Bhubaneswar: Actor's Repertory Theatre of Delhi presented Hindi musical play Nagin Tera Vansh Badhe on the fourth evening of National Theatre Festival Purba Ranga here at Rabindra Mandap, Thursday.

The musical entertainer is of 95 minutes duration and a team of 26 actors, musicians and backstage workers are involved in the production. It is an outcome of 50 days of extensive workshop where the actors were introduced to different aspects of theatre, he added.

30 RESERVE FORESTS IN SIMILIPAL STILL AFIRE

POST NEWS NETWORK

Baripada, March 4: Forest fires are still uncontrollable in 30 reserve forests in Similipal sanctuary as per the satellite data while forest officials and firefighters struggle to contain them, a report said.

According to the reports, valuable flora and fauna have been destroyed in these forests since the last several days. The fires have not been controlled till date.

It was seen that wild animals were running for shelter to save their lives.

On the other hand, PCCF Sahsi Paul, field director of STR, Jag Jayanad and deputy director of the STR Jainadat Pati have been monitoring the fire control exercise inside Similipal.

It was also reported that some new areas have seen fires.

Notably, a high-level team along with PCCF Sashi Pal visited the Similipal National Park in Mayurbhanj district and conducted a review meeting Wednesday on the means to control and douse the raging fire.

"Now, 1,100 forest officials and fire-fighting personnel have been engaged in bringing the flames under control and dousing it," said Baripada ranger Laxmidhar Behera. They have been carrying out their work with help of 240 fire blowers in core and buffer zones. Forty vehicles including fire tenders are also being used in the dousing operations.

The fire fighting exercise has been intensified, said the PCCF.

WILDFIRE IN CHAMPUPA

CHAMPUPA: Even as the Central and the state governments are leaving no stone unturned to control the wildfire at Similipal Sanctuary in Mayurbhanj, now an inferno has been spreading in several forests under Champupa range in

Forest dept personnel douse the raging inferno in Champupa

Keonjhar, a report said.

According to the report, controlling the forest fires which have been spreading in forests under Champupa, Balibandh and Ukhunda sections has been a headache for the Forest department. It was stated that this year more areas have witnessed forest fires than that of the previous year. As the fires are spreading, they have been destroying valuable trees and killing wild animals coming on their way.

In the last three days, the forest officials and fire-fighters have managed to douse fire at over 40 places. The places where wildfire have caused havoc are Sareli, Basudevpur, Rajia, Hunjipasi, Godhuli and Bhaliadhipa under Champura section; Jhalibada, Banakati and Mangalpur under Ukhunda section; Kanakana, Gugudari, Chamakpur, Brahmanijhari, Brahmanidhi and Sanakalimati under Balibandh section. It was said that valuable trees, herbs and medicinal plants have perished in these areas due to fires.

Contacted, Champupa ranger Sanjib

Rout said that people collect mahul flowers from forest floor. Before the mahul flower collection, locals clear the ground by igniting dry leaves and straws under mahula trees. He pointed out that small fires later spread far and wide in the forest overnight. By the time the fire is controlled, it has already caused massive damage to flora and fauna in the areas.

Meanwhile, the Forest department has been on its toes to control forest fires wherever they are reported.

"The department has engaged 48 officials along with blowers to control fires. Para staff and regular staff are camping at different places in these forests to keep vigil on forest fires. Help of members of local Vana Suraksha Samitis (VSS) are being taken in fire fighting exercise and creation of awareness among local people," he added. As forests are natural resources for people, all are responsible for protection of forests. People should refrain from clearing forest floor by igniting dry leaves, he concluded.

Now, 1,100 forest officials and firefighting personnel have been engaged in bringing the flames under control and douse it

BRIDGE COLLAPSE

NHRC seeks report from Nabarangpur Collector

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, March 4: The National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) has directed the District Magistrate (Collector) of Nabarangpur seeking an action-taken report (ATR) regarding collapse of an under-construction Biju Setu near village Talapadar in the district January 10, 2021.

One worker had died while several others sustained severe injuries during the mishap.

The deceased was identified as Mahendra Malli, 45, of Raighar in the district.

The Collector has been asked to submit the ATR within four weeks of the receipt of the NHRC notice. The commission issued the notice while after a plea filed by rights activist Akhand.

The activist had urged the apex rights panel to direct the authorities to take stringent action against erring officers who were responsible for the alleged substandard work and lack of safety measures that led to the fatal mishap. He had also sought compensation for the next kin of the victim, Malli.

Notably, the under-construction bridge over Nagi River in Nabarangpur caved in January 10 evening resulting in the death of Malli.

A team of engineers after initial inspection at the spot claimed that the mishap occurred due to weak centering support, use of substandard raw materials and compression of the ground where the foundation was laid.

Pradhan reiterates demand for OBC quota

POST NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi, March 4: Union Petroleum and Natural Gas Minister Dharmendra Pradhan Thursday reiterated his request to the Odisha government to implement reservation for Other Backward Classes (OBCs) in government jobs and educational institutions, and for Socially and Educationally Backward Classes (SEBCs) in educational institutions in the state.

"I had written letters to Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik seeking reservations for OBCs in government jobs and educational institutions and for SEBCs in educational institutions in Odisha. However, my request for 27 per cent reservation for SEBCs in government jobs and educational institutions in Odisha has remained unaddressed till date," Pradhan told Odisha media in New Delhi.

Notably, the state government is set to begin a survey of backward

Work on reservation in progress: BJD

BHUBANESWAR: On a day when Union Petroleum Minister Dharmendra Pradhan reiterated his demand for OBC quota in jobs and educational institutions, the state unit of Congress Thursday also joined the fray to seek reservation for other backward classes (OBCs) in the state. The party blamed the state government for the delay in executing the reservation policy. Congress leader Suresh Routray Thursday addressed the media and blamed the government for the delay. He said, "There should be 27 per cent reservation for the OBCs in the Congress party. The state government had been surveying the issue for the last 21 years. It will remain only on paper and will keep on extending. The OBC community needs support to excel in all walks of life." The Biju Janata Dal (BJD), however, claimed that the work for the same has started. BJD leader and Khandapada MLA Soumya Ranjan Patnaik told the media about the status of the plan. He said, "We have already started the process of survey for OBC community for the same. After their identification they will get their due rights. The government has assured people that this would be done. Just wait for 1 and half months or some more this could be done. I want to ask the BJP to refrain from raking up issues which are not needed."

classes based on the social and educational status. "The current move for enumeration of SEBCs comes across as a dichotomous and dilatory step trying to mask the extant policies of the Odisha government denying reservations for OBCs and SEBCs categories," he added.

He further said that the state government has access to its own SEBC list as well as OBC list of the Centre, which can be used for providing appropriate reservations in the field of education. The minister said backward classes constitute a considerable portion of the total population of Odisha.

"There are more than 210 communities identified as SEBCs in Odisha. Most of them are suffering from the twin curses of poverty and illiteracy. Even after 30 years of a provision for reservations under Article 15(4) and 16(4) of the Constitution for such communities, the state government is not providing any such reservations to OBCs in government jobs as well as in educational institutions," said Pradhan.

The minister also cited the Supreme Court judgement in Indra Sawhney Vs Union of India and contended that the apex court has stipulated that on extraordinary grounds which need to be specifically made out the percentage of reservations may be exceeded. Pradhan also alleged that the move for enumeration of SEBCs comes across as a dichotomous step trying to mask the extant policies of the state government, denying reservations for OBCs and SEBCs categories.

Bhubaneswar second in Ease of Living Index

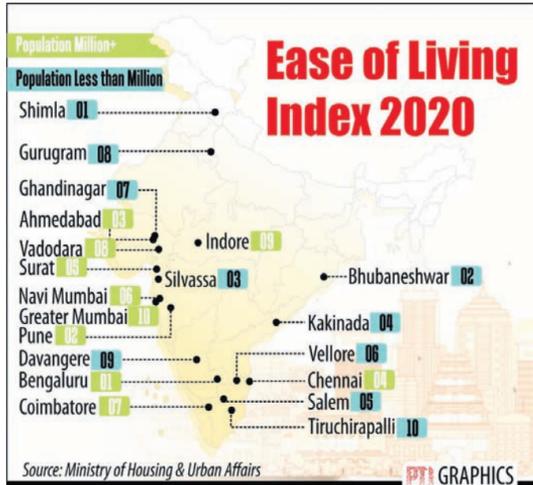

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, March 4: The state capital, Thursday, bagged second position in the Ease of Living Index (EoLI) 2020 survey as per the Union Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs (MoHUA). About 111 cities participated in the assessment that was conducted in 2020.

The rankings under the EoLI were assessed under two separate categories. While cities having more than one million population come under the first category, those having less than one million population are classified under the second set of cities. Bhubaneswar, which falls under the second category, scored 59.85 and was ranked second, only after Shimla which scored 60.90 points. Silvassa (58.43) in Dadra and Nagar Haveli grabbed the third spot.

