New Delhi, July 25: Her election is proof the poor can dream and fulfil those dreams too, India's 15th President and its first tribal Head of State Droupadi Murmu said after taking oath of office Monday, a landmark day that melded tradition with the aspirations of a modern nation.

President Murmu, who is the second woman in the top constitutional post, succeeds Ram Nath Kovind and was sworn in by Chief Justice of India NV Ramana at Parliament's Central Hall.

The tribal leader, India's youngest President at 64 and the first to be born after Independence, took oath of office in the name of god to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution and the law.

Murmu, who began her speech in Hindi with "Johar", a traditional tribal greeting, said, "That I attained the post of President is not my personal achievement. It is the achievement of every poor person in India. My election is proof of the fact that the poor in India can have dreams and fulfil them too."

In her address that lasted a little over 18 minutes, she spoke on a gamut of issues, including the poor, tribal communities, sustainable development as well as the government's digital India and 'vocal for local initiatives' and its handling of the Covid pandemic. As celebrations broke out in several parts of the country, she said she belonged to tribal society and had got the opportunity to rise from serving as a ward councillor to becoming the President of India. Contd...P4

FARMER KILLS SELF OVER LOAN BURDEN

POST NEWS NETWORK

Jeypore, July 25: A farmer committed suicide by consuming pesticide over outstanding loan burden and lack of money to start farm works, Monday. The deceased was identified as Laiban Bhatra of Putra village under Jeypore Sadar police limits in Koraput.

Sources said, Bhatra was earning his livelihood by tilling his few patch of ancestral land as well as by working as a share-cropper. After finding Bhatra writhing in pain, family members rushed him to Ravanaguda primary health centre. They later shifted him to the district headquarters hospital in Jeypore after his condition deteriorated. However, he succumbed during treatment despite all the efforts by the doctors.

Police registered a case of unnatural death and sent the body for post-mortem. The deceased's son said that his father had borrowed from the local money lenders to perform the post-death rituals of his grandfather, who died last month. He was left without any money and unable to start farm works. This pushed him to distress and might have forced him to take the extreme step.

4 Cong MPs suspended from LS

As House proceedings were again stalled Monday after the near washout last week, a visibly peeved Speaker had warned them to hold placards outside the House if they wanted to protest against price rise

AGENCIES

New Delhi, July 25: Four Congress Lok Sabha members were suspended for the rest of the session Monday after Speaker Om Birla took a stern view of the continuous disruptions by Opposition MPs since the beginning of the Monsoon Session.

Terminating the action against its MPs a blot on democracy, an angry Congress alleged that the government was trying to intimidate it for raising people's issues and said it would not be cowed down.

As the protesting Opposition members again stalled Lok Sabha proceedings Monday after the near washout last week, the Chair named Congress MPs Manickam Tagore, TN Prathapan, Jothimani and Ramya Haridas.

When members are named, they have to immediately withdraw from the chamber of the House.

Parliamentary Affairs Minister Pralhad Joshi then moved a resolution to suspend the four for the rest of the session. Joshi said that these MPs had shown utter disregard for the authority of the Chair and a serious note of their misconduct had been taken by the House.

Speaking to reporters outside the four suspended MPs along with the House, Congress' deputy leader in Lok Sabha Gaurav Gogoi said, "The government is trying to intimidate us by suspending our MPs. What was their fault? They were trying to raise the issues which matter to people."

The Congress party will not be cowed down like this, he asserted.

The MPs were holding placards raising the issues of rising prices of gas cylinder, imposition of GST on items such as flour and buttermilk. "We moved an adjournment motion demanding a discussion on these issues, but no discussion was held," he said.

TOP COURT GRANTS CONDITIONAL BAIL TO JAGADEV

New Delhi: The Supreme Court Monday granted conditional bail to MLA Prasanta Jagadev, who is accused of ramming a SUV into large crowd at Banpur in March this year which injured 20 people including police personnel. A two-judge bench of Justices Hemant Gupta and Vikram Nath granted bail to the MLA with certain conditions. The apex court restricted the MLA from visiting his constituency Chilika for one year. The bench said the MLA will have to take permission from the district Collector to visit Chilika. Jagadev was also barred from addressing any public gathering. The bench said that he can only address a political meeting of maximum five people. The bench also added that the trial court can impose other restrictions if it finds necessary. During the hearing, senior advocate Pinaki Misra appeared in the court for Prasanta Jagadev and contended that it is not appropriate to compare the Chilika incident with the one happened in Lakhimpur Kheri.

