Covid cell to monitor schools

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Sept 8: With the number of Covid-19 infections rising in some schools across the state, the Odisha government has constituted a special cell to monitor the cases, officials said Wednesday. The Odisha School Education Programme Authority (OSEPA) has issued an order for this purpose. As per the order, a Covid-19 monitoring cell has been constituted in the office of the state project director (SPD), OSEPA.

The officials engaged in the cell will collect the daily attendance of the Classes – IX, X, XI, XII and monitor various Covid-19 related incidents in the districts. They will then submit reports on a daily basis to SPD, OSEPA.

The government has also asked all district education officers (DEOs) to constitute a Covid-19 monitoring cell at the district-level as soon as possible. All the DEOs have been asked to appoint a senior person as Covid compliance officer. These officers will ensure implementation of Covid-19 protocols in the schools.

"If any Covid-19 related incident occurs in the district, it will be reported on that very day to the undersigned without delay," the OSEPA order said.

Meanwhile, School and Mass Education principal secretary, Satyabrata Sahu issued Wednesday a fresh SOP for the functioning of schools. In a letter sent to all DEOs, Sahu said teachers will have to ensure that students coming to schools must wear masks. Anyone without mask will not be allowed to enter. Also it has to be ensured that students do not take off their masks for lengthy periods during classes.

"We are extremely glad to know that the Armed Forces took the decision to induct women into the NDA. We know that reforms cannot happen in a day. The government will place timelines of the process and the course of action," a Supreme Court bench comprising Justice SK Kaul and Justice MIM Sundresh, said. The bench was hearing a petition for allowing women to take NDA and Naval Academy exams.

SUPREME COURT BENCH

Additional Solicitor General Aishwarya Bhati, appearing for the Centre, told the bench that a decision has been taken at the highest level of the Armed Forces as also the government that females will be inducted for permanent commission through the NDA.

The ASG sought the apex court's permission to place the details on record through an affidavit and sought status quo in this year's exams as they need procedural and infrastructural changes.

equality instead of court directing them to do so.

Wednesday's announcement comes less than a month after the Supreme Court, in a landmark interim order, said women can sit for the NDA admission exam, which has been rescheduled for November 14.

The apex court was hearing a plea filed by advocate Kush Kalra which raised the issue of exclusion of eligible and willing female candidates from joining the prestigious National Defence Academy (NDA) solely on the ground of sex which allegedly is a violation of fundamental right of equality.

The plea said the authorities allow unmarried male candidates having adequate 10+2 qualification to take the 'National Defence Academy and Naval Academy' examination. However, eligible and willing female candidates are not allowed to take the examination on the sole ground of their sex and without any reasonable or justifiable explanations within the Constitution.

It alleged that this act of discrimination is a 'dishonour committed' by the concerned authorities to the Constitutional values of equality and non-discrimination.

MINING SCAM ROCKS ASSEMBLY

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Sept 8: Opposition BJP and Congress stalled Assembly proceedings and gheraoed Speaker Surya Narayan Patro in his chamber for rejecting an adjournment notice on mining scam, here Wednesday. The Congress had moved the notice for a discussion on the mining scam in Odisha. However, the speaker turned it down.

The pre-lunch session saw no business as the Congress and BJP members rushed to the Well of the House protesting against the Speaker's refusal to allow the adjournment motion. Their actions forced the Speaker to adjourn the Assembly twice till 4 pm.

As soon as the House assembled for the day at 10.30am, Congress members protested against the rejection of the adjournment notice. BJP members also stood up on their seats and created ruckus on the floor forcing Patro to adjourn the proceedings till 11.30am. The Opposition members also gheraoed the chamber of Speaker and did not allow him to come to the House to conduct business. Since Patro could not make it to the House after the first adjournment, Deputy Speaker Rajani Kant Singh adjourned the House till 4.00pm.

Now, Lord's darshan Saturday too

PNN/AGENCIES

Puri, Sept 8: The Shree Jagannath Temple Administration (SJTA) Wednesday decided to extend the 'darshan' timing by two more hours and allow devotees to visit the 12th century shrine Saturday.

While the devotees were allowed to have darshan of the sibling deities - Lord Balabhadra, Devi Subhadra and Lord Jagannath - from 7 am to 7 pm earlier, now the closing timing will be 9 pm.

As the state government has lifted the weekend shutdown provision from Puri town, the SJTA decided to keep the temple open Saturday also. However, the shrine will remain closed Sunday for sanitisation in view of the Covid-19 situation.

The temple reopened for the people August 23 after remaining closed for about four months in view of the second wave of the pandemic.

The decisions were taken at a meeting held here under the chairmanship of Srimandir chief administrator Krishan Kumar to review and revise the SOP notified August 11 for reopening of the shrine. The meeting was attended by the senior officials, including Puri Collector and SP, and serv-

"The new SOP will come into force from September 13. The issue will be reviewed again for the month of November 2021 or as required from time to time" Kumar said.

As per the decisions, the temple will also remain closed on major festivals in order to avoid any spike in transmission of Covid-19 on account of large gathering, the new SOP said.

The temple will remain closed September 10 (Ganesh Chaturthi), September 17 (Bamana Janma, Sunia & Biswakarma Puja), October 6 (Mahalaya), October 15 (Dussehra) and October 20 (Kumar Purnima).

As per the general guideline, it is mandatory for all devotees to wear masks at all times, inside and outside the temple, sanitize their hands before entering into the temple, maintain physical distance and follow Covid appropriate behaviour.

The SJTA also urged the devotees not to touch statues or idols inside the temple. Lighting of deepas (lamps) inside the temple at the designated place by the devotees will be permitted and the devotees were permitted to carry flowers/bhoga inside the temple but such items shall be placed at pre-designated places as earmarked by the temple administration.

The new SOP also allowed devotees to partake Mahaprasad at a designated place inside Ananda Bazar while it banned carrying polythene bags inside the temple. A fine of Rs 100 will be levied for each violation.

There will be a separate queue for differently-abled devotees, for darshan of the Lords, it said, adding that senior citizens, children, persons having co-morbidities and pregnant women are advised not to visit the temple in view of the prevailing Covid-19 situation.

"All devotees visiting the temple will have to produce the final certificate for Covid-19 vaccination (of having taken two doses) or Covid-19 negative certificate (RT-PCR) obtained within 96 hours prior to their visit to the temple," the SOP said, adding that all devotees will be required to bring their photo ID card.

Good Intention Always Brings Victory

My Esteemed Investors & Kartavyayogi Worker Friends,

For past some days, some unscrupulous elements have been propagating that our organization is not making repayments to our esteemed investors. In this regard, it is to be informed that repayments are being made to the esteemed investors but certainly there has been a situation of delayed repayments. However, in case of delay the esteemed investors are being paid interest for the delayed period.

Why Delay In Payment

Due to the embargo imposed by Hon'ble Supreme Court that if Sahara Group sells or mortgages any of its property, then the money generated through this goes to Sahara-SEBI account and not even one rupee can be used for public repayment.

This way our amount with interest deposited in Sahara-SEBI account has been more than ₹24,000 crore while SEBI after advertising in around 150 newspapers throughout the country for 4 times could pay only around ₹150 crore in over the last 8 years.

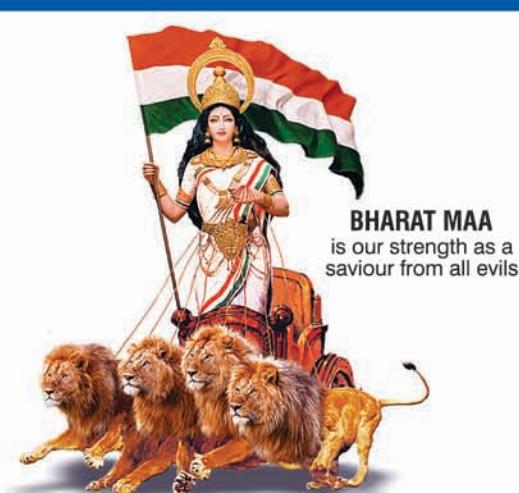

It is a typical case of double payment of single liability.

Our Intention

Sahara India Pariwar is one such organization whose management has openly been putting its inconveniences and problems before its esteemed investors and workers from time to time. We deem it our responsibility to keep you apprised of the prevailing situations. Our intention has never ever been wrong. In 44 years of its existence, barring the last eight years when there has been a situation of delayed payments because of the embargo by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sahara-SEBI case, no one's payment was delayed before nor will it be delayed in future. If our intentions had been wrong, we would have adopted an escapist attitude in the year 2014 when the organization was suddenly struck by enormous problems. We could have hastily sold our assets at throw away prices and got ourselves free from all our problems by depositing money with SEBI. But we didn't do so considering the best interests of our organization, our esteemed investors and our workers. In the past, assets of many companies were taken over by the Government, yet even after that the esteemed investors couldn't get even a single rupee back in more than two decades. It means all your payments have to be made by Sahara India Pariwar only.