Bhubaneswar showed significant improvement compared to its last year's assessment as its ranking notched up from 18th to second Bhubaneswar showing a significant improvement as compared to its last year's assessment saw its ranking notched up from 18th to second. Moreover, under the category of Indian cities having a population of over a million, Bangalore was rated as the top city in the survey. This was followed by Pune and Ahmedabad. Meanwhile, Bareilly, Dhanbad and Srinagar remained lowest in the survey.

MPI ranking: Capital not in top 10

The ministry also released ranking of Municipal Performance Index (MPI) as an accompaniment to the Ease of Living Index. The MPI seeks to examine local government practice in municipalities across areas of services, finance, policy, technology and governance. As per the rankings, Bhubaneswar with a score of 43.38 was ranked 25th among 60 other smart cities under category of cities have population less than a million. While Delhi was ranked first, Shillong was placed last. Meanwhile, Indore was rated as the best city out of 51 having the highest MPI score (66.08) under the category of cities having more than a million population. Meanwhile, Guwahati with just a score of 18.14 was placed last under the same category.

It can be mentioned here that EoLI is an assessment tool that evaluates the quality of life and the impact of various initiatives for urban development. The first edition of the index was launched in 2018. It provides a comprehensive understanding of participating cities across India based on economic-ability of a city, its sustainability and resilience. The assessment also incorporates the residents' view on the services provided by city administration through a citizen perception survey.

Process has started for urban poll: Jena

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, March 4: The state government has started a process to conduct elections in Urban Local Bodies (ULBs), said Housing and Urban Development Minister Pratap Jena here Thursday.

Though the minister has not spoken much about the process and the deadline, it seems the government is getting ready for the urban polls. The tenure of the councils of almost all ULBs including Bhubaneswar Municipal Corporation (BMC) has ended over two years ago. Due to non-conduct of polls, administrators are running the civic bodies.

Commenting on this issue, State Election Commission (SEC) secretary Rabindra Sahu, said, "Delimitation and reservation are the responsibility of the state government. After completing the process, they will submit a report to us. We will then finalise voters' list and conduct the poll."

Meanwhile, Opposition BJP and the Congress slammed the government for delaying the urban election. BJP leader Golak Mohapatra said, "After the order of the Supreme Court, the state government should have acted fast and conduct the pending municipal corporation. But there are reasons for them to delay the whole exercise. The urban areas now do not have strong BJD voters and that is why the state government is shying away from the urban elections."

He also added, "They are trying to find new excuse to avoid the polls. It has been more than one year that the exercise has been delayed. Lack of elections has been delaying the development of urban areas."

I WANT TO ESTABLISH A GOOD SOCIETY BY GROOMING STUDENTS: MINAKETAN

Education is not limited to degrees. Creating value-based quality education with an aim to boost morality among students is the primary responsibility of an educationist. Chairman of ODM Educational Group Satyabrata Minaketan is among those scholars who aim to bring changes in society through education. He is an educator, social worker, writer and also the founder of Healthville, a diagnosis centre. During a tete-a-tete with Orissa POST, Minaketan shares his objectives and plans. Excerpts.

How bad was the impact of Covid-19 on education in state?

The 2019-20 academic year was severely affected by the pandemic. We were a bit worried from the beginning of the academic year 2020-21 about holding classes offline. However, with all modern facilities we imparted education to our students in a hassle-free manner. Classes under the roof are an unparalleled experience for all including students, teachers and the management.

What are the plans for 2021-22 academic year?

Unlike in the previous academic year, we will set up a cutting edge facility in 2021-22 academic year. We hope the performance of ODM School is visible everywhere. Education doesn't mean study, exams and results or not just getting a job. But we believe that education develops morality among students to create a better community and ODM School of Education will bridge the gap.

What was the impact of the pandemic on ODM group?

Our journey started with only three teachers and 30 students but now we have 300 teachers and 5,000 students. As the founder, it is my responsibility to offer moral education to my students. We arranged several programmes for our students during the lockdowns. Although schools were shut for several months, now things are limping back to normalcy.

Education doesn't mean study, exams and results nor just getting a job. We believe that education develops morality among students to create a better community

Education doesn't mean study, exams and results nor just getting a job. We believe that education develops morality among students to create a better community

How do you see the Union Budget?

The Union Budget 2021-22 is a multifaceted one. It will boost value-based education. It is the responsibility of an educationist to observe new policies. In the Budget, the central government has taken significant steps to help the economy bounce back and boost the market demand.

How do you see the competition as there are many premium schools in Bhubaneswar?

Those who understand the definition of education never try to be competitive but they always focus on strengthening the value of education. I'm not worried about what others are doing. I am focused on providing better education facilities to my students.

Who are the pillars of your success?

We achieve success when we work hard all together. My wife supported me in this successful journey. My staff and parents have showered their love and trust on ODM family which inspired us to move forward.

How do you balance education, social service, art and health service?

I hail from a small village and came to a big city. I believe that serving society and nurturing art and culture are the responsibilities of a noble man.

Since we have gained many things from society it is not our responsibility to give back? Education is the best channel to bring changes in society. I am determined to establish a good society by grooming students.

City filling station sealed

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, March 4: Commissionerate Police Thursday sealed a petrol pump at Baramunda bus stand selling adulterated petrol. The authorities of the Hindustan Petroleum and Khurda Forensic Science Laboratory collected samples of the filling station for testing.

The HP authorities assured strict action against the dealer if found any proof regarding the adulteration allegations. Speaking to media persons, HP's area in-charge claimed that there might be some technical problem in the outlet resulting in dispensation of water-mixed petrol.

Notably, customers complained about being supplied adulterated petrol by the filling station 'Highway Service Center' Wednesday.

SRI AUROBINDO

FUEL AND POLLS

Petrol and diesel prices have been relentlessly rising over past few months. Petrol currently sells at over Rs100 per litre in a few states like Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh. Petrol price had shot to Rs100 per litre in Malkangiri. The Opposition and people in general have been clamouring for a cut in the fuel prices as they fear such mindless rise in fuel rates will automatically push up the prices of common essentials and then will make life painful for the common man. As it is, people are reeling from joblessness and many more ills caused by the economic recession and then COVID-19 pandemic. Such rise in fuel prices, even when the economy is still stuttering, has shocked one and all. Amid all this clamour and protests centering on the rise in fuel prices, the government has done precious little. Last week Union Petroleum Minister Dharmendra Pradhan said the rates will come down once winter goes. This was cold comfort. The Centre and the state governments have brazened out the protests against fuel rates all these months. Meanwhile, the government is reportedly planning to cut down the excise tax on fuel. The cut could be as high as ₹8.50 per litre of petrol. Not only petrol, and diesel, has LPG rate also gone out of control. The gas price has firming up by over ₹100 over last one month alone – a never seen before phenomenon. Excise duty was raised between Rs13 and Rs16 per litre on petrol and diesel between March 2020 and May 2021 which now stands at ₹31.8 on diesel. But, the government did not restore the taxes to their original levels when oil prices recovered. Central and state taxes make up for 60% of the retail price of petrol and over 54 per cent of diesel. The Modi government raised Excise duty on petrol and diesel on nine occasions between November 2014 and January 2016. Therefore, there is no reason why it cannot roll back the tax when the price of fuel has reached a three-digit mark. Making the rollback decision contingent on electoral interests is unfair.

It is a no brainer why the government is reportedly exploring the option of slashing the excise rate now when it was sitting quite all this while. Five states and a Union Territory, including the all important West Bengal are going to polls beginning March. There has been no rise in the fuel rates for five days now. Ever since the Election Commission (EC) announced the dates for the Assembly polls, there has been a halt in the upward movement of fuel rates. Last year, there was a similar pause on the runaway rise in fuel prices ahead of the Assembly elections in a few states, including in Bihar. However, as soon as the elections were over, oil companies increased the retail prices. Similarly, this time around the Centre is exploring the options of cutting down the excise rate on fuel. If the cut really happens, it would mean the government had enough room to scissor the excise rate without impacting its target for revenue from the tax on the fuels. If it is so who prevented it from doing so all these months. The NDA government certainly waited for the EC to announce the dates before it goes about easing or hitting the pause button on fuel price rise.

WORDSWORTH

Bug

The most common version of this story is that bug results from an incident with the US Navy's Harvard Mark II computer soon after the end of World War Two, in which a technician cured a fault by extracting a moth from between the contacts of a relay in the system. It is also said that this was the source of debug, the process of finding and removing errors from a computer programme. The incident really did happen: the log book, dated 9 September 1947, survives with the actual moth taped to it and is available online; that page says it happened in 1945 but recent research shows it actually happened two years later. The log entry itself blows to pieces the story about this being the origin of bug by noting under the insect, "First actual case of bug being found". This makes it clear that bug for a fault was already in use. Indeed, Rear Admiral Grace Hopper (an early programmer who worked on the machine and who inspired the computer language COBOL) used to tell this story in lectures and would remark that the word was applied to problems in radar electronics in World War II. It's actually older still.