CBI busts racket falsely promising governorship, RS seats for ₹100cr

FOUR PERSONS WERE ARRESTED IN THIS CONNECTION WHILE ANOTHER ACCUSED GAVE CBI SLEUTHS THE SLIP

AGENCIES

New Delhi, July 25: The CBI has claimed to have busted a multi-state job racket where plum posts like governor of a state and member of Rajya Sabha were allegedly offered by a group of people at a price of ₹100 crore.

The agency had conducted searches at seven locations in Delhi, Uttar Pradesh, Maharashtra and Karnataka recently in connection with the case, officials said, adding that four members - Kamalakar Premkumar Bandgar of Maharashtra's Latur, Ravindra Vithal Naik of Karnataka's Belgaum and Delhi-NCR based Mahendra Pal Arora and Abhishek Boora - were arrested.

Another accused, Mohammed Aijaz Khan, escaped during the search operation after allegedly assaulting CBI officers, they said, adding that a separate FIR was filed against him at the local police station in connection with this.

The agency in its FIR, has named all five accused in connection with the case, the officials said.

A special CBI court, however, has granted bail to all the four people arrested by the agency.

It is alleged that Bandgar, who impersonated a senior CBI officer and flaunted his "connections" with highly placed officials, had asked Boora, Arora, Khan and Naik to bring any sort of work that he could fix in lieu of payment of huge illegal gratification.

They conspired with "the sole ulterior motive of cheating private persons by falsely assuring them of arrangement of seats in Rajya Sabha, appointment as governor, appointment as chairman in different government-run organisations under central government ministries and departments against huge pecuniary consideration," the FIR alleged.

The agency came to know through its sources that Boora discussed with Bandgar how the latter's purported connections with high-ranking officials playing "pivotal roles" in appointments could be exploited to get the work done.

It surfaced that the accused were attempting to cheat people by falsely assuring them of candidature for Rajya Sabha against a huge consideration to the tune of ₹100 crore, the FIR stated.

The CBI received information that they would drop names of senior bureaucrats and political functionaries to impress clients approaching them for some work either directly or through middleman like Abhishek Boora, it stated.

It also emerged that Bandgar posed as a senior CBI officer and threatened police officials of various police stations to grant favours to people known to him or to influence investigations of ongoing cases, the FIR alleged.

Musk tells followers to call out WSJ over report on his 'affair'

AGENCIES

San Francisco, July 25: Tesla CEO Elon Musk Monday hit out at the Wall Street Journal (WSJ) for linking him with Google Co-founder Sergey Brin's wife Nicole Shanahan, asking his more than 102 million social media followers to slam the publication for going ahead with a false story.

A Wall Street Journal report claimed Sunday that Musk engaged in a brief affair last fall with the wife of Sergey Brin, prompting the Google Co-founder to file for divorce earlier this year and ending the tech billionaires' long friendship.

Musk told his followers to call them out on it. WSJ is supposed to have a high standard for journalism and, right now, they are way sub-tabloid. WSJ should be running stories that actually matter to their readers and have a solid factual basis, not third-party random hearsay, Musk tweeted.

The Tesla and SpaceX CEO said that character assassination attacks have reached a new level this year, but the articles are all nothing-burgers.

"I work crazy hours, so there just isn't much time for shenanigans. None of the key people involved in these alleged wrongdoings were even interviewed, he posted on another report about Amber Heard's threesome with Musk and Cara Delevingne at actor Johnny Depp's house in 2016, which he has denied.

According to the WSF report, the Musk-Shanahan affair allegedly occurred at the 'Art Basel' event in Miami.

ARIES

A favourable day as any can be, says Ganesh. You are happy and content with what you have, and you've planned and are working towards what you want. A romantic date may prove interesting or throw up a controversy – decide where you want to take it.

TAURUS

This is one of those days when not goes well, warns Ganesh. No matter how hard you try you may not be able to keep problems and difficulties at bay. You may not be pleased or comfortable doing what has been assigned, or required, and could simply sit sullenly, doing nothing.

GEMINI

Your highly competitive nature will push you to perform better and better. You don't even know what being second best means. Getting in touch with like-minded people will only make your resolve stronger. Your desire to be the best will make you take interest in everything that can help you improve.

CANCER

Your business acquaintances will come forward in the manner that may seem nothing short of some divine intervention. This means that they will virtually save your neck from the guillotine, predicts Ganesh. You will grow wiser in your spending ways, as you will know what to buy and what not to buy.