Overseas-Air Services

In my last address I told you in detail how our business activities had been affected due to Corona pandemic in last one and half year, and how we couldn't complete our those projects through which we expected to get get money from, to repay our esteemed investors. I had also said that if the situation got normal and business operations around the world were back on track after recovering from the Corona pandemic, we would be in a position to repay in the months of July, August and September, 2021. At that time we had hoped that overseas travel will restart, but it didn't happen and even today, international air travel has not resumed. Now the Government of India has extended the curtailment of international flying till 30th September.

I had told you that most of our business transactions had happened overseas from which we would have received sufficient funds. But due to Corona, our representatives and those of other countries are not able to visit each other and the agreements are not getting finalized. Hence, we are not able to get adequate funds.

₹24,000 Crore

I had also told you the places, including the Sahara-SEBI account (more than ₹24,000 crores), where our funds were stuck. We assumed there would be progress in this direction and we would get our money that we were to use to make payments to our esteemed investors, but the adverse circumstances kept coming in our way. Due to Corona we didn't get a date of hearing from the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the last 14 months. Despite all these things our efforts are going on.

We are hopeful that the situation will normalize soon and our business activities will speed up again, which will take our deals to finalization and we will get enough money that will enable us to provide relief to all.

Because of the prevailing circumstances, at present we are not in a position to tell you how long it will take to happen.

However, we assure you that your payment is our responsibility which we will fulfill at all cost and by all means and very soon we will be before you with good news.

My regards to all the elders and loving blessings to the younger ones!

Always Yours,

Dead drawing wages in Malkangiri

POST NEWS NETWORK

Malkangiri, Sept 8: Dummy job cards were made in the names of deceased persons indicating massive irregularities in the implementation of rural job scheme at Padmagiri and Udupa panchayats under Sadar block in this district, a report said.

Parimal Biswas, a native of MV-102 village in Padmagiri panchayat, passed away in 2007. However, a job card still exists in his name and in the names of Premadasi Biswas and Rekha Biswas, two of the surviving members in his family

Locals Ashok Vaidya, Krushna Madkami and Debasish Majumdar alleged that some people who are no more still figure in the muster rolls and wages are being drawn against their names. A vested interest group comprising unscrupulous officials and political persons are behind this racket.

They alleged that the officials instead of employing needy persons in the area had taken out job cards in the names of deceased people and are depositing their wages in the accounts of their relatives which is later withdrawn by them. They demanded a high level inquiry into the irregularities and action against the guilty.

Reports said Parimal Biswas, a native of MV-102 village in Padmagiri pan-chayat, passed away in 2007. However, a job card still exists in his name and in the names of Premadasi Biswas and Rekha Biswas, two of the surviving members in his family.

The wages in the name of Parimal Biswas are processed every month and deposited in the account of Rekha Biswas (job card no-6471). The three have been shown working under the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme (MGNREGS).

Similarly, another villager Mukund Haldar in the same village died February 17, 2015. It was found that wages accruing to his job card no-6465 have been deposited in his bank account at Utkal Gramya Bank branch at Padmagiri May 25, 2021.

Moreover, water conservation projects are being implemented on shallow land in both the panchayats. Job card holders are required to dig up 1,400 pits measuring 10/3 feet width and 2.5 feet depth. The officials have prepared bills of 1,400 pits while only 400 pits have been dug up. It is alleged that this work is being implemented by involving non-labourers.

Notably, both the Centre and the state are spending crores of rupees to provide jobs to the rural populace under the MGNREGS through one job card to each family.

However, due to lack of proper utilization of funds, genuine beneficiaries are deprived of jobs forcing them to migrate to other states for work.

Reports said over 30,000 people from the district migrate to neighboring Andhra Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, Maharashtra and Telangana every year due to lack of employment opportunities. They go with hope of getting jobs, but end up being tortured.

The district administration has been making all efforts to provide employment to these people and spending funds for the purpose. Jobs can be created in plantation work and water and soil conservation projects.

However, due to unscrupulous officials, vested interest groups reap the benefits of the job schemes.

When contacted, Malkangiri BDO Ajay Kumar Pradhan said the allegations will be investigated and action will be taken against the officials concerned if charges against them are found true.

Over 8K families left out of PMAY

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bari, Sept 8: Poor families are provided with housing units under the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (PMAY) and the Biju Pucca Ghar Yojana. However, many such families in Bari block of Jajpur district have been deprived of these entitlements due to faulty lists of beneficiaries prepared by the administration, a report said.

According to the report, officials in the panchayats have been asked to ensure provision of housing units to eligible people. In many cases, rich people have grabbed dwelling units while the poor keep waiting for them.

Bari BDO had issued a letter (2417, dated July 14, 2021) to officials looking after implementation of the rural housing schemes to check if 8085 families in 29 panchayats are eligible to get PMAY housing units.

When officials made field visits as part of the investigation, people alleged many eligible people had been left out of the lists. Later, people approached the block administration and sought inclusion of their names in the lists.

The block administration made it clear that people eligible for getting housing benefits can apply again. Many also applied for housing units.

It was learnt that Umar Ali of Milimilapur in Bainisiria panchayat, Madhabananda Mallick of Balibili panchayat and Shibabrata Jena of Rampa panchayat among hundreds of people have been left out of the beneficiary lists even though they are eligible to get houses.

Asked about the issue, BDO Shibananda Swain said as per an official directive, an investigation into the matter is under way.

"The names of the applicants will be sent to the district administration. If the district administration issues an order for investigation, the left-out people will be brought under scrutiny," he added.

THE POLITICAL LEVEE BREAKS

An aimless life is always a miserable life.

THE MOTHER

Biden's Nightmare

It is far from clear that President Joe Biden deserves the obloquy heaped on him for the US evacuation from Afghanistan. This is especially true given the endings of other American wars, and the nearly impossible situation confronting him – in particular, that the Kabul airport is located within a city of millions which had just come under Taliban control.

The repetitive airing of scenes of panicked Afghans clinging to C-17 cargo planes after this was no longer happening made for far more dramatic scenes than the smooth take-offs that followed during the next 17 days of evacuation, yet news programmes kept rerunning those chaotic images, creating an impression of Biden as hapless. Yet, some 120,000 US people – including troops of US allies as well as Afghans who had helped the US cause – were evacuated by air from Kabul, a logistical triumph.

Since Biden chose to end the evacuation by August 31, the date he had set, a few hundred Americans – some not ready to depart, many unable to reach Kabul airport – as well as hundreds of Afghans who had worked with the United States, were left behind. (A few have been evacuated since.) But Biden faced only bad choices. Had he prolonged America's presence, US troops and those of allies would have been put at more risk, especially from the murderous Islamic State (ISIS) offshoot that had begun a campaign of suicide bombings.

The retreat from Afghanistan has revealed much about the nature of the government that Biden is running and how he runs it. Although Donald Trump – who also wanted to get out of Afghanistan – left Biden with an unworkable settlement with the Taliban, Biden's decisions on withdrawal were mostly buttressed by his long-held belief that, when al-Qaeda was driven out of Afghanistan and Osama bin Laden killed, America's strategic needs had been met. Despite his deep convictions about the correctness of his decisions, Biden brought trouble on himself by offering cheery predictions – such as that the Afghan government wouldn't fall any time soon. When that proved unrealistic, Biden became defensive, even belligerent, which dented his reputation as a nice guy.

Another factor that may have played a role in shaping Biden's Afghan policy is the striking difference in the nature of the president's foreign and defence policy team and his team of domestic policy advisers. The latter is comprised of former mayors, governors, members of congress, and at least one business executive – people of independent standing. But Biden's national security team is dominated by former aides. The soft-spoken Secretary of State Antony Blinken is a loyal, longtime Biden adviser. National Security Adviser Jake Sullivan, a youthful-looking 44, was Biden's national security adviser as vice president. Biden often cites the concurrence of his advisers as confirmation of the wisdom of his decisions, but one gets the strong impression that he makes clear to them what advice he wants.

Secretary of Defense Lloyd Austin does carry an aura of independence and gravitas. Austin speaks slowly and carefully, and with that authority that comes almost naturally to a former four-star US Army general. He projects confidence without drama, and holds his views tight. A senator said, "I wouldn't want to play poker with him." Austin managed the draw-down of American troops in Iraq, where he had worked closely with the president's deceased son Beau, both qualifications that undoubtedly stood him well with the president. (Biden's continuing, and maudlin, invocations of Beau, occasionally at truly awkward moments, are beginning to worry even some of his close allies.)

