workers.

"From March 21, 2020 onwards, control room operations in the Ministry of Home Affairs were expanded by making their functioning 24x7 under the supervision of senior officers of the level of joint secretaries along with the representatives of key Central ministries. These control rooms, inter alia, attended to the grievances of stranded persons, including migrant workers and promptly resolved these grievances relating to food, transport, shelter, etc. States and Union territories were also advised to set up control rooms with helplines and to appoint nodal officers," the ministry said.

Film personalities appeal for end to Rhea's media 'witch-hunt'

The open letter, addressed to "the dear news media of India" is published on a blog called Feminist Voices and it has over 2,500 signatories from all walks of life

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, Sept 15: Over two thousand people have signed an open letter condemning the media's "witch-hunt" of Rhea Chakraborty in the coverage of Sushant Singh Rajput's death investigation.

Film personalities including Frieda Pinto, Zoya Akhtar, Farhan Akhtar, Alankrita Shrivastava, Gauri Shinde, Reema Kagti, Ruchi Narain, Rasika Dugal, Nitya Mehra, Amruta Subhash, Mini Mathur, Dia Mirza, Kubbra Sait and others have also signed the letter that asks the media to "hunt news, not women".

Chakraborty has been arrested by the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB) in connection with drugs-related allegations in the death case of Rajput. The 34-year-old actor was found dead at his Bandra residence June 14. A Special Investigation Team (SIT) of the NCB is probing the drug case in which 18 people including Chakraborty, her brother Showik Chakraborty, Rajput's manager Samuel Miranda, domestic help Dipesh Sawant and others have been arrested.

The open letter, addressed to "the dear news media of India" is published on a blog called Feminist Voices and it has over 2,500 signatories from all walks of life.

"Dear news media of India. We are worried about you. Are you feeling ok?"

"Because, as we watch your witch-hunt of Rhea Chakraborty, we cannot understand why you have abandoned every professional ethic of journalism, every tenet of human decency and dignity and chosen instead to physically assault a young woman with your camera crews, endlessly violate her privacy and work overtime on false accusations and moralistic innuendo for a drama of 'Rhea ko phasao'," the letter reads.

The letter calls out the media for being "obsessed" with creating the narrative of a young woman as a "morally dubious character" because she speaks up for herself instead of "acting like a damsel in distress".

Drawing parallels about the coverage of cases of actors Salman Khan and Sanjay Dutt, the letter urged the media to show the same kindness and respect to Chakraborty that it had shown to these actors.

"We know you can be different - because we have seen you be kind and respectful to the Salman Khans and Sanjay Duts of this world, urging us to think of their families, fanks and careers," the letter said asking why the media had "assassinated" Chakraborty's character and egged an online mob against her and her family.

"It is easy to victimise a young woman because there are so many people who already disbelieve, slutshame and abuse women, for their smallest freedoms. It is certainly cheaper than doing actual stories about a host of issues from GDP to health, currently confronting us," the letter further said.

Citing the disturbing rise in domestic violence during the pandemic, the letter condemned the media for promoting damaging stereotypes of "vishkanyas" and "dayans" while trivialising depression and perpetuating regressive stereotypes about mental health. "We write to ask you, the news media, to stop this unfair witch-hunt of Rhea Chakraborty and to stop fuelling moral polarities of good women to be deified and bad women to be crucified which endangers all women. We write to ask you to do the right and responsible thing. Your jobs. Hunt news, not women," the letter added.

The official said that during the investigation, it was found that Imran was associated with Pakistani spies/agents under the guise of cross-border "cloth trade". # Disastrous for any democracy to control press: SG

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, Sept 15: Solicitor General Tushar Mehta Tuesday told the Supreme Court that the freedom of the journalist is supreme and it would be disastrous for any democracy to control the press. Mehta made this argument during the hearing of a plea - by a bench comprising Justices DY Chandrachud, Indu Malhotra and KM Joseph - against Sudarshan TV for its show 'UPSC Jihad', which focuses on how Muslims have "infiltrated" the Civil Service. During the hearing Justice Chandrachud queried Mehta, can this (citing TV show) be tolerated in a free society and perhaps whether self-regulation can be put forth? Mehta replied that it would be disastrous for any democracy to control the Press. Justice Chandrachud queried, is this truly an exercise of Article 19 (1) (a). Mehta replied perhaps the court may not have had the chance to look at the rabid things being put out through various mediums. "But the question is, can it be regulated," queried Mehta, citing if something nasty has been written about him, could anything be done about it. "It is Press freedom after all", emphasised Mehta. Justice Joseph said no freedom is absolute, not even journalistic freedom. Mehta replied the ownership of a media platform often reflects the views expressed on the portals. In the post-lunch hearing, Mehta argued that there are various platforms, including blogs, which churn out all kinds of opinions. Justice Chandrachud said electronic media houses should be differentiated from individual blogs. Mehta argued that some channels were raising the bogey of "Hindu Terror", some time ago. "The question is to what extent the content can be controlled?" queried Mehta. Justice Chandrachud said the Act says communal reporting cannot be done. At the end of the hearing, Mehta reiterated that there are statutory authorities to deal with violations. After the September 9 order of the Centre, the broadcast took place between September 11 and 14. The Bench asked, "Did anybody in the ministry apply their mind on the broadcast which happened?" Mehta replied, he would have to take instructions on it. The top court noted that the SG submitted that wider issues would have to be addressed from, not just the electronic media point of view but from other media too, from which objectionable content is shared. The apex court stayed the broadcast of the remaining five shows of the programme, and added that it is inclined to have a committee of five distinguished citizens to suggest certain standards for electronic media.