Bully pulpit

It's certainly in the news at the moment. I wonder, though, if the meaning that I think you have in mind is really known to everybody? When I first came across it, years ago, I assumed that bully was in the usual current sense of a person who intimidates others through force and that bully pulpit meant that some person in authority was abusing his powers. This is by no means an uncommon assumption: It was a while before I realised that bully here had a different sense, one now hardly known, of something first-rate or excellent. Oddly, the two senses are from the same source, since bully was originally a term of endearment, from Dutch boel, lover, and later became a compliment for a male companion, meaning admirable. Our current sense grew out of this as the word went down in public estimation. At one time you might have heard people say bully for you as a way to express admiration for another's action. The term became known, though hardly fashionable, in the years that followed its first appearance, most frequently in commentaries on Roosevelt's presidency, but then largely fell out of use.

Engineers Vs Accountants

Three engineers and three accountants are traveling by train to a conference. At the station, the three accountants each buy a ticket and watch as the three engineers only buy one ticket. "How are three people going to travel on only one ticket?" asks an accountant. "Watch and you'll see," answered an engineer. They all board the train. The accountants take their respective seats but all three engineers cram into a rest room and close the door behind them. Shortly after the train has departed, the conductor comes around collecting tickets. He knocks on the rest room door and says, "Tickets, please!" The door opens just a crack and a single arm emerges with a ticket in hand. The conductor takes it and moves on. The accountants see this and agree it is a clever idea.

So after the conference, the accountants decide to copy the engineers on the return trip and save some money. When they get to the station, they buy one ticket for the return trip. To their astonishment, the engineers don't buy a ticket at all. "How are you going to travel without a ticket?" says one perplexed accountant. "Watch and you'll see," answered an engineer. When they board the train all three accountants cram into a rest room and the three engineers cram into another one nearby. The train departs. Shortly afterward, one of the engineers leaves his rest room and walks over to the rest room where the accountants are hiding. He knocks on the door and says, "Tickets, please!"

HARBINGER OF INDO-US TIES

FOCUS BIJU PATNAIK

Today on the occasion of the birth anniversary of Biju Patnaik, it is propitious to recall his seminal role in laying the foundational edifice of the strategic defence and security cooperation with USA to face the China threat. A major offshoot of the Sino-Indian war of 1962 was the intensification of cooperation and confidentiality between the intelligence agencies of the two countries – the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) of the USA and Intelligence Bureau (IB) of India.

TODAY ON THE OCCASION OF THE BIRTH ANNIVERSARY OF BIJU PATNAIK, IT IS PROPITIOUS TO RECALL HIS SEMINAL ROLE IN LAYING THE FOUNDATIONAL EDIFICE OF THE STRATEGIC DEFENCE AND SECURITY COOPERATION WITH USA TO FACE THE CHINA THREAT

Immediately after the 1962 war, the USA assisted India in raising certain paramilitary formations in the India-China border. The creation of Tibet force was one such instance, which was conceptualised to co-opt the Tibetans refugees and convert them into warriors. The idea was mooted by Biju Patnaik to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru who endorsed it. With the help of American financial aid and a CIA instructor team General Sujjan Singh Uban, it was decided to set up the camp in the tranquil hill village of Chakrata. The Tibetan unit exceeded all expectations. The Tibetans particularly excelled as parachutists and had the distinction of conducting jumps at the altitude up to 15,400 feet using chutes specially procured by the CIA. In later years the unit developed into what is now called the Special Frontier Force which valiantly fought in the Galwan Valley on August 29/30 last year. One of its brave soldiers Nyima Tenzin sacrificed his life while defending the Indian border.

Yet another programme with the objective to lend air support to the Tibetan commandos and agents was the Aviation Research Centre (ARC), a covert aviation outfit for use along the India-China border. This was also the brain child of Biju Patnaik. The ARC was actually a subsection of the Intelligence Bureau (IB) and was staffed by IB officers and aircrews deputed from

Immediately after the 1962 war, the USA assisted India in raising certain paramilitary formations in the India-China border. the Indian Air Force. Its aircraft consisted of transport and light planes that mostly came from USA, courtesy the CIA. Biju Patnaik was again instrumental in setting up the project. Patnaik visited the USA in 1963 to work out the concept with the CIA. The Americans saw merit in the plan and dispatched two officers to India for initial fact finding tour: Rameshwar Nath Kao was its first Director

As the USA was deeply concerned about China's nuclear programme, it wanted to keep a tab on the development of nuclear weapons by China. Not many options were available to monitor China's nuclear programme. One option available to the USA was satellite imagery, which was not very developed then and the resolution of the imagery were not of very high order. Another US option, the U-2 spy plane, had its own set of problems. As China's test sites were believed to be concentrated in distant Xinjiang, spy planes launched from airstrips in Taiwan did not have the range to make the round trip. The CIA had earlier made discreet use of an airfield at Peshawar, Pakistan, which put Xinjiang within range. But that had ended after the diplomatic furore following the shoot-down over the Soviet Union of a U-2 launched from Peshawar in 1960. It was against this backdrop that the ARC airbase at Charbatia configured between USA and India.

In May 1964, a small CIA team arrived at Charbatia with an unmarked spy plane. As planned, the plane performed a single mission over Xinjiang and headed back to Charbatia. As it touched down, its brake failed, and the U-2 rolled off the end of the runway. Wary of the media exposure, ARC personnel put the aircraft into the hanger and waited for the CIA technicians to make the necessary repairs. Once they were completed, the plane was discretely flown out without attempting further over-flights from Indian soil.

A report based on a set of declassified documents obtained from the CIA under the freedom of Information Act in August 1963, the independent National Security Archive (NSA), shed more light on the incident. According to this report, the use of Charbatia, was agreed during a meeting between President John F Kennedy and the visiting Indian President S Radhakrishnan on June 3, 1963. However, as the Indian work to improve it took longer than expected, the missions presumed from Thailand's Takhli. The report further said that the first mission out of Charbatia did not take place until May 1964. The operation ceased consequent to the death of Prime Minister Nehru. The US detachment stayed on at Charbatia till 1967 and served as an adjunct to the main operational base in Thailand.

The report further said, the pilots and aircraft left Charbatia, but others remained in place to save staging costs. In December 1964, when Sino-Indian tensions increased along the border, Detachment G returned to Charbatia and conducted three highly successful missions, satisfying all requirements for the Sino-Indian border region. By this time, however, Takhli had become the main base for Detachment G's Asian operations, and Charbatia served merely as a forwarding staging base. The information gathered from aerial surveillance was yet another aspect of the close Indo-US cooperation in the immediate aftermath of the Sino-Indian war of 1962.

SPECTRUM GENDER BIAS

The social returns of ending son bias

M Niaz Asadullah, Nazia Mansoor, Zaki Wahhaj & Teresa Randazzo

IN MUCH OF EMERGING ASIA, PERSISTENT BIAS IN FAVOUR OF SONS REMAINS A BARRIER TO GIRLS' LIFE PROSPECTS - AND OFTEN TO LIFE ITSELF

In much of emerging Asia, persistent bias in favour of sons remains a barrier to girls' life prospects – and often to life itself. Pre- and postnatal sex selection, including abortion and infanticide, has led to significant demographic imbalances.

Son preference also perpetuates large-scale social problems. Because a majority of the population still values sons more highly than daughters – a preference reinforced by cultural traditions in which sons play an important role (like performing funeral rituals in Hinduism) – South Asia is rife with domestic violence, child marriage, and deaths due to dowry disputes. And parents' cultural preference for sons can create additional human-development challenges.

Nowhere is this more evident than in India. Educational and economic opportunities for boys and girls remain deeply unequal, as the country's rapid economic growth since the 1990s was not accompanied by large-scale changes in gender attitudes and traditional social values. And, owing to sex selection, the country's ratio of males to females is imbalanced, with millions of girls and women missing from schools and the labor market.

The problem is getting worse. Most deaths among girls under five are due to postnatal sex selection, and the spread of ultrasound technology has aggravated the imbalance. Consequently, the number of "missing" women in India has doubled over the last 50 years. According to the United Nations Population Fund's State of the World Population 2020 report, India alone now accounts for 46 million missing girls, nearly a third of the global total of 142 million.

Understanding sex bias in fertility is important for achieving the Sustainable Development Goals, particularly SDG 4 (quality education) and SDG 5 (gender equality), because it helps to explain parents' unequal treatment of daughters, particularly in rural or poverty-stricken areas. The large gender disparities in South Asian educational outcomes must be addressed at the root.