Republicans, who had been frustrated in their search for an effective means to attack Biden, have seized the opportunity provided by the chaotic withdrawal despite the fact that the decision to end America's 20-year Afghan war was widely popular. Despite this inconsistency on the part of the US electorate, for the first time since the inauguration Biden's job-approval ratings have dipped below 50 per cent. Even some Democrats, their fingers held up to the wind, are planning to ask awkward questions of Biden and his team.

But what, exactly, is Biden to be blamed for? His administration is widely charged with not having planned for an evacuation, but Senator Tim Kaine of Virginia, a Democrat and member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who deals with the White House a lot, told me, "[The administration] had a plan; they just didn't expect to have to implement it so quickly."

Biden's administration, although less rancorous and leaky than most (thus far), does follow in the tradition of military and intelligence leaders differing markedly in their assessments of the quality of the Afghan army. Having spent $83 billion on training and equipping the Afghan army, the military has tended to view its efforts as a success. The intelligence agencies have been more skeptical. Kaine said, "For years we heard conflicting assessments about the Afghan military."

Previous US presidents tended to relay to the public the bright side of America's efforts in Afghanistan. In a ground-breaking series published in 2019, the Washington Post exposed the lies that presidents George W. Bush, Barack Obama, and Trump all told the country, such as how wonderfully the war in Afghanistan was going. Thus, most Americans were unprepared for the sudden collapse of the Afghan army or the flight of Afghan President Ashraf Ghani (with bags of money) when the Taliban strolled into Kabul.

Defense Department officials insist that no one warned them that the Afghan army would collapse within 11 days, but this could be a failure of imagination as well as of intelligence. In any event, there is intelligence and then there is how intelligence is interpreted. For example, Bush's administration had received ample evidence that al-Qaeda was preparing to attack the US, even the World Trade Center, but leading figures brushed off the warnings. France, acting on the same intelligence about Afghanistan that the US government had, began to withdraw its troops in 2014.

A shaken Biden administration is now trying to change the subject away from Afghanistan by turning to domestic issues. But extricating itself from the consequences of its Afghanistan decisions, however warranted, may take longer than the administration envisions.

WATER SECURITY IS NOT SIMPLY A PRODUCT OF DEVELOPMENT AND POLITICAL STABILITY. RATHER, IT CONTRIBUTES TO BOTH

Giulio Boccaletti

If this year's flooding and wildfires came as a surprise to inhabitants of rich countries, that is because the modern political compact was built on effective water management. As natural forces overwhelm these countries' infrastructure, their political institutions will come under growing strain

Swaths of Europe are flooded, and the American west is engulfed in heat, fire, and drought. Wealthy countries are experiencing what many developing countries have always known: a changing climate can become quickly unmanageable when our control of water fails.

Following this summer's disasters, political leaders from German Chancellor Angela Merkel to Oregon Governor Kate Brown have duly called for accelerating the global fight against climate change. But while reducing greenhouse-gas emissions is urgently needed, it isn't enough. Wealthy communities' loss of water security is evidence not only of a changing climate but also of a broader political failure.

At the beginning of the twentieth century, everyone was routinely exposed to difficult climate conditions. The west of the United States, for example, was largely uninhabitable for those accustomed to mild climates. The orchards of California's Imperial Valley were still to come, their rich soils baked dry into an unplayable crust. The cities that now occupy the region's deserts – San Diego, Los Angeles, Las Vegas, Phoenix – were waterless outposts that could not support anything near their modern populations.

Similarly, since the collapse of the Western Roman Empire in the fifth century, the European landscape had remained largely untamed. We may now think of the continent's old forests as a romantic wilderness, but nineteenth-century children's fairytales described them more accurately as impene- trable, swampy places inhabited by wolves and bandits. For centuries, Dutch engineers attempted to reclaim lands across the continent, but consistently failed to achieve permanent security.

At the time, Qing China had acquired global fame for its ability to control Asia's powerful rivers (a skill that Adam Smith saw as a remarkable source of comparative advantage). And yet, even the Celestial Empire could not avoid recurring natural disasters. At the start of the twentieth century, the climate system still ruled the landscape. The only universal form of "climate adaptation" was acceptance.

Then, everything changed. Two world wars and growing political enfranchisement fuelled demands for universal welfare. Economic growth – a relatively uninteresting phenomenon to nineteenth-century elites who did not have to share wealth – became the principal preoccupation of politicians answerable to the unemployed and the insecure. Reliable access to water became a political imperative, an instrument in state-building.

Most countries that could afford to do so started transforming their water landscapes in the service of the consumer economy and a widening polity. Reclamation projects added cultivable land and broadened economic opportunity. Then came hydroelectric power, the first source of electricity that could be fully scaled to support industrialisation and mass employment. Rivers became blueprints for development.

As cities grew, floods – a tragic fact of life up to that point – became politically intolerable. Unsanitary conditions were swept away by near-universal access to clean water supplies. The shape of the modern landscape slowly changed as it filled with levees, flood defences, dams, canals, and reservoirs. These were invariably financed by the new economic power of the state and supported by the aspirations of a broadened electorate.

America led the way, delivering some of the twentieth century's most iconic water projects, from the Hoover and Fort Peck Dams to the Army Corps of Engineers' management of the Lower Mississippi River and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Investments in modern water infrastructure spread around the world, driving planetary-scale transformation. At the beginning of the twentieth century, humanity had virtually no water storage and practically no large dams; yet by the 1970s, infrastructure could catch roughly one-fifth of all runoff on the planet. As people replumbed the landscape – leaving a wide trail of unintended environmental consequences in their wake – a modernist dream was nurtured: finally, people could be fully insulated from the effects of a difficult climate.

Over time, many of those living in rich countries simply forgot about all the water flowing behind the dams and levees. Having long since been normalised to the uninterrupted rhythm of the consumer economy, Californians and Germans this year were duly stunned by the violent return of nature. The catastrophes they have witnessed had become simply unthinkable for affluent modern societies.

Though floods and droughts routinely afflict hundreds of millions of poor people around the world, these events seldom make the news (the main exceptions being in rich countries, as when Hurricane Katrina devastated New Orleans' poor, mainly African-American, Lower Ninth Ward in 2005). In an echo of the Malthusian fallacy that treats poverty as a symptom of moral failure, the disasters that strike developing countries are dismissed as an inevitable consequence of underdevelopment.

But water security is not simply a product of development and political stability. Rather, it contributes to both. Modern economies and stable political institutions were built on the promise of water security and the opportunities that it furnished. Our institutions' increasingly evident failure to fulfil that promise thus poses a direct threat to the civic compact that binds citizens and the state.

The supposedly permanent solutions of the twentieth century are proving inadequate. This century's climate disasters are harbingers of a new relationship with our environment, raising questions that we have not had to ask for many generations. What do we want our landscape to look like? What risks are we able to tolerate? What should we expect of the state when it comes to our environmental security, and what authority does that entail?

These are not technical questions. They are political ones, and they will increasingly occupy center stage in the twenty-first century.

SPECTRUM LAW

Cow protection as a fundamental right

CULTURAL HOMOGENISATION IS ANATHEMA TO A LIBERAL DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY LIKE OURS

SN Misra

Justice SK Yadav of the Allahabad High Court has recently stirred a hornet's nest by observing that "fundamental right is not only the prerogative of beef eaters, rather, those who worship the cow and are financially dependent on cows also have the fundamental right to lead a meaningful life... The right to life is above the right to kill and the right to eat beef can never be considered a fundamental right." He has implored the government to declare the cow as the national animal and make strict laws against those who harm cows. Quoting scientists, the judge further observed that "cow is the only animal that inhales and exhales oxygen."

Cow slaughter is an emotive issue in India because of the animal's status as an endearing and respected living being among Hindus, Sikhs, Jains and Buddhists. When the Constitution was being drafted most of the Hindu members were strongly supportive of a ban on cow slaughter. Mahatma Gandhi was in favour of such a law, while Jawaharlal Nehru was opposed to it. Because of the sharp schism in views, the framers of the Constitution decided to keep the prohibition on slaughter of cow, calf and other milch and draught animals as a directive principle under Article 48, which is not enforceable in the court of law. The preservation, protection and improvement of livestock are the prerogative of the state governments, as they figure as item 15 in the State List. Accordingly, the legal provision of different states widely varies.

In Andhra Pradesh, Goa, Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Mizoram, Meghalaya, Manipur, Nagaland, Tripura and West Bengal, where there are sizable Muslim and Christian populations, there is no ban on cow slaughter.