38 wilful defaulters fled India in last 5 years

AGENCIES

New Delhi, Sept 15: As many as 38 economic offenders who defaulted on repaying borrowed amounts to banks fled the country in a span of five years, starting January 1, 2015 to December 31, 2019, under the government's watch. The government informed Parliament that the 38 wilful defaulters include Vijay Mallya, Nirav Modi and Mehul Choksi. Minister of State for Finance Anurag Thakur provided the reply in response to a query on whether the Centre has any data on businessmen including those who migrated to other countries after obtaining loans fraudulently during last 5 years. Thakur said, "Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) has apprised that 38 persons involved in the cases registered by CBI related to financial irregularities with banks fled the country during 1.1.2015 to 31.12.2019." Thakur submitted a written reply in the Lok Sabha that stated "action is taken as per law in such cases". The ministry informed the house that Enforcement Directorate had earlier apprised that under the Prevention of Money Laundering

Act, 2002, application for Red Corner notices were filed against 20 economic offenders and extradition requests were sent out in 14 cases to several countries. It added that proceedings were on against 11 persons under the tough Fugitive Economic Offenders Act, 2018. ## SIT to probe multiple cases of 'love jihad'

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Kanpur, Sept 15: The Kanpur police has set up an eight-member Special Investigation Team (SIT) to probe allegations into several cases of forced conversion on the pretext of marriage. The decision was taken after about 11 cases of 'love jihad' were reported in the past one month from the same district and Hindu organisations met IG Kanpur Mohit Agarwal demanding probe into the matter. The issue surfaced after a Kanpur woman, Shalini Yadav, married a Muslim man, Faisal, in July. The girl's family alleged was of love jihad though the couple approached a Delhi court, denying allegations of forced conversion. Shalini even uploaded a video on the social media, claiming that she had married and converted out of her own free will. The SIT led by Deepak Bhuker, superintendent of police, Kanpur (South), has been told to look into any fixed pattern or modus operandi behind the alleged incidents, the official said.

The special investigation team (SIT) will also investigate the alleged role of Islamic organisations in such cases. Interestingly, most of the cases of alleged love jihad are being reported from Jhuli area. The SIT will investigate if any Islamic organisation has a role in funding the 'love jihad' racket in Kanpur, an official said. "There is a strong possibility that some Islamic outfits may be providing financial assistance to a handful of organisations involved in such anti-national acts," the official claimed. Police are looking into the conspiracy angle to ascertain if youths involved in this are being funded from abroad. SP Deepak Bhuker said the help of a special SWAT team has been sought for surveillance. The SIT has contacted local police stations and sought details of all alleged "love jihad" cases reported in the past two years, he said. Bhuker said the probe team has been extracting records related to a dozen phone numbers to establish links.

Water in Venus: Shukrayaan-1 mission in race to fiery planet

AGENCIES

New Delhi, Sept 15: Astronomers said they have found a potential sign of life high in the atmosphere of neighboring Venus. Scientists said the atmosphere of Venus contains a gas that on Earth can be attributed to living organisms - a discovery the head of NASA called "the most significant development yet" in the hunt for extraterrestrial life. With new signs of potential life beyond Earth, many missions to Venus have been proposed, but only time will tell if they make the trip. The Indian Space Research Organisation (Isro) has already proposed a mission to Venus dubbed 'Shukrayaan-1', which will orbit the planet and focus on the chemistry of its atmosphere. "The mission will launch in 2023 or after," Isro chairman K Sivan had said earlier this year. A private company in New Zealand, which has launched about a dozen rockets to space, has also spoken about sending a small satellite to Venus, stated The New York Times in a report on Venus. The report added that NASA (National Aeronautics and Space Administration) had also considered a number of Venus proposals in the past decade, including two in 2017 that were finalists of NASA's Discovery program. But the agency instead selected a pair of asteroid missions, the NYT report added. The Discovery programme previously sent explorers to the moon, Mars, Mercury. In 2017, NASA for the New Frontiers competition considered a Venus mission called Venus In Situ Composition Investigations, or VICI, which sought to put two landers on the planet's surface. Two Venus spacecraft, DAVINCI+ and VERITAS, are also competing against proposed missions to Neptune's moon Triton or Jupiter's volcanic moon Io. "We should also recognise that Venus is a planetary destination we can reach with smaller missions as well," Thomas Zurbuchen, the head of NASA's science mission directorate, was quoted as saying by the NYT.

