It is now recording an average of 78,489 Covid-19 cases per day, based on a 7-day moving average to visualise the number of new Covid-19 cases and calculate the rate of change.

Notably, India, which is witnessing the second wave of the pandemic, added 5,49,423 Covid-19 cases over the last week, while US and Brazil logged 4,42,981 and 4,50,268 cases, respectively.

Daily cases in India had peaked September 16 last year, with 97,894 people testing positive for the virus in a single day.

India has become the second country in the world, after the US, to add more than 1,00,000 cases in a single day at any time during the pandemic.

Eight states -- Maharashtra,

Chhattisgarh, Karnataka, Uttar Pradesh, Delhi, Tamil Nadu, Madhya Pradesh and Punjab -- have shown a steep rise in the daily Covid cases, and account for 81.90 per cent of the new cases.

Maharashtra has reported the highest daily new cases at 57,074 (55.11 per cent). It is followed by Chhattisgarh with 5,250 while Karnataka reported 4,553 new cases.

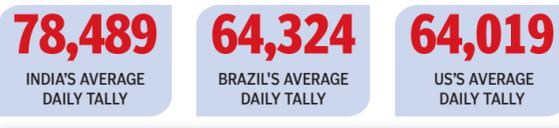

With 50,223 more cases in the last 24 hours, India's total active caseload has reached 7,41,830, and comprises 5.89 per cent of the country's total cases.

Five states -- Maharashtra,

Karnataka, Chhattisgarh, Kerala and Punjab -- cumulatively account for 75.88 per cent of the total active cases in the country. Maharashtra alone accounts for nearly 58.23 per cent.

India's cumulative recoveries stand at 1,16,82,136 as on Monday with 52,847 recoveries were registered in the last 24 hours. The national recovery rate is 92.8 per cent.

A total of 478 deaths were reported in the last 24 hours, with eight states accounting for 84.52 per cent of the new deaths. Maharashtra saw the maximum fatalities, at 222, and Punjab followed with 51.

"The state government is closely monitoring the situation and will take a decision on imposition of day curfew, if need be. As of now, District Collectors have been asked to closely monitor the situation," he said. Night curfew has been enforced in 10 districts from Monday. The districts included Sundargarh, Jharsuguda, Sambalpur, Bargarh, Balangir, Nuapada, Kaiahandi, Nabarangpur, Koraput and Malkangiri. It has requested the Centre to supply minimum 15 lakh Covishield doses immediately in view of the surge in cases and the heat wave. However, only 3,49,130 doses have been assured. Keeping in view the heat-wave, timings for Covid-19 vaccination at all centres will change with immediate effect. Additional Chief Secretary, Health and Family Welfare PK Mohapatra directed officials to conduct vaccination at all sites between 8 am and 12 noon and 3 pm and 6 pm.

SC likely to hear Pari case April 19

POST NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi, April 5: The Supreme Court has set April 19 to hear a petition filed by Saudamini Sahu, the mother of 5-year-old girl, Pari, pleading the Supreme Court to order an independent probe by CBI into the alleged rape and murder of Pari in July last year in Jadupur, Nayagarh.

The case was heard by registrar of the Supreme Court Rajesh Kumar Goel through video conferencing Monday and asked the registry to list the case before the bench of Justice AM Khanwilkar for hearing. The registrar observed that the state of Odisha has already filed the counter affidavit and the CBI may file its counter affidavit in the meantime. During the hearing, the counsel appearing for Saudamini Sahu, advocate Swastik Dalai, implored the registrar for the urgent listing of the case. The counsel argued that the case pertains to the investigation into the rape and murder of a minor girl as well as the rampant organ trafficking. Earlier, Odisha Police had filed an affidavit in the case stating that there is no need of directing a CBI probe in the murder and rape of Pari as the Orissa High Court had monitored the investigation done by SIT in the case. The Odisha Police had submitted in the SC that the forensic department of SCB negated the charges of the missing of organs and bones of the victim.

₹50L seized ahead of Pipli bypoll

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, April 5: Police and special squad Monday seized around ₹50 lakh unaccounted cash from the possession of two persons near Pipli. The two men on a motorcycle were caught at Tarakaj Square when they tried to give the police a slip during a routine check. They were detained for interrogation.

The two men, who hail from Balanga area in Puri district, did not stop at the frisking point. They were chased by the police and intercepted at Tarakaj Square. The seized money was in the denomination of ₹500 in 20 bundles, Pipli tehsildar Sapan Kumar Nanda said. Later, the amount was seized from them and they were detained. The two were identified as residents of Balanga area. Further investigation by the police was underway to ascertain the source of the money, police source said.

The BJD, in a petition to the Chief Electoral Officer (CEO), alleged that the two men belonged to the BJD. Due to growing fear of losing the election, the BJD is pumping in huge amounts of money to influence Pipli voters, the BJD alleged. "We demand that police patrolling and surveillance teams be increased to ensure that the BJD does not succeed in its illegal activities of pumping money into the election," the party said in its petition and demanded investigation to trace the source of the illegal money and to bring the guilty to book. BJD candidate for the seat Ashrit Pattnayak denied the allegation and said the money does not belong to the party.

Meanwhile, all three major political parties started campaigning in the constituency. BJD candidate Rudra Pratap Maharathy and his supporters campaigned in various areas Monday while BJD leader Sambit Patra joined the campaign trail for his party candidate Ashrit Pattnayak. Congress candidate Ajit Mangaraj also held a motor cycle rally to woo voters.

Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik will campaign for his party candidate Rudra Pratap Maharathy soon. Sources said, a decision to this effect was taken at a meeting in the residence of Pratap Deb. Polling for the seat will be held April 17 and votes will be counted May 2.

French report claims payment of 1.1 mn euros in Rafale deal

AGENCIES

New Delhi, April 5: The Congress Monday sought a thorough probe in the Rafale jet deal and demanded answers from Prime Minister Narendra Modi after a French media report claimed that a payment of 1.1 million Euros was made by the aircraft manufacturer to a "middleman", a charge denied as "completely baseless" by the BJP.

Referring to the report by Mediapart, a French online journal, Chief Congress spokesperson Randeep Surjewala claimed that the report has proved that there was corruption in the biggest defence deal, and asked why action should not be taken against those involved, including Dassault Aviation, for violating the defence procurement procedure, which clearly entails that there will be no middlemen.

Hitting back at the Congress, BJP leader and Union minister Ravi Shankar Prasad dismissed as "completely baseless" the allegations of corruption in the Rafale deal and said the opposition party made a big issue of the defence deal in 2019 Lok Sabha polls but lost badly.

of the fighter aircraft and the CAG also found nothing wrong, Prasad said. The allegations of corruption were "completely baseless", the minister said, and suggested that a report in the French media about the alleged financial irregularity in the deal may be due to "corporate rivalry" in that country.

report was based on an investigation by the country's anti-corruption agency Agence Française Anticorruption (AFA), which found that after inking the deal, payment was made by the Dassault Aviation, the manufacturer of Rafale fighter jets. As per the report, the manufacturer has not been able to answer the queries posed by the AFA.

India's backward states lead power demand recovery

INDIA'S ANNUAL POWER DEMAND FALLS FOR THE FIRST TIME IN 35 YEARS IN 2020/21

AGENCIES

Chennai, April 5: India's less industrialised states have led a recovery in electricity demand that began in September, a Reuters analysis of government data showed.

Power use in less industrialized states such as Bihar and Chhattisgarh in the east, and Uttar Pradesh and Punjab in the north, grew at over 10% each compared with the previous year, both for the quarter and the six months ending on March 31, the data showed.

All these states - which have high agricultural and residential power consumption - consumed more electricity than in the previous year, though India's annual power demand fell for the first time in at least 35 years in 2020/21.

The imposition of coronavirus lockdowns resulted in a fall in electricity consumption for six straight months through August, but consumption has since risen for seven consecutive months, with usage in March rising at the fastest pace in 11 years.

Industries and offices account for half the country's annual electricity consumption. Senior government leaders including Prime Minister Narendra Modi have cited the recovery in demand for power as a sign that the economy is also beginning to recover from its worst slump in decades.

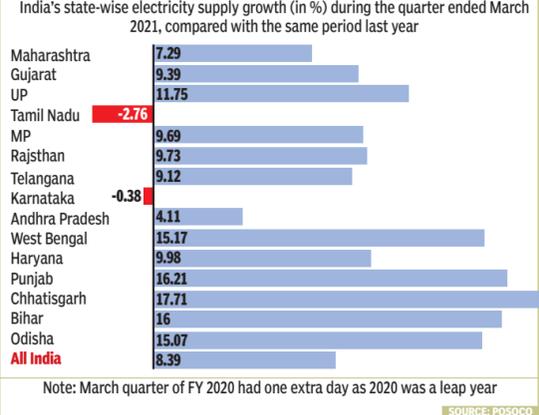

More industrialised states such as Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu and Gujarat witnessed a decline in annual electricity use during 2020/21, according to an analysis of the federal electricity grid regulator POSOCO's daily load despatch data. Power demand growth in Maharashtra and Tamil Nadu have lagged the national average in the last seven years, but consumption in Gujarat has grown faster than national average during that period, government data shows.

During the latest quarter, electricity consumption grew 7.3% in Maharashtra, India's most industrialized state.

However, Tamil Nadu - where a large number of major automakers are located - saw its electricity consumption fall 2.8% in the same period. Consumption grew at 9.4% in the western state of Gujarat during the quarter, but it fell marginally in Karnataka - a southern state with a large tech industry.

Watermelon farmers in distress as 'mystery' disease damages crops

POST NEWS NETWORK

Rajnagar, April 5: Watermelon farmers in the flood-prone areas under this block in Kendrapara district are a worried lot these days as an unidentified disease have affected their crops.

According to a report, the 'mystery' disease has shattered the hopes of these cultivators as it has caused the watermelons to break open and rot much before harvesting. This has come as a double whammy for the farmers who had lost their paddy crops due to flood in the last Kharif season.

The fruits are being affected when they grow to the size of one kg. The farmers have applied pesticides on the advice of agriculture and horticulture experts but that is not helping them in any way.

The unknown disease is affecting their crops when the watermelons grow to the size of 1 to 1.5 kg. They are trying to tide over this crisis by harvesting the watermelons when they are still small, but traders are refusing to pay even ₹5 per kg.

Loss of crop due to the 'mystery' disease has pushed the farmer into distress as they stare at a bleak future ahead. They had borrowed a lot from the local money lenders and other sources but with crop loss they are now clueless as to how they would repay the loans. The private money lenders and self-help groups from whom they had borrowed heavily are now pestering them to repay their loans.

Reports said that farmers have cultivated watermelons in over 400 acres in Balichandrapur village under Rajpur panchayat of the block. As the harvesting time has arrived, they are caught in dilemma.

The watermelons are harvested when they grow up to the size of 3 to 5 kg. However, this year the watermelons are cracking and subsequently decomposing on the farmlands even before the harvesting. As a result, over 200 farmers engaged in cultivation of watermelons have been pushed to the brink.