The Supreme Court has been seized of this contentious matter since 1958. The first major case, Mohd Hanif Qureshi & Others vs. the State of Bihar came up in 1958, when the Bihar government passed the Bihar Preservation and Improvement of Animals Act, 1955, putting a complete ban on slaughter of cow and her progeny including bulls. The petitioners had prayed before the court that a total ban on cow slaughter would infringe their fundamental rights under Article 19(1)(g), which gives them the right to carry on any trade or business and Article 25 which protects their religious rights. In a unanimous judgement, the court tried to strike a balance between the fundamental rights and the directive principles. The court prohibited slaughter of cows and calves and other milch cattle which were still having useful life. However, those which were not useful the court felt "maintenance of such useless cattle involves a wasteful drain on the nation's cattle feed."

Further it had observed that a total ban will bring about a serious dislocation of the business of butchers, hide merchants and a large section of society.

The Qureshi judgement remained valid till the Gujarat government came up with an Act to completely ban cow slaughter. The matter came up before the Supreme Court in Mirzapur Kasab vs. State of Gujarat in 2005, when the court upheld the Act. The judges focused on the utility of cows and their progeny. Then Chief Justice of India RC Lahoti had famously observed "the value of dung is much more than even the famous Kohinoor diamond." However, justice Mathur in a dissenting note had observed that "if an enactment is made for advancement of directive principles and it runs counter to fundamental rights, an attempt should be made to harmonise the same if it promotes larger public interest."

Ever since the BJP government came to power at the Centre, efforts are being made to divide the people on communal lines. When the government came up with a law in 2017 to confiscate animals of traders, the Supreme Court came down heavily on it. Then Chief Justice of India SA Bobde while asking the government to amend the law had observed "animals are a source of livelihood. People live on the basis of their animals. You cannot confiscate them before the man is convicted. Your rules are arbitrary."

Justice Yadav's call for cow protection as a fundamental right will run contrary to the pluralistic and multi-religious character of India and the right to freedom of what we eat and what trade we take up. Cultural homogenisation is anathema to a liberal democratic society like ours.

WORDSWORTH

Paregoric

Apaegeoric is a medicine; specifically and figuratively, something that soothes. The origin of this odd word is the Greek paregorikos for soothing or encouraging words (from paregorein, to speak soothingly to). This derives from para, beside, and agora, literally the market place, but also a place of assembly (the related agoreuein meant to speak in public). The word moved into late Latin in the sense of something soothing or consoling; at one time it was used for any medicine that had that effect. Later it was applied specifically to a tincture (a solution in alcohol) of opium flavoured with camphor, aniseed and benzoic acid. It was a flavoured – and usually less potent – form of laudanum, a simple tincture of opium. It was used as a medicine to treat diarrhoea and coughing, especially in children.

Save emperor penguins

Sir, In 2016, the world's second largest colony of penguins in Antarctica lost more than 10,000 emperor penguin chicks. Climate change is threatening emperor penguins with extinction. The penguins live much of the year on the Antarctic sea ice, which is disappearing or breaking apart because of the heat-trapping gases released by humans' use of fossil fuels. The penguins need the ice to breed, raise their young ones and escape predators. If listed as threatened, the birds would join two dozen species, including polar bears, two kinds of seals and 20 coral varieties, which the US federal government considers threatened by climate change. A study found that if the sea ice continues to disappear at the rate predicted by climate models given the world's current energy trends and policies, more than 80 per cent of emperor penguin colonies would in effect become extinct by the year 2100. If the world takes swift and drastic actions to reduce greenhouse gas emissions in line with the Paris Climate Agreement enough sea ice will be left to support a reduced, but still viable, population of emperor penguins, the study found. We need to act now, before it's too late. If the sea ice disappears before the young penguins exchange their fluffy baby feathers for the sleek adult ones, they cannot swim in the frigid waters and will perish.

Prayers work wonders

Sir, Evening prayers used to be an important ritual while we were growing up but this ritual is gradually losing its ground. After washing our hands and feet in the evening we would head straight to our prayer rooms and recite prayers at the top of our voice. This ritual worked wonders as it would calm our nerves and help us focus on our studies. Depression, a serious mental illness which has only aggravated in recent times, is wreaking havoc on people's personal and social lives. Depression should be taken seriously. There are a host of treatments and cures for depression and prayer can emerge as the best among the cures. The people who are feeling low can take out at least 10 minutes from their daily schedule to pray. It will not only calm their tangled minds but also help them to have a new perspective of life. Prayers work wonders.

Farmers up in arms over fake fert sold at premium

POST NEWS NETWORK

Mahakalapara, Sept 8: Sale of sub-standard fertilizers at exorbitant prices in this block of Kendrapara district has sparked anger among farmers even as they are facing a crop loss due to scanty rainfall, a report said.

Reports said a drought like condition is prevailing in the block due to scanty rainfall. The farmers have planted saplings and were expecting rain to save their crops. However, lack of rain has seriously hit their cultivation. As they are trying to salvage whatever is left on their farmlands, inflated prices of fertilizers have hit them hard.

Farmers alleged that they have purchased Gronor fertilizers from the open market. But it was found to be of sub-standard when they mixed it with water to apply it on their crops. The fertilizer instead of getting dissolved is floating in water which has made them doubt its quality.

Farmers Murali Swain, Subhas Samal, Parikhita Nayak alleged that some unlicensed retail traders sell the fertilizers to farmers under the block at a very high price taking advantage of their innocence. The farmers buy the fertilizers from the retailers but they float on water after they are mixed with water and applied on the farmlands.

They termed it as the handiwork of unscrupulous traders who are out to fleece desperate farmers in the block.

Some traders also allegedly sell fake fertilizers under the names and designs of branded companies and charge prices more than that of the original. As a result, the farmers are deprived of subsidies even if the companies give discounts on fertilizer packets.

Agriculture officials and Krushi Sathis (farm consultants) spend their whole day in office for Balaram Yojana aimed at providing financial help of up to ₹1.6 lakh to every landless farmer

Farmers held the agriculture department responsible for their problem. They alleged that farmers had to buy fertilizers at very high prices due to negligence by the department. This has emboldened unscrupulous traders to carry on with their work with impunity.

On the other hand, farmlands under the block are lying uncultivated due to poor rainfall. Farmers said the only way to save their crops is rain due to low-pressure. However, the block agriculture officials do not visit the villages and take stock of the cultivation when farmers are fighting hard to save their crops.

Agriculture officials and Krushi Sathis (farm consultants) spend their whole day in office for Balaram Yojana that aims at providing financial help up to ₹1.6 lakh each to landless farmers. However, getting a loan under the Balaram Yojana is still a far cry for the share-croppers and landless farmers.

They alleged that they neither have land of their own nor money for which the department officials are neglecting and ignoring them. The only beneficiaries are big land owners and influential persons who have grabbed the benefits of the scheme through manipulation. They alleged most of the lower rung officials are involved in fraud.

When contacted, Antaryami Dhir, block agriculture officer of Marshaghai, said a squad has been formed. The squad members raid fertilizer stores in various areas and collect samples for examination. Action will be taken against store owners if the fertilizer is found to be of sub-standard quality.

VILLAGERS DEMAND DROUGHT ZONE TAG

POST NEWS NETWORK

Deogarh, Sept 8: owing to scanty rainfall, paddy has been cultivated over only 10 to 15 per cent of farmlands in Deogarh district while remaining 85 per cent farmlands have been left fallow, a report said.

According to the report, lands have dried up while saplings wilted. In a few days, crops will vanish, farmers in Riamal panchayat lamented.

Farmers of six villages under Riamal block are worried over the drought. They met the Collector and demanded villages be declared as drought zone along with granting of financial assistance.

There is no hope of crop harvest this year in villages like Badasimalai, Sanasimalai, Gaimaruni, Nakhabhal, Pandarkhandia and Dalabahali.

Farmers from these villages submitted a memorandum to the district agriculture officer, the sub-collector, the BDO, the tehsildar, the assistant agriculture officer, the district civil supplies officer and other officials.

The matter came to the fore when Sujan's mother went up to the first floor of their house to call him to go and bring subsidized rice being distributed in the village Wednesday. He found his daughter-in-law and grandson lying in a pool of blood and son hanging from the ceiling.

She raised an alarm as her elder son Sadananda rushed and checked the three and found them already dead. He informed Chamakhandi police who recovered the bodies and sent them for post-mortem to MKCG Medical College and Hospital in Berhampur.

Locals said Sujan married Runi two years back but the couple was not on good terms and always fought with each other at slightest pretexts. They suspected that Sujan might have taken the extreme step as he was reeling from poverty.