LEO

Motivating people through your own actions is one way; the other is to let your words do the talking. Both are equally effective, says Ganesh. With a bit of help from the stars, today, it is your words that shall hold more weight than your actions.

VIRGO

In all likelihood, you will be eager to grab the monetary challenges that come your way, as they only enhance your desire for success. You will bring up new ideas and better methods of tackling the challenges on hand. Ganesh gives you an assurance that your present business views will do you a world of good.

LIBRA

Some days you get the carrot, while on others, it is the stick! Today is going to be one of those 'stick' days when it comes to dealing with your seniors, foresees Ganesh. It would be wise to delay auction bids or sealed tenders. Sometimes, waiting patiently is the best policy, especially if you are a job aspirant. Do not expect immediate success.

SCORPIO

You shall follow all things to the dot today. Your approach will be methodical and robotic. It is likely that you shall symbolise the saying, 'Actions speak louder than words'. Your powers of persuasion will help you amass the confidences of many, predicts Ganesh.

SAGITTARIUS

A day of full of caution, warns Ganesh. There are chances that your heart will find its partner, forcing you to fall in love. You may be cupid's next prey. However, watch your steps, as the initial stages of a relationship may be fragile and need to be handled with care.

CAPRICORN

It will be one of those mundane days with nothing remarkable happening on any front. But don't be disheartened, advises Ganesh; planetary movements indicate there may be a change coming soon, most likely a good one. So, perk up and look forward to tomorrow.

AQUARIUS

You do have a way with words and today, you may succeed with your gift of the gab! But Ganesh says that your confused feelings may come in the way of your triumphant achievement. Also, sentiments may lead to a disastrous outcome. Sounds familiar?

PISCES

The fount of your creativity spurts today like there is no tomorrow. For lesser mortals, it takes inspiration, perspiration and a lot of desperation to come up with something creative. You, on the other hand, keenly remember the lessons from your past efforts, and use them today to scale new heights, says Ganesh.

State yet to get ₹3,251cr GST compensation

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, July 25: The state government is yet to receive over ₹3,251 crore as part of GST compensation from the Union government, state Finance Minister Niranjan Pujari told the state Assembly, Monday.

In a written reply to a question asked by BJD member Debesh Acharya, Pujari said the Centre is yet to release GST compensation of ₹1,167.50 crore due for the financial year 2021-22 and ₹2,084.03 crore for the first three months of the current fiscal.

GST has been introduced in the state with effect from July 1, 2017 subsuming state taxes like VAT, entry tax, entertainment tax, forest development tax and central taxes such as central excise duty, service tax, CST and other taxes.

As per the provisions made in the Constitution, the states are to be compensated for any loss on account of the introduction of GST for a period of 5 years which ended June 30, 2022, Pujari added.

Uproar in House over seizure of govt property by pvt firm

PNN & AGENCIES

Bhubaneswar, July 25: The state Assembly Monday witnessed a pandemonium as opposition BJP and Congress stalled the House proceedings over seizure of government property at Nirman Soudha here by L&T over non-payment of dues and Speaker not allowing a debate on the issue.

The issue was raised in the Assembly by the opposition BJP members who strongly objected to Speaker BK Arukha's decision of rejecting the notice for a debate on the issue.

While the Opposition BJP and Congress members demanded a debate, Speaker in a ruling said, "A review petition was earlier filed with the Supreme Court in connection on the matter. Hence, as per Rule 60 (VII), a matter which is already sub-judice cannot be debated on the floor of the House."

This irked the opposition members who trooped into the well of the House and raised slogans against the state government. Unable to run the House, the Speaker adjourned the proceedings first till 11:30am and then till 4:00pm.

The Opposition members said that a due of ₹20 crore was not paid to L&T on time and now that amount has escalated up to ₹120 crore including interest. They demanded a clarification from the Works Minister.

Opposition BJP chief whip Mohan Majhi said that the matter was not sub-judice as the SC was yet to hear the review petition of the state government. Congress MLA Tara Prasad Bahinipati said that the state government did not give importance to the issue between 2004 and 2022 for which the construction company with court order seized government properties including some computers from the Nirman Soudha. As the computers have several important files, the government should blacklist such a company, he said.

The issue originates from a road construction work assigned to L&T. The company was awarded the work to build 166km road from Sambalpur to Rourkela. The Works department did not refund ₹20 crore to the company even after completion of work.

The company then moved the High Court and obtained judgment in its favour. The state government challenged the HC judgement in the SC which upheld the order. The state government has filed a review petition in the SC, an official said on the status of the case.