Farmers Bailochan Rout, Braja Kishore Sethi and Abhaya Kumar Sethi of Balichandrapur village had jointly taken up watermelon cultivation on 17 acres. The three had purchased watermelon seeds at ₹6,000 per kg and ploughed the land themselves.

They had irrigated their farmland with the help of motor pump as it did not rain in their area. They were planning to harvest their crops from the second week of March but fate decided otherwise.

The farmers had borrowed heavily from private money lenders and are now unable to repay their loans after the huge crop loss

They were expecting to harvest over 100 quintals from each acre and a total crop of 1,700 quintals from their 17-acre farmland. This could have helped them to tide over the losses which they faced during their paddy cultivation in the last Kharif season. However, as ill luck would have it, instead of growing big in size, the watermelons cracked and decomposed.

Another farmer Ganesh Sethi said watermelon plants have withered and small watermelons are getting decomposed. When contacted, farmer Bailochan Rout said he has lost his sleep pondering over repayment of loans.

Meanwhile, Residents have demanded that Agriculture department should rush a high-level team to the area to review the crop damage and make provision of financial assistance to the affected farmers.

Ganjam admin directs serving packaged food at weddings

POST NEWS NETWORK

Chhatrapur, April 5: The district administration here Monday directed people to serve packaged food to guests in wedding ceremonies in the district as it issued additional guidelines revising the cap on the number of guests at marriage ceremonies to 100.

This has been done with a view to arrest the sharp rise in the number of Covid-19 cases in the district.

As part of the guidelines, the organisers have been directed to provide packaged food instead of organising community feasts at these events.

"The number of guests shall be limited to 100 only during marriage ceremonies, while packaged foods will be provided to the guests to help prevent spread of Covid-19 during the functions," the order issued by the district administration stated.

Anyone found violating the official guidelines will be dealt with strictly as per the provisions under the Disaster Management Act, 2005 and other relevant laws, the order said.

Notably, the Bhubaneswar Municipal Corporation (CMC) and Cuttack Municipal Corporation (BMC) have also put cap on social gatherings by restricting the number of guests in the marriage ceremonies to 100 in their jurisdictions.

Meanwhile, Health Minister Naba Das hinted at the need of day curfew in the state by reiterating an earlier statement Surjya Narayan Patro, the Speaker of the Odisha Assembly.

Das said that if need arises the day time curfew might be imposed in the state.

He said that Collectors have been empowered to clamp night curfew if required in their respective regions, while observers have visited the districts bordering Chhattisgarh and other states. The state government has been emphasising on testing and mass vaccination, Das added.

However, the Special Relief Commissioner SRC had ruled out any plan by the government to impose day curfew in the state.

Villagers try to revive dead man in Nayagarh

POST NEWS NETWORK

Nayagarh, April 5: Though humans have achieved giant strides in the field of science and technology, superstition is still ingrained in the minds of people in today's era, especially in rural areas of the state.

According to a report, some villagers tried to breathe life into the body of deceased person at Barasahi village under Sarankul police limits in this district, Sunday night. The villagers tried to resurrect the dead man but their efforts went in vain.

Reports said, a traditional Danda Nacha programme was underway at Barasahi village Saturday night when a performer identified as Rabi Nahak, 45, fell sick due to some reasons. Co-villagers rushed him to the district headquarters hospital in Nayagarh for treatment. However, the doctors at the hospital pronounced him "brought dead".

However, his family members, instead of conducting a post-mortem, took the body back to the village for cremation. There the family members and villagers, with help of sorcerers, performed rituals throughout the night to resurrect the dead man with a belief that the body was possessed by God. As part of tantrik rituals, the villagers poured pot full of water on the body and started rituals to breathe life into the body.

On being informed, police reached the spot and tried to convince the villagers saying it as an 'impossible' act to breathe new life into the dead man. Later, the villagers too realised it and agreed to cremate the body as per Hindu custom and performed his last rites. Sarankul police have registered a case and started an investigation.

POWER GRID REMAINS NON-STARTER

Uninterrupted power supply still a dream for Cuttack villagers

POST NEWS NETWORK

Nischintakoili, April 5: The state government has taken up various projects to supply electricity to the people in rural areas across the state.

Similar steps have been taken to provide high quality and uninterrupted power services to people in villages under this block in Cuttack district. However, due to administrative apathy and delay in implementation of projects the benefits of the projects are yet to be available to the beneficiaries.

The non-functioning of a power grid at Kendilo village under Asureswar panchayat of this subdivision even after its inauguration is a case in point.

According to reports, the state Energy Minister Dibyashankar Mishra in the presence of state Law Minister Pratap Jena inaugurated a 33/11 KV power grid at Kendilo four months back. The power grid was built at an outlay of ₹5 crore. It was expected to provide optimum voltage and uninterrupted power to over 10,000 people living in 67 villages under 10 panchayats of Nischintakoili subdivision.

However, the power supply is yet to resume to the villages as many of the works in the grid are yet to be completed. As a result, with summer round the corner frequent disruptions in power supply like low voltage and load shedding continues to plague the people in the area.

This has happened as the consultancy agency, which had received the contract for the work, left the midway after allegations of sub-standard works and irregularities surfaced against the firm. The consultancy firm left the project without connecting the grid to the villages. In fact, the power grid was inaugurated in a hurry with most of its works remaining incomplete.

When contacted, executive engineer Pabitra Kumar Jena of Salipur Electricity Division said power supply has not resumed from the grid as works on the 11-KV feeder is yet to be completed. On the other hand, work on the 33-KV breaker is yet to start. Residents have demanded completion of the pending work of the project at the earliest and resumption of power supply to the villages.

Major fire breaks out at RSP; no casualty reported

POST NEWS NETWORK

Rourkela, April 5: A major fire broke out at the Rourkela Steel Plant (RSP) in Sundargarh district in the wee hours of Monday.

The inferno has gutted properties worth lakhs of rupees as a number of machineries and hardware were reduced to ashes.

According to a source, the fire mishap took place at around 3.00am following a sudden explosion of slag boiler at Steel Melting Shop (SMS)-II of the plant. Molten iron was scattered leading to the outbreak of the blaze.

The control Room of the SMS-II was completely engulfed in flames. Some officials who were on duty at the spot noticed the blaze and immediately informed fire-fighting personnel about the incident.

On being informed, a team of fire personnel rushed to the spot and doused the flames after striving for over a couple of hours. No casualty has been reported in the incident, a fire official said.

Meanwhile, the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of the plant has ordered a probe into the mishap. A four-member team comprising general manager level officials has been formed by RSP authorities to find out the exact cause behind the fire, an official stated. Work at SMS-II has been temporarily halted after the accident.

AP to hold elections for Samitis, Zilla Parishad in disputed Kotia

POST NEWS NETWORK

Jeypore, April 5: After successfully conducting panchayat polls in the disputed Kotia region of Koraput district of Odisha, the Andhra Pradesh government has issued a fresh notification Sunday to conduct elections for the post of Panchayat Samiti as well as Zilla Parishad members in the region.

The neighbouring state will hold the polls in single phase April 8. Notably, Andhra Pradesh had earlier held elections in the same fringe areas February 14. Odisha government had then opposed the move and requested its AP counterpart to refrain from the electoral process as the matter is still sub-judice. Nevertheless, the panchayat elections were conducted in three disputed villages of the Kotia region namely Talaganjeipadar, Phatuseneri and Phaganaseneri. The three villages have occupied the centre-stage concerning the five-decade old territorial dispute.

PEOPLE OF 17 PANCHAYATS SUFFER COMMUTING WOES

Pattamundai, April 5: Thousands of people living in riparian Dhoya cut-off area under Pattamundai block of Kendrapara have been suffering commuting woes over years due to poor road connectivity and absence of a bridge across Kani river.

According to reports, villages like Singhagan, Nuapatana, Badaraulia and Sanaraulia have remained cut off from the block headquarters due to lack of road connectivity and a bridge. People in the area have long been demanding a bridge over Kani.

In view of the commuting woes, the government started construction of a bridge at Krushnadaspur in 2009. At that time, a plan was mooted to connect Kantia creek with Kani and Kharasrota rivers so as to pave way for waterway transport. Since then, the work of the bridge has been halted. SRI AUROBINDO

Meditated Massacre

The death of 22 security personnel in a deadly Left Wing Extremists (LWE) or Maoist ambush in the jungles of Bijapur in Chhattisgarh on April 3 has brought to the fore not only the inherent flaw in the Centre's handling of the problem but a host of more serious faults that are responsible for causing such unnecessary deaths of Indian jawans. It seems the BJP-led NDA-government is more adept in vilifying people with differing opinions by branding them as urban Naxal rather than dealing with the real extremists and the causes that fuel the growth of their activities in tribal-dominated regions of Chhattisgarh and other nearby states. It will not be an exaggeration to say that our security personnel are being used as cannon fodder when one considers the fact that in the Dantewada-Sukma-Bijapur area alone some 175 lives of the forces, besides several civilians, have been snuffed out in encounters with the LWE since 2010. According to reports, the LWE used tractors to carry away some of their dead and injured during the ambush at Bijapur. An officer is also said to have gone missing. About 30 other personnel are lying injured after the gunfight. The recent massacre should be a matter of concern to neighboring states of Andhra, Orissa and Telengana. These states, which had relative calm lately, would be certain to see a fresh spurt of recruitments and activities after this success.

What causes concern is the revelation that over 2,000 personnel from at least five camps in Sukma and Bijapur had gone into the forest around Tarrem in Bijapur district. Yet, they were trapped by a LWE squad that was numerically no match for the armed forces. In a proforma reply to media query, Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) chief sought to gloss over the query whether there was intelligence failure. This is a critical question that needs to be answered as the security build-up clearly showed the operation had been planned on the basis of intelligence inputs. There are questions whether it was sound strategy to mobilise so many personnel in one single encounter, especially when successes had been achieved in the past when small contingents were deployed to tackle the extremists.

The key question is what the government has been doing all these years to eliminate the causes that spawn the growth of LWE activities. It is not only the stark poverty of the tribals and backward communities in the mineral-rich areas of those states that force the ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-treated population to join the ranks of LWEs or support them by providing inputs. It is more so because of the impression that has been created that the government belongs to the rich, the mine owners and industrialists and therefore it is pointless to expect justice from such a system. No doubt there will be strong voices that will try to put the blame of the mission's failure and the needless deaths at the door of the Congress ruled state government. Because of short convenient memories, they need reminding that similar situations had arisen when the BJP was in power in Chhattisgarh couple of years ago.

During the UPA-II government, the operations against the LWEs were carried out with a definite deadline to serve the interests of big industries keen on exploiting the mineral resources buried in these regions. Obviously, the exercise failed in its objective since the root causes of the growth of radical ideas were dealt with too casually. The policy of Salwa Judum to eliminate the LWEs backfired because it was based on the crude principles of treachery and mindless violence.

The NDA government, on the other hand, has busied itself with taking on intellectuals and activists working for the uplift of the people in abject poverty living in those areas. It has chosen the easy option of putting them behind bars, intimidating them and subjecting them to protracted legal proceedings in order to break their will and undermine their physical health. Propaganda on social media and pet television channels against the urban Naxals may help the BJP get good response from its echo chambers, but it simply is not a successful strategy at all to contain the extremists whose popularity seems to be increasing, if their recruitment drives are any indication.