India's role in Covid vax production vital: Gates

BILL GATES CALLED THE PANDEMIC THE "NEXT BIGGEST THING" THE WORLD HAS BEEN CONFRONTED WITH AFTER THE WORLD WAR

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Sept 15: Billionaire philanthropist Bill Gates has said India's willingness to play a "big role" in manufacturing COVID-19 vaccine and allow it to supply to other developing countries will be a critical part in containing the pandemic globally. In an exclusive interview, Gates, whose foundation is focusing on fighting the pandemic, called it the "next biggest thing" the world has been confronted with after the World War. The Microsoft co-founder said the world is looking to India for large scale production of COVID-19 vaccine once it is rolled out. "Obviously, all of us want to get a vaccine out in India as fast as we can, once we know that it's very effective and very safe, and so the plans are coming into focus that sometime next year, it's very likely that roll-out will take place and take place in fairly big volume," he said.

"The world is also looking to India for some of that capacity to be available to other developing countries. Exactly what that allocation formula looks like will have to be figured out," Gates added. Scientists and pharmaceutical companies globally are racing against time to find a vaccine for the coronavirus pandemic which has killed about 9,32,000 people and infected around 24 million. Some of the vaccine candidates have entered the third and final phase of testing.

"This is not like a world war, but it's the next biggest thing after that we've ever had," he said.

In India, the foundation has entered into a partnership with the Serum Institute to accelerate the manufacturing and delivery of COVID-19 vaccines. "India's willingness to play a big role in the manufacturing and to allow some of those vaccines to go to other developing countries will be an absolutely critical part of that," said Gates.

"India will be helping to make sure we have equity. We have a model that shows that getting the vaccine out to those who need it the most will save half the lives that you'd lose if you only send it out to the rich countries," he said.

In the telephonic interview, the Microsoft co-founder talked extensively about India's strength in production of vaccines and referred to companies like Serum Institute, Bio E and Bharat Biotech.

"We've been brokering the idea of taking a vaccine and manufacturing it in India, even if it comes from AstraZeneca, Oxford or Novavax or Johnson & Johnson. We've publicly talked about the arrangement where a Serum will be able to make very high volume of the AstraZeneca and the Novavax vaccine," said Gates.

"There's discussions with Bio E, their connection with the Johnson & Johnson vaccine, and whether they'll be able to ramp that up," he said. The American business magnate said he was optimistic that by the first quarter of next year, that several of these vaccines will reach the phase three emergency licence approval.

"We still could be disappointed in that. But we have a variety of constructs and the early data from the phase one and phase two, for example the antibody levels, looks pretty promising for quite a few of these vaccines," he said.

Trump, Biden battle over climate change, wildfires

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Washington, Sept 15: US President Donald Trump and his Democratic challenger Joe Biden presented a different pathway to address the issue of climate change, amidst the devastating wildfires that have engulfed parts of California.

Travelling to the region, Trump asserted on Monday he does not think that science knows actually Biden accused the president in a policy address in Delaware of being a climate arsonist.

"Well, I don't think science knows actually," Trump told California Natural Resources Agency Secretary Wade Crowfoot during a briefing with State Gavin Newsom and other officials to get an update on the efforts to combat the devastating wildfires. Biden slammed Trump on his policy on climate change. "If you give a climate arsonist four more years in the White House, why would anyone be surprised if we have more of America ablaze?" Biden, 77, said as he hammered Trump for allegedly ignoring science. "If you give a climate denier four more years in the White House, why would anyone be surprised when more of America is underwater? We need a president who respects science, who understands that the damage from climate change is already here. Unless we take urgent action, it will soon be more catastrophic," he said. "The president recognizes, understands, and cares that Americans are dying, which makes president Trump's climate denialism, his disdain for science and facts all the more unconscionable. Once again, he fails the most basic duty to a nation. He fails to protect us from the pandemic, from an economic freefall, from racial unrest, from the ravages of climate change. It's clear that we are not safe in Donald Trump's America," Biden said.

This is Trump's America, he said. "He's in charge. What he doesn't get is that even in a crisis, there's nothing beyond the capacity of the American people when we stand up and act together. And while so many are hurting right now, I want you to know that if you give me the honour of serving as your president, we can and we will meet this moment with urgency and purpose," he said. "You know, when Donald Trump thinks about climate change, he thinks hoax. When I think about it, I think jobs. Good paying unions jobs that put Americans to work building a stronger, more climate resilient nation, a nation modernized. We have modernized water and transportation systems, and energy infrastructure to withstand the impact of extreme weather and changing climate," Biden said.

On the other hand, Trump, 74, blamed poor forest management for the fires.

"With regard to the forest, when trees fall down after a short period of time, about 18 months, they become very dry. They become really like a matchstick and they get up. There's no more water pouring through and they become very, they just explode. They can explode," he said.

India beats China

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

United Nations, Sept 15: In a significant victory, India got elected as Member of the UN Commission on the Status of Women, the principal global body focussed on gender equality and women empowerment, beating China in a hotly-contested election.

The Commission on the Status of Women (CSW) is a functional commission of the UN Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC).

The 54-member ECOSOC, holding the first plenary meeting of its 2021 session in the General Assembly Hall Monday, held elections for two seats in the Asia-Pacific States category with Afghanistan, India and China in the fray.