Meanwhile, the company moved the court of Civil Judge (Commercial) as the government did not make the payment even after the court order. The court ordered the seizure of the property of the government when it did not take any action even after repeated notice.

'Partha doesn't need hospitalisation for now'

BHUBANESWAR: West Bengal minister Partha Chatterjee, arrested in connection with a school job scam, was Monday flown to AIIMS-Bhubaneswar, where doctors said that he suffers from chronic diseases but does not need immediate hospitalization. The Calcutta High Court had July 24 directed the Enforcement Directorate, which held the 69-year-old TMC leader last week, to take him to the health facility in Bhubaneswar by an air ambulance as he complained of health issues. "We've conducted a thorough screening (of Chatterjee), including blood, kidney, thyroid and cardiological investigations. He has some chronic diseases, but does not need immediate hospitalisation," AIIMS executive director Ashutosh Biswas told reporters. A report has been sent to the Calcutta High Court with details of Chatterjee's health status, Biswas said.

Proof that poor too can dream: Murmu

"This is the greatness of India, the mother of democracy," she said to thunderous applause from the gathering that included Prime Minister Narendra Modi, ministers, former President Pratibha Patil, MPs as well as leaders such as Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik who backed her election.

The new President, who was born in a Santhal family, said she grew up in a small tribal village where even getting primary education was a dream and went on to become the first person in the village to enroll for college education.

It is a matter of great satisfaction for me that those who have been deprived for centuries and those who have been denied the benefits of development, those poor, downtrodden, backwards and tribals are seeing their reflection in me, she said.

Murmu said her election as president has the blessings of the poor of the country and reflected the dreams and potential of crores of women and daughters of the country.

She paid tribute to India's freedom fighters, and said the country will have to move quickly on the twin tracks of 'sabka prayas' (everyone's effort) and 'sabka kartavya' (everyone's duty) to fulfil their expectations.

Noting that she was the first President to be born after Independence, Murmu said it was her good fortune that she has assumed the position at a time when the country is celebrating Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav to mark the 75th anniversary of its freedom.

"From Santhal revolution, Paika revolution to Kol revolution and Bhil revolution, all these revolutions strengthened the tribal contribution in the freedom struggle," Murmu said.

"In our country full of diversities, we are engaged in the making of 'Ek Bharat - Shreshtha Bharat' by adopting many languages, religions, sects, food habits, lifestyles and customs," she said.

She highlighted the role of India's ancient traditions in dovetailing growth and environment preservation. "I was born in that tribal tradition which has lived in harmony with nature for thousands of years. I have realized the importance of forests and water bodies in my life," Murmu said.

"We take necessary resources from nature and serve nature with equal reverence. This sensitivity has become a global imperative today," she added.

Murmu, who started public life as a councillor and was former Jharkhand governor, said she wanted to reassure all Indians, particularly the youth and women, that their interests will be supreme for her as president.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi described Murmu taking over as President as a "watershed moment". The day, which started with outgoing president Kovind and Murmu arriving in a procession from the Rashtrapati Bhavan to the Parliament Building, was edged with ceremony and celebration.

India's new president was given a 21-gun salute after which she signed the oath register to applause and the thumping of desks.

After the short ceremony, Murmu and Kovind were escorted out of the Central Hall amid the ruff of drums and blowing of trumpets.

EOW nabs ex-banker from Delhi over loan fraud in City

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, July 25: The Economic Offences Wing (EOW) of the state Crime Branch has arrested a chartered accountant, who served as a manager in one of the branches of Punjab National Bank (PNB) in the City, from New Delhi for his alleged involvement in a loan fraud here, a police official said Monday.

According to EOW officials, PNB's Bhubaneswar circle head Paresh Kumar Das had approached the EOW alleging that Kali Prasad Mishra, proprietor of M/s KP Solutions, had availed cash credit (CC) as working capital of Rs 2.50 crore October 24, 2017 from PNB's Bapuji Nagar Branch by using forged documents.

During investigation, the EOW claimed to have found that the accused Neeraj Kumar, who worked as a manager (credit) at PNB's Saheed Nagar branch here between 2013 and 2016, along with a few other senior bankers were behind the fraud.

"Even though Neeraj resigned from PNB in 2016, he used to sit in the Bapuji Nagar branch posing as a bank official and was actively engaged in facilitating and arranging loans to the tune of crores. Neeraj, along with another accused Prakash Kumar Behera who has already been arrested and a few other bank officials, facilitated the sanction of loan on the basis of forged documents. Kali Prasad's company had transferred lakhs of rupees to the accounts of Neeraj and other accused," said a senior EOW officer.

