DGCA slaps ₹5 lakh penalty on IndiGo

AGENCIES

New Delhi, May 28: Aviation regulator Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) Saturday said it has imposed a fine of ₹5 lakh on IndiGo airline for denying boarding to a specially-abled child at Ranchi airport May 7.

IndiGo had May 9 said the boy was denied permission to board the Ranchi-Hyderabad flight as he was "visibly in panic". As the boy was prohibited from boarding, his parents also decided not to enter the plane.

The DGCA had May 9 formed a three-member team to investigate the incident. "It has been observed that the handling of the special child by the Indigo ground staff was deficient and ended up exacerbating the situation," said a statement by the DGCA.

A more compassionate handling would have smoothened nerves, calmed the child and obviated the need for the extreme step, it mentioned.

Special situations deserve extraordinary responses but the airline's staff failed to rise up to the occasion, and in the process, committed lapses in adherence to the letter and spirit of the Civil Aviation Requirements (regulations), it noted.

Acting on a tip-off, the STF conducted a raid at Baramunda area of Bhubaneswar Friday evening and seized the narcotic drugs along with ₹17,000 cash from the two drug peddlers, said DSP of STF Sachidananda Rath.

The accused - identified as Kapildev Majumdar, a resident of Kalyani Simanto under Kalyani police limits in Nadia district of West Bengal, and Rasmiranjan Bhol alias Silu of Damabhuiin under Jankia police station in Khurda - have been arrested and forwarded to court, the STF said.

Later, the Malgodown police, in association with Barang police, raided the manufacturing unit and seized 60 cartons of adulterated sauce and huge quantities of raw materials.

"Two persons were detained from the factory. The unit was processing various chemicals and other hazardous substances to manufacture the sauce. We have sent samples of the adulterated sauce for laboratory tests," said Malgodown police in-charge Trupti Ranjan Nayak.

Sources, meanwhile, claimed that some traders were selling the adulterated sauce to various retailers in Cuttack and its nearby

It is worth mentioning here that Jagatpur police and health wing of Cuttack Municipal Corporation (CMC) Friday busted an illegal soft drink unit at Tarol area of the city.

The unit - Binari Industries - was operating from a hotel without requisite permissions, said CMC health officer Satyabrata Mohapatra.

OPSC halts recruitment process in universities

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Bhubaneswar, May 28: The Odisha Public Service Commission has said it will keep in abeyance the recruitment process of teachers, after the UGC alleged violation of a Supreme Court order on implementation of the Odisha Universities (Amendment) Act 2020.

The UGC, in separate letters to the OPSC and the Higher Education department, said the hiring process of faculty or non-teaching staff in universities should not be conducted for three months in the wake of the apex court order

The move comes a day after the UGC, in separate letters to the OPSC and the Higher Education department, said the hiring process of faculty or non-teaching staff in universities should not be conducted for three months in the wake of the apex court order.

The OPSC interview for appointment to the post of assistant professors for certain subjects were scheduled from June 4.

The Act was passed in the Assembly, but the opposition alleged that the law will curtail the financial and administrative autonomy of universities, and the varsities will come under direct control of the state government.

The University Grants Commission had filed special leave petitions before the Supreme Court challenging the Act, and the court put an interim halt on its implementation.

A delegation of retired vice-chancellors and professors also met Governor Ganeshi Lal over the issue Friday.

Heritage corridor listed as unauthorised project by ASI

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, May 28: The Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) has added Srimandir heritage corridor project to its list of unauthorised projects under Bhubaneswar circle.

The ASI has prepared a list of heritage sites where construction works are being carried out within 100 metre radius without its permission. The Srimandir heritage corridor project has been added to the list. However, the ASI has not issued any statement in this regard.

In its affidavit submitted to the Orissa high court recently, the ASI had stated that it has not provided any no-objection certificate to the project.

The ASI also informed the court that the digging of pits as part of the project work might have damaged archaeological remains near the 12th century shrine.

Meanwhile, Puri Shankaracharya Swami Nischalananda Saraswati once again criticised the state government over the heritage corridor project.

"The Holy City is a place for meditation and spirituality. The state government must not introduce any measures to harm the spiritual essence of Puri," said the seer.

Saraswati further said no political party in the state is capable of challenging the state government

The Srimandir heritage corridor project has been added to the list. However, the ASI has not issued any statement in this regard over the project. "While the BJP is with the BJD, the Congress party has lost most of its base in state," he said.

The seer earlier urged both Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik to ensure a halt to the 'destruction' of heritage "under the grab of development".

"The Prime Minister and Chief Minister should give attention to the fact that the Puri is being ruined in the name of development. Mutts are being demolished for widening roads... (this) is not right. The administration should stop implementing its plan immediately," Saraswati had said.

Puri MP Pinaki Mishra, meanwhile, said that construction work of the project is going on as per the wish of Lord Jagannath and no agency can stop it.

The High Court and the Supreme Court will take a call on the legality of the project and every one will have to obey the court order, Mishra said.

"The touch-sensitive and vibration-based features would prove to be revolutionary in giving the sense of time to the blind and the visually impaired. I congratulate the team led by Prof. Siddhartha Panda, and Vishwaraj Srivastava, for this invention," he added.

The invention is said to be a cost-effective smart wearable device with a touch-sensitive tactile interface that displays information using vibrations.

The dial face consisting of tactile touch-sensitive hour markers and vibration-based output is used to read time, create an interface to select different apps, haptically recognize different apps, and to sense the numbers.

The report said that around 49 million blind and 285 million visually impaired persons in the world face difficulty in easily interacting with devices due to the absence of tactile interface and India is home to about 20 per cent of the total blind people in the world.

Now, the district administration has decided to provide two acre of land near the proposed bus-stand at Mahishapat. However, the land is under the custody of the encroachers. The implementation of the project is getting delayed as the encroachers are yet to be evicted.

As per the plans, the smart park would have ultramodern walking tracks for morning and evening walks. The park would be powered through solar panels and solar lighting systems and would also have rest rooms, flower gardens and gymnasium facilities. It would be a hub of entertainment and recreation for the locals.

Meanwhile, Dhenkanal has been declared a model town due to which the state government is keen on de-

However, due to negligence and apathetic attitude of the local administration, several proposals have failed to see the light of day, the smart park being one among those.

When contacted, Dhenkanal Municipality executive officer Atanu Kumar Samant confirmed that the civic body does have ₹1 crore for construction of a smart park for quite a long time.

The district administration has decided to give two acres near the bus-stand area for which talks will be held with sub-Collector. Tenders will be floated and works will begin after the land is finalised, he added.

MOBILE GAMING SET TO SURPASS $136BN IN '22

Mobile gaming now represents 61 per cent of the overall gaming market and is set to surpass $136 billion in 2022, growing 1.7x faster than the gaming market overall, a new report has shown.

The overall gaming market is set to hit $222 billion in 2022, according to data.ai (formerly App Annie) and the International Data Corporation (IDC).

Globally, users downloaded 45 per cent more mobile games per week in Q1 2021 from pre-pandemic levels, clocking in at over 1.1 billion games per week.

"We are seeing greater diversity across gaming genres allowing publishers to serve new gamers across generations and genders," said Lexi Sydow, Head of Market Insights, data.ai.

Erosion plays havoc along Ganjam coast

TIDAL WAVES ARE FAST ERODING THE COASTLINE AND IT MAY SOON GOBBLE UP THE REMAINING SIX HOUSES IN PODAMPETA VILLAGE

POST NEWS NETWORK

Ganjam, May 28: Fishermen in Podampeta village at Palibandha panchayat near Rushikulya mouth of Ganjam district have been living in the dread of losing their land and livelihood as high tidal waves are fast creeping in towards the village eating the coast away.

Meanwhile, with the sea surface always remaining rough near the river mouth and high tidal waves constantly lashing the coast, six families of fishermen that still live in the village are counting their days in apprehension that they will be rendered homeless.

The tidal waves are fast eroding the coastline and it is apprehended that it may soon gobble up the remaining six houses in the village.

They fear that the tidal waves may wash away their houses and belongings anytime. Such has been the erosion that the houses are crumbling like a pack of cards while the distance between the sea and Podampeta village has reduced from two kilometres to just a few metres now.

Reports said that the district administration rehabilitated around 99 per cent of the residents at safer places elsewhere after the village witnessed faster erosion due to ingress of the turbulent sea.

However, six families of fishermen were left out of the housing scheme and still continue to live in the village. The roaring sound of the sea haunts them and deprives them of a peaceful sleep at night.

"We are living in the village in an atmosphere of trepidation and nightmare resigned to our fate," said family members of fishermen J Sukanti, L Bhimadara, L Ashis, CH Trinath, L Sriram and B Babaji. They claimed to have seen houses crumbling one after another on full moon days and new moon nights and this fear continues to haunt them. They alleged that recent cyclonic storm Asani destroyed several pucca houses and mangrove forest and resulted in a change of the landscape.

Sources said that the district administration initially rehabilitated around 102 families at Siddharth Nagar on the foothills of Dumunagiri 2013.

Later, it rehabilitated 370 families at ODRP Colony. Demands are being made in various quarters to relocate the remaining six families at safer locations by providing them houses either under Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana or Biju Pucca Ghar Yojana.