Traditional gender norms – men as breadwinners and women as homemakers – could explain the higher value placed on male children, as could the perceived economic benefits of having sons (who, for example, will receive a dowry rather than costing his parents one). These traditional views underpin gender inequality in educational attainment, with the gap perpetuating further inequalities in the next generation. In contrast, more educated women tend to have smaller families, with healthier and better-educated children.

Ending son bias in desired fertility, curbing the preferential treatment of boys, and addressing parents' underinvestment in daughters requires increased spending on public education for girls. Bangladesh offers an example of the long-term social returns of such an approach.

In a recently published paper, we analyzed the desired and actual fertility choices of thousands of Bangladeshi women of child-bearing age. Although fertility decisions are still influenced by son preference, our results confirm a decline in the desire for sons. Moreover, women with secondary schooling are more likely to desire gender balance in fertility. This finding contrasts with a 1994 study, which suggested the opposite relationship between Bangladeshi mothers' secondary education and son preference. What has changed?

Three decades ago, educated Bangladeshi women had limited income-earning opportunities, and their economic status remained low. There simply were not enough educated women to shift son preference in favour of daughters. Since then, however, girls' education has benefited from the nationwide Female Secondary School Assistance Project, which was introduced in the early 1990s. The program provided financial aid for girls, and encouraged them to delay marriage in favor of education. Bangladesh has since leapfrogged neighboring India in girls' secondary education.

Thus, as a consequence of increased female education and employment, son preference is giving way to a desire for gender balance. This is reflected in improvement in Bangladesh's sex ratio. Excess female deaths as a share of overall under-five mortality rate is now around 3%, indicating a decline in pre- and post-natal sex selection.

In 1992, former World Bank chief economist Lawrence H Summers famously identified women's education as the single most influential investment that can be made in the developing world. Our research confirms this finding. The policy lesson from Bangladesh is that investment in girls' schooling and the creation of economic opportunities can have important intergenerational effects at birth, in education, and beyond.

Sinking ship

Sir, It is said the BJP is afraid of losing a state and the Congress is shy of winning one. It does not matter for the BJP how big or small the state is; it wants to form a government in every state irrespective of its size. Though it had a minuscule presence in Pondicherry, the astute power game of the BJP ensured its indirect control over the Union Territory through President's rule. After Kiran Bedi, a BJP nominee, was removed as Governor it was quite clear that the Union Territory was heading for a big spectacle barely a month away from the Assembly elections. However, the intent of the BJP separates it from the Congress. Assam, Tamil Nadu and Kerala, along with West Bengal and Pondicherry, are going to polls shortly, and the party has a stake in each state. What about the Congress? The grand old party's grip over states is loosening by the passing day. Very importantly, the intention to go all the way and the determination to win appear missing. When a party is reluctant to learn even after repeated drubbings, nothing can infuse hope among the people in the party's future. Despite top leaders sighing "enough is enough" nothing has been done to revive the party.

Cheque bounce case

Sir, In an interesting judgment, the Madras High Court has held "If a cheque is issued by a person in discharge of the liability of another person and if the cheque is dishonoured, the person who issued the cheque can be prosecuted under Section 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act". This is the right decision. When someone takes over the liability of another person, such person has to be prosecuted. If the drawer of the cheque in dishonoured cases is let off the hook, then many persons can come to the rescue of other persons who fail to clear their debts. The case relates to Sree Gokulam Chits and Finance Corporation Private Limited v/s. Jaishankar (Accused-1) and Nagalakshmi (Accused-2). The story is that Jaishankar joined some chit groups floated by Gokulam Chits Finance and became a subscriber. He was given chit amounts against which he issued some cheques as security. But he defaulted on the repayment of the chits. When the A-1 was informed of the legal action against him, his wife who is A-2 issued a cheque which bounced.

Bangladeshis desperate for domicile certificates

A husband and his nephew jointly attacked a woman as she refused to sign papers that would have otherwise designated the nephew as an Indian citizen in Kendrapara

POST NEWS NETWORK

Kendrapara, March 4: The problem concerning illegal Bangladeshi immigrants in Kendrapara district is growing with each passing day, a report said. The immigrants after entering Kendrapara district have started showing their might on local residents. If unchecked, this might result into a serious law and order problem.

In the latest case, a woman was allegedly assaulted by her husband and nephew after she refused to accept that the latter is her biological son, a report said. The woman was identified as Subhadra Ray, wife of Bikash Ray of Barkolikhal village under Mahakalapara block. The accused were identified as Bikash Ray and nephew Amit Ray.

The dispute arose after Subhadra refused to acknowledge Amit as her own son which the later wanted to get a domicile certificate and other papers. Enraged, Bikash and Amit attacked her rendering her critical. She was admitted to Mahakalapara community health centre. Later, she lodged a complaint at Jambu Marine

THE DISTRICT ADMINISTRATION HAD ISSUED DEPORTATION NOTICE TO 1551 IMMIGRANTS IN 2005 WHICH WAS REJECTED BY THE ORISSA HIGH COURT 15 YEARS LATER IN FEBRUARY

Residents demanded an enumeration of the actual citizens in the district. Social activists said the population of Bangladeshi immigrants has grown exceptionally posing a serious threat to the security of the country

During the Bangladesh war, only 1237 immigrants had been permitted to stay in the district

Police station but police are yet to take any action.

Subhadra is originally a native of Malkangiri district and was once a Zilla Parishad member. Later, she came in contact with Bikash, a Bangladeshi immigrant who was then living in Malkangiri and eventually married him. The couple soon shifted to Barkolikhal village. She alleged that her husband is a native of Arwel village in Bangladesh.

Two years back Amit came to live with them. He tried to generate the papers to prove his nativity for which he asked Subhadra to identify herself as his mother to which she denied. As a result, Bikash and Amit started torturing her.

She lodged a complaint with then Collector following which Amit was asked to leave the country and his Bangladeshi passport and voter identity card of India were seized. Amit again trespassed into the area and asked Subhadra to help him get the papers. He and Bikash assaulted Subhadra after she declined to oblige them.

The assault of the woman is indicative of the serious problem posed by the Bangladeshi immigrants in the district. However, the problem is on the rise as the political leaders and the administration are keeping mum due to vote bank politics. The district administration is equally silent and is only waiting for an order from the government.

Residents have demanded an enumeration of the actual citizens in the district. Senior citizen Pratap Kumar Tripathy, social activist Sunil Kumar Gantayat, Bibhuti Bhushan Rout and Amarbar Rout said the population of Bangladeshi immigrants has grown exceptionally posing a serious threat to the security of the country. However, only 1237 immigrants were permitted to stay in the district during the Bangladesh war.

The district administration had issued deportation notice to 1551 immigrants in 2005 which was rejected by the Orissa High Court 15 years later in February.

When contacted, ADM Basant Kumar Rout said the local police have been asked to take action on the complaint of the woman. Jambu Marine IIC Maneswar Sethi said a primary inquiry has been ordered.

People in mine-rich Joda block live in dark; no use of DMF fund

POST NEWS NETWORK

Joda, March 4: Roida is a mineral-rich area under Joda block in Keonjhar district. As mines operate around the Bhuyan Roida panchayat, the mines areas are illuminated. But paradoxically, Mankad hutting village has been in the dark. Electricity and other basic amenities are a dream for its residents.

There is no shortage of funds in the district mineral foundation in the district, but this mines-encircled village has remained under developed, a report said. According to the report, people in the villages still depend on oil lamps after sunset even 73 years after independence.

In the absence of electricity, life of people is fraught with dangers from wild animals from nearby forests. "It is dangerous to go out after the sunset when darkness prevails everywhere," locals lamented.

The village with a population of 600 is surrounded by forests and mines. Most of the residents are of tribal communities. Mining provides livelihood for a few people while a majority of them eke out their living from selling minor forest produce.

On the east of the village is Tata mines while OMDC mines are on its west. On its north are OMC and IDC mines. Sri Metallic's is on its south. Conscious citizens and social activists say, there is no dearth of funds from the mining sector, but the people affected by the mines are in darkness. Nearly, Rs 3000 crore has been collected from the DMF, which is supposed to be spent on development works in the mining-affected areas.

Locals alleged that mining firms had been claiming to be working for peripheral development only through advertisements, but the reality is different on the ground.

Ward member Gopal Oram, former ward member Sanka Purty, local like Samara Bentakar, Krishna Purty, Debasish

Bentakar, Arjun Munda, Gopal Munda lamented that they had appraised the Collector and the authorities of the Joda electricity division office about the need of electricity for villages in Roida and Makad Hutting several times in the past, but all reminders have fallen on deaf ears.

They alleged that for lack of electricity, their wards are unable to study at night. Bhuyan Roida sarpanch Jyotish Chandra Nayak said efforts are on to electrify the Makand Hutting. As the area is in the forest area, approval for electrification has been pending.