Earlier, Kali Prasad, Srikant Prasad Prusty, the then senior manager (credit), Birendra Kumar Pattnaik, ex-chief manager, Narendra Nayak, the then manager, and a businessman Prakash Kumar Behera were arrested in connection with the case, added the official.

State's missive to Centre for settlement of PMFBY claims

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Bhubaneswar, July 25: Odisha cooperation minister Atanu Sabyasachi Nayak Monday wrote a letter to Union agriculture minister Narendra Singh Tomar for an early settlement of claims under the Pradhan Mantri Fasal BimaYojana (PMFBY) for kharif 2021.

In his letter, Nayak said the Odisha government was continuing to implement PMFBY since kharif 2016 even though many of the neighbouring states were opting out of the scheme.

In order to augment the scheme implementation process, the state government has taken several initiatives. Odisha is the first state to introduce Smart Sampling Technique (SST) for the selection of plots for conduct of crop cutting experiments (CCEs) and second state to integrate state land records portal with national crop insurance portal, he said.

The state government has also conducted a special drive for capturing of CCE data using mobile app leading to maximum capturing of such data. Besides, the state has also formed district and block level monitoring committees to oversee programme implementation, pointed out Nayak.

THE MINISTER SAID THE KHARIF SEASON OF 2021 WAS FRAUGHT WITH MANY NATURAL CALAMITIES AFFECTING MANY CROPS, ESPECIALLY PADDY, WHICH ACCOUNTS FOR NEARLY 98 PER CENT OF THE AREA INSURED.

THE ESTIMATED CLAIM FOR THE SEASON IS ABOUT RS 1,364 CRORE, OUT OF WHICH CLAIMS TO THE TUNE OF RS 748 CRORE HAVE BEEN SETTLED, SO FAR.

The minister further said the Kharif season of 2021 was fraught with many natural calamities affecting many crops, especially paddy, which is the major crop of the state and accounts for nearly 98 per cent of the area insured.

The estimated claim for the season is about Rs 1,364 crore out of which claims to the tune of Rs 748 crore have been settled, so far. It has come to the notice of the state government that in many cases the notified insurance companies have raised objections regarding the conduct of CCE and held up the claims, Nayak said. Though the objections raised by the insurance companies have been duly complied, the claims have not been settled which has led to farmers unrest in many places and likely to affect the ongoing enrolment process for kharif '22, he said. Therefore, Nayak sought personal attention of Tomar into the matter and requested to issue the necessary directive to the insurance companies for the settlement of claims at the earliest for safeguarding the interest of the farmers.

Forest fires should be actively managed, say scientists

The giant sequoias of California are some of the largest, oldest trees on Earth. Stretching 100 metres to the sky, some have a girth that could only be spanned by 20 friends holding hands. But in the last two years, fierce wildfires in California have killed an unprecedented number of these endangered trees. The fires in 2021 alone killed as many as 3,600 giant sequoias, which is approximately 5 percent of large trees in the population.

The solution would seem to be to prevent fires, but sequoia groves thrive when small-scale fires pass through. Exclusion of fire can be just as harmful as too much fire.

Globally, more than 4,400 species face threats from patterns of fire that have been modified by human activity. Increasingly, researchers are exploring how climate change and land use are changing patterns of fire and what can be done to get more of the 'right' kind of fire.

Actively managing fire to suit particular species or ecosystems means ensuring the right amount, pattern, and timing of fire in landscapes that need it, and less fire in those landscapes that don't. Applying the right kind of fire can be helpful for both humans and ecosystems, encouraging desired species and resources. The continuation and reinstatement of Indigenous fire stewardship in the tropical savannas of Brazil demonstrates this. There, the Xavante people use fire to boost vegetation growth and certain animal foods.

Areas managed by the Xavante are less likely to experience deforestation and weed invasion. Revitalising Indigenous knowledge in Australia, North America and beyond is likely to also promote patterns of fire that benefit biodiversity and people.

Collecting data through scientific experiments and systematic monitoring encourages innovative fire management. For example, knowing when plants flower and produce seed can be used to identify when fire is needed, and parts of the landscape where fire should be suppressed. Linking such information with projections of future wildfires provides a powerful way to design more effective planned burning strategies. In semi-arid Australia, computer modelling has been used to investigate whether planned burns can reduce the risk of harm to birds, reptiles and small marsupials.