Quarry, crusher unit turn villagers' bane

POST NEWS NETWORK

Sambalpur, May 28: A stone quarry and crusher unit of a road construction firm at Niladunguri under Jujumura tehsil in this district has become a bane for the residents in nearby villages.

The firm is reportedly engaged in construction of Sambalpur-Tileibani stretch of the National Highway-53.

Residents alleged that their houses have developed cracks due to frequent blasting in the quarry. Moreover, the pollutants and dust particles discharged from the cement mixing plant of the firm are adversely affecting locals' cultivation by enveloping the farmlands in the vicinity.

Locals alleged that the construction firm has been harassing them for years and all their complaints before the company authorities have fallen into deaf ears.

They alleged that the common people are being tricked in the name of development. According to locals, the construction firm has its cement mixing plant at Pradhanpali mouza.

The firm is forcibly discharging the effluents and waste water from its plant to this farmland.

Locals have drawn the attention of the district administration, block officials and the state pollution control board (SPCB) demanding action but to no avail.

Recently, villagers submitted a memorandum to the Jujumura tehsildar demanding his intervention, May 9. Later, tehsildar Abhishek Sahu accompanied by the revenue inspector visited the spot. Tehsildar Sahu said that a report has been prepared and further action will be taken on the order of higher authorities.

Suryawanshi Mayur Bikash, sub-collector, Sadar said no illegalities will be encouraged in the name of development and action will be taken on the basis of the report.

Rourkela girl Sriya joins K-pop band Blackswan

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, May 28: Sriya Lenka, an 18-year-old girl from Rourkela, has been selected as the fifth member of popular South Korean pop band Blackswan.

Lenka, who goes by stage name Sriya, will be joining the original members of the girl group -- Youngheun, Fatou, Judy and Leia -- along with Gabriela Dalcin (Gabi) from Brazil as the sixth member.

Record label DR Music welcomed Lenka and Dalcin on board in an Instagram post.

"With their debut, we will be back with the new Blackswan," the post, accompanied with photographs of the new members, read.

Lenka and Dalcin were selected for the band after participating in the six-month-long global auditions that were announced by DR Music last year after Hyeme left the girl group.

DR Music Entertainment Korea director Philip YJ Yoon said Lenka and Dalcin worked well together during the audition process.

"They showed us very positive energy when sticking together and achieving each of the assignments they needed to overcome. It was one of the reasons we decided not to separate them," Yoon told PTI in an email interaction.

As part of the training, which started in December, both the artists had to work on their Korean language, dancing and vocal skills.

"The duo will now start preparing for their new album and stage performances," Yoon added.

Lenka, a trained dancer, was introduced to K-pop by a friend a few years ago. She found the choreography in the music videos very attractive and got hooked onto its "unique style" of singing and dancing.

Boy band Exo was the teenager's introduction to the world of K-pop and subsequently she fell in love with songs by the BTS, Stray Kids and The Boyz. In 2020, she saw K-pop record labels open online auditions due to the Covid-19 pandemic and decided to give it a shot.

When Lenka's family learnt that she was applying for K-pop auditions, her grandmother introduced her to a classical music teacher. Her short stint in learning Odissi helped her improve subtle nuances.

Kansarjharan dam project shelved for 30 years amid irrigation woes

Locals say no effort has been made to realise former CM Biju Patnaik's assurance of building a dam across the hilly stream

POST NEWS NETWORK

Sambalpur, May 28: About 30 years have passed after a proposal was made for building a dam at Kansarjharan under Jujumura area in Sambalpur district. But the much-anticipated has been left in the cold store. Farmers in the area have been struggling to irrigate their farmlands and meet their water needs solely from the stream.

Reports said, former Chief Minister Biju Patnaik had inaugurated Kayakud panchayat office building and Jujumura market complex during his visit to Jujumura in 1992. At that time, farmers and local people had demanded construction of a dam, highlighting before Patnaik the need of a water reservoir at Kansarjharan. The former Chief Minister had assured the locals to look into their demand in the larger interest of farmers. Former Rairakhole MLA and minister Basant Mahananda was present at that time.

Later, following a directive from Patnaik, a team of officials had also conducted a survey in the area and held discussions with people. But the project has remained a non-starter till date. Many locals have repeatedly approached the district administration and various departments in Bhubaneswar in this regard, but in vain.

The people of Kansar panchayat still lamented over the fact that the assurance of the former Chief Minister has remained unrealised. They are still waiting for the project.

They pointed out that most of the panchayats under Jujumura block are forested and hilly areas. There are several streams in the area. These natural water sources can be harnessed for irrigation purpose if conserved in a reservoir. Debjharan waterfall originates from Jarang forest area and flows through many areas. Water of streams like Kansarjharan, Debjharan and Kutharjharan flows through Naktideula and finally mingles with a stream at Kancharpur. All these streams flow perennially all through the year. Locals said that only Debjharan has been developed as an eco-tourism spot with various facilities. Also, scores of farmers are getting benefits of irrigation. They demanded that Kansarjharan should be developed as an irrigation facility to boost farming. Many people are eager to spare their land for water reservoir.

The government should seriously consider the long awaited proposal of the reservoir across Kansarjharan, which will provide irrigation to farmers of Gadgadbahal, Musakani, Kansar and Janumunda. The district administration and the forest department should take up a survey on the proposed project. However, executive engineer Santosh Patnaik of the Water Resources department said that a survey was conducted years ago, but the work could not be carried forward due to presence of forest land around the proposed site.

Government deputy chief whip and Rairakhole MLA Rohit Pujari assured, "I would talk to the forest and the minor irrigation departments to resume the process."

Historic coast canal hurtles towards death

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bahanaga, May 28: Historic Odisha coast canal, built during the British era, is fast losing its existence in Balasore due to illegal constructions at several places, it was alleged.

Now, roads have been laid on the canal bed in Bahanaga block by blocking the water. Such sights are dime a dozen at Abhana, Baripada, Aruhabada and Kharasahasapur areas. Local farmers have expressed their anguish over such development, alleging that such illegal way of building roads across the historic canal will finally strike its death knell and in a few years. They said that there is no law that allows damaging a canal and building roads on it.

On the other hand, renovation of the canal, at some places, has been taken up under MGNREGS. However, lakhs of rupees have been bungled through shoddy renovation work.

In 2011, a portion of the canal at Talapada under Remuna block was filled up and a small bridge was built there. Following allegations, the irrigation department had looked into the matter and blamed it on the gram panchayat. Later, the bridge and the road were pulled down.

In 2017, a similar development took place near Balarampur in Baripada panchayat under PMGSY. The road work was halted while a bridge was built at the place.

A few years ago, a road was laid across the canal after filling up its bed in Abhana panchayat. Locals alleged that the Water Resources department and the drainage division have turned a blind eye to such illegal activities.

They pointed out that the canal used to resolve issues like irrigation, drainage, flood control and ingress of saline water from the sea. The canal would be of immense help for farmers in irrigating the farmlands, if the state government pays attention to its renovation.

When contacted, BDO Gourang Ghose said canal renovation is being carried out under MGNREGS after getting permission from the project director of the DRDA.

"At places, the canal is being

■ Roads have been laid on the canal bed in Bahanaga block by blocking the water filled up temporarily for facilitating communication. Later, the road will be dismantled. But I am not aware of the road construction across the canal in Abhana panchayat," he added. As for the issue, executive engineer of the irrigation department said that the block administration is carrying out renovation of the canal under MGNREGS after getting permission from the department.

"But we have no reports about canal being filled up to make space for road projects. Nobody was granted permission in this regard. If it was done, legal action will be taken against the persons concerned. We will look into it only after receiving complaints," he added.

FOCUS INFORMATION WARFARE

FIGHTING BIG LIES

After years of Kremlin-sanctioned Russian interference in Western elections, the threat posed by information warfare has become too big to ignore, and too serious to leave to the discretion of private online platforms. Lawmakers should recognise disinformation campaigns for what they are: deliberate attacks on free societies

By the time the 2019 European Parliament elections were held, Russian attempts at meddling had become a foregone conclusion, and the European Commission responded by setting out an Action Plan against Disinformation and additional measures to protect the electoral process. Nonetheless, democracies remain doubly disadvantaged in the face of electoral interference, manipulation, and information warfare.

For starters, democracies cannot respond with their own counter-propaganda, lest they lose credibility in the eyes of an already distrustful public. As such, they are confined to fact-checking, which has only limited effects. Moreover, democracies cannot renounce essential principles like freedom of expression, which the 1789 French Declaration of the Rights of Man and of the Citizen describes as "one of the most precious rights."

Of course, this freedom is not absolute. One does not have the right to infringe on others' rights. And, unlike in the United States, many European countries have laws against hate speech. In France and elsewhere, for example, Holocaust denial is a criminal offense, and white supremacist demonstrations would be inconceivable.

Perhaps owing to these differences, the EU has done much more than the US to regulate digital platforms, which are increasingly expected to serve as guarantors of informational integrity. Under the EU's Digital Services Act, which will enter into force in 2023, online platforms will have to meet new transparency requirements, such as by explaining how their algorithms work, and by publishing annual reports on the illicit content (such as hate speech) that they have removed.