Coining catchy phrases, damning people with progressive ideas and protecting the interests of big money are not the answer. Political parties will come and go. Elections will ensure such passages. However, serious long term damages inflicted on the country will last much longer. That is what is happening now.

Butler

There has been some tut-tutting, head-shaking and general adverse comment in the more intellectual British newspapers this past week following the news that the former butler of the newspaper magnate Rupert Murdoch is about to publish his reminiscences of life with the boss. Mixed with a certain quiet schadenfreude over the king of the tabloid exposure being hoist by his own petard, so to speak, the consensus has been that such things are not done, or at least should not be done, and that butling has sadly come down in the world since the grand days described by PG Wodehouse. It's always Reginald Jeeves that's mentioned in these articles, usually coupled with the name of Bertram Wilberforce Wooster, despite the indubitable fact that Jeeves was not a butler, but a manservant, gentleman's gentleman or valet. Those genuinely holding the job of butler in the Wodehouse canon, such as Silversmith, Bulstrode, Beech, Keggs (and several dozen others) are rotund and magnificently dignified, often with a magisterial presence that was much stater than their masters'. The butler in the medieval household was nothing like so exalted. He was the yeoman servant in charge of the beer cellar and of the buttery, from where he served out the beer. Since then, he has both literally and figuratively come up in the world. His name derives from the old French bouteillier, the cup-bearer or the one in charge of the bottles. Our bottle and the French equivalent both come from the medieval Latin butticula, a diminutive of buttis, a cask, which is also the origin of our word butt for a large wooden container for liquid; the beer cellar in medieval times would have contained wooden casks, not glass bottles. So the buttery, therefore, had originally nothing to do with butter, but was the place of the butts; only later was the word extended to mean somewhere that provisions in general were stored.

WE WILL NEED PRIMARY CARE TO BE PUSHED UP AND THEN WORK FOR THE INTEGRATION OF PALLIATIVE CARE INTO PRIMARY CARE. BUT THIS WILL BE GROSSLY INADEQUATE WITHOUT TERTIARY HEALTHCARE INSTITUTIONS INCLUDING MEDICAL COLLEGES FOLLOWING SUIT

April 7 is World Health Day and we can expect discussions to be largely focused on the second wave of the Sars-Cov-2 pandemic that has hit the nation. When fighting a war, all thinking and resources are naturally focused on the immediate target. But how well we do in war time is a factor of how well we work and prepare in peace time. Sooner rather than later, the nation must come to terms with the simple fact that our healthcare sector is in a crisis that is far deeper than is visible. The poor suffers because they don't get healthcare. The rich also suffers because they may get more than they can take; aggressive intervention and huge bills don't necessarily mean that the sick are taken care of. Between the two, the system is becoming heartless, a place where expertise even if it's available will fail to deliver because it is disconnected from humaneness. Here are two stories known personally to one of the writers here, coming from in and around Thiruvananthapuram, the capital of Kerala.

From his ICU bed a 75-year-old man screamed at his daughter, unhappy about the state he was put in. His arms and legs were tied to the bed with canvas restraints. She heard her father shout at the nurse; she had never expected this behaviour from him. Some 100 kilometers away a housemaid lay ill and alone on a straw mat in a village hut. She could not walk; she had to crawl. On the other side of the mat was a chamber pot into which she had to urinate and defecate. Her granddaughter, on her way back from school, would come and clean up. Her sons and daughters would not come. They had quarreled about the division of her tiny piece of land.

Both patients had received healthcare in the past. Precise diagnosis had been arrived at and treatment did indeed sustain them for a year or two. Now in a state of incurable illness, one was delirious in hospital and tied up while

HEALTHCARE CRISIS

In India, only about two per cent of the needy have access to pain relief. A draconian law passed in 1985 made three generations of doctors unfamiliar with medicines like oral morphine, and the medical curriculum till 2019 did not include pain management the other was lying alone in utter helplessness. Both cases are in Kerala, a state with "significantly higher healthcare spending per capita than all other states. Higher spending on healthcare, especially in the public sector is desirable but it must be accompanied by approaches that promote welfare of the sick, not push them out or put them in an assembly line of the infirm and the suffering.

For example, in India, only about two per cent of the needy have access to pain relief. A draconian law passed in 1985 made three generations of doctors unfamiliar with medicines like oral morphine, and the medical curriculum till 2019 did not include pain management. The essential medicines, though inexpensive, are inaccessible to patients in most hospitals.

India grows poppy, produces the opium and exports it to the rest of the world. Morphine is extracted from opium. When a major operation, a fracture or cancer causes severe pain, morphine (or one of its derivatives) is essential for relief; no substitute exists in the world for medicines of that class. The scientific world today recognises the principle of balance, which brings in enough restrictions to limit their non-medical or inappropriate use, while at the same time ensuring the access of morphine for pain relief. The necessary modification of the relevant law was made by the Parliament in 2014. However, the relevant rules which were published in 2015 have errors that need correction, and 29 states and six Union Territories have to implement them individually.

Thankfully, though slowly, many positive things are happening. Students who joined medical colleges from 2019 onwards have pain management and most aspects of palliative care built into their curriculum. A growing number of states are implementing the amended law. The National Health Policy of 2017 "recognises the growing need for palliative and rehabilitative care for all geriatric illnesses and advocates the continuity of care across all levels." Currently, healthcare providers all over the country are being trained in palliative care. The national level trainers have already been trained and as they spread education, palliative care will be integrated with primary health care up to a point all over the country.

In the future, perhaps, patients will hopefully get more compassionate and necessary medical attention from healthcare providers in their homes and not be only dependent on intermittent visits from family. This will demand the encasing of health care with ideas of service that alone can offer care with quality and compassion, within the reach of the vast majority.

We will need primary care to be pushed up and then work for the integration of palliative care into primary care. But this will be grossly inadequate without tertiary healthcare institutions including medical colleges following suit. Secondly, there is something for all of us to do. Healthcare will never be complete till the community around the person and family are engaged. The disintegration of the extended family and migration of young men and urbanisation, have all caused a social change resulting in the isolation of nuclear families during an illness. This needs to be alleviated by the participation of the community. To paraphrase a sentence from Dr Vikram Patel: "Healthcare is too important to be left to professionals alone".

The theme for World Health Day, the 7th of April, 2021, is "Building a fairer, healthier world." If that is to make any sense to us, people should get the right kind of healthcare. And that means healthcare should not only focus on curing diseases but should also prioritise relief from suffering.

Cleaning up Europe's vaccine mess

Michel Goldman

COVID-19 HAS CAUSED VAST SUFFERING ACROSS EUROPE, AND THE EUROPEAN UNION'S SLOW VACCINE ROLLOUT THREATENS TO PROLONG THE AGONY

COVID-19 has caused vast suffering across Europe, and the European Union's slow vaccine rollout threatens to prolong the agony. If the region's leaders do not take decisive action soon, the pandemic could cause irreversible damage to the EU itself.

When the coronavirus hit the region in 2020, EU member states were unable to agree on vaccine deployment - their main line of defense against it. National governments entrusted vaccine procurement to the European Commission, but then failed to harmonize their production and distribution strategies, or reach a consensus on which groups should be vaccinated first. More recently, 13 European countries suspended use of the Oxford-AstraZeneca vaccine after a small number of people who had received it developed atypical vascular thrombosis.

The European Medicines Agency's subsequent conclusion that the Oxford-AstraZeneca vaccine is "safe and effective" has not reassured everyone. While several EU countries have continued or resumed their rollout of the vaccine, Denmark, Norway, Finland, and Sweden have maintained their suspensions, while France has limited its use to people over 55. These continued differences are fueling increasing public mistrust, not only of the Oxford-AstraZeneca vaccine but of the entire COVID-19 vaccination campaign.

The EU's first priority for the coming weeks must be to address the vaccine shortage. Here again, member states have failed to agree, and some are not hesitating to shop outside the EU for supplies. Hungary is distributing the Russian Sputnik V vaccine, Slovakia has purchased it, and the Czech Republic is considering doing so, while Hungary has also bought hundreds of thousands of doses of the Chinese Sinopharm vaccine. Furthermore, Austria and Denmark recently announced a separate agreement with Israel for the production of next-generation COVID-19 vaccines. This pact notably foresees the establishment of a joint fund for research and development, and collaboration in clinical trials outside regular EU programs. At the same time, Europe must protect people at risk who either are waiting to be vaccinated or will not respond to vaccines because they have a particular disease or are receiving certain treatments. In the United States, monoclonal antibodies have been highly effective in meeting these important needs.

Faced with these challenges, the European Commission established a task force to manage vaccine supply in the coming months. Led by Thierry Breton, EU Commissioner for the Internal Market, the task force aims to mobilize all available European production capacity, with the ambitious objective of immunizing 70% of European adults by the end of summer.

In parallel, Commission President Ursula von der Leyen announced in February the establishment of the Health Emergency Preparedness and Response Authority (HERA) Incubator, an agency charged with tackling new coronavirus variants. HERA is intended to play a role similar to that of the US Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA), which has been instrumental in the unprecedentedly rapid development of the Oxford-AstraZeneca, Moderna, and Johnson & Johnson vaccines.

The success of the US government's Operation Warp Speed effort to develop COVID-19 vaccines is due not only to the scheme's budget of more than $12 billion but also to its integration and coordination of steps throughout the vaccine value chain, from basic research to large-scale production and distribution. This strategy entailed significant risk-taking, shared between the public and private sectors.

Operation Warp Speed's governance, entrusted to a senior pharmaceutical executive experienced in vaccinology and a high-ranking US Army general responsible for the logistics, was another decisive factor in the plan's success. If the EU's ambition is to reproduce an initiative like this in Europe, it is clear that mobilizing sufficient financial resources will be a significant obstacle - though perhaps not the biggest one.

Instead, the main challenge may be reaching an agreement between member states and the European Commission to grant HERA sufficient autonomy to ensure the agility the agency's operations will need. The European Innovation Council, recently inaugurated by von der Leyen and French President Emmanuel Macron, could offer an interesting model in that regard. Together with the European Investment Bank, the EIC made it possible to maintain a European foothold on CureVac, the next COVID-19 vaccine to hit the market.

Whatever form the new agency takes, European leaders must urgently accelerate the region's COVID-19 vaccine rollout. In addition, they should define an ambitious new strategy to support pharmaceutical innovation in Europe for the benefit of people everywhere.

On Covid second wave

Sir, Apropos, "India braces for COVID curbs", Orissa POST, April 4. The rise in COVID-19 cases as part of India's 'second wave' has the government and public health authorities truly worried. In many ways, the concern is larger than last year when there were several more cases. India's communication of the tides and ebbs of the pandemic has always been below par. The broader strategy by the governments is to take credit when there is a declining trend in cases and blame people's laxity for an upward trend. More research needs to be conducted and communicated on whether mortality in the second wave is biased towards the group yet ineligible for vaccination, and whether re-infections are an emerging problem. It was always known, from the vaccine trial data, that the inoculations were extremely effective at addressing severe disease but less so in containing infections. This aspect needs to be amplified and communicated more clearly to encourage vaccination. It is hypocritical on the government's part to allow large religious gatherings and political melas in election-bound states and also blame normal movement for the second wave. What is needed is messaging that emphasises the realistic protective abilities from vaccination and physical distancing measures.