Locals warned that they would resort to dharna if nothing happens.

SHIV SENA OUT OF BENGAL POLLS, TO BACK MAMATA

AGENCIES

New Delhi, March 4: The Shiv Sena has decided to opt out of the upcoming West Bengal Assembly elections, but the party has decided to 'wholeheartedly' support All India Trinamool Congress leader and Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, a top official said here Thursday.

Sena MP and Chief Spokesperson Sanjay Raut said that since the West Bengal polls are turning out to be "Didi vs All", the Shiv Sena has decided not to contest the elections, but will stand in solidarity with her.

He said that the decision was taken after discussions with Shiv Sena President and Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray. However, MVA sources said the move could have been prompted to ensure that there is no division of votes in the West Bengal polls that could damage Trinamool's prospects vis-a-vis the BJP.

the poll bugle in West Bengal where it had contested the 2016 Assembly and 2019 Lok Sabha polls, but notched nil in terms of seats.

Earlier, the Sena - ruling Maharashtra in alliance with Nationalist Congress Party and the Congress - has contested various elections in different states including Delhi, Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Gujarat, Jammu & Kashmir and Goa besides West Bengal.

The saffron party has justified its ventures in other states on grounds that the Bharatiya Janata Party at the Centre has been attempting to destabilize or dethrone Constitutionally-elected governments in all Opposition-ruled states, including Maharashtra and West Bengal.

Banerjee - as part of plans to build up a 'grand alliance' of national and state opposition parties - before the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

Similarly, political sources also do not rule out the possibility of a repeat of Maharashtra's MVA experiment - Sena-NCP-Congress with differing ideologies joining hands - in West Bengal if the eastern state brews up a fractured mandate in the elections, the results of which are expected in early-May.

"The unthinkable happened in Maharashtra and it is working smoothly. Anything is possible... even in WB. The MVA is cited as a national example to make states strong," a senior state leader said guardedly, on the odds with three arch-rivals in West Bengal - Congress, Left Front and Trinamool Congress - hugging each other post-polls to keep the BJP at bay.

3 J'KHAND COPS KILLED IN MAOIST ATTACK

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Ranchi, March 4: Three Jharkhand Police personnel were killed and two others injured, including one from CRPF, as an Improvised Explosive Device (IED) went off in West Singhbhum district Thursday morning.

The explosive device was planted by the Maoists. The incident took place around 8.45 a.m. when a "pressure IED blast" took place in thick forested area near Hoyahatu village under Toklo police station area in West Singhbhum.

Central Reserve Police Force's (CRPF) 197 Battalion along with the Jharkhand Jaguar (AG 11) of the state police were on an operation in the area when the incident took place, said CRPF Spokesperson Dalip Ambesh said.

This force was later given the distinctive name of Jharkhand Jaguar (JJ), and also a distinctive uniform.

CHINESE HACKERS SLOWLY SPREADING THEIR WINGS

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, March 4: Besides 10 organisations in the Indian power sector and two ports, Chinese state-sponsored hackers might also have targeted Indian Railways infrastructure, an expert with cyber intelligence company Recorded Future said Thursday.

However, there is still not enough data to confirm that Indian Railways infrastructure were actually attacked, Charity Wright, Cyber Threat Intelligence Expert, Recorded Future, said during a virtual briefing with reporters.

Recorded Future had earlier released a report in which it had identified 10 distinct Indian organisations in the power generation and transmission sector and two in the maritime sector which were targeted by Chinese hackers. The intrusions were conducted by a China-linked activity group that Recorded Future termed as "RedEcho".

Regional Load Despatch Centre, North Eastern Regional Load Despatch Centre, Eastern Regional Load Despatch Centre, Telangana State Load Despatch Centre, Delhi State Load Despatch Centre, DTL Tikri Kalan (Mundka) of Delhi Transco Ltd, V.O. Chidambaranar Port, Mumbai Port Trust.

Recorded Future observed the intrusions in the Indian power sector beginning in mid-2020 amid heightened border tensions between India and China. Relations between India and China deteriorated significantly following the border clashes in June 2020 that resulted in the first combat deaths in 45 years between the world's two most populous nations, the report noted.

INDIA IS NOW ONLY 'PARTLY FREE' UNDER MODI REGIME

CIVIL LIBERTIES IN INDIA HAVE BEEN IN DECLINE SINCE PM NARENDRA MODI CAME TO POWER IN 2014, SAYS FREEDOM HOUSE IN ITS REPORT DEMOCRACY UNDER SIEGE

AGENCIES

New Delhi, March 4: India's status as a free country has changed to "partly free", according to an annual report on global political rights and liberties.

Civil liberties in India have been in decline since PM Narendra Modi came to power in 2014, said Freedom House in its report Democracy Under Siege.

It said the change in India's status is part of a global shift in the balance between democracy and authoritarianism.

There was no immediate response from the Indian government to the report. US-based Freedom House, a non-profit organisation which conducts research on political freedom and human rights, added that the number of countries designated as "not free" was at its highest level since 2006. It added that India's "fall from the upper ranks of free nations" could have a more damaging effect on the world's democratic standards.

Since 2014, it says, increased pressure on human rights organisations, intimidation of journalists and activists, and a spate of attacks, especially those against Muslims, had led to a deterioration of political and civil liberties in the country.

Apex Court: Porn content on OTT platforms, 'need screening'

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, March 4: The Supreme Court Thursday expressed displeasure on streaming of films on web platforms without any prior screening of the content and also cited some films having pornographic content.

The observation was made by the top court during the hearing of a plea by Amazon Prime Video India head Aparna Purohit against Allahabad High Court order, which declined to entertain her anticipatory bail in connection with the FIRs lodged against her over the web series 'Tandav'.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, representing the Uttar Pradesh government, said some programs have filthy abuses. Senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi, appearing for Purohit, contended this "as a matter of free speech" and cited that his client is not the producer of the show, instead an employee of the company which is streaming the web series Tandav.

Justice Bhushan replied that a balance needs to be struck in such matters and reiterated there should be some screening by somebody.

The top court indicated that there should be a body like censor board which screens the films.

In January, the top court refused to grant interim protection to Tandav crew from any coercive action and had asked them to move the concerned courts to seek bail in the matter.

KERALA ELECTIONS

'Metro Man is BJP's CM candidate'

AGENCIES

Thiruvalla/Kochi, March 4: 'Metro Man' E Sreedharan, who recently joined the BJP, will be its chief ministerial candidate for the Kerala assembly elections April 6, senior leader and Union Minister V Muraleedharan said Thursday.

"BJP4Keralam will fight Kerala polls with E Sreedharan Ji as its Chief Ministerial Candidate. We will defeat both CPIMKerala & INCKerala to provide a corruption-free, development-oriented Governance for the people of Kerala," Muraleedharan said in a tweet.

His social media post on Sreedharan's leadership in the Assembly polls came hours after party's state chief K Surendran said he has requested the party's national leadership to announce 'Metro Man' as the NDA's chief ministerial candidate.

The 88-year-old technocrat also on Thursday announced his decision to end his 24-year long career with the Delhi Metro Rail Corporation (DMRC). If the NDA, "under the leadership of 'Metro Man', gives an opportunity to rule the state, "we are confident we will be able to implement development works under Prime Minister Narendra Modi with a ten-fold force in Kerala," Surendran said. Addressing a party meeting here, he highlighted the achievements of Sreedharan, including the completion of the reconstruction of Palarivattom flyover here in five months, much ahead of the stipulated time.

"He completed the project in five months without any corruption. That is why we requested Sreedharan and our party leadership that he should be projected as the (NDA's) Chief Minister candidate," he said at the meeting organised as part of the "Vijay Yatra" led by him.

This was the first time the party indicated that Sreedharan will be the NDA's chief ministerial candidate. The party sought to project Sreedharan's leadership in the polls amid the process of determining the candidates for the assembly election. Sreedharan has said his main aim was to help the party come to power in Kerala and that he will be open to chief ministership.

India not utilizing vax to full capacity, says Delhi HC

AGENCIES

New Delhi, March 4: The Delhi High Court on Thursday showed apprehensions over non-utilization of coronavirus vaccine to its full capacity by the country, asserting that it is either being donated or sold off to foreign countries rather than being provided to Indians.

Justice Vipin Sanghi made the observations while hearing a suo motu public interest litigation concerning vaccination of judges, court staff and lawyers on priority and for them to be treated as frontline workers so that they could receive it without limitations of their age or physical condition.

In the recent phase of the vaccination drive which commenced on March 1, the government is inoculating only those who are over 60 years of age and for people aged 45 and above with specified co-morbid conditions. The priority was first given to the healthcare and frontline workers.