Platforms will also be obligated to inform law enforcement about information that may constitute criminal offenses or indicate a serious threat to people's lives or security. And companies that fail to comply with the DSA will face penalties of up to 6 per cent of their annual global revenue.

But the text of the law does not really regulate "disinformation," which is a term coined by the Soviets in the 1920s to describe their preferred instrument of propaganda and destabilisation. Rather, the EU is concerned with "verifiably false or misleading information created, presented, and disseminated for economic gain or to intentionally deceive the public," or more precisely: "coercive and deceptive efforts to disrupt the free formation and expression of individuals' political will by a foreign state actor or its agents."

In practice, the text of the DSA leaves disinformation to be dealt with through online platforms' own codes of conduct. The past few years have shown that approach to be far from satisfactory. Lawmakers must be more creative and direct. Though we do not want to create anything like a thought police, we should be treating big lies for what they are: deliberate attacks on our societies.

Signaling a step in the right direction, the EU General Court recently rejected an appeal by RT following the suspension of its broadcasting license in France. The court found that the balance of interests between the Kremlin-controlled broadcaster and the EU clearly fell in the EU's favour. The EU's interests, it ruled, "aim to protect Member States against campaigns of disinformation and destabilization that would be carried out by the media under the control of the Russian leadership and that would threaten public order and security of the Union, in a context marked by military aggression against Ukraine."

This reasoning should not be limited to the context of a military invasion. Sanctions against anyone peddling fake news should be designed on the same basis. Now that the EU-US Trade and Technology Council has agreed to pursue coordinated measures against disinformation, it has an opportunity to craft a more effective response to the threat of authoritarian information warfare.

To paraphrase Clausewitz, the world's democracies must recognise that disinformation is nothing but the continuation of war by other means. Defending against such threats will require not just stronger logistical means, but also stronger legal tools.

©PROJECT SYNDICATE

From the Protocols of the Elders of Zion to Russian President Vladimir Putin's absurd claims that Ukraine is run by Nazis who are pursuing genocide against the country's Russian-speakers, the Kremlin has long been an expert in the dark art of disinformation.

A forgery published in Russia at the beginning of the twentieth century, the Protocols supposedly exposed a Jewish conspiracy to achieve world domination. It was as big a lie as has ever been told, and it became a pillar of the virulent anti-Semitism that led eventually to the extermination of most European Jewry by Hitler's Third Reich.

As for Putin's own big lie, it has deceived almost no one outside of Russia, but it may well have incited some of the atrocities that Russia's poorly trained, ill-informed soldiers have committed in Bucha and elsewhere. Disinformation and lies can kill. They can also tip a country over to the wrong side of history.

Western democracies had a wake-up call in 2016, when Russia interfered in the US presidential election on Donald Trump's behalf, and in the United Kingdom's Brexit referendum in support of Leave. These two shocks alerted the world's democracies to the fact that authoritarian states are unleashing a new kind of information warfare against them. The objective is to destabilise, divide, and weaken democratic societies, politics, and institutions — starting with the European Union.

Until recently, we in France had hardly considered the threat of foreign interference in our politics. But that changed with the 2017 presidential election, when emails stolen from Emmanuel Macron's campaign were dumped online just days before voters cast their ballots. Mixed in with real emails were fake ones designed to suggest, falsely, that Macron had off-shore bank accounts. In 2019, similar hack-and-leak attacks were launched against German Chancellor Angela Merkel and hundreds of other German politicians.

Absence of Ethics

Last month, a set of over 100 retired government servants wrote a letter to the prime minister. The signatories included a former head of the Research and Analysis Wing or RAW, and a former National Security Advisor. They wrote that communal violence in India "is no longer just the politics of an assertive Hindutva identity, nor the attempt to keep the communal cauldron on the boil — all that has been going for decades and in the last few years had become a part of the new normal. What is alarming now is the subordination of the fundamental principles of our Constitution and of the rule of law to the forces of majoritarianism, in which the state appears to be fully complicit."

It is difficult to disagree with what the letter said and that is not the point I am making today. In response, another set of over 100 retired government servants wrote in support of Hindutva politics and accused the signatories, which again it should be noted included a former RAW head and former NSA, of being 'anti-national'.

This is to me more interesting and it is a reflection on the state of our civil services. It has almost nobody from within questioning what is going on in India today. I can think of two IAS officers who quit the service in protest against what the government was doing. One is the young officer Kannan Gopinathan who resigned in protest against the restrictions on Kashmiris in 2019. The other one was Harsh Mander who resigned in 2002 over the Gujarat pogrom.

Two officers over 20 years is all I can think of. Perhaps there are others, but there cannot be many. It appears that for the rest either they approve of what is going on in the government they work for; or they disapprove but carry on anyway for other reasons; or they are immune and do not care what the government does.

This is not a minor issue and is a reflection on Indian morality. It means that the entire bureaucracy is fine with violence against minorities catalysed by the State. And that they are fine with eccentric economic policies that devastate the lives of the vulnerable and the poor, such as taking away their currency notes (which surely was also a matter over which there ought to have been resignations).

Other things arise from here. Bureaucrats carry out orders. Meaning that those running bulldozers over the homes and shops of the poor without any backing of the law, and those who continue to destroy homes despite a stay from the Supreme Court (as happened in Jahangirpuri) are willing participants.

The brutalisation of Aryan Khan by one officer was acceptable to that officer's colleagues and superiors, because they gauged the wind and found that the government wanted this persecution.

A report in the Indian Express headlined "Cruise drug raid case: One officer went rogue, agency looked other way" says the following about the case. The SIT's internal report says: "It is strange to note that in spite of clear cut denial by Arbaaz (Merchant) — Khan's friend from whom small amount of charas was seized — regarding involvement of Aryan in procurement or possession of drugs, Investigating Officer started looking at WhatsApp chats of Aryan without even formally seizing his mobile phone. It appears the IO was motivated to somehow implicate Aryan Khan in the drug case." Why did the department and his colleagues not stop this 'rogue' officer from implicating an innocent man while the entire nation was watching for weeks? And while the media and the BJP government thoroughly demonised him. The answer is again that they either approved, or disapproved and refused to intervene or they didn't care. Such total absence of ethics in an agency with sweeping powers to destroy lives is troubling and frightening. But it must be examined.

So many of our ugly features have been exposed in recent years that this one has escaped notice or has not been commented on as much as it should have been. We do not appear to have the internal resistance a democracy must have. When one of its branches begins to malfunction (or 'go rogue') the rest of it must step in. The Americans call it checks and balances and it is the ability of the judiciary, legislature and executive to ensure one of the three doesn't overstep. This system necessarily presumes that it is the individuals inside the system, the judges, the civil servants, the administrators and the elected, who will step up when they see something problematic. It appears to have worked for them. It is not working for us. We must ask ourselves why there is such an absence of ethics and personal responsibility in the 'world's largest democracy'.

Talaria

If we wanted to invent a classical replacement for the idiom from head to toe, we might choose from petasus to talaria. The latter is one of those words — like aglet for the little tube at the end of a shoelace or philtrum for the groove in the upper lip below the nostrils — that identify something we know well but usually can't name. The two words petasus and talaria — and a third, caduceus — are associated with Hermes, the Greek herald and messenger of the gods whom the Romans knew as Mercury. He's usually portrayed as having wings on his sandals. The Romans called these talaria, a plural noun from the adjective talaris, relating to the ankle, from talus, ankle. Hermes was given his talaria by his father Zeus, who also gave him a low-crowned, broad-rimmed traveller's cap of a type well-known in classical times and which Greeks called a petasus. In later times, the hat changed to a brimless one with wings on, but it kept the name. The third traditional item of equipment of Hermes and Mercury, the caduceus, was the wand of office of a Greek or Roman herald, which usually had two snakes wound around a wooden staff. Long ago, this became confused with another rod, the staff of Asclepius, the god of healing, which only had the one snake; the twin-snake version of Hermes and Mercury replaced it and remains common as a symbol of medicine.

Taqwacore

Taqwacore is a recent musical genre. The name combines the Arabic taqwá, which may be translated as piety or the quality of being God-fearing, with the music term hardcore. Its inspiration is a fictional work of 2003 by a white American Islamic convert, Michael Muhammad Knight, which featured a fictitious Muslim punk scene in the US. This led to real-life imitations, with bands rebelling against what they see as the stultifying convention and religious dogma of Islam while maintaining their faith.

SPECTRUM GYANVAPI ROW

Fixing history or driving wedge?

Poonam I Kaushish

BASICALLY, IT ALL BOILS DOWN TO A DESIRE FOR POLITICAL POWER, A STRUGGLE FOR RESOURCES, AND ECONOMIC COMPETITION

Politicians are an unholy lot who take a "holier than thou attitude" on anything and everything — be it religion or riots, scums or scams. All fanatics when it comes to protecting their power bases. Nothing stands testimony to this better than the "jihad" unleashed over the Gyanvapi Masjid-Kashi Vishwanath Temple.

Certainly, the masjid-temple symbolism is an intoxicating potent which is being used by netas to vet voters' appetite depending on which side of the template one is on — Hindu or Muslim. Both have just one faith — power.

Pertinently, the Kashi-Masjid dispute was one of the three religious places invoked by the RSS, BJP and VHP during their Ram Mandir campaign, "Ayodhya to bas jhaanki hai, Kashi-Mathura baaki hai."