Afghanistan, which is led by Ambassador Adela Raz at the UN, garnered 39 votes and India got 38 votes of the 54 ballots cast.

China, a permanent member of the UN Security Council, got only 27 votes and could not even cross the half-way mark and also failed to get the required majority of 28 votes. "India wins seat in prestigious #ECOSOC body! India elected Member of Commission on Status of Women #CSW. It's a ringing endorsement of our commitment to promote gender equality and women's empowerment in all our endeavours. We thank member states for their support," India's Permanent Representative to the UN Ambassador T S Tirumurti tweeted.

India beat China in the hotly-contested election to the prestigious UN body in the year when the 25th anniversary of the Fourth World Conference on Women, that was held in Beijing in 1995, is being commemorated around the world. It is highly notable and telling that China lost the election to the UN's principal global intergovernmental body exclusively dedicated to the promotion of gender equality and women empowerment when the silver jubilee anniversary of the landmark Beijing conference on women is being commemorated and of which China takes a lot of ownership on.

The election result is being seen as sending a strong signal about China's own record of women's equality and empowerment.

'nCoV WILL LIKELY BECOME SEASONAL'

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Dubai, Sept 15: Once herd immunity is attained, the novel coronavirus may follow suit and become a seasonal virus in countries with temperate climates, but until that time, COVID-19 will continue to spread across the seasons, a new study says.

According to the review research, published in the journal Frontiers in Public Health, when a significant section of the population becomes immune to the novel coronavirus - SARS-CoV-2 - follow seasonal patterns, especially in temperate regions. They said influenza and several types substantially making it more prone to seasonal fluctuations.

"COVID-19 is here to stay and it will continue to cause outbreaks year-round until herd immunity is achieved," warned study senior author Hassan Zaraket from the American University of Beirut in Lebanon. According to the scientists, there could be multiple waves of COVID-19 before herd immunity is achieved. Citing earlier research, they said other respiratory viruses similar to the novel coronavirus - SARS-CoV-2 - follow seasonal patterns, especially in temperate regions. They said influenza and several types of coronaviruses that cause common cold are known to peak in winter in temperate regions but circulate year-round in tropical regions. In the research, the scientists reviewed these seasonal viruses, examining the viral and host factors that control their seasonality as well as the latest knowledge on the stability and transmission of SARS-CoV-2.

They explained that virus survival in the air and on surfaces, people's susceptibility to infections, and human behaviours, such as indoor crowding, differ across the seasons due to changes in temperature and humidity.

Brazil wildfires spark environmental emergency declaration

AGENCIES

Brasilia, Sept 15: Brazil's southern state of Mato Grosso do Sul has declared a state of environmental emergency after raging wildfires destroyed 1.4 million hectares of vegetation since the beginning of the year.

On Monday, state Governor Reinaldo Azambuja signed the decree during a meeting with the National Secretary for Civil Protection and Defense, Alexandre Lucas Alves, who travelled to Campo Grande, the state capital, a day earlier, reports Xinhua news agency.

The 79 municipalities of the state are suffering from a severe drought affecting the central region of the country, and fires have also spread through the states of Mato Grosso and Tocantins.

The drought has been described as the worst in 47 years in the country. However, the Mato Grosso do Sul state government also blamed man-made blazes for having "caused forest and urban fires in much of the state". The fires have also surrounded the Encontro das Aguas park in the Pantanal, located at the Mato Grosso and Mato Grosso do Sul states' border, threatening both flora and fauna in the region.

2020 Hurricane season is running out of names for storms

AGENCIES

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept 15: There have been so many Atlantic hurricanes and tropical storms this year that the world is running out of names for them, the United Nations said Tuesday.

"The 2020 Atlantic hurricane season is so active that it is expected to exhaust the regular list of storm names," Clare Nullis, spokeswoman for the UN's Geneva-based World Meteorological Organisation (WMO), told a media briefing.

"If this happens, the Greek alphabet will be used for only the second time on record."

Throughout the annual hurricane season which runs from June 1 to November 30, storms are assigned alternating male and female names, this year beginning with Arthur and Bertha.

The names are overseen by the WMO. They are reused every six years, though if the hurricanes are particularly devastating, the name is retired and replaced.

The name lists use 21 of the 26 letters of the alphabet due to the difficulty in finding a balance of six easily recognisable English, Spanish, French and Dutch names starting with Q, U, X, Y and Z -- the languages spoken in the Atlantic and Caribbean regions affected.

This year, only the name Wilfred remains unused, meaning a switch to the Greek alphabet is looming.

Joint record In the latest state of play, Hurricane Paulette had its eye over Bermuda on Monday; Tropical Depression Rene has now dissipated; Hurricane Sally is likely to cause flash flooding on the US Gulf coast Tuesday. Tropical Storm Teddy is expected to become a hurricane Tuesday, while Tropical Storm Vicky is over the Atlantic.

To have five tropical cyclones over the Atlantic basin at the same time is a record set in September 1971, said Nullis.