Justice Sanghi said, "If the capacity of the two vaccine manufacturers were being utilized to the full and then the restrictions were to be put, it would have been one thing. We should not have the situation where we are not even utilizing the full capacity." His remarks came after Covishield and Covaxin vaccine manufacturers Bharat Biotech and Serum Institute of India apprised that the capacity to vaccinate the judicial staff is available. "They have the full capacity to manufacture and supply. We are not utilizing it because of our restricted control approach. We are either donating or selling it off to foreign countries rather than giving it to our own people. It is well settled and the experts are also saying that there should be a sense of urgency in this process of vaccination," the judge said. He said that the present petition is to find out if the whole judicial system can be prioritized without age limit and comorbidity. The court then issued slew of directions. Bharat Biotech and Serum Institute of India have been directed to file affidavits on capacity to manufacture the vaccines and the unutilized capacity.

The Government of India has been asked to indicate the transport capacity of the vaccine and the extent to which it is being used. The Centre has also been asked to explain the rationale over strict class of persons that can be vaccinated.

ONLY 20% ABLE TO GET VACCINATION APPOINTMENT: As the vaccination drive progresses in the country, the challenge for the people shifts from getting an OTP to getting an appointment slot. Only 20 per cent of those who tried to get vaccination appointment were able to do so; while OTP generation is no longer a big challenge, getting an appointment is, according to a survey by LocalCircles.

However, as people tried to register themselves for vaccination via the CO-WIN site or the Aarogya Setu app, many had difficulty getting an OTP or finding an appointment.

Biden issues high alert on China

HE SAID THE US WILL SUPPORT CHINA'S NEIGHBOURS AND DECLARED, "WE WILL DEEPEN OUR PARTNERSHIP WITH INDIA"

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New York, March 4: Issuing a high alert about the growing dangers to the international system from China, President Joe Biden has called for building alliances with like-minded countries and said the US will deepen its ties with India.

The Interim National Security Guidance he released Wednesday singled out China as the only "competitor" capable of mounting a sustained challenge with its multifarious capabilities to the international order.

He said in the document that the US will support China's neighbours and declared, "We will deepen our partnership with India."

Introducing the document, he said it would "convey my vision for how America will engage with the world" and guide his administration while Washington begins work on a new National Security Strategy.

He sketched a vision of a cooperative of democracies to face China, which "has rapidly become more assertive". He called Beijing "the only competitor potentially capable of combining its economic, diplomatic, military, and technological power to mount a sustained challenge to a stable and open international system".

To counter this as well as the challenge from Russia, the US will have to "promote a favorable distribution of power to deter and prevent adversaries from directly threatening the United States and our allies, inhibiting access to the global commons, or dominating key regions", he said.

"We can do none of this work alone. For that reason, we will reinvigorate and modernise our alliances and partnerships around the world," he said.

"Our democratic alliances enable us to present a common front, produce a unified vision, and pool our strength to promote high standards, establish effective international rules, and hold countries like China to account," he said.

Envisaging the framework for the alliance of democracies to face the China challenge, he said, "Beyond our core alliances, we will also double down on building partnerships throughout the world, because our strength is multiplied when we combine efforts to address common challenges, share costs, and widen the circle of cooperation." Biden drew attention to the risk from China's "One Belt, One Road" initiative that seeks to bring countries around the world, especially developing nations, under its economic dominance.

To counter this Chinese programme, he said, "We will support China's neighbours and commercial partners in defending their rights to make independent political choices free of coercion or undue foreign influence. We will pro-

Security tight at US Capitol post militia attack warning

Washington: Security has been tightened around the US Capitol in Washington - scene of a deadly assault in January - after police warned that a militia group might try to attack it Thursday, an important day in the calendar for some pro-Trump conspiracy theorists. An unidentified group of "militia violent extremists" discussed plans in February to "take control of the US Capitol and remove Democratic lawmakers on or about March 4," according to a bulletin issued on Tuesday by the Department of Homeland Security and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The police force that guards the US Capitol, seat of the legislature, said in a statement that it had "taken immediate steps to enhance our security posture and staffing for a number of days, to include March 4." Capitol Police also said that they were "aware of and prepared for any potential threats towards members of Congress or towards the Capitol complex," including the possible militia attack.

te locally-led development to combat the manipulation of local priorities." He also portrayed China as the main challenge to the US and world and stressed building alliances to meet it.

N KOREA MAY BE TRYING TO EXTRACT PLUTONIUM

AGENCIES

Seoul, March 4: North Korea may be trying to extract plutonium to make more nuclear weapons at its main atomic complex, recent satellite photos indicated, weeks after leader Kim Jong Un vowed to expand his nuclear arsenal.

The 38 North website, which specialises in North Korea studies, cited the imagery as indicating that a coal-fired steam plant at the North's Yongbyon nuclear complex is in operation after about a two-year hiatus. Smoke was observed emanating from the plant's smokestack at various times from late February and early March.

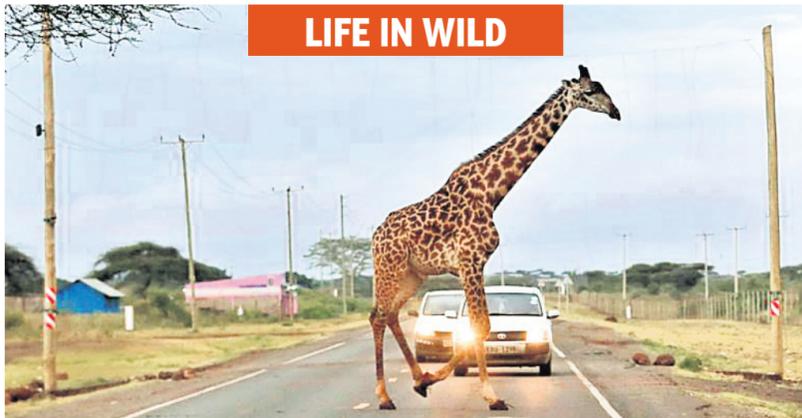

This suggests "preparations for spent fuel reprocessing could be underway to extract plutonium needed for North Korea's nuclear weapon," the website said Wednesday. But it added that "this could also mean simply the facility is being prepped to handle radioactive waste."

Earlier this week, International Atomic Energy Agency Director General Rafael Mariano Grossi

said some nuclear facilities in North Korea continued to operate, citing the operation of the steam plant that serves the radiochemical laboratory at Yongbyon. The laboratory is a facility where plutonium is extracted by reprocessing spent fuel rods removed from reactors.

"The DPRK's nuclear activities remain a cause for serious concern. The continuation of the DPRK's nuclear program is a clear violation of relevant UN Security Council resolutions and is deeply regrettable," Grossi told the IAEA's board of governors, according to IAEA's website. DPRK refers to North Korea's official name, the Democratic People's Republic of Korea.

Plutonium is one of the two key ingredients to build nuclear weapons along with highly enriched uranium. The Yongbyon complex, north of the capital city of Pyongyang, has facilities to produce both ingredients. It's not clear exactly how much weapons-grade plutonium or highly enriched uranium has been produced at Yongbyon and where North Korea stores it.

'Indo-Bangla ties a truly 360 degree partnership'

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Dhaka, March 4: Describing India's ties with Bangladesh as a truly "360 degree partnership," External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar said Thursday said Prime Minister Narendra Modi's planned visit to Dhaka later this month will surely be a "very memorable" one.

Jaishankar arrived here on a day-long visit to prepare the ground for Prime Minister Modi's visit to Bangladesh later this month to participate in the celebrations of 50th anniversary of Bangladesh's Independence and 50 years of Bangladesh-India diplomatic relations. After holding comprehensive discussions with his Bangladeshi counterpart A K Abdul Momen, Jaishankar said Bangladesh was central to India's 'Neighbourhood First' policy and increasingly relevant to the country's 'Act East Policy'. "We are working to prepare for the planned visit of our Prime Minister. It will surely be a very memorable visit: if I recall right it would be his first visit outside India since the coronavirus pandemic and his second as Prime Minister to Bangladesh," he told reporters here at a press conference along with Momen. Prime Minister Modi is likely to pay a two-day visit from March 26 to Bangladesh to participate in a series of events.

Jaishankar acknowledged that it was a "very special year" for the people of Bangladesh when both countries mark the Mujib Barsho, 50 years of Bangladesh's Liberation and 50 years of India-Bangladesh bilateral relationship.

"May all your dreams come true and I can assure you that India will always be there by your side, as a reliable friend," he said in his opening remarks at a joint press inter-

7.3 quake hits off NZ coast, Tsunami feared

AGENCIES

Wellington, March 4: A shallow, powerful earthquake struck off the northeastern coast of New Zealand Thursday, with officials warning of a possible tsunami threat. There were no immediate reports of serious damage or casualties.

New Zealand's National Emergency Management Agency said it was still assessing whether the quake had triggered a tsunami that could affect the country. It measured the quake at magnitude 7.3.

It advised people near the coast to immediately move to high ground if they felt strong or long shaking.