Preliminary studies indicate that strategic burns, including burning in a striped pattern, can moderate the size of wildfires and benefit some threatened species. A new strategy in many temperate forests is letting wildfires burn when conditions are not extreme, to promote patchily burned areas that are helpful for a range of species. In Yosemite National Park, California, a policy of not extinguishing fires started by lightning has created more diverse habitats that support a variety of plants and their pollinators, such as bees.

A different suite of approaches focuses not just on fire, but on the whole ecosystem. Fire and biodiversity cannot be tackled in isolation from other environmental changes such as habitat loss or introduced pest species.

From the Arctic tundra to the Amazon rainforest, large-scale environmental restoration projects involving local communities and national agencies have been proposed to increase the total area of habitats and their connectivity to each other. In general, bigger and better-connected animal and plant populations are more resilient to fires.

The boreal region of Canada is home to a wide range of creatures, from microscopic microbes to massive moose and caribou. But draining the spongy peatlands has increased the risk of very large fires and tough-to-manage smoldering fires that persist even in cold conditions.

Strategic rewetting of drained peatlands and the promotion of fire-resistant mosses can create a natural fire break, reduce wildfire severity and promote biodiversity. In Africa, reintroducing native grazing animals such as white rhinoceros helps to create patchy fires. The grazing of these huge creatures creates habitats for a range of insects and plants. Of course, context matters; grazing by non-native animals, such as cattle in Australia's alpine regions, doesn't always reduce fire risk and can harm ecosystems.

Some ecosystems may even benefit from artificial habitats. In the Simpson Desert of Australia, scientists have tested the use of refuges made from wire mesh in providing shelter for small animals in open, recently burnt landscapes. Ongoing research indicates that these 'safe houses' could protect populations of reptiles and small mammals that would normally be easy prey for introduced cats and foxes.

Restoring and promoting landscapes that people can use creates opportunities to balance land for wildlife with other values in many regions of the world. On every vegetated continent, scientists are partnering with local communities to explore 'green firebreaks' comprising low-flammability species planted at strategic locations across the landscape.

Research in New Zealand has identified low-flammability vegetable crops, pastures and traditional Maori food and medicine species, such as the kawakawa tree, that could moderate fire while enhancing biodiversity.

Agriculture and forestry around the Mediterranean that promotes patchworks of low-flammability crops, orchards and oak trees can also reduce the risk of large, intense fires and provide homes for communities of threatened birds. Science has provided a large body of knowledge on fire and biodiversity. At its best, science is inclusive of the diverse people living and working in fire-prone ecosystems.

Learning from previous and current management by local and Indigenous people and fostering shared fire management are invaluable steps in promoting fires that benefit people and biodiversity. But more large-scale experiments are needed to test new ideas. And on top of all the other changes humans are creating, climate change is increasing wildfire activity and causing more extreme fire weather in many parts of the world.

The challenges the world faces in a new era of fire are so large that ecologists need to keep experimenting, testing new ideas and being bolder with conservation initiatives. Ecosystems are shaped by complex and interconnected reactions to humans and fire. As the world changes, it's an interplay scientists need to keep learning about.

Suicide bid by differently-abled over land demarcation delay

POST NEWS NETWORK

Digapahandi, July 25: In a shocking incident, a differently-abled man tried to commit suicide by consuming poison in the presence of Ganjam Collector, Berhampur SP and other district officials during a joint grievance hearing on the block office premises here in Ganjam district, Monday.

The victim was identified as J Balakrushna Dora, 41, a resident of Patand under Kushapada panchayat of Digapahandi block. Government officials rushed him to Digapahandi community health centre from where he was shifted to MKCG Medical College & Hospital in Berhampur in a critical condition.

According to reports, Ganjam Collector Dibya Jyoti Parida, Berhampur SP Saravana Vivek M, DRDA project director V Keerti Vasani, district social security officer Kalyani Das, Digapahandi BDO Haladhar Sabar, additional tehsildar Ramesh Chandra Behera and Digapahandi IIC Deepti Ranjan Behera and various department officials were present at the grievance redressal camp.

The hearing was underway when Dora came on a tricycle and consumed poison to end life in front of the Collector alleging inaction by revenue inspector (RI) despite repeated requests for land demarcation. Sources said Dora had repeatedly visited the revenue circle office at Digapahandi and requested the RI to demarcate his homestead land which had been encroached upon by his neighbour.