Tribals fume over operation of stone crushing units

POST NEWS NETWORK

Boudh/Talagaon, Sept 8: For the last two months, tribals have been opposing stone crushing units and stone mines near Kharabhuin village under Harbhanga block of Boudh district.

Armed with their traditional weapons, hundreds of tribal residents of Kharabhuin and Baisipada in Chhataranga panchayat took out a rally and demanded action on stone crushers and a halt to running of stone quarries.

They shouted slogans against the administration.

"Stone quarrying and crusher operations have been taking a heavy toll on forest, environment and lives of people in the forested land. Trees are being felled to make space for quarries," they said.

Stone is blasted out with explosion which has been damaging the houses.

They had several rounds of discussions with officials of the district administration about closure of four stone crushing units. They had also staged protests in front of the block, tehsil and panchayat offices. But no step was taken yet.

HM's novel teaching style checks dropouts

has increased from 50 to 107 with zero dropout rate.

The government-run institute owes this achievement to Ajit Kumar Sethy its headmaster, who brought about a sea of transformation with his innovative teaching methods.

Sethy was among the 44 teachers from across the country and two from the state who were felicitated with the National Teachers Award by President Ram Nath Kovind Sunday for their contributions in improving the quality of school education and enriching the lives of students.

"At the time of joining, I saw that the school lacked infrastructure. I worked on a plan to bring the students, most of them from Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, back to the school," Sethy, who joined the institute in 2017, said.

With the involvement of villagers, the panchayat head and others, the school was electrified, separate toilet complexes for boys and girls were built, a water purifier was installed and a nutritional garden on the school premises was developed.

Sethy composed songs on chapters of the various subjects to keep the students in good spirits.

"Children showed keen interest in learning new topics when we taught them through songs," he said.

Amid the Covid-19 pandemic, Sethy made videos on different subjects and made them available to the students over WhatsApp, YouTube as well as the Madhu App, which has been developed by the Ganjam district administration.

He also created awareness among students against child marriage, child labour through music.

In a tweet Sunday, the education ministry described Sethy as an arts and music teacher who came up with innovative interdisciplinary learning styles by "using his musical instruments as 'prop' to help children understand abstract concepts in science, mathematics, geography, etc". Sethy said he was happy to have got this award after only 13 years of service.

"It was a recognition of the hard work," he said, adding that the award would inspire him to strive harder to improve the lives of students.

Flood threat in Balasore as Jalaka is in spate

POST NEWS NETWORK

People residing in riparian areas of Jalaka river are in panic. If the present situation continues for a day or two, the entire region will be affected by flood, some locals feared.

If at all a breach occurs in the Jalaka river embankment, as many as five panchayats under Basta block and two panchayats under Sadar block will be inundated, the villagers expressed.

It is pertinent to mention that another low pressure area has been forming over the Bay of Bengal. The regional centre of India Meteorological Department (IMD) has predicted heavy rainfall and thunderstorm activities in several parts of Odisha in the coming days.

Kannada outfits furious, seek apology

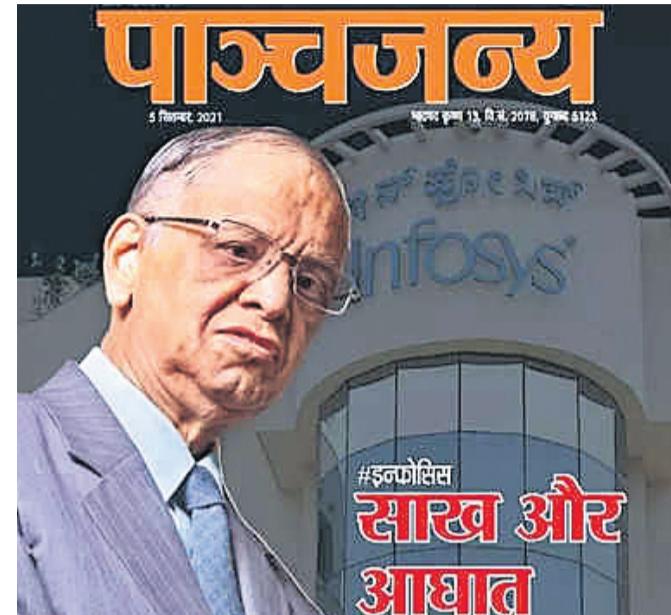

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Bangalore, Sept 8: Several Kannada Organisations in Karnataka have reacted sharply to an article in RSS mouthpiece Panchjanya attacking Bengaluru based software giant Infosys and its founder NR Narayana Murthy, a Kannadiga.

They have also demanded an apology from the magazine and warned of befitting reply if it failed to do so.

Talking to IANS, Praveen Shetty, President of Karnataka Rakshana Vedike (Praveen Shetty faction) described the magazine as stupid and injudicious. It might be an RSS mouthpiece. But, we all remember the journey of Narayana Murthy and Sudha Murthy. They have been an inspiration for the youth. They have set standards for other corporates and the society, he said.

We have been seeing how certain forces from north India are trying to tarnish the image of tall personalities from the southern region. Immediately, the magazine should tender an apology. It is not fair on its part to insult a fine Kannadiga technocrat like Narayana Murthy, he explained.

Which is an anti-national? The persons who carry out anti-national activities are different. The Tukde-tukde gang is also different. But, insulting Narayana Murthy is untenable. We carry tremendous respect towards him. The magazine should tender a public apology. Otherwise, we will burn the copies of Panchajanya and effigies, he stated.

Sanneerappa B, State General Secretary for Karnataka Rakshana Vedike (Narayana Gowda faction) stated that they will stand with Infosys on the issue. If it continues, we know how to give a befitting answer, he underlined.

The humanitarian work taken up by Narayana Murthy and Sudha Murthy across the country and in Karnataka is unmatched. Even Bill Gates has not done so much human service in India. Through Infosys, Narayana Murthy has created lakhs of employment for Indians. They want to damage the brand Infosys and assassinate the character of Murthy, he said.

Infosys has been involved in hundreds of central as well as state government projects. Whenever, there is a cyclone in Gujarat, floods and be it a Metro Project, Infosys has come forward to put in crores of rupees. Why Japanese, US based or MNCs from other countries do not come forward to support the people. Instead of encouraging Indian businessmen, industrialists from across the globe to create jobs in India, the magazine is indulging in falsely targeting Narayana Murthy, he stated. We want to assure Infosys and Narayana Murthy not to get worried over these fake threats. Write-ups like this can't do anything. You have created jobs for all Indians belonging to different faiths. Even if a hundred similar attempts are made, they can't hurt you and we will fight against it, he explained.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

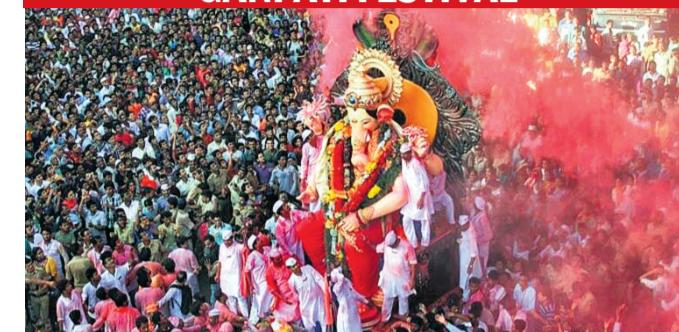

Mumbai, Sept 8: The Mumbai civic body has issued fresh guidelines for the Ganpati festival beginning from Friday and has banned physical darshan for devotees at public pandals as well as imposed restrictions on the number of participants in processions during the celebrations.

For bringing the idols of the deity and during their immersion, there will not be more than 10 people in the processions of public mandals and not more than five for the household Ganpatis, the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) in the guidelines issued Tuesday.

All devotees should wear masks and observe social distancing. Also, the 10 participants should have taken both the doses of Covid-19 vaccine and completed 15 days after taking the second dose, the guidelines said.

In the wake of a rise in the number of new coronavirus infections and fear of a third wave, the BMC has banned physical darshan for devotees at the public Ganpati pandals and appealed to citizens to celebrate the festival with simplicity. Considering the potential danger of a third Covid-19 wave, devotees are strictly forbidden from taking darshan. It has been decided that Ganeshotsav mandals should provide darshan facility to devotees through cable network, website, Facebook or (other) social media, the civic body said. The mandals falling in Covid-19 containment zones will have to make arrangements for the immersion of the Ganpati idols in the pandal premises or postpone it. Similarly, in sealed buildings, devotees will have to make arrangements for the immersion of idols at home, it said.