Questionably is the genesis of the dispute to rectify history or drive a wedge between Hindus and Muslims? Ensure BJP's political future? Or is it about Shringar Gauri? What does that have to do with the mosque?

History tells us the Gyanvapi Masjid was built by Aurangzeb in 1669 after demolishing the ancient Vishweshwar Mandir. The temple's plinth was left untouched and continued to serve as the mosque's courtyard. But since 1991 it has been wrangled in legal troubles when a descendant of Vishwanath temple priest and two others filed a suit in Varanasi's civil judge court demanding land be returned to them, bypassing the Places of Worship (Special Provisions) Act, 1991 (PoW).

In 1998, the court ruled the suit was barred by PoW Act citing Section 3 which prohibits converting a place of worship of a different religious denomination or a different class of the same religious denomination. Section 4(2) states all litigations, appeals or other proceedings relating to changing the nature of the place of worship (which were pending till August 15, 1947) shall cease after the enactment of this Act and no fresh action can be taken on such cases.

18 August 2021 five women filed a petition demanding right to worship in Shringar Gauri temple daily without any restrictions along with other "visible and invisible deities within the old temple complex". Presently, devotees are allowed to worship only on the fourth day of Chaitra Navratra. Today, post videography all eyes are on what the court adjudicates.

To buttress its claim, a senior BJP leader underscored Kashi

Vishwanath Temple as Lord Shiva's most significant shrine and prominent among 12 'Jyotirlingas' mentioned in Puranas. It is part of our national heritage and symbol of nationalism which is at the core of Indian consciousness. We have given Kashi a political thrust for installing Hindu nationalism as India's dominant political credo.

Muslim clerics aver the Hindutva Sangh has found its golden goose: Reclaiming temples by breaking mosques to get the Hindu majority to keep bringing them back to power on an emotive issue built on the foundation of aasha and badla from Muslim invaders, who are history. The method is simple: instill a feeling of victimisation within Hindus that they had been dealt unfairly by the Muslim minority, first by Mughals and now by Congress which believed in Muslim appeasement.

Today, this victim complex has now culminated into a superiority complex within a cross-section of the majority community which wants to assert its identity by demolition of mosques and "reclaiming" temples. Ayodhya and Babri were the political investments made three decades ago.

Already, seven BJP states have passed laws that criminalise marriage between Muslims and Hindus and targeted laws and policies on namaaz, hijab, beef and taqat. The message is also larger — demonisation of the Muslims. One can call them terrorists, anti-nationals or rabid fundamentalists to completely destroy India's pluralism.

Basically, it all boils down to a desire for political power, a struggle for resources, ethnic rivalries and economic competition. The repeated finger pointing between Hindus-Muslims reveals that for power both will adopt diabolical machinations to create a secular-communal divide. There is no desire to uphold equal respect for various faiths. Instead unashamedly use religion to increase their so-called popularity with voters.

In this milieu wrought with friction our leaders need to understand that by playing Hindus and Muslims against each other they are only serving their vested interests. Communalism thrives on one community's hate for the other along with playing up the psychosis of retaliation. At the end of the day, when our polity does a cost-benefit analysis, they need to answer a simple question: Is there vote-bank politics really worth the price the country is paying? Who will bear the cost and answer to Gods? INFA

US gun culture

Sir, Sadly and unsurprisingly mass shootings in the US have become a common affair. But when victims happen to be primary school students, the entire world sits and takes notice of the extremity of the tragedy. The slaughter at the primary school in Texas raises again the most obvious question that has been discussed and debated many times in the past: "Why can't America stop the scourge of gun violence?" Distressingly enough, it cannot for the reason that gun violence in the US is symbolic of a broken political system that fails to protect its own citizens. Frequent mass shootings are a stain on the country's international reputation. In a broader sense, the failure to implement bold measures against gun violence is seen as a dysfunctional system of a government incapable of protecting its own citizens, including children. In fact, Pew Research Center's survey reveals the fact that an average 83 percent of Americans have said that the US is no longer a good model of democracy to follow. This makes for depressing reading and seemingly makes it incumbent on the Biden administration to take immediate action on gun control and the need for gun reform. But without the support of the Congress, little will happen federally in the US.

Crime & punishment

Sir, Yasin Malik, chief of out-lawed JKLF, gets life imprisonment for funding terror. He has been awarded varying jail terms under UAPA and IPC by the Delhi Court besides imposing a fine of ₹10 lakh. He has admitted in court to all the charges levelled against him. Yet, it is strange that people like Mehbooba Mufti are angry at the people frowning at Malik for his heinous crime. This makes people unable to understand where she stands. There is no wonder if Pakistani Prime Minister Shehbaz Sahariff thinks in a different way because it is an instrument of policy of Pakistan to treat terrorists perpetrating terrorism in India in general and J&K in particular as "freedom fighters." Malik is a Pakistan-trained militant who turned into one of the prominent separatist faces. The court has recognised that terror-funding is one of the gravest offences that deserve to be punished severely. Since Malik has admitted to the crime, the door for challenging in the High Court has been closed. But he has the option to go in for appeal on the quantum of sentence.

Father of boy who raised slogans at PFI march held

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Kochi, May 28: The father of the minor boy, who had courted controversy by allegedly raising provocative slogans during a recent march organised by the Popular Front of India (PFI) in Kerala's Alappuzha, was taken into custody from his house in Palluruthy here on Saturday, police said.

The family, including the boy, was reportedly away from the house ever since a purported video, in which the child could be seen sitting on the shoulder of a person and raising offensive slogans during the "Save the Republic" rally held by the PFI on May 21, went viral on social media platforms prompting police to register a case.

The family, including the boy, was reportedly away from the house ever since a purported video, in which the child could be seen sitting on the shoulder of a person and raising offensive slogans during the "Save the Republic" rally held by the PFI on May 21, went viral on social media platforms prompting police to register a case soon for detailed interrogation. Further procedures would be decided later. However, justifying his son's action, the man said the controversial slogan was not taught by anyone but the boy had learnt it while attending similar programmes before.

He said it was not for the first time that his son was raising such a slogan in a programme and many such instances of him raising similar slogans could be seen on YouTube. "We used to take part in the PFI's programmes. He had learnt the slogan when he attended a protest programme against the implementation of the Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA). I don't understand why it has become a controversy now. What offence did he commit to harass a little boy like this?" he told media before taken into custody.

So far, 20 persons have been arrested and remanded in the case and more people were being taken into custody for questioning from various places, he said. According to police sources, the boy would be sent for counselling at a government centre soon.

Meanwhile, PFI activists staged a protest in Palluruthy against the police custody of the boy's father. Erattupetta resident Anas, who carried the minor boy on his shoulders, was the first person to be arrested in the case.

In the FIR filed based on a complaint by Vijayakumar P K, police invoked various sections of the Indian Penal Code and the Kerala Police Act and arraigned PFI Alappuzha district secretary Mujeeb and Navas as accused along with other identifiable people. Sections 153A (promoting enmity between different groups on grounds of religion), 295A (deliberate and malicious acts, intended to outrage religious feelings of any class), 505(1)(b) (act against the public tranquility), 505(1)(c), 505(2) and 506 (criminal intimidation) of the IPC and Section 120(o) of KP Act are included in the FIR.

Aryan started smoking ganja as student in US

Aryan claimed that at that time, he was suffering from sleep disorders and he had read articles on the internet informing ganja (also known as bhaang, pot, grass, etc) could help

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Mumbai, May 28: Aryan Khan, 23, the son of Bollywood mega-star Shah Rukh Khan and producer Gauri Khan, admitted to the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB) that he started smoking ganja (cannabis) in 2018 while studying for graduation in the US.

The 'voluntary statement' of Aryan, made under NDPS Act, 1985, Sec 67, before Ashish Ranjan, IO, is part of the final complaint lodged before the Special NDPS Court by the NCB on Friday (May 27), and came to light hours after the superstar-son was exonerated from the case.

He claimed that at that time, he was suffering from certain sleep disorders and he had read articles on the internet informing ganja (also known as bhaang, pot, grass, etc) could help. Unaware of what lay in store for him ahead, Aryan revealed that he was friends with another co-accused Arbaaz Merchant since the past seven-eight years and even the latter smoked ganja and hashish.

At Arbaaz's coaxing, Aryan admitted he occasionally tried smoking Hashish (Charas) but did not relish it much. Aryan, along with his friends Pratik, Manav and Arbaaz had gone to the Mumbai International Cruise Terminal (ICT) in his Mercedes car around 15.30 (on Oct 2, 2021) to board the Cordelia Cruise, and Arbaaz had promised to bring Hashish for that party.

While crossing the check-in point at the ICT, Aryan said he was intercepted by NCB's IO Ashish Ranjan Prasad and even introduced to the then Mumbai Zonal Director Sameer Wankhede as a Gazetted Officer, subjected to a personal search after explaining his rights.

During that physical search, no drugs were recovered from Aryan and he gave up his mobile phone when demanded by the NCB. After checking some messages, the officer asked Aryan whether he knew Arbaaz Merchant, to which he said yes - and with whom he was to share a cabin in the Cordelia Cruise ship.