He alleged that the RI, Akshaya Mallick, demanded bribe to do the needful and harassed him by forcing him to make repeated rounds of his office. The demarcation could not be carried out as he failed to bribe the RI, he alleged. Frustrated, Dora reached the grievance hearing camp and tried to end life by consuming the poison, said sources.

When contacted, the RI rejected the charges stating that as per the application of Dora he visited his house for land demarcation a week back. He failed to demarcate the land as Dora had stored firewood and other materials on his backyard while his neighbour was not present.

He clicked the photograph of getting the land in Dora's presence and advised him to clear the firewood and other materials for demarcation of the land. He said even the amin and other staffers of Digapahandi revenue circle office visited Dora's house last Saturday for demarcation of the land.

However, they failed to do so as the backyard was not cleaned. They told him that they will demarcate the land after a few days to which Dora consented and gave an undertaking to.

Plantation to draw jumbos towards NH underpasses

Banana plantation on National Highway-49 underpass near Belda village

POST NEWS NETWORK

Keonjhar, July 25: Forest officials have come out with a novel idea to help elephants take the underpasses of National Highway-20 and 49 to cross the highways in Keonjhar district, a report said.

In order to attract the pachyderms towards the underpasses, they are scattering elephant faeces along the path. They have also planted banana plants and paddy saplings along some of the underpasses to attract the mammals to take the route.

This step has been taken after elephants were found facing trouble crossing the National Highways 20 and 49, which are frequently congested due to heavy traffic. It is hoped that these steps will help animals cross the highways safely and also prevent casualties.

The National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) has constructed underpasses at various places of both the highways. However, it was frequently seen that the animals did not use the crossing points to reach the other side of the highways. In light of the challenges faced by the pachyderms, the Forest department took the decision to use the new techniques.

Forest officials are hopeful that the animals will take the underpasses after getting smell of their faeces. They are also of the opinion that the banana plants and paddy saplings on the underpasses will help the animals get their preferred food for which they will take the underpass instead of waiting in herds to cross the highways during traffic snarls.

A few years ago, three elephants were killed after they were hit by a cargo truck and a passenger bus in Ghatagaon area while they were crossing NH-20. Moreover, the animals often find it difficult to cross the highway due to large number of vehicles and cargo trucks parked on the roadsides. As a result, the jumbos remain confined to the nearby jungles and often destroy lives and properties by entering the nearby human habitats at night.

When contacted, Keonjhar DFO HD Dhanaraj said the elephants are reluctant to accept the underpasses. Hence, an initiative was taken to attract the animals by planting their fodder so that once they use the path they will do so every time.

Historic Jagusagar to get a facelift

POST NEWS NETWORK

Dhamnagar, July 25: Jagusagar, a sprawling historic water body at Dhamnagar Bazaar in Bhadrak district, will get a facelift as the government has sanctioned ₹1 crore for the purpose.

Bhadrak MP Manjulata Mandal has sent a letter to Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik, intimating him about the need for renovation of one of the oldest water bodies in the state.

The sprawling pond is under the fisheries department. Over years, the pond has been given a short shrift due to departmental apathy. As a result, parts of the pond have been encroached upon, it was alleged.

Buildings are being raised around the pond. There is no let-up in land grabbing around the pond, which is choked with weeds, hyacinth and bushes. Its water is also getting polluted. "It is going to lose its existence soon," the locals lamented.

It was in 2018 when former MLA Mukhtikanta Mandal had sent a proposal to the then Fisheries minister, seeking renovation of the water body.

The MP had recently visited Dhamnagar where local people and members of citizens' forum had urged her for its renovation.

The MP said that the state government has sanctioned ₹1 crore while there is a proposal to sanction ₹2 crore for the renovation of the pond.

It was also learnt that the pond area will be demarcated and official records will be prepared before the renovation starts.

BATTLE OF TIGER HILL
Tiger Hill was one of the highest peaks in the Dras - Kargil Sector. Eviction of Pakistani troops from this feature was one of the most important objectives for the Indian Army during the Kargil operation and the peak was captured on 04 July 1999.

BATTLE OF KHALUBAR
Khalubar Ridge due to its location, dominates all approaches towards the Line of Control. Our Artillery destroyed enemy sangars, disrupted communication & supply lines. Some of the most heroic deeds of valour were witnessed in this sector.

BATTLE OF POINT 4875
Point 4875 located in Mushkoh Valley dominated National Highway from Dras to Matayan. The troops of Indian Army fought valiantly to recapture this strategically important peak.