If a housebuilding is declared a containment zone, the rules for it should be followed during the festival, the BMC said.

The cap on the height of Ganpati idols and restrictions on celebrations have been imposed for the second year in a row.

K'taka curbs movement of people from Kerala

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Bangalore, Sept 8: The Karnataka government Tuesday issued an advisory restricting the entry of students, employees and others into the state from Kerala till the end of October amid fears of the outbreak of a possible third wave of the Covid-19 pandemic.

The health department has requested the authorities and other private players to see to it that people postpone their travel plans till the end of October.

Jawaid Akhtar, Additional Chief Secretary in Health and Family Welfare Department, stated that all administrators, and principals of educational, nursing, paramedical institutions have been advised to instruct their wards to visit Kerala till the end of October.

The decision has been taken in view of the prevailing Covid situation in Kerala. It has been observed that students and employees arriving in Karnataka from Kerala with negative RT-PCR report are testing Covid positive during a repeat test, Akhtar said.

The number of such cases is considerably high in Dakshina Kannada and Udupi districts.

Maha mulls 'nodal centres' in small cities as WFH continues

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, Sept 8: With work from home (WFH) continuing for employees in the information technology sector, Maharashtra is mulling to create 'nodal centres' on the lines of co-working spaces in smaller cities and towns, from where software professionals can work for their respective companies, a minister has said.

The state, which is home to the IT hub in Pune and also has a presence of enterprises in other pockets like Mumbai, Nagpur and Nashik, has invited suggestions from the industry for an 'inclusive IT policy', Minister of State for IT Satish Patil has said.

Almost the entire IT staff has been in the WFH mode since the beginning of the pandemic in March 2020 and companies have been saying that the future will have a 'hybrid model' where a good part of the employees continue working from offices.

A lot of the work done by IT professionals is for critical sectors like finance, where privacy concerns and data confidentiality are important which also forced a few of the professionals to continue working from offices even during the lockdowns.

We are also planning to start government-run well-equipped nodal centres where IT employees can come and work for their respective companies. All ideas are welcome in this regard, Patil said in a tweet Monday, responding to suggestions made by billionaire Anand Deshpande, the founder chairman of Pune's Persistent Systems. Mumbai and Pune have been leading in the IT sector and have been saturated due to migration to these cities.

Mumbai, Sept 8: A 45-year-old cloth trader from Solapur allegedly took to committing burglaries and thefts after suffering losses in his business due to the coronavirus-induced lockdown, police said Wednesday.

He was arrested last week in Maharashtra's Solapur city in connection with eight such cases, they said. The accused, identified as Anand Kodam, a resident of Vajreshwari Nagar in Solapur, located about 400 km from Mumbai, was nabbed September 2 when he was on way to sell some ornaments allegedly stolen by him, a police official said.

Kodam was earlier into his family's cloth business and they used to run a factory in Solapur; he said. In 2018, he parted ways with his family due to some reasons and started living separately with his wife and children.

He then started an independent business of sale and purchase of towels, which was running well, the official said.

However, last year a businessman allegedly cheated him of ₹8 lakh, due to which he had to take loans and after a few days, had to shut his business in the wake of the lockdown imposed to curb the spread of Covid-19, he said.

After being unable to repay the loans, Kodam allegedly started committing burglaries since August 1 this year, the official said.

His modus operandi was to commit thefts between 11 am and 2 pm and he used to target houses having cast iron locks which could be broken easily, said Solapur Jail Road police station's sub-inspector Alfaz Shaikh, who nabbed the accused.

According to the official, Kodam had allegedly committed at least seven house-breakings in the jurisdiction of the Jail Road police limits. The police examined footage of at least 100 CCTVs in the area, but as the accused wore a mask while committing the offences, it was difficult to identify him.

However, in one of the CCTV footage, he was found without the mask and identified, the official said. Accordingly, the police laid a trap September 2 and apprehended him when he was on way to a jewellers' market to sell some of the stolen ornaments, he said.

The official said the accused initially told the police that he had committed only one theft, but later, during questioning, he informed about other six burglaries committed by him in the Jail Road area and one in the MIDC (Maharashtra Industrial Development Corporation) area.

The police have so far recovered gold worth ₹7.60 lakh and ₹1 lakh cash allegedly stolen by him, he said.

New Delhi, Sept 8: NSA Ajit Doval Wednesday held talks with his Russian counterpart Gen Nikolai Patrushev in mitigating any possible security threat from the Taliban-ruled Afghanistan, a day after holding similar deliberations with CIA Chief William Burns.

Burns, Patrushev and the UK's Chief of the Secret Intelligence Service (MI6) Richard Moore were among a number of key intelligence and security officials to visit India over the last few days, it is learnt. The Doval-Patrushev talks delved into security implications of the Taliban's capture of power for India, Russia and the Central Asian region as a number of dreaded terror groups including Jaish-e-Muhammad and Lashkar-e-Taiba having a strong presence in the war-torn country, people familiar with the meeting said.

A Russian read-out of the delegation-level talks said attention was paid to intensifying joint work by "special services and military bodies" of both the countries and that emphasis was given on further interaction on the "anti-terrorist track", combating illegal migration and drug trafficking. It is learnt that Chief of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) Burns, accompanied by a few officials, paid a quiet visit to India primarily to discuss ways to mitigate security threats that may emanate from Afghanistan. SC upholds extension of Mishra's tenure as ED director

New Delhi, Sept 8: The Supreme Court Wednesday upheld the Centre's decision to extend the tenure of ED Director Sanjay Kumar Mishra from two years to three years with retrospective effect, taking into account its justification that important investigations were at a crucial stage in trans-border crimes.

However, the top court made it clear that extension to the officers, already superannuated, should only be done in rare and exceptional circumstances.

A bench of Justices L Nageswara Rao and B.R. Gavai noted: "The justification given by the Union of India for extension of the tenure of Second Respondent (Mishra) is that important investigations are at a crucial stage in trans-border crimes. The decision to extend the tenure of the Second Respondent is pursuant to the recommendation made by the high-powered committee." "We have upheld the power of the Union of India to extend the tenure of Director of Enforcement beyond the period of two years... we should make it clear that extension of tenure granted to officers who have attained the age of superannuation should be done only in rare and exceptional cases," it said.

The top court observed that reasonable period of extension can be granted to facilitate the completion of ongoing investigations only after reasons are recorded by the committee constituted under Section 25(a) of the CVC Act.

Dehradun, Sept 8: Uttarakhand Governor Baby Rani Maurya resigned Wednesday two years before completing her tenure amid speculation that she may be given some active role in politics.

She tendered her resignation to the President of India, a Raj Bhawan official said. She has resigned for personal reasons, he said. Speculation, however, is rife in the media that her resignation will pave the way for her to play a more active role in politics.

It is also being linked with her recent meeting with Amit Shah in Delhi September 5.

Sixty-five-year-old Maurya who has long been associated with the BJP was sworn in as the Uttarakhand governor August 26, 2018, taking over from Krishna Kant Paul at the end of his five-year tenure. She had completed three years in office as the Uttarakhand governor last month.

She has the distinction of being the first woman mayor of Agra from 1995 to 2000. She had also been a member of the National Commission for Women from 2002-2005.

crippled the state of Texas, wildfires destroyed almost five million acres of Amazon rainforest, and Vietnam experienced nine heavy storms in the span of only seven weeks.

By analysing past events through the lens of interconnectivity, both author of the report. "But even disasters that occur thousands of kilometres apart are often related to one another and can have consequences for people living in distant places." An example of this is the recent heatwave in the Arctic and cold wave in Texas.

In 2020, the Arctic experienced the second-highest air temperatures and second-lowest amount of sea ice cover on record. The increasing temperature in the Arctic destabilizes the polar vortex, a spinning mass of cold air above the North Pole, allowing colder air to move southward into North America. Thus, changes in Arctic temperature influence locations far away from the Arctic and likely also contributed to the below-freezing temperatures in Texas, a state that is used to year-round warm weather. Around four million people were without electricity as the power grid froze up, and 210 people died.

Disasters also often occur simultaneously and compound each other; as happened with the COVID-19 pandemic and Cyclone Amphan in the border region of India and Bangladesh. In an area where almost 50 per cent of the population is living under the poverty line, the Covid-19 pandemic and subsequent lockdowns left many people without income options, including migrant workers who were forced to return to their home areas and were housed in cyclone shelters while under quarantine.

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, Sept 8: A new report analysed 10 disasters from 2020-21, including Cyclone Amphan in the border region of India and Bangladesh, and found that even though they occurred in vastly different locations and did not initially appear to have much in common, they were interconnected with each other.