When the IO asked Aryan whether he deals with narcotic drugs, he replied that he was into consumption of only natural drugs like Ganja or Hashish. Aryan also revealed that Arbaaz had taken out and handed over a small quantity of Charas to the NCB IO Ashish Ranjan Prasad, and said whatever was recovered (from Arbaaz) was for consumption only and probably procured by him from Bandra, after which the NCB team tested the Charas with some kit and sealed it in a pouch.

Super cyclones will be even more devastating in future: Study

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi/London, May 28: Super cyclones, the most intense form of tropical storms, are likely to have a much more devastating impact on people in India in the future due to climate change, according to a modelling study.

Researchers from the University of Bristol in the UK examined the 2020 Super Cyclone Amphan - the most costly cyclone to make landfall in South Asia - and predicted its implications under several scenarios of sea-level rise caused by global warming.

The study, published in the journal Climate Resilience and Sustainability, showed that if greenhouse gas emissions continue at the current rate, more than two and a half times (250 per cent) of India's population would experience flooding of greater than one metre, compared to the event in 2020.

"South Asia is one of the most climate-sensitive regions in the world, with super cyclones causing tens to hundreds of thousands of deaths in historical cases," said study lead author Dann Mitchell, Professor of Climate Science at the University of Bristol. "Comparatively, very little climate impact research has been done in South Asia, despite the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change highlighting it as such a critical region," Mitchell said in a statement.

The study presents a critical piece of evidence in support of ramping down greenhouse gas emissions to achieve the Paris Agreement climate goals, where other lines of evidence all too often focus on high-income countries where impacts are lower, and adaptation is more easily achievable, the researchers said.

They used sophisticated climate model projections to anticipate the scale of those affected by cyclones in the rest of this century. Although the increasing number of people at risk is anticipated to be more modest in Bangladesh, estimated to rise by 60 per cent to 70 per cent, this factors in declining coastal populations in the future, the researchers said.

They noted that if the Paris Agreement climate goals of 2 degrees Celsius warming above pre-industrial levels are adhered to, population exposure to flooding dropped close to zero in Bangladesh. However, even in this climate warming scenario, the exposures in India still showed an alarming increase of between 50 per cent and 80 per cent is expected to experience flooding in the future, the researchers said.

The main objective of the Paris Agreement, a global framework to tackle climate change, is to hold the global average temperature increase to well below 2 degrees Celsius above pre-industrial levels and endeavour to limit the temperature increase to 1.5 degrees Celsius.

"The latest IPCC report has mentioned with high confidence that tropical cyclones with higher intense categories will be more frequent in the future," said Saiful Islam, Professor of Hydrology at the Bangladesh University of Engineering and Technology (BUET), and contributing author of the study.

"This study shows that population exposure in Bangladesh and India will be increased up to 200 per cent in the future for extreme storm surge flooding (greater than 3 metres) from intense cyclones under high emission scenarios," Islam said. The researchers noted that a strong, rapid and sustained greenhouse gas reduction is essential to achieve goals of the Paris Agreement and to reduce losses and damages of highly vulnerable countries.

Naga national flag issue not negotiable: NSCN-IM

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Kohima, May 28: The Isak-Muivah faction of the National Socialist Council of Nagaland (NSCN-IM) categorically said "the Naga national flag symbolises Naga political identity. It is not negotiable," in the editorial of its latest news bulletin "Nagalim Voice." It is unthinkable for NSCN-IM to accept the Naga national flag as a cultural flag as hinted by the Government of India.

Since 1997, the Central government has held more than 85 rounds of negotiations with the NSCN-IM and other Naga groups. However, the NSCN-IM's insistence on a separate Naga flag and Constitution has become a big hurdle in the way of resolving the Naga issue. The former interlocutor and then Governor of Nagaland RN Ravi had rejected these demands repeatedly.

The editorial of the May issue of Nagalim Voice, referring to the Framework Agreement signed August 3, 2015, expressed: "Today, NSCN is watching how Prime Minister Narendra Modi is going to handle Framework Agreement with NSCN and Naga people that he himself took so much pride in and credit for: When the high profile Framework Agreement was signed, Modi went histrionic as he called up all political leaders who matter to announce that he has solved the longest running insurgency movement in Southeast Asia. The world at large was, however, not impressed and waited to see how he would match his words with action acceptable to the Naga people."

The editorial further read: "What is of concern to NSCN in particular, and to the Nagas in general is the habitual betraying of the Government of India after signing agreement after agreement."

BIG HURDLE

Since 1997, the Central government has held more than 85 rounds of negotiations with the NSCN-IM and other Naga groups

However, the NSCN-IM's insistence on a separate Naga flag and Constitution has become a big hurdle in the way of resolving the Naga issue

"Such was the depravity on the part of Government of India that every good thing gained during the 25 years of Indo-Naga political talks is facing the risk of going down the drain. The unfortunate development is tantamount to political blackmail," the editorial said.

The Nagalim Voice said that NSCN cannot allow defilement to take place for the fourth time and this is the crux of the issue. "Everything is clear before the world," the Naga outfit said.

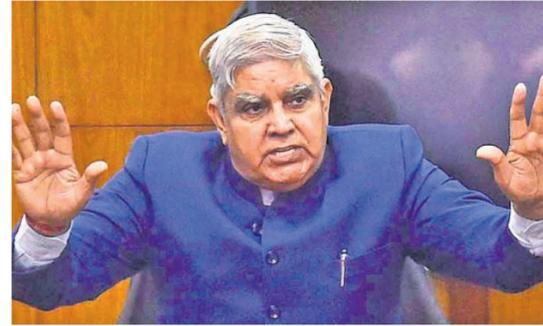

"How could Naga people tread such hollow ground after more than six decades of blood, sweat, and tears. In spite of threat and pressure, NSCN will never lend itself to committing an act of abomination before God and treason before the Naga people," the Nagalim Voice stated.

Nagaland Deputy Chief Minister Yanthungo Patton, who is also a BJP leader, recently in a public meeting in Wokha district, categorically said that the Centre should resolve the Naga issue by August 15 this year.

"If the Naga political issue is not settled now, the long pending issue would take another 100 years to settle," said Patton, who is a member of all the important committees, including the Core Committee on Naga political issues.

During an Assembly session last month, all legislators across party lines strongly urged the Centre to settle the issue at the earliest as Assembly elections are due early next year.

Bengal to replace Guv as 'visitor' of pvt varsities

The development comes amid the state cabinet's decision to make Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee the chancellor of state-run varsities, replacing the Governor

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Kolkata, May 28: The West Bengal government is planning to amend the law to remove Governor Jagdeep Dhankhar as 'visitor' of private universities in the state and appoint the education minister in his place, a senior official said Saturday.

A discussion in this regard was held during Thursday's state cabinet meeting and the process has already been started, he said.

The development comes amid the state cabinet's decision to make Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee the chancellor of state-run varsities, replacing the Governor.

"There is a proposal for altering the law so that the Governor can be replaced by the education minister as the 'visitor' of private varsities. In Thursday's Cabinet meeting, there was a discussion on this and the proposal was supported by the members," the official told

PTI. "Hopefully, the next meeting will give its approval," he said, adding that the government will explore the legal options in this regard soon.

As per the West Bengal government's policy and guidelines for setting up private universities, the Governor has to be appointed the 'visitor' and he can preside over the convocations.

The 'visitor' also has the power to call for any paper or information relating to the affairs of the universities.

The official said that the government was open to take an ordinance route if the Governor does not clear the proposed bill for making the Chief Minister the chancellor of state-run varsities.

The Governor, by virtue of his position, is the chancellor of all state-run universities.

The decisions of the TMC government come amid a bitter turf war with the Governor over several issues, including some relating to the running of universities.

Dhankhar earlier alleged that vice-chancellors of 24 universities have been "appointed illegally without the chancellor's approval."

After the vice-chancellors of the private universities skipped a meeting called by him in Raj Bhavan in December last year, he had hit out at the ruling dispensation in the state.

Mizoram records lowest IMR in country again

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Aizawl, May 28: Mizoram has the lowest infant mortality rate (IMR) in the country with three deaths per thousand live births, as per data published by the Registrar General and Census Commissioner of India.

The northeastern state made the achievement for the second consecutive year, officials in Aizawl said. Nagaland with an IMR of four secured second place, followed by Sikkim and Goa having an IMR of five each, as per the Sample Registration System (SRS) bulletin 2020. While the national average was 28, Madhya Pradesh has the highest IMR in the country at 43, it said. Among the northeastern states, Assam has the highest infant mortality rate of 36, followed by Meghalaya at 29 and Arunachal Pradesh at 21, as per the data.

The IMR of Mizoram in 2016 was 27. It reduced to 15 in 2017 and further reduced to five in 2018 and three in 2019, they said.

The Mizoram Health Department attributed the achievement to the hard work and dedication of health-care workers, and staff of departments such as education, public health engineering, social welfare and rural development.

The infant mortality rate, which is widely accepted as a crude indicator of the overall health scenario, is defined as the infant deaths (less than one year) per thousand live births in a given time period in a particular region.

Agartala-Kolkata bus service via Dhaka to resume after 2 years

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Agartala, May 28: The Agartala-Kolkata bus service via Dhaka will resume from June 10 after a hiatus of over two years due to the COVID-19 pandemic, an official of the Tripura government said Saturday.