And according to the US National Hurricane Center, an area of low pressure has formed near Cape Verde and has a 50 per cent chance of tropical cyclone formation in the next 48 hours. The Greek alphabet was only ever used once before in 2005, when the first six letters were used as names for storms: Alpha, Beta, Gamma, Delta, Epsilon and Zeta. That exceptional year saw the devastating hurricanes Katrina, Rita and Wilma, whose names were all retired.

A number of factors caused an active hurricane season in 2020, explained National Weather Service meteorologist Rodney Wynn. There have been weaker tropical trade winds and warmer than average sea surface temperatures in the tropical Atlantic, Caribbean Sea and Gulf of Mexico. The region has experienced reduced vertical wind shear, which allows more hurricanes to develop. Not only has 2020 experienced more named storms than usual -- the naming is happening earlier: records for being formed so early in the season.

ASIA'S ECONOMY TO SHRINK

AGENCIES

Manila, Sept 15: Developing Asia's coronavirus-battered economy will shrink for the first time since the early 1960s, with the level of output next year still seen below pre-pandemic projections even as growth recovers, according to the Asian Development Bank.

The region's gross domestic product will decline by 0.7% in 2020, down from June's projection of an increase of 0.1%, the Manila-based bank said in a report Tuesday. A contraction this year would be the first since 1962, Yasuyuki Sawada, the ADB's chief economist, said in a live-streamed briefing.

"The economic threat posed by the Covid-19 pandemic remains potent, as extended first waves or recurring outbreaks could prompt further containment measures," Sawada said. Downturns across developing Asia are more widespread than previous crises, with three-quarters of economies in the region tipped to shrink this year, he said.

China will buck the trend and is forecast to expand 1.8% this year -- unchanged from June's projection -- as successful public health measures provide a springboard for growth, according to the ADB. Growth is forecast to accelerate to 7.7% in 2021, up from a previous fore-

Some states against borrowing option

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Sept 15: Some states have objected to the proposed borrowing plan of the Centre to fund the GST revenue shortfall and they are being requested to exercise either of the two options, Minister of State for Finance Anurag Singh Thakur said Tuesday.

The Centre late last month gave two options to states to borrow either ₹97,000 crore from a special window facilitated by the RBI or ₹2.35 lakh crore from market and also proposed extending the compensation cess levied on luxury, demerit and sin goods beyond 2022 to repay the borrowing.

Some states have objected to the proposed two options. They are being requested to exercise one of the two options, Thakur said in a written reply to a question in the Rajya Sabha.

In reply to a separate question, Thakur said the provisional Goods and Services Tax (GST) compensation due to the 31 states and UTs stands at ₹1,51,365 crore in the April-

July period.

GST compensation cess collected in current FY 2020-21 is not sufficient to release the admissible GST compensation for period April-July, 2020. Moreover, the GST compensation cess collected till July 2020 has been partly utilized for the purpose of GST compensation released to states for the period till March 2020, he added.

In the current fiscal year, states are staring at a staggering ₹2.35 lakh crore GST revenue shortfall.

INVESTMENTS IN STARTUPS 'ABOLISH TAX ON LTCG'

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, Sept 15: The Standing Committee on Finance (2019-20) has recommended to the Centre to abolish tax on Long Term Capital Gains for all investments in startups which are made through collective investment vehicles (CIVs) such as angel funds, alternate investment funds (AIF), and investment LLPs.

The committee in its report on "Financing The Startup Ecosystem" said the tax should be removed at least for the next two years to encourage investments amid the pandemic.

"The Committee would like to strongly recommend that tax on Long Term Capital Gains be abolished for all investments in startup companies (as designated by DPIIT) which are made through collective investment vehicles (CIVs) such as angel funds, AIFs, and investment LLPs," it said.

It suggested that after this 2 year period, the Securities Transaction Tax (STT) may be applied to collective investment vehicles (CIV) so

A Parliament committee has said that the tax should be removed at least for the next 2 years to encourage investments that revenue neutrality is maintained.

Investments by CIVs are transparently done and have to be done at fair market value, the Standing Committee said, adding that it is easy to calculate the STT associated with these investments.

"This can be done in lieu of imposing LTCG on these CIVs and to make the taxation system fairer, less cumbersome, and transparent. This will also ensure that investments in unlisted securities are on par with investments in listed securities," it said.

It has also recommended that there should be no punishing of domestic risk capital at any level, as the current tax disparity is proving advantageous to foreign capital through low tax jurisdictions and low taxes for fund management services.

As per the panel, such a move will establish a level playing field for domestic investments in comparison to foreign investments and domestic listed in comparison to unlisted securities.

The committee recommended that to encourage domestic investments in unlisted debt and equity securities, once the pandemic period concessions are lifted, CIV capital gains should always be taxed at the same rate as listed securities.

COMPANIES HAVE ALREADY ANNOUNCED $26 BILLION OF TRANSACTIONS TO BE TAKEN PRIVATE BY A RELATED PARTY THIS YEAR, UP ABOUT 2,500% FROM THE SAME PERIOD IN 2019

AGENCIES

Tokyo, Sept 15: Move over private equity, there are some new buyers in town, and they know their targets better than anyone. Billionaire owners from Japanese tycoon Masayoshi Son to French media magnate Patrick Drahi are looking at removing their crown jewels from the spotlight of public markets.