Useless CAG report

Sir, Every year the CAG disclosure on rampant misutilisation of Central and state government funds to the tune of thousands of crores are made public through media. Earlier, it has relevance but with active social media these reports are just addition to investigate journalism or sensational journalism. Never has it disclosed any of its ATR - Action Taken Report, on the erring government officials. We have never heard of any recovery made from its findings on those erring officials for whom such public funds were mismanaged or embezzled. Such CAG reports merely adorn the rakes of the Assembly or the different government departments. I request the CAG to disclose the ATR on last three years on its findings. In our democratic setup CAG is not only a watchdog of public funds but also a recommending authority to the government with regard to ATR on erring officials for whom these funds were drained. How can it lose sight of its constitutional responsibility simply by putting mind-boggling figures and then sit silent every year?

Yogi vs Kejri over Ganga vs Yamuna issue

AS MUCH AS 760 MGD OF SEWAGE WATER IS DISCHARGED INTO YAMUNA DAILY THROUGH 18 DRAINS, OF WHICH 610 MGD ALONE IS FROM DELHI

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Lucknow April 5: It is now Kejriwal versus Yogi Adityanath and the war is over Ganga versus Yamuna.

Uttar Pradesh Minister Siddhartha Nath Singh said, "Even after spending Rs 5,300 crores in the last six years, Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's Yamuna remains toxic. Another surprising thing is that the Delhi government has made a provision of Rs 2,074 crore again in its Budget of 2021-22, to clean Yamuna."

"On the contrary, the Yogi Adityanath government has cleaned the Ganga within two years after the formation of the government in 2017. Crores of devotees took a dip in the holy, hygienic and clean Ganga during the Kumbh-2019 held in Prayagraj, which was highly appreciated across the globe."

He further said that Delhi is the oldest and the first city situated on the banks of Yamuna. As much as 760 MGD (Million Gallons per Day) of sewage water is discharged into Yamuna daily through 18 drains, of which 610 MGD alone is from Delhi. When seen from a distance, Yamuna actually looks like a dirty drain and the water has a foul smell too.

In the year 2014, the Kejriwal government had announced to spend Rs 5,300 crores in the name of cleaning the Yamuna and arranged funds for it. But there is hardly any work done and the condition remains miserable.

"It can be easily understood that the Kejriwal government has not been able to revive the Yamuna with so much money in the last six years and the question remains - where is the hard-earned money of the people gone?" he asked.

On the other hand, Yogi

Adityanath in Uttar Pradesh has succeeded in cleaning the Ganga water in the state.

Just two years after the formation of the Yogi government, Kumbh was held in Prayagraj.

During that time, the government had cleaned the dirty water coming from Naini, Jhusi and Prayagraj in Sangam by establishing treatment plants on 46 large sewage and drains.

These drains discharged 270 million litres of dirty water every day. Eight regular and two temporary sewage treatment plants were installed on 46 sewage and drains.

The government also collaborated with the National Environmental Engineering Institute (NEERI) for this task. Drainage was treated at levels above 30 Biological Oxygen Demand (BOD). In Kumbh-2019, crores of devotees from all over the world took a dip in the holy, serene and clean Ganga.

Villages to go digital in UP

Under the Digital Village Scheme, the government offers such facilities as mini bank, mini ATM, hotel booking and mobile and DTH recharge in the villages

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Lucknow, April 5: The Yogi Government in Uttar Pradesh has prepared an action plan to convert all the rural areas into 'smart' villages in order to ensure that the benefits of the welfare schemes are provided to even the last person of the society.

The Chief Minister has planned to make all the Panchayat Bhawans digital. This will not only link the distant regions to the mainstream society but will also ensure effective and transparent implementation of the welfare schemes of the government at the grassroots level, thereby benefiting the needy.

The Uttar Pradesh government will be linking Gram Panchayats with an 'optical fibre network' to provide broadband internet services in the coming days. The project has been undertaken under the National Broadband Mission to digitalise every village in the country.

The state government has already linked more than 31,149 Gram Panchayats with optical fibre networks and is working on providing internet connectivity to all the villages soon. About 70% of the population of Uttar Pradesh resides in the rural areas.

There are about 2,498 Panchayat Bhawans in the state out of which 206 are multipurpose ones. The government said that the vision of the programme is centred on three key areas: digital infrastructure as a utility to every citizen - digital identity, mobile phone and bank account, safe and secure cyberspace; governance and services on demand - services available in real time on online and mobile platform, making financial transactions electronic and cashless, and digital empowerment of citizens - all documents, certificates available on cloud. e-Pathshalas will also be set up at the Panchayat Bhawan where the farmers will also be taught about all the cultivation techniques through digital means. Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath has prioritised radical digitalisation to induce economic inclusiveness through a host of initiatives.

ARCH OF WORLD'S HIGHEST RLY BRIDGE COMPLETED

Chenab Rail Bridge: The 1.3-kilometre-long bridge aims to boost connectivity to the Kashmir Valley and it is being constructed at a cost of ₹1,486 crore

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Kauri, April 5: The construction of the arch of the world's highest railway bridge that soars 359 metres above the bed of the Chenab river in Jammu and Kashmir was completed Monday, with the Northern Railways terming the achievement a milestone.

The bridge, which is 35-metre higher than the Eiffel Tower in Paris, is expected to be completed within a year, officials said. "It is a historic day for the Northern Railways and a milestone in the completion of the USBRL project, connecting Kashmir with the rest of the country. The project will be completed within two and a half years," Northern Railway General Manager Ashutosh Gangal told reporters at the work site here in Reasi district. Railway Minister Piyush Goyal watched the lowering of the closure segment of the arch by cable crane through a video link from Delhi. Senior officers, including Gangal and Konkan Railway Chairman and Managing Director Sanjay Gupta, attended the function here. "The self-supporting arch is an engineering marvel and has brought us closer to our goal of the dream project. After the completion of the arch, we will move further, and are hopeful of completing the bridge within a year," Gangal said. The Railway Ministry said that the 5.6-metre last piece of metal (closure segment) was fitted at the highest point of the arch Monday. It joined the two arms of the arch that currently stretch towards each other from both banks of the Chenab, it said. "This completed the shape of the arch. After completion of the arch work, removal of the stay cables, filling of the concrete in the arch rib, erection of the steel trestle, launching of the viaduct and track laying work will be taken up," the ministry said.

Gangal said that the construction of the bridge involves fabrication of 28,660 metric tonnes of steel, 10 lakh cubic metres earthwork and 66,000 cubic metres of concrete. The bridge is designed to withstand high wind speed of up to 266 kmph and earthquake forces of highest intensity, Gangal said. For the first time, the Indian Railways used phased array ultrasonic machines and established a NABL-accredited lab at the site for weld testing, he said in a statement.

'Garbage bank' to fill people's pockets with money

ON BRINGING A LARGER QUANTITY OF PLASTIC, MONEY IS GIVEN TO PEOPLE ACCORDING TO THE WEIGHT OF PLASTIC WASTE

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Varanasi, April 5: A unique waste bank has been opened in Uttar Pradesh's Varanasi to keep the environment clean. This bank involves transactions through plastic waste. The plastic is collected by the people of the city, volunteers of the plastic waste bank as well as consumers and deposited here.

If the quantity of plastic is less, then an individual is given a cloth bag or face mask in lieu of that plastic waste. On bringing a larger quantity of plastic, money is given to the people according to the weight of the plastic waste. This bank is helping to fill the pockets of people in exchange for plastic waste.

This bank located at Maldahiya in Varanasi is called the 'Plastic waste bank'.

According to Municipal Commissioner Gaurang Rathi, KGN and UNDP are working on the Public Private Engagement (PPE) model. A ten metric ton capacity plant has been set up at Ashapur in Varanasi. There is a ban on polythene in the city. Tetra packs and water bottles are in circulation which are disposed by recycling them.

KGN Director Sabir Ali said the city collects nearly two tons of polythene waste every day. Apart from this used drinking water bottles are purchased for Rs 25 per kg. After processing this waste, it sells for nearly Rs 32-Rs 38 per kg.

He said plastic buckets, cans, mugs etc. are purchased at Rs 10 per kg which are sold after saving Rs four to five. The bank also takes waste like cardboard etc for recycling.

The plastic waste collected in this bank is deposited at the sewage treatment plant at Ashapur. The plastic waste is pressured with the help of a pressure machine.

The plastic is separated in which the polyethylene terephthalate (PET) bottles are pressed with a hydraulic baling machine and collected in the form of a bundle which is sent for further processing. Other plastic wastes are also separated and are sent for recycling. This waste is then sent to Kanpur and other places, where with the help of a machine, the plastic waste is used to make plastic pipes, polyester threads, shoe laces and other material. In this initiative by the Municipal Corporation, this bank has been created for the disposal of plastic waste. VD. Tripathi, Chairman of the Mahamana Malviya Ganga Research Centre, BHU, said the carbon molecules are smaller and lighter on burning polythene which penetrates inside the nose. This reduces a person's ability to breathe. The plastic can't be disposed off easily.

If the burnt plastic waste is swallowed by living organisms, then it results in swollen stomach which ultimately causes death. If this plastic is thrown on the roads and is eaten by cows and other animals, then it is harmful for them. It causes more physical harm than poisoning. There would be a lot of benefits from opening such a waste bank.

INDIA JOINS MULTILATERAL NAVAL DRILL 'LA PEROUSE'

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 5: India and three other Quad member nations Monday joined France in kick-starting a three-day mega naval exercise in the eastern Indian Ocean, in reflection of their growing strategic cooperation in the region.

Officials said the Indian naval ships Satpura and Kiltan along with P-8I long range maritime patrol aircraft are participating in multilateral exercise 'La Perouse'.

The Indian Navy ships and aircraft will exercise at sea with ships and aircraft of navies of France, Australia, Japan and the United States during the exercise, they said.

Indian Navy Spokesperson Commander Vivek Madhwal said the exercise will witness complex and advanced naval operations including surface warfare, anti-air warfare and air defence exercises.

He said it will also feature weapon firing exercises, cross deck flying operations and tactical manoeuvres among others.

"The exercise will showcase high levels of synergy, coordination and interoperability between the friendly navies," he said.

"Participation by the Indian Navy in the exercise demonstrates the shared values with friendly navies ensuring freedom of seas and commitment to an open, inclusive Indo-Pacific and a rules-based international order," Madhwal said.

Besides host France, the four other participants are members of the Quad or Quadrilateral coalition.

India has been expanding co-operation with navies of the US, Japan, Australia and France in the last few years.

Covid survivors rush to take the job

AGENCIES

New Delhi, April 5: As India witnesses a surge in Covid-19 case-loads, those who have survived the deadly disease and had antibodies for a certain period (up to six months) are now rushing to take the vital job in order to avoid reinfections, health experts said Monday.