The bus service was initially planned to restart from April 28 but postponed owing to "some technical reasons", he said.

International bus service will benefit people amid soaring air fares and suspension of trains due to landslides in neighbouring Assam

State transport department principal secretary LH Darlong has written letters to Bangladesh's Ministry of External Affairs and the Indian High Commission to the neighbouring country, apprising them of the proposed resumption of the international bus service.

"Tickets for the bus service will be available at the Tripura Road Transport Corporation counter at Krishnanagar from June 1. Passengers need to have a valid passport and visa to board a vehicle," a transport department official said. In a separate letter to the joint secretary of the Ministry of External Affairs in New Delhi, state additional secretary S Chowdhury informed all concerned about the resumption of the cross border bus service.

The fare from Agartala to Kolkata via Dhaka will be ₹2,300 per passenger, including travelling tax, while it will be ₹1,000 from Tripura capital to Dhaka.

The international bus service will benefit people amid soaring air fares and suspension of long-distance trains due to landslides in neighbouring Assam.

The bus will cover a distance of around 500 km from Agartala to Kolkata via Dhaka in around 19 hours. A train journey between the two destinations via Guwahati takes around 35 hours, another official said.

The bus facility on this route was suspended in March 2020 after the pandemic struck.

New macaque species discovered in Arunachal

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Kolkata, May 28: Scientists of the Zoological Survey of India (ZSI) have discovered a new macaque species in Arunachal Pradesh.

The new species, named 'Sela Macaque' (Macaca selai), was found in western and central parts of the state, ZSI director Dhriti Banerjee said.

"Scientists collected a few samples and undertook a detailed phylogenetic analysis and we found this monkey is genetically different from the other species in the region," she said.

The new species is separated from the Arunachal macaque of Tawang district by Sela Pass, Banerjee said. ZSI scientist Mukesh Thakur said the Sela Pass acted as a barrier and prevented migration between the two macaque species for around two million years.

The Sela macaque is genetically closer to the Arunachal macaque and both species have many similar physical characteristics such as heavy built and long dorsal body hair, he said. However, there are also some distinct morphological characteristics, he said.

The Arunachal macaque has a dark face and dark brown colour coat, while the Sela macaque has a pale face and brown colour coat, Thakur said.

Senior nurses to double as docs in rural WB

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Kolkata, May 28: The West Bengal Health Department has devised a unique initiative to cope with the problem of shortage of qualified doctors in the rural areas of the state, especially in the community health centres.

It will shortly start a three-week "doctors' training programme" for senior nurses employed under the department and after successful completion of the training, these nurses will be upgraded as community health officers and be posted in different community health centres.

A state Health Department official said that these community health officers will do the initial treatment in case of minor ailments and substitute in case of non-availability of doctors in the community health centres.

However, these community health officers will not have the right to issue prescriptions or death certificates.

"The entire project is the brainchild of Chief Minister, Mamata Banerjee, to open the career growth avenues for the nurses employed with the state government," the official said.

He also said that in the initial phase, 704 nurses will undergo this

West Bengal health department to start a three-week 'doctors' training programme' for senior nurses employed under the department

"doctors' training programme". During the training period, they will receive a special allowance of ₹10,000. An announcement on these lines was made by Chief Minister Banerjee in August 2021, when she said that the state government is planning to open the promotion avenues for experienced nurses, contending these were capable of providing medical services just like qualified doctors.

Noting that often services of the quacks are taken in rural areas, she asked: "If they can, why not the experienced nurses?"

GJM ATTEMPTS TO REGAIN POLITICAL GROUND

IF BIMAL GURUNG CONTINUES HIS AGITATION AND SUCCEEDS IN GETTING SUPPORT FROM THE HILLS POPULATION WHO CLAIM THAT THEIR ASPIRATIONS HAVE NOT BEEN MET BY THE CENTRE OR THE STATE, THINGS COULD TAKE A TURN FOR THE WORSE

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Kolkata, May 28: Will Bimal Gurung's bid to regain political ground lead to another upheaval in the north Bengal Hills? Gurung, president of the Gorkha Janmukti Morcha (GJM), is presently on an indefinite hunger strike and has called for a boycott of the Gorkhaland Territorial Administration (GTA) polls slated for June 26.

GTA elections were held last in 2012. In 2017, when elections were due, the GJM and other parties in the Hills launched a massive agitation, resulting in violence and a 104-day strike.

"The next few weeks are going to be very crucial for the Hills. Tourists are flocking there by their thousands after a two-year lull. The season will gradually come to an end after June 15. In 2017, the strike had also begun from June 15. Gurung had then given a call for a separate state of Gorkhaland. This time, he has gone in for a hunger strike demanding the addition of 396 Gorkha-dominated mouzas and more departments to the GTA. It has to be seen what kind of support he receives," a political observer from the Hills said.

Several cases were filed against Gurung after the 2017 strife and he went into hiding. By the time he emerged in Kolkata in 2020, the GJM had split with his former aide Binay Tamang leading a faction and lending support to the Trinamool Congress. Gurung followed suit, broke ties with the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and got into an alliance with the Trinamool. The West Bengal government not only stopped pursuing charges against Gurung, the Trinamool also allowed the GJM to contest the 2021 Assembly Elections in the state from the Darjeeling, Kurseong and Kalimpong constituencies.

Gurung realized that his support base had eroded in the Hills after failing to win any of these seats.

While the BJP won in Darjeeling and Kurseong, Kalimpong went to an independent fielded by the Tamang faction of the GJM (the Calcutta High Court had forbidden both factions from using the GJM symbol to contest elections). Tamang finally quit the party in December 2021 and joined the Trinamool. Now, it was time for Gurung to consolidate. It didn't take him long to realise that his political base had eroded.

"New entities like the Hamro Party (HP) and the Bharatiya Gorkha Prajatantrik Morcha (BGPM) have come up. The Darjeeling Municipality election, held earlier this year, was an eye-opener. While the HP bagged 18 of the 32 seats, the BGPM won nine. The GJM cut a sorry figure with 3 seats. The remaining two went to the Trinamool. Mind you, the GJM had contested 22 seats, leaving 10 to the Trinamool. Gurung now realizes that the GJM is in no position to contest the June 26 GTA polls. Neither is the BJP-GNLF alliance. No wonder, both have demanded that the GTA elections be deferred. If the 396 mouzas are included in the GTA, the GJM will stand a better chance, Gurung believes. Addition of departments will turn the GTA more powerful, both administratively and financially. Moreover, both are issues close to the hearts of the Gorkhas," a lawyer and activist from Darjeeling said.

The state administration has made it clear that the GTA elections won't be deferred. There is also little possibility of transfer of departments. If Gurung continues his agitation and succeeds in getting support from the Hills population who claim that their aspirations have not been met by the Centre or the state, things could take a turn for the worse. The BJP-GNLF combine is likely to lend support. The common man in the Hills is apprehensive. People gave their all during the agitation of 2017 but got nothing in return. The administration will take a leaf out of the book from five years ago and not hesitate to crack down on any effort to disrupt normal life in the Hills.

TEXAS SCHOOL SHOOTING

The disclosure of local law enforcement's delay in pursuing the teenaged gunman armed with a semi-automatic rifle came as the nation's leading gun-rights advocacy group, the National Rifle Association, opened its annual convention 275 miles away in Houston

STEVEN MCCRAW | DIRECTOR, TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

Uvalde, May 28: Frantic children called 911 at least half a dozen times from the Texas classrooms where a massacre was unfolding, pleading for police to intervene, as some 20 officers waited in the hallway nearly an hour before entering and killing the gunman, authorities said Friday.

At least two children placed several emergency calls from a pair of adjoining fourth-grade classrooms after 18-year-old Salvador Ramos entered on Tuesday with an AR-15 semi-automatic rifle, according to Colonel Steven McCraw, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety. Ramos, who had driven to Robb Elementary School from his home after shooting and wounding his grandmother there, went on to kill 19 children and two teachers in the deadliest US school shooting in nearly a decade.

"He's in room 112," a girl whispered on the phone at 12:03 pm, more than 45 minutes before a US Border Patrol-led tactical team finally stormed in and ended the siege.

The on-site commander, the chief of the school district's police department in Uvalde, Texas, believed at the time that Ramos was barricaded inside and that children were no longer at immediate risk, giving police time to prepare, McCraw said.

"From the benefit of hindsight

Twenty-one empty chairs are seen outside of a daycare center as a memorial for the victims killed where I'm sitting now, of course, it was not the right decision," McCraw said. "It was the wrong decision, period."

Governor Gregg Abbott, a Republican and staunch gun rights proponent who addressed the meeting in a pre-recorded video, seized on apparent police lapses in Uvalde, telling a news conference later he was misled and "livid about what happened."

Houston: Former US president Donald Trump Friday slammed the Joe Biden government over the Texas school shooting as he suggested that the country was prioritising the Ukraine war over the security in schools. Addressing the National Rifle Association (NRA) annual meeting in Houston amid growing calls for stronger gun control measures, Trump said that the US government should focus on funding for school security. "If the United States has $40 billion to send to Ukraine, we should be able to do whatever it takes to keep our children safe at home. We spent trillions in Iraq and Afghanistan and got nothing for it. Before we nation-build the rest of the world, we should be building safe schools for our own children in our own nation," the former president added. "What's more repulsive is the rush to shift blame away from the villains who commit acts of mass violence and to place that blame onto the shoulders of millions of peaceful, law-abiding citizens who belong to organisations such as our wonderful NRA," he said while referring to gun reform advocates. Trump also launched an attack against the Democrats.