The potential moves to take their firms private mean they won't have to deal with volatile markets and increasingly vocal shareholders. Companies have already announced $26 billion of transactions to be taken private by a related party this year, up about 2,500% from the same period in 2019, according to data compiled by Bloomberg. Many of the deals involve ultra-rich founders who have been helped by cheap financing and the sluggish share performance of their businesses at a time when the broader market is surging. "While we have seen more companies deciding to stay private for longer in the last couple of years, we are also witnessing a trend where public companies are looking to go private," said Isabelle Toledano-Koutsouris, head of private capital markets for Europe, the Middle East and Africa at UBS Group AG.

"This has been in the making in the last few months given the market volatility resulting from the pandemic." Son, the chairman of market capitalization and the value of its sprawling investment portfolio. Friday, Drahi offered 2.5 billion euros ($3 billion) to buy the shares he doesn't already own in telecommunications provider Altice Europe NV.

The activity comes less than two weeks after German startup factory Rocket Internet SE announced plans to withdraw its shares from the Frankfurt and Luxembourg bourses. The company, backed by the billionaire Samwer brothers, said a stock-market listing is no longer the best way to raise money and it can rely on private funding for future expansion.

Wealthy individuals are pursuing these deals at a time when overall dealmaking activity remains in the doldrums, with the value of mergers and acquisitions down 33% in 2020, according to data compiled by Bloomberg.

Winning start for Blues in PL

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Brighton, Sept 15: A Chelsea team featuring just two of their slew of high-profile and expensive signings got off to a winning start in the English Premier League (EPL) by beating Brighton 3-1.

Timo Werner and Kai Havertz — signed for a combined USD 160 million — didn't manage to score at Amex Stadium, either, with Chelsea's goals coming from Jorginho, Reece James and Kurt Zouma.

James' was the most spectacular and the most crucial, the right back's swerving piledriver from 30 meters regaining the lead for Chelsea at 2-1 in the 56th minute, just two minutes after Brighton restored parity through Leandro Trossard.

Zouma's deflected volley from a corner in the 66th then gave Chelsea some breathing space. "I thought we were OK," Chelsea manager Frank Lampard said. "I liked the work ethic and discipline of the team. We have been together for four days. To expect everything to click on day one would have been difficult."

While Havertz was fairly ineffective in his position on the right of midfield, fellow German international Werner — the lone striker — was more impressive and earned the penalty that was converted by Jorginho to break the deadlock in the 21st minute.

Brighton midfielder Steven Alzate lost possession in central midfield as the hosts tried to play the ball out from the back, Werner was played through and was brought down by goalkeeper Mat Ryan. Jorginho sent Ryan the wrong way.

Much-criticised goalkeeper Kepa Arrizabalaga was handed a start by Chelsea manager Frank Lampard but his failure to keep out Trossard's 54th-minute shot from outside the area will likely keep the scrutiny on him. Kepa seemed slow to get down as the ball squirmed beyond his outstretched right hand.

James quickly put Chelsea back in front with a stunning strike that flew into the roof of the net, and the right back sent in the corner that Zouma met with a volley which ricocheted in off Brighton defender Adam Webster's right foot.

Of Chelsea's other off-season signings that combined to cost USD 250 million, left back Ben Chilwell and playmaker Hakim Ziyech were injured and center back Thiago Silva wasn't ready after only recently joining up with the squad.

"The players are still working each other out a little bit," Lampard said. "Today (Monday) we weren't as fluid as we could be... I want us to have a lot more movement up front than we did today."

THOMAS & UBER CUP POSTPONED

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Sept 15: The Thomas and Uber Cup Finals in Denmark was Tuesday postponed to next year by the Badminton World Federation (BWF) following a wave of withdrawals by top teams due to the raging COVID-19 pandemic.

India had announced both the men's and women's squads for the prestigious event which was scheduled to be played in Aarhus, Denmark from October 3 to 11.

However, after Indonesia and South Korea Friday joined Thailand, Australia, Chinese Taipei and Algeria in pulling out due to the dreaded disease, the sport's governing body held a virtual emergency council meeting Sunday.

"The Badminton World Federation (BWF), in full consultation and agreement with local host Badminton Denmark, has made the tough decision to postpone the TOTAL BWF Thomas & Uber Cup Finals 2020 in Aarhus, Denmark," BWF said in a statement.

"The decision comes following the withdrawal of a number of participating teams from the TOTAL BWF Thomas and Uber Cup Finals and the European leg of the adjusted HSBC BWF World Tour.

"BWF is looking into possible alternative dates to reschedule the World Men's and Women's Team Championships, but on dates not before into 2021," it added.

BWF had tried to rope in Singapore and Hong Kong as replacements but they declined the invitation. There were also reports that Japan was contemplating withdrawing from the event, while China too was awaiting government's approval. September 18 was the last date for confirmation.

Among top players, India's Saina Nehwal had Sunday raised concerns about the timing of the event, asking whether it would be safe to go ahead with it in the middle of the pandemic.