Reinfection means a person once infected and recovered from the SARS-CoV2 virus -- the virus that causes Covid-19 -- gets infected again, according to the US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. As is the case with other viruses, a case of reinfection cannot be ruled out, the agency had noted.

If a person gets infected and recovers, the "natural infection immune response" can last for nearly six months, says the World Health Organisation (WHO). However, the "protection may not be lifelong", hence, vaccination is important.

"Emergence of the second wave of Covid in the country also raises questions about longevity of sustained immunity post Covid infection. Hence, it is advisable to take vaccine for people who were earlier diagnosed with Covid," Dr Harshal

R Salve, Associate Professor at the Centre for Community Medicine, AIIMS in New Delhi, told IANS.

Covid reinfection cases have been very rare in India.

According to a recent study conducted by the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR), nearly 45 per cent cases have been reported as reinfections. The study, forthcoming in the journal Epidemiology and Infection, examined 1,300 individuals who tested positive for the virus twice. Of these, only 58 or 4.5 per cent, were found as possible reinfections.

Another study, led by the University of Oxford in the UK, showed that people who once contracted Covid are "highly unlikely"

PM, HEALTH MIN TO INTERACT WITH CMs

NEW DELHI: Amid a surge in coronavirus cases, Prime Minister Narendra Modi will interact with chief ministers Thursday to discuss the COVID-19 situation and the ongoing vaccination drive, sources said Monday. Modi's last interaction with chief ministers was March 17 during which he had expressed concern over the rise in COVID-19 cases in parts of the country and called for "quick and decisive" steps to check the "emerging second peak". Sources said the meeting would take place April 8 from 6:30 PM. Ahead of the PM's interaction with chief ministers, Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan will Tuesday hold a meeting with health ministers of 11 states and Union Territories, which have been witnessing a surge in coronavirus cases, to review the situation there. These 11 states are Maharashtra, Chhattisgarh, Delhi, Gujarat, Haryana, Himachal Pradesh, Jharkhand, Karnataka, Madhya Pradesh, Punjab and Rajasthan.

to contract the disease again for at least six months. "Covid survivors can get the vaccine but this can be delayed for at least three months after recovering as the immunity last for 3-6 months. Later, vaccination is indicated for protection as well in case it happens for decreasing the severity, in case Covid happens," Neha Gupta, Infectious Diseases Specialist at Medanta-The Medicity, Gurgaon told IANS.

People with co-morbidities can be more at risk than the general population, revealed a recent study by PGI, Chandigarh. It showed that people suffering from Type 2 diabetes and those with the metabolic disease having no sufficient antibodies or low immunity levels after the first infection are at a greater risk of reinfection.

Globally, very few cases of reinfection have been confirmed. The first case was reported from Hong Kong in August 2020, where a 33-year-old man reportedly tested positive first in late March 2020. After making a full recovery with negative viral tests, he tested positive again for while travelling in mid-August.

A couple of cases from the United States, Belgium, Israel and Ecuador were also reported.

ASSAM POLLS

171 votes cast in booth that has only 90 voters

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Haflong (Assam), April 5: Total 171 votes were cast in a booth in Assam's Dima Hasao district, even though 90 people were eligible to exercise their franchise, officials said Monday, revealing a massive irregularity.

The booth is in the Haflong constituency, which went to the polls in the second phase April 1. Haflong witnessed 74 per cent polling.

As the incident came to light, the District Election Officer suspended five poll officials of the booth, set up at 107(A) Khotlir LP School, and proposed a re-poll.

However, the official order for re-election at the booth, an auxiliary polling station of the main voting centre at Mouldam LP School, is yet to be issued.

The suspension order by the Deputy Commissioner-cum-District Election Officer of Dima Hasao was issued April 2, the next day of polling, but it came to light on Monday morning.

Stating dereliction of duty, the EC suspended Seikhosiem Lhangum (Sector Officer), Prahlad Ch Roy (Presiding Officer), Parameswar Charangsa (1st Polling Officer), Swaraj Kanti Das (2nd Polling Officer) and Lalzamllo Thiek (3rd Polling Officer) with immediate effect.

The voters' list of the polling station had 90 names, but 171 votes were cast in the Electronic Voting Machine (EVM), officials told PTI.

The head of that interior village refused to accept the voters' list and brought a list of his own. Then, the people of the village voted according to that list, an official said.

It was not immediately known why the polling officials accepted the village head's demand and whether there was any security personnel present at the polling station or the role they played.

Another study, led by the University of Oxford in the UK, showed that people who once contracted Covid are "highly unlikely"

PLEA IN SC SEEKS UNIFORM RETIREMENT AGE FOR JUDGES

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, April 5: A PIL has been filed in the Supreme Court seeking a uniform retirement age for judges of both the apex court and the high courts.

The plea, moved by advocate Ashwini Upadhyay sought direction from the top court to the Centre to take steps to make the retirement age of judges of high courts and Supreme Court uniform, as it is irrational to have different retirement age for judges of constitutional courts.

Alternatively, being protector of right to speedy justice guaranteed under Article 21, the Court may use its plenary constitutional power to declare that the judges of high courts shall retire at the age of 65 years until Centre takes steps to reduce the pendency of cases from 15 to 3 years, the plea said.

The plea said in developed countries, the retirement age of higher court judges varies from 70-80 years. For example, judges retire at the age of 75 years in the UK and Canada and at the age of 70 in Australia, the Netherlands, Ireland, Belgium, and Norway. Moreover, judges work for lifetime in the US, Russia, New Zealand and Iceland, subject to their physical-mental fitness.

The plea contended that uniformity in the retirement age will not only necessary to reduce pendency of cases but it will also attract and retain the best legal talent on the bench. To reduce judicial and procedural errors, India needs more experienced judges, argued the petitioner.

At present, the retirement age for the apex court judges is 65 years whereas for the high court judges, it is 62 years. The plea argued that the judges of the high court will work independently, without any expectation to move to the top court, if retirement age is made uniform.

Finest lawyers don't want to become judges of the high courts because instead of continuously giving valuable services to the nation, high court judges are compelled to retire at a very early age i.e., 62 years, said the plea.

After Delhi, Tikait threatens tractor agitation in Gujarat

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Ahmedabad, April 5: Bhartiya Kisan Union leader Rakesh Tikait Monday threatened to start a farmers' tractor agitation in Gujarat after Delhi, and said time has come to gherao the state capital Gandhinagar and also break barricades if needed. Talking to reporters outside the Sabarmati Ashram here, Tikait claimed farmers in Gujarat were unhappy and suffering.

Hundreds of farmers have been camping at Delhi's borders since November last year against the Centre's three agriculture reform laws. They are demanding a repeal of the three laws along with a legal guarantee for Minimum Support Price (MSP) for their produce. The protesting farmers took out a tractor rally in Delhi January 26.

"Farmers will conduct an agitation in Gujarat using their tractors. Time has come to gherao Gandhinagar and block roads. If needed, we will have to break barricades too," Tikait said. The BKU leader is on a two-day tour of Gujarat since Sunday to campaign against the Centre's three farm laws.

On the second day of his visit, Tikait, accompanied by former Gujarat chief minister Shankersinh Vaghela, paid tributes to Mahatma Gandhi at the Sabarmati Ashram.

"Farmers are suffering because there is no agitation here. There is no backing from courts also. Farmers are compelled to say they are happy and making profit. Please give us that technology which is helping Gujarat's farmers to reap benefits," said Tikait.

How 'chimpanzee poop' is helping prevent Covid-19?

THE ASTRAZENECA VACCINE USES A REPLICATION-DEFICIENT CHIMPANZEE VIRAL VECTOR BASED ON A WEAKENED VERSION OF A COMMON COLD VIRUS (ADENOVIRUS) THAT CAUSES INFECTIONS IN CHIMPANZEES AND CONTAINS THE GENETIC MATERIAL OF THE SARS-COV-2 VIRUS SPIKE PROTEIN

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, April 5: The Oxford-AstraZeneca Covid-19 vaccine, a version of which is also being used in India, is made from an adenovirus isolated from chimpanzee poop, which has been genetically changed so that it is impossible for it to grow in humans.

Now known as Covid-19 Vaccine AstraZeneca, it was formerly called AZD1222. AZD1222 was co-invented by the University of Oxford and its spin-out company, Vaccitech. It uses a replication-deficient chimpanzee viral vector based on a weakened version of a common cold virus (adenovirus) that causes infections in chimpanzees and contains the genetic material of the SARS-CoV-2 virus spike protein.

After vaccination, the surface spike protein is produced, priming the immune system to attack the SARS-CoV-2 virus if it later infects the body.

The vaccine has been granted a conditional marketing authorisation or emergency use in more than 70 countries across six continents. The Serum Institute of India efforts against Covid-19 amid a renewed surge in the number of cases. The country registered 1,03,558 new coronavirus cases in the last 24 hours, the highest ever single-day spike since the onset of the pandemic last year, taking the total tally to 1,25,89,067 Monday.

(SII), the world's largest vaccine manufacturer by volume, is manufacturing a version of the Oxford-

Monday, the death toll increased to 1,65,101 with 478 new fatalities.

The number of people who have recovered from the disease surged to 1,16,82,136, while the case fatality rate stood at 1.31 per cent, according to official data. So far, 7.91 crore doses of Corona vaccine have been administered in the country since the drive began on January 16 after the approval for Covishield and Bharat Biotech's Covaxin.

The vaccination drive started for healthcare workers January 16, followed by vaccination for frontline workers from February 2. Later, persons aged 60 years and above and those in the age group of 45-59 years with identified 20 comorbidities were covered from March 1.

Subsequently, from April 1, all persons aged 45 years and above are eligible for Covid vaccination.

Deshmukh quits in a cloud

CM Uddhav Thackeray has appointed senior Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) leader, ex-Speaker and Labour Minister Dilip Walse-Patil as the new Home Minister

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Mumbai, April 5: Maharashtra Home Minister Anil Deshmukh has resigned from his post, hours after the Bombay High Court asked the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) to probe the corruption allegations levelled against him by former Mumbai Commissioner of Police Param Bir Singh, a top Nationalist Congress Party leader said here Monday.

Among the seniormost leaders in the state, Walse-Patil, 65, has been a 6-time MLA from Ambegaon in Pune district and served as the Speaker of Maharashtra Legislative Assembly from 2009-2014 within 15 days into Singh's allegations against Deshmukh.

March 30, the Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) government had appointed a high-level committee by a retired Bombay HC judge, Justice K U Chandiwala to probe the matter.

Meanwhile, Deshmukh rushed to New Delhi late this evening amid speculation that he would challenge the Bombay HC verdict in the Supreme Court.

Several BJP bigwigs including State party chief Chandrakant Patil, Leaders of Opposition Devendra Fadnis (Council) and Pravin Darekar, Sudhir Mungantiwar and others welcomed Deshmukh's move to resign from his post to ensure an impartial probe.

This is the second major setback for the ruling Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) in the past three months with a minister compelled to quit the cabinet.