The Panjshir province based National Resistance Front (NRF) asserted that the announcement of the Taliban's caretaker cabinet is "a clear sign of the group's enmity with the Afghan people."

Relatives of prisoners trickled in to the prison throughout the day to check and see whether their loved ones were among those killed.

Most of the 41 killed were drug convicts, including a man from South Africa and a man from Portugal, while other victims included a terrorism convict and a murderer, Indonesia's Law and Human Rights minister Yasona Laoly told reporters.

"This is a tragedy that concerns all of us," Laoly said. "We are working closely with all relevant parties to investigate the causes of the fire."

Firefighters battled through the early morning hours to extinguish the flames as black smoke billowed from the compound of the Tangerang prison on the outskirts of Jakarta.

Without identifying Pakistan, Maitra drew attention to the religion-based terrorism emanating from there, saying there can be no doubt that terrorism, which is a manifestation of intolerance and violence, is the antithesis of all religions and cultures. The world should be concerned by terrorists who use religion to justify these acts and those who support them in this quest.

She said that the UN and the member states refrain from selectivity on such issues which hinders a culture of peace.

Mighty earthquake makes buildings sway in Mexico

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mexico City, Sept 8: A powerful earthquake struck near the Pacific resort city of Acapulco Tuesday night, killing at least one person and causing buildings to rock and sway in Mexico City hundreds of kilometers away.

The US Geological Survey said the quake had a preliminary magnitude of 7 and was centred 17 km northeast of Acapulco.

Guerrero state Governor Hector Astudillo told Milenio Television late Tuesday night that one person had been killed by a falling post in the town of Coyuca de Benitez near Acapulco.

"We heard loud noise from the building, noise from the windows, things fell inside the house, the power went out," said Sergio Flores, an Acapulco resident reached by phone.

"We heard leaking water; the water went out of the pool and you heard people screaming, very nervous people."

Flashes of light were seen in the sky above the capital as the earthquake hit the power grid.

The mayor of Acapulco, Adela Roman, said in statement to the television news outlet Milenio that "there is no really serious situation" so far and no reports of casualties.

Torrential rains in central Mexico suddenly flooded a hospital early Tuesday, killing 16 patients, possibly due to the loss of oxygen equipment as the power went out, the national Social Security Institute said. A video posted on the agency's social media feed said about 40 other patients survived as waters rose swiftly in downtown Tula, about 60 miles (100 km) north of Mexico City, and flooded the public hospital around 6 am.

Suspect tells court he's an IS soldier

The main suspect of the jihadist rampage described himself Wednesday as "an Islamic State soldier" at the start of the long-awaited trial into the 2015 attacks. Salah Abdeslam, 31, appeared in court dressed in black and wearing a black face mask. Asked what his profession was, the French-Moroccan removed his face mask — obligatory because of the Covid-19 pandemic — and told a Paris court defiantly: "I gave up my job to become an Islamic State soldier." Abdeslam is believed to be the only surviving member of the group that carried out the attacks. Asked by the court's top judge to give his name, Abdeslam used the Shahada, an Islamic oath, saying: "I want to testify that there is no god except Allah and that Mohammad is his servant."

India, UK in 'sweet spot' as trade negotiations begin

AGENCIES

London, Sept 8: The UK and India are in a "sweet spot" of global trade dynamics as negotiations for a free trade agreement (FTA) begin in the coming weeks, according to Britain's trade minister in charge of the bilateral talks.

Liz Truss, UK Secretary of State for International Trade, revealed that the public consultation process ahead of the trade negotiations attracted "huge interest" from busi-

"We just completed our consultation on an Indian trade deal, which saw huge interest from businesses across the country. We are now going to begin negotiating a free trade agreement," said Truss.

"I see the UK and India in a sweet spot of the trade dynamics that are building up... We are looking at a comprehensive trade agreement that covers everything, from financial services to legal services to digital and data, as well as goods and agriculture. We think there is strong possibility for us to get an early agreement, where we lower tariffs on both sides and start to see more goods flowing between our two countries," she said.

Pointing to the post-Brexit scenario as the UK's chance to set out an independent trade policy outside the European Union (EU), the senior Cabinet minister flagged India as the "big, major opportunity" ahead following 68 trade deals clinched by Britain since leaving the economic bloc.

She also referenced her visit to India earlier in the year, including a tour of the Serum Institute of India (SII) in Pune which is in a UK tie-up to produce the Oxford University and AstraZeneca Covid-19 vaccines, as she highlighted collaboration in the field of science and tech as a sign of things to come as that trade route between the UK and India is deepened.

"Like the UK, India is a science and tech superpower... the Serum Institute of India provides two-thirds of the vaccines that inoculate children around the world. That is truly a tremendous achievement," said Truss.

Govt sticks to Sept 15 deadline for putting financial bids for AI

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Sept 8: The government will stick to the September 15 deadline for investors to put in bids for buying national carrier Air India, an official said. This is in stark contrast to the extension of deadline for preliminary bids five times.

Salt-to-software conglomerate Tata Group was among the "multiple" entities that had put in preliminary bids for buying loss-making Air India in December last year. After analysing the preliminary bids, eligible bidders were given access to the Virtual Data Room (VDR) of Air India for doing due diligence, following which investors' queries were answered.

Following that, in April the government had initiated the process for inviting financial bids and fixed September 15 as the deadline for putting in bids.

The official said once the bids come in by September 15, the government will decide on the reserve price. The deal is expected to be closed by December-end. In July, Minister of State for Civil Aviation VK Singh had informed Parliament that financial bids for the carrier will be received by September 15.

The government is selling its entire 100% stake in Air India.

FISCAL CONSOLIDATION ON CARDS

The economy is expected to clock 9.5% growth in the current fiscal year, followed by 7% expansion in the next year

Whereas, the fiscal deficit would remain elevated over the next two years but debt/GDP ratio is expected to stabilise or flatten out despite the fact that we have had this deterioration in fiscal position concurrently," he said.

Speaking at the India Credit Spotlight 2021, S&P Economist (Asia Pacific) Vishruth Rana said: "Looking ahead we continue to expect fairly strong economic growth going into calendar Q3 and Q4.

"The second wave of the pandemic has been pretty costly to economic activity. Households have been affected...Households are going to be repairing their balance sheets and withholding from spending which means activity will remain below trend once the recovery gets underway".

The Indian economy grew at 20.1% in April-June helped by a lower base, vis-a-vis 1.6% in March quarter. He said inflation has been on the upper end of the tolerance range which means the central bank will be watching inflation very closely.

"The outlook is mixed and energy prices are likely to remain elevated. But the real influential element in the inflation basket is going to be food," Rana said.

ASHWIN RETURNS TO WHITE-BALL SQUAD AS BCCI ANNOUNCES TEAM FOR ICC MEN'S T20 WORLD CUP

Dhoni to mentor India

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Sept 8: Iconic former captain Mahendra Singh Dhoni was Wednesday brought in as mentor of India's 15-member T20 World Cup squad by the BCCI, a move that took everyone by surprise.

The 40-year-old Dhoni retired from international cricket last year, his last India game being the 2019 T20 World Cup semi-final, which the team lost to New Zealand.

"Former India captain MS Dhoni to mentor the team for the T20 World Cup," announced BCCI secretary Jay Shah in a press conference to unveil the squad for the T20 World Cup scheduled to start

“MS Dhoni to mentor the team for the T20 World Cup. (I) spoke to him in Dubai. He agreed to be mentor for WT20 only and I discussed with my colleagues and all are on same page. I spoke to captain (Virat) and vice-captain (Rohit) and everyone agreed October 17 in the UAE and Oman.

"(I) spoke to him in Dubai. He agreed to be mentor for World T20 only and I discussed with my colleagues and all are on same page. I spoke to captain (Virat Kohli) and vice captain (Rohit Sharma) and everyone agreed," he added.

It is believed that Dhoni has been brought in for his experience in devising near-perfect white ball strategies and for knowing what it takes to win crucial ICC tournaments, where trophies have remained elusive for his successor.

One of the most successful captains in the history of Indian cricket, the enigmatic wicketkeeper-batsman led India to two world titles – the 2007 T20 World Cup in South Africa and the 2011 ODI World Cup in India.

Dhoni is currently with his IPL team Chennai Super Kings, gearing up for the resumption of the league from September 19 in the UAE.

The reticent player's retirement, announced by him through an Instagram post August 15 last year, had taken the cricket world by surprise and he has not spoken even once about it after that.

The highly-respected wicket-keeper-batsman played 90 Tests,

Ashwin in; Chahal, Dhawan dropped

NEW DELHI: Senior off-spinner Ravichandran Ashwin returned to India's white-ball outfit after four years when he was included in the 15-member squad for the World T20 alongside the fast-rising trio of Ishan Kishan, Axar Patel and Varun Chakaravarthy.