Saina, along with Olympic silver medalist PV Sindhu, were supposed to lead the 10-member women's team in Uber Cup, while former World No.1 Kidambi Srikanth would have spearheaded the Indian men's campaign in Thomas Cup.

However, the team's preparations were not progressing smoothly with a proposed camp cancelled a few days ago due to the players' refusal to accept the quarantine norms set by the Sports Authority of India (SAI).

In another decision, the BWF has decided to proceed with the Denmark Open in Odense, a World Tour Event, as originally planned from October 13 to 18.

"The second tournament scheduled for Odense — the VICTOR Denmark Masters 2020 — slated for 20-25 October has been cancelled as it is no longer feasible to conduct this additional event."

In its rescheduled calendar, BWF had also decided to conduct two Super 1000 events in Asia besides the HSBC World Tour Finals in November.

According to reports, the apex body had considered Indonesia as the host for the three events but the country has decided to cancel its application due to the global health crisis. "...BWF will make further announcements as soon as details are clarified," the world body said.

The Thomas and Uber Cup Final was supposed to mark the resumption of international badminton after it came to a halt in March because of the dreaded virus.

BWF said it had planned to put in place a bio-bubble for the safe return of the sport but it respects the concerns of players and member nations.

Murray given wild card for French Open

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Paris, Sept 15: Andy Murray received a wild card into the French Open. The former World No.1 was the only non-Frenchman of eight players to be given a free pass into the main draw of the clay grand slam which starts in 13 days.

Murray was also awarded a wild card into the US Open, after his struggles with pelvic and shin injuries dropped his ranking to 129th. He went two rounds in New York, and improved to 110th, but still too low for the French Open when it published its main draw entry list. Murray's best French Open result was the final in 2016.

Tsvetana Pironkova and Eugenie Bouchard were the only non-Frenchwomen to receive wild cards.

Pironkova achieved an impressive first-time run to the US Open quarterfinals. Pironkova's best result at Roland Garros was the quarterfinals in 2016.

Bouchard reached her first final in more than four years in Istanbul Sunday. She had lost to eventual champion Maria Sharapova in 2014 French Open semifinals.

BCCI requested to reduce quarantine period for IPL-bound ENG, Oz players

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Sept 15: Australia and England's IPL-bound stars, who are supposed to undergo a six-day quarantine after arriving in the UAE, have requested the BCCI to reduce the duration to three days to ensure their availability from the start of the tournament.

Around 21 players, currently part of an England-Australia white-ball series, will be boarding a chartered flight from Manchester to Dubai, touching base September 17. They can only be available from September 23, while tournament gets underway from September 19.

Desperate to not miss a single game, a big-hitting star has requested BCCI president Sourav Ganguly, on behalf of the players from both countries, to lessen the quarantine period to three days.

Ganguly, who is in the UAE along with other office-bearers to oversee the tournament's preparations, wasn't available for a comment but a senior IPL source admitted that a plea has been made.

"Yes, the BCCI president has received a request. It may have been written by one of the players but it is something that all the English and Australian players, who are coming from the UK, feel," a senior IPL source told this agency on conditions of anonymity.

The players feel that since they are already in a bio-bubble — first in Australia and then in UK, it's only logical that "they be allowed to enter from one bio-bubble to another" as they haven't been in contact with the outside world.

"They have stayed at the Hilton hotel both in Southampton and Manchester, which is a part of the stadium. They have been tested every fifth day and even on the day of their departure from UK, they will be tested and also on first and third day of arrival.

"If you go through safety bubble that the ECB created, not even housekeeping was allowed in the rooms of the players. Also they are taking a chartered flight and not a commercial one.

"So they do have a point when they talk about entering from one bio-bubble to another," said the IPL official but did not comment on whether the request would be accepted.

COVID saga made Manpreet stronger

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Bangalore, Sept 15: India hockey skipper Manpreet Singh says going through a stressful isolation period while recovery from coronavirus has made him a mentally strong player who is now equipped to tackle any situation on the field.

Manpreet was one of the six hockey players to test positive for COVID-19 at the team's training base here last month after they arrived for the national camp.

Having started their individual sessions after recovering, Manpreet said they still miss being part of the rest of the squad, even though Hockey India, Sports Authority of India and support staffs are doing their best to keep them upbeat.

"Hockey India officials would check on us almost every day if the food being provided is good, if our tele-treatment was done regularly, if we are monitoring our oxygen levels regularly and so on.

"Coaching Staff and teammates too would check on us through video calls. These things really helped us remain upbeat. Though it did sting a little to know all our teammates were back on the pitch while we were still in isolation, I feel this experience has made me mentally tougher to face any situation," the skipper said.

Recalling the time spent at the hospital, the star midfielder said it was mentally tough for him and rest of the infected players to remain in isolation.

"It was not easy, especially mentally. I have not done anything for a month and that's a long time in a sportsperson's career especially when every day is about improving and being the best," Manpreet said.

"To be honest, initially when the results came out, we were slightly stressed. (But) we received best facilities in the hospital with SAI constantly checking with the medical team there of our well-being."