February 28, the Forest Minister Sanjay Rathod had quit amid a huge row following the death of a Tik-Tok star Pooja Chavan (22) in Pune February 7. After the incident, the BJP threatened to withdraw its members from a joint panel of the Shakti Bill and disrupt the legislature proceedings during the Budget Session in March if Rathod continued in the ministry.

Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray has appointed senior Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) leader, ex-Speaker and Labour Minister Dilip Walse-Patil as the new Home Minister.

The CM also tweaked his cabinet by handing over the Labour department to Minister Hasan Mushrif, and State Excise portfolio to Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar.

Among the seniormost leaders in the state, Walse-Patil, 65, has been a 6-time MLA from Ambegaon in Pune district, has been a Minister with experience in handling diverse departments, and served as the Speaker of Maharashtra Legislative Assembly from 2009-2014.

Earlier, the high court verdict triggered off a high-level political drama in the state culminating in Deshmukh's resignation.

"Soon after the high court directives, Deshmukh met NCP President Sharad Pawar and offered to resign to ensure an impartial probe. After the nod, Deshmukh has gone to meet Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray to submit his resignation," NCP National Spokesperson and Minority Affairs Minister Nawab Malik told mediapersons.

In his resignation letter to the CM, Deshmukh said: "In the wake of the HC ruling, I feel it would be improper for me to continue in the post on ethical grounds. Hence, I have decided to voluntarily keep away from the post. Kindly relieve me from this responsibility."

The fast-paced development came shortly after a division bench comprising Chief Justice Dipankar Datta and Justice G S Kulkarni directed the CBI to conduct a 'preliminary probe'

NIA captures high-end bike

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, April 5: The NIA has seized a high-end bike, suspected to be registered in the name of an alleged woman associate of API Sachin Waze, arrested for his alleged role in planting an explosives-laden SUV near industrialist Mukesh Ambani's residence, an official said Monday.

Sleuths of the National Investigation Agency (NIA) brought the bike in a tempo to its office in south Mumbai Monday, he said.

The woman, an alleged associate of suspended assistant police inspector Waze, was questioned by the NIA Friday, sources said.

The probe agency had Thursday searched a flat in Mira Road area which was in the woman's possession, they said.

The NIA suspects she accompanied Waze to a city-based hotel February 16, before the explosives-laden SUV was found near Ambani's residence Antilia here February 25, the sources said.

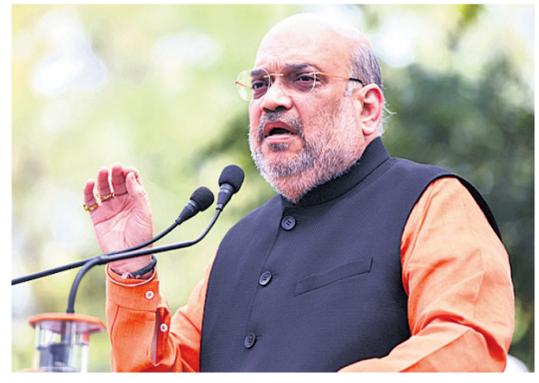

The NIA had earlier seized eight high-end vehicles used by Waze, who was arrested in the case last month.

The NIA is also conducting a probe into the death of Thane businessman Mansukh Hiran, who was in possession of the SUV before it was found with explosives near Ambani's house.

Hiran was found dead in a creek in Thane March 5.

Centre, state initiative

JOINT OFFENSIVE AGAINST MAOISTS

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, April 5: Unlike other issues, the BJP-led Central government in New Delhi and the Congress-headed state government in Chhattisgarh, are unanimous over their offensive against Maoists in the 'red corridor' of India.

Union Home Minister Amit Shah Monday said that the Centre will intensify counter-insurgency operations against Maoists following the massive loss of CRPF troopers in a gun-battle on Saturday. Though the BJP and the Congress remain national political rivals, the state's Bhupesh Baghel government has reinforced the same view as that of Shah.

Eighteen CRPF troopers had been missing after five security personnel were killed and 30 others injured Saturday in a fierce gun-battle with Maoists in a forest near the border between Bijapur and Sukma districts in Chhattisgarh. Sunday, bodies of 17 of the 18 troopers were recovered from the site, taking the toll up to 22.

Shah, who visited the state for the first time since he assumed charge as Home Minister in the Narendra Modi government, in a review meeting with the Baghel government, said: "I want to assure the country that this fight will not be stopped, rather it will continue with more intensity till the end. In this fight, our victory is definite in the end."

In the same vein, Chief Minister Baghel said the government was determined to set up security forces' strategic camps deeper into Maoist pockets.

However, there are some who feel otherwise. Take for example, former Director General of Police of UP, and Assam and Director General, BSF, Prakash Singh, whose book "The Naxalite Movement in India" covers the subject comprehensively.

Singh told IANS that both the government and the Maoists need to understand that the last 50 years of violence have not yielded anything. "Both sides can fight this war for another 100 years but it will only result in the loss of lives. It is not a simple law and order problem. Tribals have grievances - real or perceived - which need to be addressed. Some of their misgivings can be dispelled," Singh said.

The Maoist movement, many analysts believe, are an outcome of governmental apathy towards tribals, absence of land reforms, abject poverty, prolonged deprivation, unemployment, and overall, lack of good governance.

IAF to use AI tech for threat monitoring: Chief

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, April 5: Artificial Intelligence-assisted next-gen technologies would be employed for threat monitoring in the Indian Air Force's captive networks, including the current network upgrades, IAF chief Air Chief Marshal R K S Bhadauria said Monday.

If we intend to utilise AI heavily in combat aviation, we may need to redefine or even abandon some traditional principles. These principles are not strict or templated. Essentially different nations with different threat perceptions would have different requirements and this would have evolved over a period of time and experience, he said, at an Esymposium on Artificial Intelligence for Air Warriors organised by the FICCI here.

AI can give you models with impeccable logic to prove that the proposed solutions are the best, he added. Talking about Artificial Intelligence in air warfare, he said that it can bring enormous changes in the way air wars are fought in the aerospace domain.

On Artificial Intelligence in the force, Air Chief Marshal Bhadauria said Our entire inventory management has been computerised and digitised and we have already started to work on AI based formulation so as to come out with predictive maintenance or predictive threat scenario.

"We have started testing AI and AI-based applications on some projects which are at the different stages," he added.

On training strategy, the IAF chief said We have already working on effective training strategies where data recorders example are being used to identify outliers in pilot performance, be it in operations, exercises using AI techniques to determine the strong and weak points in terms of manoeuvring or overall orientation, etc.

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

They were deliberating upon how to combat obesity - through prevention and medications and therapies commonly used to treat allergies in a multi-disciplinary online seminar on 'Obesity and its Prevention, Allergic Diseases' organised by the Faculty of Medicine, Aligarh Muslim University (AMU).

We need to find ways to combine both the traditional and modern medicine systems for a major role in the fight against lifestyle diseases, said AMU Vice Chancellor, Prof Tariq Mansoor. Iran seeks 'constructive' move from EU members of 2015 nuke agreement

Parties to the Iran nuclear deal have agreed to convene in Austria Tuesday to discuss ways to bring the deal back to life

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Tehran, April 5 : Iranian Foreign Minister Mohammad Javad Zarif has urged European participants of the 2015 nuclear agreement to maintain a "constructive" attitude in the meeting scheduled to take place Tuesday in Vienna. Zarif made the demand in a telephone conversation with his British counterpart Dominic Raab, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs said in an online report Sunday.

The two diplomats discussed the latest developments related to the deal, officially known as the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JCPOA) in the call, held at Raab's request.

Zarif reiterated Tehran's position that Iran will return to its JCPOA obligations after the "illegal and unjust" sanctions imposed by the US are "completely and definitively" lifted and verified by the Islamic Republic.

Raab said, according to the report, that his country will make efforts for the negotiations to bear fruits. Parties to the Iran nuclear deal have agreed to convene in Austria

Tuesday to discuss ways to bring the deal back to life.

US State Department spokesman Ned Price confirmed that American representatives will attend the meeting, adding that the country remains "open to" direct talks with Iran.

But, Iran has ruled out any "direct or indirect" contacts with US representatives in Vienna.

The two countries are in a stand-off over reviving the nuclear deal.

The Joe Biden administration has said that if Iran returns to full compliance with the JCPOA, Washington would do the same.

But Iran insists its full compliance will only take place once US sanctions are removed.

The deal was reached in 2015 between Iran and the US, the UK, Russia, France, China, Germany and the European Union.

Iran gradually stopped implementing parts of its JCPOA commitments from May 2019, one year after the administration of former US President Donald Trump unilaterally abandoned the agreement and re-imposed sanctions against Iran.

Myanmar protesters challenge military

Myanmar, April 5: Demonstrators in Myanmar held protests demanding the restoration of Aung San Suu Kyi's government Monday and called for more coordinated nationwide dissent against the military junta, as regional nations prepared for talks on the crisis.

At least 564 people, including 47 children, have been killed by security forces during protests against the Feb. 1 coup, an activist group has said.

The movement has included street marches, a civil disobedience campaign of strikes and quirky acts of rebellion organised on social media.

Activists called for a nationwide clap later Monday in appreciation of those ethnic minority armed groups that are supporting the democratic cause, and young demonstrators who have been at the vanguard of protests, trying to shield or rescue people wounded by security forces.

"Let's clap for five minutes on April 5, 5 p.m. (10:30 GMT) to honour Ethnic Armed Organisations and Gen Z defence youths from Myanmar including Yangon who are fighting in the revolution... on behalf of us," Ei Thinzar Maung, a protest leader, posted on Facebook.

Besides the brutal crackdown on street protests, the junta has sought to suppress the campaign by shutting down wireless broadband and mobile data services.

Israel PM appears in court to face corruption charges

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Jerusalem, April 5 : Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu was back in court for his corruption trial Monday as the country's political parties were set to weigh in on whether he should form the next government after a closely divided election or step down to focus on his legal woes.

Between witness testimony in a Jerusalem courtroom and the consultations at the president's office across town, it promised to be a day of extraordinary political drama, bringing into sharp focus on Netanyahu's increasingly desperate efforts to stay in power.

He is Israel's longest-serving prime minister and has clung to power through four hard-fought elections in less than two years, even as he has faced allegations of bribery, fraud and breach of trust.

The March 23 election was largely a referendum on his leadership but produced no clear verdict.

Israel's political parties, meanwhile, began meeting with President Reuven Rivlin to recommend which candidate should be tasked with forming the next government.