The US Geological Survey said the quake measured a preliminary 6.9 magnitude and was centered at a depth of 10 kilometers (six miles) about 178 kilometers (111 miles) northeast of the city of Gisborne. Residents of Gisborne reported light to moderate shaking, it said.

A magnitude 6.3 quake hit the city of Christchurch in 2011, killing 185 people and destroying much of its downtown.

'CO2 emission cuts must increase 10x to tackle climate emergency'

THE WORLD HAS WARMED BY OVER 1 DEGREE CELSIUS SINCE THE INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION BECAUSE OF EMISSIONS OF GREENHOUSE GASES FROM HUMAN ACTIVITIES

AGENCIES

London, March 4: Sixty-four countries reduced their fossil carbon dioxide emissions during the period between 2016 and 2019, but the rate of global reduction needs to increase tenfold to meet the Paris Agreement goals to fight climate change, according to a study.

The researchers at the University of East Anglia (UEA), UK, Stanford University in the US and the Global Carbon Project examined the progress in cutting fossil CO2 emissions since the Paris Agreement was adopted in 2015.

The findings, published in the journal Nature Climate Change, show the need for far greater ambition ahead of the important UN climate summit in Glasgow, UK, in November.

"Countries' efforts to cut CO2 emissions since the Paris Agreement are starting to pay off, but actions are not large-scale enough yet and emissions are still increasing in way too many countries," said Corinne Le Quere, Royal Society Professor at UEA.

"The drop in CO2 emissions from responses to COVID-19 highlights the scale of actions and of international adherence needed to tackle climate change," Le Quere, who led the study, said.

The researchers noted that the annual cuts of 0.16 billion tonnes of CO2 are only 10 per cent of the 1.2 billion tonnes of CO2 cuts that are needed globally every year to tackle climate change. They explained that emissions decreased in 64 countries during 2016-2019, they increased in 150 countries.

According to the study, Global carbon emissions grew by 0.21 billion tonnes of CO2 per year during 2016-2019 compared to 2011-2015.

The researchers noted that in 2020, confinement measures to tackle the COVID-19 pandemic cut global emissions by 2.6 billion tonnes of CO2, about 7 per cent below 2019 levels. They explained that 2020 is a "pause button" that cannot realistically continue while the world overwhelmingly relies on fossil fuels. Confinement policies are neither a sustainable nor desirable solution to the climate crisis, according to the researchers.

They noted that annual cuts of 1-2 billion tonnes of CO2 are needed throughout the 2020s and beyond to avoid exceeding global warming within the range 1.5 degrees Celsius to well below 2 degrees Celsius, the ambition of the UN Paris Agreement.

The world has warmed by over 1 degrees Celsius since the Industrial Revolution because of emissions of greenhouse gases from human activities, the researchers said.

According to the study, of the 36 high-income countries, 25 saw their emissions decrease during 2016-2019 compared to 2011-2015, including the US, the European Union, and the UK. The team noted that emissions decreased even when accounting for the carbon footprint of imported goods produced in other countries.

The research shows that 90 out of 99 upper-middle income countries also saw their emissions decrease during 2016-2019 compared to 2011-2015. This suggests that actions to reduce emissions are now in motion in many countries worldwide, the researchers said.

The growing number of climate change laws and policies appear to have played a key role in curbing the growth in emissions during 2016-2019, the researchers said, adding that there are now more than 2000 climate laws and policies worldwide.

They noted that a full bounce-back in 2021 to previous CO2 emission levels appears unlikely. However, the researchers said unless the COVID-19 recovery directs investments in clean energy and the green economy, emissions will likely start increasing again within a few years.

Fulfill promise of stable oil prices: India urges OPEC+

THE BASKET OF CRUDE OIL INDIA IMPORTED IN FEBRUARY AVERAGED $61.22/BARREL AND $54.79 IN JANUARY THIS YEAR. IT HAD FALLEN TO $19.90 IN APRIL LAST YEAR

AGENCIES
New Delhi, March 4: With retail petrol and diesel prices going through the roof, India Thursday again urged oil producers group OPEC to ease production curbs to fulfill their promise of stable oil prices. Though the average price of crude oil India imports was less than $50 per barrel between April and December 2020 and comparable to 2019-20 average rate of $60.47 in months thereafter, petrol and diesel prices are at a historic high now as the government has so far not rolled back the taxes it levied when prices plummeted almost a year back. The record taxes coupled with international rates returning to pre-

Covid levels on resurrecting demand have meant that petrol has crossed ₹100 mark in some places in Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh and Maharashtra. Speaking at the CERAWeek conference by IHS Markit, Oil Minister Dharmendra Pradhan said India, where fuel demand is recovering to pre-pandemic levels, wants reasonable and responsible oil prices. India, the world's third-biggest oil importer and consumer, had supported the decision of the oil producers' cartel OPEC and its allies to cut production last year in view of the oil demand collapsing due to the spread of Covid-19. "At that point in time, the producers especially OPEC assured the global market, that by the beginning of the 2021 demand will be coming back and production will be as usual. But I am sorry to say the production is yet to be normal," he said. "If you do not supply properly, if there is a gap in demand and supply artificially (created), there is a price rise." Crude, rebounded this year to over $62/barrel after the OPEC slashed output to drive a rebalancing of the market following last year's slump.

EPFO keeps interest rate unchanged at 8.5% for FY'21

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, March 4: In a major relief for India's working class, the Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO) has decided to keep interest rates on Provident Fund deposits for the financial year 2020-21 unchanged at 8.5%. Thursday, the Central Board of Trustees, EPF, recommended 8.50% annual rate of interest to be credited on EPF accumulations in members' accounts for the Financial Year 2020-21.

The interest rate would be officially notified in the government gazette following which EPFO would credit the rate of interest into the subscribers' accounts. WhatsApp expands voice, video calling to desktop PCs

The Facebook-owned company noted that to make desktop calling more useful, the company has made sure it works seamlessly for both portrait and landscape orientation

AGENCIES

New Delhi, March 4: WhatsApp Thursday said it has rolled out one-to-one voice and video calls on its desktop app, a move that will now allow users to make calls through their laptops or desktop PCs.

The Facebook-owned company said voice and video calls on the platform are end-to-end encrypted, and so WhatsApp can't hear or see them whether the call is made from phones or computers. "We're starting with one-to-one calls on the WhatsApp desktop app so we make sure we can give you a reliable and high-quality experience. We will be expanding this feature to include group voice and video calls in the future," it added.

WhatsApp said there has been a significant increase in people calling one another on WhatsApp over the last year and often for long conversations.

"Last New Year's Eve, we broke the record for the most calls ever made in a single day with 1.4 billion voice and video calls. With so many people still apart from their loved ones, and adjusting to new ways of working, we want conversations on WhatsApp to feel as close to in-person as possible, regardless of where you are in the world or the tech you're using," WhatsApp said.

It noted that to make desktop calling more useful, the company has made sure it works seamlessly for both portrait and landscape orientation appears in a resizable standalone window on computer screens and is set to be always on top so users never lose video chats in a browser tab or stack of open windows.

'SPECTRUM BUYS TO BOLSTER TELCOS' MARKET POSITION'

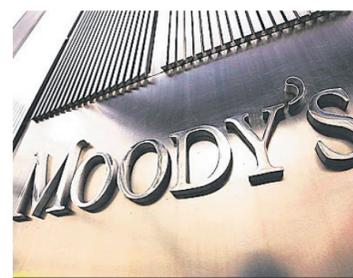

AGENCIES

New Delhi, March 4: Spectrum renewals in the recently-held auction will boost telcos' market position and there may not be a significant impact on their balance sheets, as pricing competition abates and profitability improves, Moody's Investors Service said Thursday.

The spectrum renewals and additional purchases will help the incumbents - Jio and Airtel - strengthen their radio wave holdings and improve their network coverage.

At the same time, as some telcos have large cash holdings while others recently raised debt to fund the purchases, there will not be a significant impact on their balance sheets particularly, as pricing competition abates and profitability improves across the sector, Moody's said in its report. It also expects operators to opt for deferred spectrum payments, thus helping to mitigate the effect on liquidity and cash flows. Spectrum will be offered for a period of 20 years. Successful bidders can pay the entire bid amount in one go (upfront), or exercise an option to pay a certain amount (25% for spectrum won in 700 MHz, 800 MHz, 900 MHz bands or 50% for spectrum won in 1800 MHz, 2100 MHz, 2300 MHz, 2500 MHz bands) upfront with the remaining amount in a maximum up to 16 equated annual instalments, after a moratorium of two years. It is pertinent to mention that bids were received in 800 MHz, 900 MHz, 1800 MHz, 2100 MHz and 2300 MHz bands, but airwaves in the premium 700 MHz and 2,500 MHz bands went unsold. Reliance Jio's purchase of 488.35 MHz of spectrum across the 800MHz/ 1800MHz/2300MHz bands will enhance its spectrum footprint and improve its network coverage and capacity, Moody's noted.