"While SAI is putting together a post-recovery action plan to ensure smooth return to sports activities, chief coach (Graham Reid) engages in one-on-one pep talk with us that gives us confidence of returning to old form soon," he said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Messi eclipses CR7 in wealth league

London: Lionel Messi was denied a potentially money-spinning move away from Barcelona this month after a contract-dispute but the Argentine maestro remains the world's richest footballer. According to a list compiled by Forbes, Messi's total earnings this year are USD 126 million — USD 92 million from his salary and USD 34 million in endorsements. Not surprisingly Cristiano Ronaldo comes in second although earnings of USD 117 million will soften the blow for the Juventus forward, as will his status as the most followed footballer in the world on social media. Neymar comes in third on the Forbes list (USD 96 million) with his PSG teammate Kylian Mbappe, up in fourth spot (USD 42 million).

Bellingham, Reus score as Dortmund rout Duisburg

Berlin: Jude Bellingham scored on his Borussia Dortmund debut to help his side reach the second round of the German Cup after routing third-division MSV Duisburg 5-0. Dortmund's task was made easier when Duisburg defender Dominic Volkmer was sent off for chopping down Erling Haaland in the 38th minute. Jadon Sancho opened the scoring with a penalty in the 14th minute, and Thorgan Hazard set up Bellingham in the 30th as the 17-year-old Bellingham was fortunate to see his shot rebound in off Duisburg goalkeeper Leo Weinkauf. Volkmer brought down Haaland and Hazard made it 3-0 from the free-kick. In the 50th minute, American midfielder Giovanni Reyna, also 17, struck. Marco Reus, returned after seven months, scored soon after his introduction.

Neymar's racially abused claims supported by PSG

Paris: PSG 'strongly supports' Neymar's claim to being racially abused by a Marseille player during their feisty match, the French champion said. Neymar was one of five players sent off after an injury-time brawl including punching and kicking at Parc des Princes. The Brazil forward was caught by VAR jabbing the back of Alvaro Gonzalez's head. Neymar told officials as he went off he was racially abused, and went on social media to say his only regret was that he didn't punch Gonzalez in the face. Marseille, in a statement, said Gonzalez 'is not racist' and he has 'demonstrated it to us by his daily behavior since joining the club, as his teammates have already testified'. "This controversy is serious and already has serious consequences," Marseille said.

Tour de France riders pass COVID-19 tests

La Tour-Du-Pin (France): The remaining 156 Tour de France riders were authorized to keep racing on Tuesday after the latest coronavirus tests. # 'Bio-bubble mentally challenging'

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Manchester, Sept 15: England pacer Jofra Archer has said staying in a bio-secure bubble can be mentally taxing at times, pointing that lack of time with family for such long spells is not good.

Archer is currently with the England team who are playing Australia in an ODI series. The three-match series is tied at 1-1 with the decider to be played at the Old Trafford Wednesday.

"The fast bowler has become accustomed to life in the bubble having spent 87 days in the bio-secure environment this summer; more than any other England player, with only four days off between the West Indies and Pakistan Test series and five during the T20I series against Pakistan.

"At times it can be mentally challenging — it's going to (feel strange) going home and being normal again as this has become the new normal," Archer was quoted as saying by 'Sky Sports'.

"I'm not sure I've got much more bubble left in me for the rest of the year. I haven't seen my family really since February and we're in September now. The IPL will be most of October and November. Then we're hopefully going to South Africa (with England)," he said.

Jofra Archer (R) bowls at England's net session

Archer will link up with the Rajasthan Royals for the Indian Premier League (IPL) starting Saturday in the UAE.

"That only leaves me with a few weeks in December for the rest of the year. When the year turns, I think (England) will then be in the UAE or India. Family time is really important, especially when you physically cannot see them. Any time I have I'm going to spend with them," he continued.

"It is what we set out to do. I remember when we first came into the bubble, we said we wanted a clean sweep of the summer and we have it in sight."

SAI UPGRADES CORONAVIRUS SOP

Athletes to undergo 15-day quarantine ahead of camp

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Sept 15: Athletes who get the nod to train at the restarted national camps will have to undergo 15-day self-isolation before joining in, the Sports Authority of India (SAI) announced Tuesday, 'upgrading' the Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) to tackle the COVID-19 threat at its facilities.

A six-member committee, headed by SAI secretary Rohit Bharadwaj, had in May formulated the original SOP for resumption of sporting activities across the country. National camps have resumed for boxing, athletics, and badminton among others after over five months of a shutdown.

"The (upgraded) SOP is in continuation of the SOP released by SAI earlier, and includes procedural changes with regard to new trainees joining the training camps," a SAI statement read.

The upgraded SOP will apply to the ones who will join now or for the camps which will begin later. Elimination of low-ventilation change rooms, disinfection of training equipment after every use, a bar on sparring in contact sports for now, and usage of gyms in shifts were some of the measures that SAI had formulated to tackle the virus threat earlier.

The key aspects of the upgraded SOP are related to testing and self-isolation. The SAI said it will bear the expense of all the COVID-19 tests to be undertaken by athletes, coaches and support staff before joining the training camps.

All camp-bound athletes will be told to self-isolate 15 days prior to travelling and would also be required to produce a self-declaration in this regard.