AFTER BATTLING A HISTORIC PANDEMIC IN FY 2020-21, THE INDIAN ECONOMY IS POISED TO BUILD BACK BETTER AND STRONGER AS IS REFLECTED IN THE MOVEMENT OF SEVERAL HIGH-FREQUENCY INDICATORS

Press Trust of India

New Delhi, April 5: Having successfully managed the first wave of the coronavirus pandemic, India is well prepared to combat the scourge of the second wave, the Finance Ministry's monthly economic report said. The report further said high-frequency data indicates that India is on the path to become better and stronger. "After battling a historic pandemic in FY 2020-21, the Indian economy is poised to build back better and stronger as is reflected in the movement of several high-frequency indicators. Instrumental in this resilient comeback will be a strong revival in investment growth supported by the AtmaNirbharBharat Mission and a massive boost to infrastructure and capital expenditure provided for in the Union Budget 2021-22," the report said. The rise in daily new cases since mid February marks the onset of second wave of Covid-19 infection in India, the report said, adding the country "has, however, been able to delay the onset of the second wave - the gap between the first peak to start of the second wave has been 151 days in India while it was much lower in other countries." At this juncture of the onset of the second wave, the report said, India is well prepared to combat the scourge of the virus. "The wheels of India's capex cycle have been set into motion, signs of which are imminent in the second half of the year. As the vaccination drive continuously upscales in India and guided by the learnings of India's successful management of pandemic during its first wave, India is now well armed to combat any downside risk posed by the recent surge in Covid-19 cases," the report said. With the end of a challenging 2020-21, the crest of a brighter and self-reliant 2021-22 awaits India, the Finance Ministry report said. The fiscal position of the Centre has witnessed improvement in the recent months due to a revival in the economic activities, it said. "During April 2020 to February 2021, the Centre's fiscal deficit stood at ₹14.05 lakh crore, which is 76% of Revised Estimate 2020-21. Net Tax Revenue of the Central Government for 2020-21 is set to overshoot the RE despite 41% higher income tax refunds this year," it said. To share the revenue buoyancy seen in Q4 2020-21 and in the true spirit of fiscal federalism, an amount of ₹45,000 crore has been released as additional devolution to states in 2020-21, an increase of 8.2% over RE, it said.

Seoul/New Delhi, April 5: LG Electronics said Monday that it will withdraw from the mobile business after years of money-losing performance amid intensifying competition with bigger rivals. The South Korean tech powerhouse said in a regulatory filing that its mobile communications (MC) unit will no longer produce and sell handsets after July 31, citing its long slump and fierce competition in the industry. The decision came two months after the company said its MC division is open to "all possibilities" for its future operations. LG's mobile business has been in the red since the second quarter of 2015. Its accumulated operating losses reached 5 trillion won (US$4.4 billion) last year. LG, once the world's third-largest handset maker, reportedly had talks with Vingroup of Vietnam and Volkswagen of Germany to sell the mobile business, but the talks fell through, according to industry insiders.

Manufacturing activities ease in March: Survey

AGENCIES

New Delhi, April 5: India's manufacturing sector activities lost further growth momentum and fell to a seven-month low in March as demand was constrained by the escalation of the Covid-19 pandemic, a monthly survey said Monday.

The seasonally adjusted IHS Markit India Manufacturing Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) fell from 57.5 in February to a seven-month low of 55.4 in March. However, the latest reading was indicative of a substantial improvement in the health of the sector that outpaced the long-run series average, it said. In PMI parlance, a print above 50 means expansion while a score below 50 denotes contraction.

"Production, new orders and input buying expanded at softer rates," said Pollyanna De Lima, Economics Associate Director at IHS Markit. Lima further noted that "survey participants indicated that demand growth was constrained by the escalation of the Covid-19 pandemic, while the rise in input buying was curtailed by an intensification of cost pressures." "With Covid-19 restrictions expanded and lockdown measures re-introduced in many states, Indian manufacturers look set to experience a challenging month in April," Lima said. India recorded an all-time high of 1,03,558 coronavirus infections in a day pushing the nationwide Covid-19 tally to 1,25,89,067, according to the Union Health Ministry data updated Monday.

GNPAs of banks may rise to 9.6-9.7% by March-end: Report

AGENCIES

Mumbai, April 5: As the impact of various relief measures, including a moratorium on loan repayment and asset classification standstill wanes off, gross non-performing assets of banks may likely rise to 9.6-9.7% by March 31, 2021, says a report. According to Ica Ratings, GNPAs (gross non-performing assets) of banks may worsen further to 9.9-10.2% by March 31, 2022.

The rating agency, in a report, said despite the impact of the Covid-19 pandemic on the debt servicing ability of borrowers, the gross fresh slippages for banks stood much lower at ₹1.8 lakh crore during the first nine months of fiscal 2020-21 as compared to ₹3.6 lakh crore during the financial year 2020.

This has been driven by various relief measures such as the moratorium on loan repayment, a standstill on asset classification and liquidity extended to borrowers under Guaranteed Emergency Credit Line (GECL), the agency said. "As the impact of these interventions wanes off, the asset quality pressures are likely to resurface. We expect the GNPAs (excluding write-offs) to rise to 9.6-9.7% by March 31, 2021, and 9.9-10.2% by March 31, 2022, from 8.6% as on March 31, 2020," the report said. As of December 31, 2020, the GNPA and NNPA (net non-performing assets) of the banks stood at 8.3% and 2.7% as of December 31, 2020, as compared to 8.6% and 3% respectively as of March 31, 2020.

The agency's Anil Gupta, sector head (financial sector ratings), said while the headline asset quality and restructuring numbers are encouraging, these don't reflect the underlying stress on the asset quality of banks. "The level of loans in overdue categories has increased after upliftment of moratorium and the impact on asset quality will be spread over FY2021 and FY2022 as various interventions and relief measures have prevented a large one-time hit on profitability and capital of banks," Gupta said. The report, however, said the net NPA position of the banks is expected to be relatively lower because of significant provisions made by banks on their legacy NPAs.

'Housing sales up 44% in Jan-Mar 2021 across eight cities'

AGENCIES

New Delhi, April 5: Sales of residential properties across eight major cities grew 44% in the January-March period this year to nearly 72,000 units as demand recovered, according to Knight Frank India. Mumbai Metropolitan Region (MMR) and Pune performed well on the back of the Maharashtra government's decision to reduce stamp duty. "71,963 units were sold during Q1 2021, 44% more than in Q1 2020. This healthy growth in sales also encouraged developers to launch new projects which are reflected in the 76,006 units launched during the quarter, substantial growth of 38% y-o-y," Knight Frank India said in a statement.

Some of the measures implemented last year, like order-booking through our call centre and WhatsApp, have been stepped up. We have also increased the frequency of supplies to distributors and outlets in the impacted markets to tide over any potential impact," he said.

Arvind Mediratta, MD and CEO, METRO Cash and Carry India said: "We have absorbed all the learnings from the past year with respect to disruption in supply chain and evolving consumption and buying behaviour of customers. We are now better equipped to ensure enough stock availability for our customers, especially the kiranas. We also have our e-commerce app for convenient online

As a proactive measure, we have ramped up our production levels and are building optimal inventory levels across multiple points in our supply chain from factories to warehouses across the country," Godrej Consumer Products CEO - India & SAARC Sunil Kataria said. Apart from the weekend lockdown in Maharashtra, strict restrictions came into force from Monday 8pm onwards under which shopping malls, bars, restaurants, small shops will be open only for take-aways and parcels. Saloons and beauty parlours will also remain closed in the state. The daily rise in Covid-19 cases in India crossed the grim milestone of one-lakh from 20,000 infections in just 25 days, unlike last year when it took 76 days for daily cases to reach the then peak of 97,894 on September 17, reflecting the speed at which the virus is spreading. AGENCIES

New Delhi, April 5: Online food delivery platform Swiggy is close to raise $800 million (about ₹5,862 crore) in funding, with investors Falcon Edge Capital, Amansa Capital, Think Investments, Carmignac and Goldman Sachs joining as new investors, that will take its valuation to nearly $5 billion. Singapore-based GIC Private Ltd and the Qatar Investment Authority (QIA) are also likely to participate in the ongoing funding round at a later stage, people aware of the deal revealed. Swiggy was valued at $3.7 billion when it raised funds in February last year. The fresh fundraising comes at a time when Zomato is planning for a $750 million-$1 billion IPO later this year.

MAN UNITED FIGHT BACK

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Manchester, April 5: Mason Greenwood completed a strong comeback by Manchester United in a 2-1 win over Brighton that strengthened the team's grip on second place in the Premier League.

While Manchester City is all but certain to capture the league title, Ole Gunnar Solskjaer's side is looking to underline its progress by finishing as runner-up and going all the way in the Europa League.

Brighton made life difficult and United academy graduate Danny Welbeck put the visitors on course Sunday for their first-ever league victory at Old Trafford, only for Marcus Rashford and Greenwood to reply in the second half.

This match was far less dramatic than United's 3-2 win in September's reverse fixture — when Bruno Fernandes converted a penalty after the final whistle — but Brighton made the hosts work hard for its victory.

United consolidated second place and is four points ahead of third-place Leicester and 11 ahead of Tottenham in fifth.

Dean Henderson was chosen ahead of David De Gea in goal for United and did well to repel a point-blank header from Welbeck, only for the striker to direct home the rebound in the 13th minute.

Rashford provided a smart, angled finish from Fernandes' pass to make it 1-1 in the 62nd. Brighton's penalty appeals fell on deaf ears after Harry Maguire appeared to pull back Welbeck close to the goal, before Greenwood's diving header from Paul Pogba's mishit shot completed the recovery in the 83rd.

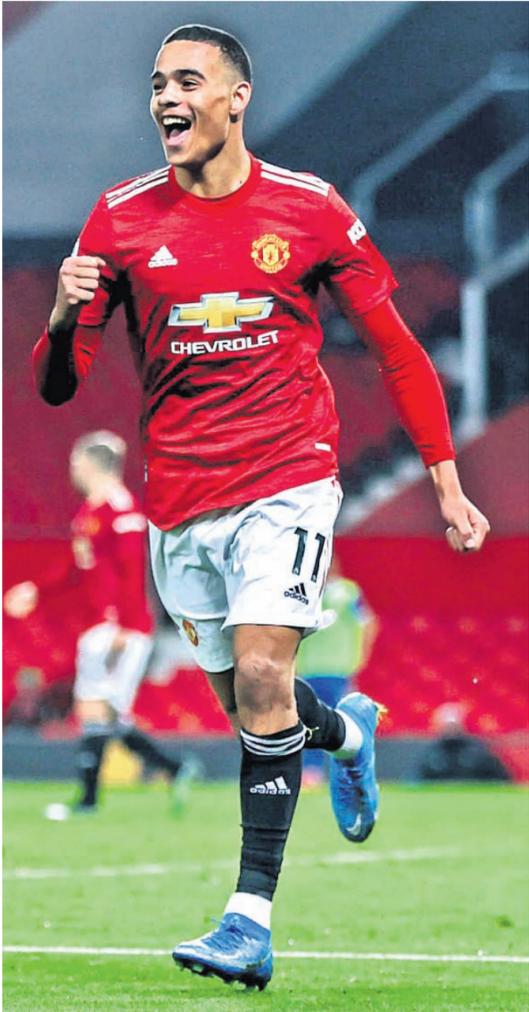

Earlier, Tottenham caved in again, conceding an 85th-minute goal to draw 2-2 at Newcastle and stay outside the top four.

If Jose Mourinho's team could see out victories, it could likely already start planning for life in next season's Champions League. After all, Spurs have dropped 11 points because of goals conceded in the final 10 minutes of games this season, the most of any Premier League side.