Also making the squad was Suryakumar Yadav, the 30-year-old Mumbai batsman who has been making a name for himself for his power-hitting.

The 34-year-old Ashwin last played white-ball cricket for India in 2017 before being sidelined from one-day cricket following the Champions Trophy. However, he kept performing in the IPL besides leading India's spin attack in Test cricket.

Kishan (23) and Chakaravarthy (30) have been rewarded for their consistent performance in the IPL and also impressed in the few opportunities they got with the Indian team.

The T20 World Cup starts October 17 in the UAE and Oman. The 'Men in Blue' will open their campaign October 24 by taking on arch-rivals Pakistan.

The big names to be dropped were opener Shikhar Dhawan and leg-spinner Yuzvendra Chahal. Rahul Chahar has been preferred over Chahal who was a certainty in India's limited over squads until now.

Dhawan has been overlooked with KL Rahul, Rohit Sharma and Kishan picked as the three openers.

Talking about the squad, chief selector Chetan Sharma said: "Ashwin is an asset. He performed well in the IPL and we needed a player of his experience. We need an off-spinner with Washington (Sundar) injured. Ashwin is the only off-spinner in the squad. Varun is a mystery spinner who is a surprise package for the world," he added.

Sharma also stated that all-rounder Hardik Pandya is "absolutely fit and will bowl his quote of overs." "We have picked Rahul Chahar over Yuvi as we wanted someone who bowls fast and gets pace off the pitch," Sharma explained.

Axar has been picked as a back up to all-rounder Ravindra Jadeja. The others who could not find a place in the main squad were Prithvi Shaw and Shreyas Iyer.

Iyer has, however, made the standbys list along with Shardul Thakur and Deepak Chahar. Thakur has been in tremendous form and has already produced eye-catching performances in the ongoing Test series against England.

Leylah enters US Open semifinals

Another Canadian moved into the semifinals when 21-year-old Felix Auger-Aliassime's opponent Tuesday night, 18-year-old Carlos Alcaraz of Spain, stopped playing in the second set shortly after a visit from a trainer. Auger-Aliassime was coming off two five-set wins in a row and conceded this match while trailing 6-3, 3-1.

No.12 seed Auger-Aliassime will play No.2 Daniil Medvedev next.

Medvedev, a 25-year-old from Russia, earned a spot in the final four at Flushing Meadows for the third consecutive year by stopping the surprising run of Dutch qualifier Botic van de Zandschulp 6-3, 6-0, 4-6, 7-5.

Next on this magical ride for Fernandez will come yet another test against a player who is ranked higher and has more experience on the sport's biggest stages. Thursday, she will play No.2 Aryna Sabalenka, a Wimbledon semifinalist in July, who defeated French Open champion Barbora Krejcikova 6-1, 6-4 at night.

Shami fit; Rohit, Pujara status being monitored

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Sept 8: Veteran India speedster Mohammed Shami has recovered from his niggles and is fit to play the final Test against England in Manchester, starting September 10.

Shami and fellow senior pacer Ishant Sharma were rested from the Oval Test that India won by 157 runs to take 2-1 lead in the five-match series as the duo was nursing niggles.

It is learnt that Shami had joined the team's training session Wednesday, two days before the commencement of the final Test. Shami's fitness status will certainly help captain Virat Kohli and only available coach Vikram Rathour to mull on available options ahead of the fifth game.

Rohit, Pujara fitness

The medical team is still assessing both the senior players Rohit (knee injury) and Cheteshwar Pujara (ankle) but it couldn't be ascertained whether they have partially or completely recovered.

It's learnt that Rohit is recovering well and chances of him being available are still bright but a decision would only be taken after medical team gives a go ahead. If Rohit fails to get fit in time, the choice is between Abhimanyu Easwaran, Mayank Agarwal and Prithvi Shaw.

In case of Pujara's absence, it will be a two horse race between Hanuma Vihari and Suryakumar Yadav.

Griezmann equals int'l scoring tally with Platini as France end winless streak with a 2-0 win over Finland

REUTERS

Lyon, Sept 8: Antoine Griezmann played chief tormentor as France sprung back into life to end a five-game winless streak by beating visitors Finland 2-0 in a World Cup Group D qualifier Tuesday.

He has now scored 41 international goals to become France's joint third all-time top scorer alongside Michel Platini, only behind Olivier Giroud (46) and record holder Thierry Henry (51).

Griezmann struck in each half after his partnership with Karim Benzema bore fruit in satisfying fashion to put the world champions at 12 points from six matches at the top of the group.

Finland, who had a decent opening half, are third on five points but have two games in hand of the French. Bosnia are fourth on three points from four games after a 2-2 draw with bottom side Kazakhstan, who also have three points. Ukraine are second on five points from as many matches.

After two 1-1 draws against

Bosnia and Ukraine, Deschamps' tinkering paid off as France started in an usual 5-2-3 formation with Leo Dubois and Theo Hernandez as fullbacks and Griezmann, Anthony Martial and Benzema up front.

But it was Finland who had the first clear chance through Urho Niissila, whose floating strike was tipped over the bar by Hugo Lloris.

Les Bleus, however, were on the attack and Lukas Hradecky pulled off a nice save in the 22nd minute to deny Benzema. Griezmann found the back of the net when he whipped the ball past Hradecky with the outside of his foot after collecting a clever deflection in the box by Benzema on 25 minutes.

Finland continued to threaten on the break, but France proved clinical early in the second half. After some more nice work from Benzema, Dubois found Griezmann in the area and the forward sneaked the ball between Hradecky and the left-hand post to give the hosts some breathing space in the 53rd.

Shortly afterwards, Martial missed Hernandez's cross for what would have been France's third. France controlled the end game, keeping the ball high on the pitch and creating a few chances through Benzema, who had a night to remember on his visit to his former stadium, 12 years after leaving Olympique Lyonnais for Real Madrid.

SPECTACULAR FINISHING: Antoine Griezmann (No.7) wheels away in celebration along with a teammate after scoring against Finland, Tuesday

REUTERS

Amsterdam, Sept 8: Memphis Depay scored a hat-trick as the Netherlands ran out 6-1 winners over 10-man Turkey at the Amsterdam Arena Tuesday to go top of World Cup qualifying Group G.

It was the first international treble for the 27-year-old striker as the Dutch posted an emphatic victory for the second time in four days to reach 13 points from six games and take over from Turkey at the head of the section.

Davy Klaassen scored in the opening minute in a dream start for the home side, who had lost 2-4 to Turkey in Istanbul in March at the start of the qualifiers for the Qatar 2022 finals, before Memphis added three more, including a penalty.

Guus Til scored the fifth 10 minutes from time and Donyell Malen added a sixth in stoppage time before a consolation goal for Cengiz Under.

Turkey slipped from top to third in the group as they stayed on 11 points with Norway moving second, behind the Dutch on goal difference, after beating Gibraltar 5-1 Tuesday.

The Netherlands picked up where they left off after an emphatic 4-0

No CR7, no problem

BAKU: Portugal cruised to a 3-0 victory away to Azerbaijan in World Cup qualifying Tuesday to move top of Group A.

Portugal were without Cristiano Ronaldo, who was suspended after picking up a yellow card while celebrating his second goal in their last-gasp 2-1 victory over Ireland last week, but his absence was not felt as first-half strikes from Bernardo Silva and Andre Silveira plus a Diogo Jota header secured victory. The visitors took the lead after 26 minutes as Bernardo latched onto Bruno Fernandes' deep cross to volley in at the back post. Fernandes was heavily involved again as Portugal doubled their lead, this time his cross was turned across goal by Jota for Andre Silva, who tapped in from close range. Jota then rounded off the victory 15 minutes from fulltime, heading in Joao Pedro's centre.

Croatia beat Slovenia

SPLIT (CROATIA): Croatia proved it can win without Luka Modric as it beat Slovenia 3-0 Tuesday in their fight for a World Cup qualifying spot. Real Madrid midfielder Modric missed all three of Croatia's games during the international break with a thigh injury, but the 2018 World Cup runner-up has emerged with two wins and a draw. Croatia is level with Russia on 13 points atop Group H but leads on goal difference. Marko Livaja gave Croatia the lead in the 33rd minute with a header on the rebound after Marko Pasalic headed against the post. Pasalic finally got his goal in the 66th from point-blank range off a low cross from Ivan Perisic. Substitute Nikola Vlasic added a third goal in stoppage time. Croatia gained revenge for their 0-1 loss to Slovenia in March.