The company had consolidated cash holdings of $30.1 billion as of January 2021, implying that the upfront payment of $2.7 billion "can be easily absorbed", it said.

Bharti Airtel Limited's renewal of its expiring spectrum, along with the purchase of additional bandwidth, would strengthen its network coverage. The company recently issued $1.25 billion of bonds, a portion of which is likely to be used to fund the upfront payment for its spectrum purchases. So, the effect on credit metrics of the total spectrum outlay has already been taken into consideration, Moody's said. Spectrum purchases by Vodafone Idea will not have any impact on the credit quality of Vodafone, Moody's concluded. "This is because Vodafone does not intend to inject any further capital to support VIL. Vodafone's liability related to VIL is capped at ₹3,400 crore for certain identified contingent liabilities relating to legal, regulatory, tax and other matters, including the adjusted gross revenue case," it said.

India's first auction of telecom spectrum in five years ended on Tuesday with ₹77,814.8 crore of airwaves being acquired by telcos, with billionaire Mukesh Ambani's Reliance Jio spending the most.

Reliance Jio picked up 488.35 MHz spectrum in bands such as 800 MHz, 1800 MHz and 2300 MHz for ₹57,122.65 crore.

VISITORS CLUELESS AGAINST SPIN AS INDIA TAKE COMMAND

ASHWIN, AXAR ANNIHILATE ENGLAND

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Ahmedabad, Mar 4: England's batsmen lost the battle of both the mind and skills in yet another shoddy performance to surrender the momentum to India with Axar Patel (4/68) and Ravichandran Ashwin (3/47) calling the shots on the opening day of the fourth and final Test here Thursday. The visitors were bowled out for 205 and in reply India were 24 for the loss of Shubman Gill's (0) wicket at stumps. Cheteshwar Pujara (15 batting) and Rohit Sharma (eight batting) were at the crease when stumps were called.

It was certainly not what England skipper Joe Root had hoped for after winning the toss and opting to bat. England batted on the first day pitch and the conditions will certainly deteriorate as the game progresses.

There was turn and bounce but the pitch was far from being a minefield that some of the England batsmen save Ben Stokes (55, 121b, 6x4, 2x6) made it out to be.

Axar and Ashwin weaved a magic web around the already clueless England batsmen. They were well-supported by Washington Sundar (1/14) and pacer Mohammed Siraj (2/45). Sundar dismissed Stokes while Siraj got the wicket of Root (5).

A cursory look at the England lineup, loaded with an extra batsman, will reveal that four players got starts but failed to convert. They were Stokes, Jonny Bairstow (28), Dan Lawrence (46) and Ollie Pope (29). The others came in and went without breaking a bead of sweat. It was as if already in their minds, they were playing on a track they thought would turn square.

Stokes was a cut above the rest both in defence and offence before a moment's indecision cost him his wicket. Sundar angled one in and Stokes was on the back-foot after initially trying to come forward preempting an off-break. The ball didn't turn and hit the back leg with clear indication of crashing into the leg stump. Stokes' dismissal, after a good show, upset the team's rhythm just when England were looking to redeem itself after a poor first session.

It was the post tea session where the lower order caved in with Ashwin in his elements. England lost their last five wickets for 39 runs in 14.2 overs.

Siraj relishing Root dismissal

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

AHMEDABAD: Perfect execution brings with it an inherent satisfaction which India speedster Mohammed Siraj felt after dismissing England captain Joe Root on the opening day of the fourth and final Test here Thursday. Root was trapped before the wicket by Siraj, who bowled a beautiful inswinger which would have hit the middle and leg stump.

"I wanted to set Root up bowling away good deliveries. And then I thought I should bring one back in. I could execute it as I had planned. It gave me great satisfaction. Mazaa aa gaya (It was fun)," Siraj said about the dismissal.

Similarly he had done his homework on Jonny Bairstow's apparent weakness against in-coming deliveries. The in-cutter that got Bairstow was bowled at more than 146kmph.

WOW MOMENT: Mohammed Siraj jumps up in joy after dismissing England skipper Joe Root at Ahmedabad, Thursday

"Bairstow, I wasn't bowling him at a lot of pace at the start. But whatever footages I have seen of him, he gets out to in-swinging deliveries. So I wanted to bowl in one area and bring it back consistently and it worked," informed Siraj. Siraj said that both skipper Virat Kohli and senior pacer Ishant Sharma had told him about the importance of bowling in the right areas. "They told me not to try too much and hit one area consistently," Siraj informed.

The Hyderabad bowler was also asked about the heated exchange Kohli and Ben Stokes had also on the field. "Well Stokes was giving me gali (abusive language). I told Virat bhai and he took up the matter with Stokes," Siraj informed.

As far as the pitch is concerned, what Siraj said would certainly not be music to England batsmen's ears. "This is a fantastic batting wicket," Siraj said.

Madrid, March 4: Barcelona pulled off a stirring comeback to overturn a two-goal deficit and reach the Copa del Rey final, beating Sevilla 3-0 after extra time in Wednesday's second leg semifinal. The Catalan giants went through to the summit clash winning 3-2 on aggregate.

Danish forward Martin Braithwaite grabbed the decisive goal with a scrappy diving header early in the extra period after Ousmane Dembele had given Barca the lead in the 12th minute and Gerard Pique had levelled the tie deep in added on time, moments after Fernando had been sent off for Sevilla.

Sevilla won the first leg at home 2-0. However, they deployed uncharacteristically negative tactics and yet they wasted a glorious chance to make it 1-1 in the second half and effectively kill the tie when Lucas Ocampos squandered a penalty.

Barcelona will meet either Levante or Athletic Bilbao in the final in Seville April 17, looking to lift the Copa del Rey for a record-extending 31st time.

"I haven't been this happy for a long time, it was a magical night," said Barca's Jordi Alba. "It's just a shame our fans weren't there to see it. We played superbly and we were always convinced we would go through but we couldn't score until the last minute. I'm so proud of the team," Alba added.

Pollard joins Yuvraj with 6 sixes in 1 over

West Indian batsman Kieron Pollard became the second cricketer to hit six sixes in an over in a T20 international

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coolidge (Antigua), March 4: Sri Lanka leg-spinner Akila Dananjaya experienced the precipitous highs and lows of Twenty20 cricket when he claimed a hat-trick which included the wicket of West Indies star Chris Gayle for a first-ball duck, then was hit for six sixes in an over by Keiran Pollard in the first international in Antigua. The West Indies won the match by four wickets with 41 balls to spare while chasing down Sri Lanka's score of 131 for nine.

Dananjaya became only the 15th player and the fourth Sri Lankan to take a T20 international hat-trick when he dismissed Evin Lewis (28), Gayle and Nicholas Pooran (0) with consecutive deliveries in the fourth over. He had little time to reflect on his new-found fame when it turned to notoriety. In his next over, he was hit to all parts of the ground by Pollard, who became only the second player after Yuvraj Singh to hit six sixes in an over in a T20 game.

Pollard said he thought six sixes was a possibility "after the third one". I just had to come out and back myself," he said. "It was something the team needed. I didn't see the hat-trick, I only heard. But I still had to come out and do what the team required at that point in time," he added.

Even though Pollard fell for an 11-ball 38, the hosts were taken over the line by skipper Jason Holder (29 n o, 24b, 1x4, 2x6). Earlier Lendl Simmons (26) and Evan Lewis (28) had given West Indies the perfect start reaching 52-0 before it suddenly turned 52-3 due to Akila's hat-trick.

SAI-STC edge past Odisha Police

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, March 4: SAI-STC overcame Odisha Police in a hard-fought encounter of the Odisha Women's League (OWL) at the Capital Ground here Thursday. Deepa Nayak (36th) and Gudiya Kumari (90th) scored for the winners while Jyotsna Mallick (82nd) got the lone consolation goal for Odisha Police.

It was heartbreak for Odisha Police at the end as they deserved at least a point from the game. However, all their hard work while defending their goal, ended as they conceded in added on time.

Woman of the match, Deepa had put SAI-STC ahead capitalising on a defensive lapse on the part of the Odisha Police players. She scored after a combined move down the middle. At the break SAI-STC were up by a goal.

However, after the interval, Odisha Police came back in a stronger manner. Their players combined well and repeatedly breached the SAI-STC defence. They missed a couple of good scoring opportunities midway into the second session. However, their efforts bore fruit when Jyotsna picked up a loose ball and scored with quick shot.

Just when it looked like that Odisha Police would end their losing streak, disaster struck. A long clearance landed in the Odisha Police box and an unmarked Gudiya was quick to pounce on it and score. Moments after the goal, the referee blew the long whistle signalling the end of the game and yet another heart-breaking loss for Odisha Police.