KIDS BEGGED FOR HELP

Some of the mostly 9- and 10-year-old students trapped with the gunman survived the massacre, including at least two who called 911

There were at least eight calls from the classrooms to 911 between 12:03 pm, half an hour after Ramos first entered the building, and 12:50 pm

A girl called at 12:16 pm and told police that there were still "eight to nine" students alive. Three shots were heard during a call made at 12:21 pm

The girl who made the first call implored the operator to "please send the police now" at 12:43 pm and again four minutes later

SHIFT IN WAR MOMENTUM

Russian gains in eastern Ukraine

Russian forces have been making slow but steady advances in the Donbas - large parts of which were already controlled by Moscow-backed separatists before the war

REUTERS

Kyiv, May 28: Russian forces were assaulting the Ukrainian city of Sievierodonetsk Saturday after saying they had captured the nearby rail hub of Lyman as Moscow pressed its offensive in the eastern Donbas.

Russian gains in recent days indicate a shift in momentum in the war, now in its fourth month. The invading forces appear close to seizing all of the Luhansk region of Donbas, a main Kremlin war goal, despite Ukrainian resistance.

Russia's defence ministry said Saturday its troops and allied separatist forces were now in full control of Lyman, site of a railway junction and lying west of the Siversky Donets River in the Donetsk region that neighbours Luhansk.

However Hanna Malyar, Ukraine's deputy defence minister, said the battle for Lyman continued, the ZN.ua website reported.

The Russian forces were likely to try to cross the river in coming days in the next phase of the Kremlin's Donbas offensive, the British defence ministry said in its daily intelligence report Saturday. Sievierodonetsk, some 60 km (40 miles) from Lyman on the eastern side of the river and the largest Donbas city still held by Ukraine, Russia successfully test-fired a hypersonic Zircon cruise missile over a distance of about 1,000 km (625 miles), the defence ministry said Saturday. Video released by the ministry showed the missile being fired from a ship and blazing into the sky on a steep trajectory. President Vladimir Putin has described the Zircon as part of a new generation of unrivalled arms systems. Hypersonic weapons can travel at nine times the speed of sound, and Russia has conducted previous test-launches of the Zircon from warships and submarines in the past year.

Russian artillery was also shelling the Lysychansk-Bakhmut road, which Russia needs to take to close a pincer movement and encircle Ukrainian forces. The General Staff of Ukraine's armed forces said Saturday Ukrainian forces had repelled eight assaults in Donetsk and Luhansk in the previous 24 hours.

WITH THE HEALTH OF THE POPULAR 96-YEAR-OLD QUEEN AN INCREASING SOURCE OF CONCERN, FORCING HER TO PULL OUT OF PUBLIC ENGAGEMENTS, HER PLATINUM JUBILEE WILL MARK NOT JUST A TIME TO REFLECT ON HER PAST, BUT TO LOOK AHEAD

REUTERS

London, May 28: While nearly all attention will be focused next week on Queen Elizabeth as she celebrates her 70th anniversary on the throne this year, for those with eyes on the future of the British monarchy, attention is switching to her grandson Prince William.

The British royals have suffered a bruising couple of years with the US sex abuse lawsuit against Elizabeth's son Andrew, Prince Harry, William's younger brother, quitting duties to move to the United States in 2020, and police investigating alleged wrongdoing at the main charity of son and heir Prince Charles.

Most polls show a majority of the British public support the monarchy, and, while his 73-year-old father commands less popularity, William - the second in line to the throne - and his wife Kate are the most liked royals after the queen.

But, surveys also suggest those aged under 50 are far more ambivalent about the institution.

"The future does rest on Prince William," Matthew Dennison, a biographer of the queen, said. "And we all know that public opinion can be unkind."

A decade ago, amid celebrations for Elizabeth's then Diamond Jubilee, there was a notable moment when she greeted crowds from the balcony of Buckingham Palace accompanied by Charles, his wife Camilla, William and his wife Kate, and Harry.

'LAST OF THE MOHICANS'

"William is the key person because William is going to be king one day," said Charles Rae, a former royal correspondent at the Sun newspaper. "He's the last of the Mohicans, basically. I think an awful lot rests on William's shoulders for the future of the monarchy."

William and Kate, 40, have enjoyed highly positive media coverage over the last five years as one of the world's most glamorous couples with Hollywood star appeal. The prince has shaken off the "work-shy Wills" nickname British tabloids gave him in the last decade when they suggested the couple were lazy.

William has also received much praise for his work on mental health, homelessness and the environment, but the couple's recent tour of the Caribbean was a wake-up call after they faced protests over Britain's imperial past and criticism that some of the tour had echoes of a colonial throwback.

According to the Sunday Mirror newspaper the visit has prompted William and Kate to rethink how the monarchy should look, with the couple saying they wanted to be known by their names and not their titles - the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Cannes, May 28: Shaunak Sen's 'All That Breathes', an audience favourite here from the outset, won the 2022 L'OEil d'Or (Golden Eye) for the best documentary at the 75th Cannes Film Festival Saturday, making it two in succession for India.

All That Breathes is about two Delhi brothers Nadeem and Saud who, amid the city's worsening air and deteriorating social fabric, devote their lives to saving migratory black kites that are at the mercy of mankind's unthinking ways. The film was screened as part of the festival's Special Screenings line-up.

The award was announced by a jury chaired by veteran Polish filmmaker Agnieszka Holland. The citation read "The 2022 L'OEil d'Or goes to a film that, in a world of destruction, reminds us that every life matters, and every small action matters. You can grab your camera, you can save a bird, you can hunt for some moments of stealing beauty, it matters."

The citation described All That Breathes as "an inspirational journey in observation of three Don Quixotes who may not save the whole world but do save their world."

Sen's win is India's second in Cannes in two years. In 2021, Payal Kapadia's 'A Night of Knowing Nothing', which played in the parallel Semaine de la Critique (Cannes Critics' Week) took home the L'OEil d'Or.

All That Breathes was competing with ace Chilean documentarian Patricio Guzman's 'Mylmaginary Country', Ethan Coen's 'Jerry Lee Lewis Trouble in Mind' and Sergei Loznitsa's 'The Natural History of Destruction', among other films.

The L'OEil d'Or jury bestowed a Special Award posthumously on Mantas Kvedaravicius for his film 'Mariupolis 2'. The Lithuanian director was among thousands of civilians killed in Ukraine since the Russian invasion. The jury described Mariupolis 2 as a "film impossible to compare with any other from the competition".

The production of Amul organic atta is being done at state-of-the-art processing facility, Tribhuvan Das Patel Mugar Food Complex. The first lab is being established at the Amul Fed Dairy in Ahmedabad. GCMF said the prime objec-

Russia mulls crypto for int'l payments

AGENCIES

Moscow, May 28: Russia is considering allowing cryptocurrency to be used for international payments, Interfax news agency quoted a government official as saying Friday.

"The idea of using digital currencies in transactions for international settlements is being actively discussed," Ivan Chebeskov, head of the finance ministry's financial policy department, was quoted as saying. Russian officials are wrestling with how to regulate the country's crypto market and use of digital currencies, with the finance ministry opposed to the central bank's calls for a blanket ban.

Discussions have been ongoing for months and though the government expects cryptocurrencies to be legalised as a means of payment sooner or later, no consensus has yet been reached. The finance ministry is discussing adding the latest proposal on international payments to an updated version of a draft law, the Vedomosti newspaper reported on Friday, citing government officials.

Allowing crypto as a means of settlement for international trade would help counter the impact of Western sanctions, which has seen Russia's access to traditional cross-border payment mechanisms "limited," Mr Chebeskov said.

POWER SHORTAGE LOOMS

Coal India to import for first time in years

The country is struggling with fuel shortage as annual power demand is seen growing at the fastest rate in at least 38 years and global coal prices are trading at near-record levels due to a supply crunch resulting from the Russia-Ukraine crisis

REUTERS

New Delhi, May 28: State-run Coal India, the world's largest coal miner, will import the fuel for use by utilities, a power ministry letter seen by Reuters showed Saturday, as shortages raise concerns about renewed power outages.

It would be the first time since 2015 that Coal India has imported the fuel, highlighting efforts by state and federal officials to stock up to avoid a repeat of April, when India faced its worst power cuts in more than six years.

"Coal India would import coal for blending on government-to-government (G2G) basis and supply ... to thermal power plants of state generators and independent power producers (IPPs)," the federal Power Ministry said in the letter dated May 28.

The letter was sent to all utilities, top federal and state energy officials including the federal coal secretary and the chairman of Coal India.

India is expected to face a wider coal shortage during the third quarter of 2022 due to expectations of higher electricity demand,

stoking fears of widespread power outages. The power ministry said in the letter the decision was taken after nearly all states suggested that multiple coal import tenders by states would lead to a confusion and sought centralised procurement through Coal India. India stepped up pressure on utilities to increase imports to blend with local coal in recent days, warning of cuts to the supply of domestically mined coal if power plants did not build up coal inventories through imports. But the power ministry Saturday asked states to suspend tenders that are "under process". "The tenders under process by state generators and IPPs for importing coal for blending may be kept in abeyance to await the price discovery by Coal India through G2G route, so as to procure coal at least possible rates," the ministry said.