As it is, Tottenham is in fifth place — two points behind fourth-place Chelsea — and engaged in a furious tussle with perhaps six rivals for the final qualification positions for Europe's elite competition.

It was the northeast club that converted a contentiously awarded, stoppage-time penalty to somehow secure a 1-1 draw at Tottenham Hotspur Stadium in September.

On this occasion, it was Joe Willock — a player on loan from Tottenham's fierce rival, Arsenal — who grabbed the late equalizer, after Harry Kane's double cancelled out the opening goal from Joelinton.

Tottenham have failed to win six games this season in which it led at half time. That is also the most of any team.

FULHAM COLLAPSE

With 77 minutes gone in its match at Aston Villa, Fulham was leading 1-0 and heading out of the relegation zone at the expense of Newcastle. Within four minutes, Scott Parker's team was behind and starting at another week in the bottom at least.

Trezeguet, a second-half substitute, scored in the 78th and 81st minutes before Ollie Watkins added a third in a 3-1 win for Villa, which was again without captain and star player Jack Grealish. Third-to-last Fulham dropped three points behind Newcastle.

SOUTHAMPTON ALMOST SAFE

Southampton's top-flight status looks to be safe for another season after coming from behind to beat Burnley 3-2. Ten points now separate Southampton from Fulham, which only has seven games left.

Nathan Redmond completed the comeback in a thriller at St. Mary's Stadium with a 66th-minute volley, following strikes before half-time by Stuart Armstrong and Danny Ings.

Burnley had gone 2-0 ahead thanks to a penalty by Chris Wood, who then set up Matej Vydra for the second. Southampton climbed up to 13th place. Burnley are seven points clear of Fulham.

Hurkacz clinches Miami Open title

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Miami, April 5: With the Big Three absent at the Miami Open, and the next generation in tennis scrambling to fill the void, it was Hubert Hurkacz of Poland who made a breakthrough.

The 24-year-old Hurkacz won the biggest title of his career by beating 19-year-old Jannik Sinner of Italy 7-6(7-4), 6-4 in Sunday's final.

Hurkacz improved to 10-0 in Florida this year, including the Delray Beach title in January. Ranked 37th, he is projected to climb to a career-high 16th in next week's rankings.

The matchup in the final was a surprise even though Novak Djokovic, Rafa Nadal and Roger Federer skipped the tournament, as did reigning US Open champion Dominic Thiem.

Hurkacz eliminated No.2-seeded

Stefanos Tsitsipas and No.4 Andrey Rublevbeat — the first time he has beaten two top 10 opponents in the same tournament.

Hurkacz was poised early while playing his first final in the top-level ATP series, the Masters 1000. In the first set, he raced to a 3-0 lead, briefly fell behind and then played a solid tie-breaker, closing it out by winning a 25-stroke rally.

Sinner, playing in just his third Masters 1000 tournament, wobbled serving at 6-5 in the first set and was broken at love. He lost his serve twice more to fall behind 4-0 in the second set. Hurkacz returned well and broke four times as he became Poland's first Masters 1000 champion.

World No.1 Ash Barty won her second successive Miami title Saturday when Bianca Andreescu retired in the final because of a foot injury while trailing 6-3, 4-0.

ATLETICO LOSE IN LA LIGA

Valencia walk off the field in racism protest

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Madrid, April 5: On a day dominated by Valencia saying it felt threatened into resuming their interrupted game after an alleged racial insult, Atletico Madrid risked seeing its once-comfortable Spanish league lead cut to a point after losing to Sevilla.

Valencia stopped playing at Cadiz Sunday and walked off the field before halftime after defender Mouctar Diakhaby said he was insulted by Cadiz defender Juan Cala.

Fourth-place Sevilla beat Atletico 1-0, opening the door for Barcelona to inch closer to the top with a win at home against relegation-threatened Valladolid Monday.

The loss left Diego Simeone's team only three points ahead of second-place Real Madrid, who beat Eibar 2-0 Saturday to tighten the race for the title entering the final stretch.

Barcelona now depend on their own results to lift the trophy, as they will host Atletico in May.

RACISM ACCUSATION

At Cadiz, Cala denied any wrongdoing and was defended by teammates and coach Alvaro Cervera. The team resumed the game after more than 20 minutes. Valencia said their players felt threatened after the referee told them about the potential consequences of not returning to the field — which would be the likely loss of points.

It had earlier said the decision to return was made after a request to do so by Diakhaby, who is Black. Cadiz scored late to win the match 2-1.

Fakhar Zaman's controversial run out in 2nd ODI vs SA

It's up to umpires to decide if de Kock was at fault: MCC

De Kock smiles, while Fakhar looks dejected after his run out

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

London, April 5: Pakistan's Fakhar Zaman's contentious run-out in the second ODI against South Africa has sparked a debate on spirit of the game with Marylebone Cricket Club saying it was "up to the umpires to decide" if Quinton de Kock had attempted to mislead the batsman.

In a stiff chase of 342, Zaman smashed a spectacular 193 in a losing cause as the batsman was run out in a controversial fashion involving South Africa wicketkeeper de Kock.

The stumper pointed his finger towards Lungi Ngidi but the ball was, in fact, thrown by Aiden Markram towards the keeper's end and it was a direct hit. Zaman had slowed down his pace at the end of his second run and could not make it back into his crease.

Replays showed that de Kock had seemed to convince Zaman into believing that the throw was going to the non-striker's end.

Waqar Younis and fast bowler Shoaib Akhtar questioned the South African's act.

"What a master inning by @FakharZaman. Treat to watch. Single handedly brought the game here. Sad end to the inning. Deserved a 200. Was the spirit of the game compromised by South Africa & @QuinnyDeKock69 in that run out?" Akhtar asked in a tweet.

Waqar wrote on his twitter handle, "Record breaking inning. Simply Outstanding @FakharZamanLive. What about this cheeky giggle from Quinton tells you?"

ICC Law 41.5 says: "Deliberate distraction, deception or obstruction of batsman. 41.5.1 in addition to 41.4 states it is unfair for any fielder willfully to attempt, by word or action, to distract, deceive or obstruct either batsman after the striker has received the ball."

However, the Pakistani opener, who achieved the highest score by a batsman in an ODI chase, refused to blame de Kock.

"The fault was mine as I was too busy looking out for Haris Rauf at the other end as I felt he'd started off a little late from his crease, so I thought he was in trouble. The rest is up to the match referee, but I don't think it's Quinton's fault."

"I played a very good innings but it would have been better if we had won the match," Fakhar said after the game. South African captain Temba Bavuma said de Kock's act was "quite clever".

"You've always got to look for ways especially when things are not going your way, got to find ways to turn momentum around. Quinny did that," Bavuma said. "I don't think he broke the rules in any kind of way. It was a clever piece of cricket."

Many in the Pakistan cricket circles blamed de Kock for "deliberately distracting" Zaman, leading to his dismissal. Former captain

PACE CONCERNS ADDRESSED, BUT SPIN STILL A CONCERN FOR KINGS

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 5: With a new name and a stronger squad, Punjab Kings will be hoping for a change of fortunes this season after spending big money on addressing their death bowling concerns and beefing up a not-so-inspiring middle-order.

Punjab Kings finished sixth last season but missed out on a play-off spot narrowly after bouncing back strongly with five wins on the trot.

They lost games they should have won and if that controversial short run call did not go against them in their tournament-opener against Delhi Capitals, they would have ended up sneaking into the top-four.

Lack of support to lead pacer Mohammed Shami and the big-hitting Glenn Maxwell not firing also hurt their chances, areas they feel they have addressed this season.

Here is a look at the team that will open their campaign April 12 against Rajasthan Royals in Mumbai.

STRENGTHS

Punjab Kings have one of the strongest batting line-ups this season. They have a dangerous opening pairing in skipper KL Rahul, who won the 'Orange Cap' last season, and the ever-reliable Mayank Agarwal.

Universe Boss Chris Gayle, who hammered 288 runs in seven games at a strike rate of 137.14 last year, is expected to start from game one this time after warming the bench in the initial part of the 2020 edition.

Include flamboyant wicketkeeper-batsman Nicholas Pooran to the mix and the top four seems sorted. They have also roped in the services of the World's No.1 T20 batsman Dawid Malan, seen as Gayle's back-up.

After Maxwell's expected departure, the middle-order has been strengthened with the arrival of all-rounder Moises Henriques and Tamil Nadu batsman Shahruxh Khan.

Deepak Hooda has also proven he can strike the ball hard and is experienced enough to play the role of the finisher. In Fabian Allen, Punjab Kings have another overseas all-rounder option.

The pace attack has boosted by the signing of Australian speedsters Jhye Richardson and Riley Meredith, who had a sensational Big Bash campaign. Alongside Mohammad Shami and England's Chris Jordan the quartet makes for a formidable fast bowling unit.

WEAKNESSES

Punjab Kings' biggest weakness is the lack of quality spinners. They released off-spinner K Gowtham, who ended up becoming the most expensive buy ever at the latest auction.

Coach Anil Kumble (R) and assistant coach Andy Flower during Punjab Kings' practice session ahead of IPL 2021

The likes of Murugan Ashwin and young Ravi Bishnoi, who impressed last season, will be expected to deliver. They have added Lalaj Saxena, who is a highly experienced domestic player and picked up 10 wickets in the Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy earlier this year at an excellent economy rate of 6.26.

But with no internationally successful players in the spin department, it remains the weakest link. The team also don't have another India pacer of the calibre of Shami.

OPPORTUNITIES

Punjab Kings are yet to win an IPL title. With most of their bases covered on paper, they seem like strong contenders this year. This season is the perfect opportunity for Rahul and his men to get their hands on their maiden title, having charted out a three-year plan under his leadership and coach Anil Kumble's guidance.

The league will also provide Rahul much-needed match practice ahead of the T20 World Cup. The generally calm and composed wicketkeeper-batsman looked out of sorts in the T20 series against England.

THREATS

Shami, who fractured his wrist in Australia last year, has not played cricket in four months. With the national team's workload management to be kept in mind in a busy year, it remains to be seen if he plays all league games. He had a memorable run last year with 20 wickets and the team's success will depend a lot on his performance.

Stadium live show for RR jersey launch

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Jaipur, April 5: Rajasthan Royals organised a stadium live show here to launch their jersey for the IPL beginning April 9. The IPL starts in Chennai Friday.

The Sawai Mansingh Stadium was taken over by a 3D projection and light show as Rajasthan Royals players revealed their jersey for the 2021 season.

An audio-visual show was live broadcast from the stadium to fans around the world and players of the Rajasthan Royals team in their bi-bubble in Mumbai.

"The show was a celebration of everything that the Royals fans hold dear to their heart — the stadium, the city of Jaipur, the Rajasthani culture and landscape — as well as a reflection of how the franchise's association with Red Bull is helping them move forward at rapid pace, bringing out new ideas and helping the team grow," RR said in a release.

RR are the inaugural edition winners. South African all-rounder and IPL's most expensive auction buy, Chris Morris said, "Unbelievable reveal of the new jersey. From 2015 till now the jersey has changed a lot since the last time I played for Royals, and it is a beautiful jersey."