Won't make vehicles in India until allowed to sell locally: Musk

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, May 28: American electric carmaker Tesla, which has been seeking reduction in import duties to sell its vehicles in India, will not manufacture its products locally unless it is allowed to first sell and service its cars in the country, company founder and chief executive Elon Musk has said. In a tweet responding to a user asking about Tesla setting up a manufacturing plant in India, he said, "Tesla will not put a manufacturing plant in any location where we are not allowed first to sell & service cars." Last month, Union Road Transport and Highways Minister Nitin Gadkari had said if Tesla was ready to manufacture its electric vehicles in India then there was 'no problem' but the company must not import cars from China. In August last year, Musk had said Tesla may set up a manufacturing unit in India if it first succeeds with imported vehicles in the country. He had said Tesla wanted to launch its vehicles in India "but import duties are the highest in the world by far of any large country!" Currently, India imposes 100 per cent import duty on fully imported cars with CIF (Cost, Insurance and Freight) value more than $40,000 and 60 per cent on those costing less than the amount.

Ola Electric's CEO responds

"Thanks, but no thanks," is the terse message via Twitter from Ola Electric founder and CEO Bhavish Aggarwal for Tesla boss Elon Musk hours after the latter said the EV giant will not manufacture its products locally unless it is allowed to first sell and service its cars in the country.

India exact sweet revenge

ASIA CUP HOCKEY: LAKRA & Co BEAT JAPAN 2-1 IN SUPER 4 LEAGUE MATCH, AVENGE POOL STAGE LOSS

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Jakarta, May 28: The Indian men's hockey team scored two fantastic field goals to beat Japan 2-1 in its first Super 4 league match and avenge its loss in the pool stage of the Asia Cup here Saturday.

The defending champions, who lost 2-5 against Japan in the pool stage, scored two eye-catching field goals through Manjeet (8th minute) and Pawan Rajbhar (35th) to register a narrow win. Japan's lone goal came from a penalty corner through Takuma Niwa in the 18th minute. Japan threatened India initially and secured a penalty corner as early as in the opening minute but the Indians thwarted the danger. The Indians grew in confidence and got their footing as the match progressed.

It was a moment of brilliance from Manjeet that handed India the lead. He made a brilliant solo run down the left flank after receiving a pass from Pawan and used 3D skills to perfection to beat Takashi Yoshikawa under the Japanese bar.

As was the case in the first quarter, the Japanese started the second 15 minutes on a promising note and secured a penalty corner in the 18th minute from which Niwas scored from a rebound after Ken Nagayoshi's initial flick was saved by Indian goalkeeper Karkera.

Pepped up by the goal, Japan continued to put pressure on the Indian defence and earned two more penalty corners, which the Indian defence kept at bay.

Minutes later, Karthi Selvam missed a golden chance as he failed to get past Japanese goalie Yoshikawa from one-one-one situation.

Rajbhar restored India's lead five minutes into the second half, slotting home from close range after being set up by Uttam Singh's brilliant stick work.

Trailing by a goal, the Japanese mounted relentless pressure on the Indian citadel but the Birendra Lakra-led backline stood firm to keep their lead intact.

India will play Malaysia in their next Super 4 stage match Sunday. Meanwhile, in the other Super 4 match of the day, South Korea and Malaysia played out a 2-2 draw.

SUPERNOVAS REIGN SUPREME

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Pune, May 28: West Indian all-rounder Deandra Dottin (62, 44b, 1x4, 4x6; 2/28) starred with both bat and ball as she powered Supernovas to an unprecedented third Women's T20 Challenge title triumph with a four-run win over Velocity in a thrilling final here Saturday.

Dottin helped Supernovas post 165/7 after being put in to bat. Then she played a major role in restricting Velocity to 161/8.

South African batter Laura Wolvaardt (65 n o, 40b, 5x4, 3x6) almost single-handedly took Velocity within striking distance of a sensational win after they were reduced to 64/5 in 11 overs and 117/8 in 16.5 overs.

Wolvaardt, who became the only batter in the tournament to score two half centuries, launched a ferocious onslaught in the death overs with a flurry of boundaries to raise hopes of a stunning victory for Velocity. The No.10 batter Simran Bahadur (20 n o) also chipped with three successive fours in the penultimate over.

If Englishwoman Ecclestone made life difficult for Velocity batters in the first half of the run chase, Australian leg-spinner Alana King (3/32) did the same in the back end.

Supernovas had won the first two editions of the tournament in 2018 and 2019 before losing to Trailblazers in the final in 2020. The tournament was not held last year due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Earlier, Dottin made full use of an early reprieve to score a blistering half century and propel Supernovas. The 30-year-old Dottin was dropped on 13 by Sneha Rana off Deepti Sharma (2/20) in the fourth over, and she made Velocity pay for that costly mistake.

The experienced campaigner stitched 73 runs for the opening wicket with Priya Punia (28) and added 58 for the second wicket with in-form captain Harmanpreet Kaur (43, 29b, 1x4, 3x6).

For Velocity, captain Deepti, Kate Cross (2/29) and Bahadur (2/30) took two wickets apiece, while Ayabonga Khaka (1/27) got one. The Supernovas could only score 34 runs in the last five overs while losing five wickets.

BRIEF SCORES: Supernovas 165/7 (Deandra Dottin 62, Harmanpreet Kaur 43; Deepti Sharma 2/20, Kate Cross 2/29, Simran Bahadur 2/30) beat Velocity 161/8 (Laura Wolvaardt 65 n o, Alana King 3/32, Sophie Ecclestone 2/28, Deandra Dottin 2/28) by 4 runs.

Titans brace up for Royals test

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Ahmedabad, May 28: Two leaders, who are minefields of talent in their own right, one team that has made a mockery of all betting odds and the other trying to complete a cycle that started 15 summers back, IPL final between Gujarat Titans and Rajasthan Royals is about this and much more.

When IPL started over two months back, nobody would have believed that two captains walking out for toss in the title clash will be Hardik Pandya and Sanju Samson.

'Remember the Titans', a 2000 Hollywood film headlined by Denzel Washington is considered one of the best sports films on the proverbial underdog story, which always has a capital.

For Titans skipper Hardik and head coach Ashish Nehra, this journey of two months has been nothing short of spectacular. They have made a lot of people eat a humble pie because many, including experts, termed them a team of no-hopers post auction.

A team that looked like a rag-tag outfit with only a few good players like David Miller, considered past their sell by date, or one-match wonders like Rahul Tewatia, it didn't really look good on paper. But then you wouldn't call cricket a 'game of glorious uncertainties' if everything would be decided on paper.

Come Sunday, expect a partisan and vociferous crowd to chant 'Aava De' and that's the impact that Titans have had on their fans. For Titans, if this is about carving a niche in front of home crowd, Rajasthan would like to do it for someone, who would be watching up from the stars. Shane Warne - Rajasthan's forever first Royal had used the IPL stage in its inception year to show Australian cricket establishment what Ian Chappell had always maintained: "Shane Warne was the best captain Australia never had".

Warne had guided tournament's then cheapest team to victory. Thirteen summers have gone but there is no Warne in flesh and blood to watch his beloved team complete a cycle of life and sport.

It is not easy to lead a pack that has bonafide stars like R Ashwin, Yuzvendra Chahal, Jos Buttler, Trent Boult along with young guns Yashasvi Jaiswal or Prasidh Krishna but Sanju has handled it well.

What will be Hardik's tactic against a wily Chahal and an experimental Ashwin during the middle overs? Or will Buttler take risks against a Rashid Khan? We will get all those answers in the next 24 hours.

BOPANNA-MIDDELKOOP KNOCKS OUT WIMBLEDON CHAMPIONS

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Paris, May 28: The never-say-die spirit was at work as Rohan Bopanna and Matwe Middelkoop saved five match points to knock out Mate Pavic and Nikol Mektic, the reigning Wimbledon champions, from the Roland Garros, here Saturday.

Bopanna's serve was as venomous as it has been throughout his career and his volleys too were as sharp as ever while his Dutch partner showed exemplary calm under pressure in the men's doubles third round.

A break of serve early in the third set put them at a disadvantageous position but there was no dearth of spirit or class from Bopanna and Middelkoop, who eventually prevailed 6-7(5-7), 7-6(7-3), 7-6(12-10) in two hours and 32 minutes.

Bopanna, thus, matched his best performance at the clay court major by reaching the quarterfinals, having done it four times in the past.

In an interesting fourth round match, Rafael Nadal will face Felix Auger-Aliassime, who is coached by the 13-time Roland Garros champion's uncle - Toni Nadal.

So, Rafa was asked, might there be some awkwardness there? "For me, it's very simple. He's my uncle. I don't think he will be able to want me to lose, without a doubt, but he's a professional and he's with another player," said Rafa.

"It's not a story at all for me. I know what the feelings are that we have between each other. I know he wants the best for me. Now he's helping another player," he said. "But honestly, for me, it's zero problem."