OPERATIONS IN BATALIK
The first success of Operation Vijay was achieved in this Sector in the area of Rockfall on 09 June 1999. The subsequent attacks were launched on Point 4875, Garhi, Point 5000 and Jubar Complex. The Batalik Sector was cleared of the enemy by 07 July 1999.

FOCUS PUBLIC SECTOR BANKS

THE GOOD & THE BAD

The view that privatising banks is the panacea for all ills of banking in India is obviously wrong. All bank failures have been of high-profile private banks bank failures have been of high-profile private banks. The mother-of-all bank failures occurred in 2008 in America and among the Western nations, starting with the fall of the gold-plated Lehman Bank and the domino effect resulted in a global financial crisis. Surely public sector ownership of banks was not to be blamed for this crisis.

Around the same time in late 2008, a cash-rich company like Infosys had to publicly announce that it was moving its cash deposits from private and foreign banks to State Bank of India, and that its shareholders or customers should not panic! The instinctive flight of public deposits to PSBs indicates the trust and confidence of depositors. There is however a flip side to this confidence. It is because of an implicit guarantee by the owner of the PSBs i.e., the government of India that no bank will fail. This un-priced guarantee can result in poor profitability. Is it fair that the public depositor should have an unlimited guarantee that her or his money in the PSB is safe? Should there not be an upper limit (say ₹5 lakh) above which funds are at risk of bank failure? The answers to these and many such questions lie in banking reforms, which include more autonomy in their running, more commercial orientation, a lower burden of pursuing social objectives, more focus on manpower productivity and a better pricing of depositors' risk.

The wrong answer is outright and wholesale privatisation of all PSBs as was proposed recently in a paper authored by a former NITI Aayog Chairman and a present member of the PM's Economic Advisory Council. Surely a middle path can be found, wherein government ownership is reduced, functioning autonomy of the PSB is increased, the public's trust is maintained, deposit insurance is properly priced and the commercial performance of banks is enhanced. This is not rocket science, unlike that moon-landing in 1969.

The writer is a noted economist.
©THE BILLION PRESS

The third week of July marks two anniversaries of events in 1969, one national and the other international. The latter was the first human landing on the moon which happened around 8 am on a Sunday morning in India. Just 12 hours before that, the Prime Minister announced to the nation, that the government was taking over 14 private banks, and nationalising 85% of the nation's deposits. One event was a technological breakthrough while the other demonstrated political audacity. Each event had a long-term influence, one on the evolution of the space exploration programme, and the other on the evolution of banking and finance. We will leave the story of Apollo 11, whose crew came back safely to Earth, and the subsequent developments, to a later day. For now, let's focus on the long shadow of bank nationalisation. The economy has grown 50 times larger since 1969. The bank deposits with those 14 public sector banks were not even ₹100 crore then, while today Public Sector Banks (PSBs) hold over ₹100 lakh crore in deposits. The deepening of the financial sector's formalisation and its spread into every corner of the country has been phenomenal.

After 53 years, the share of deposits with PSBs is still at 70%, which is a fall of merely 15% since that day of nationalisation. Incidentally the PM had rushed through nationalisation, even getting Presidential assent on a Saturday. But this hasty legislation was defeated by the Supreme Court just six months later, and hence a modified ordinance had to be passed to overcome the court hurdle. The PM gained immense popularity and political mileage from this decision since there had been hundreds of private bank failures in the previous twenty years. The public perceived, rightly or wrongly, that their money was safe in PSBs. That feeling persists to this day. Even this government has shown disproportionate dependence on PSBs rather than private banks. For instance, more than 90% of the PM's Jan Dhan Yojana of 45 crore accounts were opened by PSBs. This is the world's foremost financial inclusion campaign and has helped channel government subsidies through direct benefit transfers to the JDY accounts. Even during COVID these accounts have proved invaluable. They also have an insurance cover as well as an overdraft facility attached to the accounts. The Mudra loans to small enterprises are also mostly an exclusive domain of PSBs. On the credit side too, the bulk of the loans for government projects, whether in ports, roads or railways or other infrastructure endeavours are through PSBs. A recent example is the Bundelkhand Expressway in Uttar Pradesh, whose estimated cost is ₹15,000 crore. Loans for the Expressway have been raised from a consortium of PSBs.

As for bank failures, there too the PSBs come to the rescue. Yes Bank recently was de facto taken over by State Bank of India (although not technically). The ill-famed Global Trust Bank was bailed out by the Oriental Bank of Commerce back in 2004.

If one looks at only the commercial performance of PSBs the picture is mixed to put it mildly. The quantum of bad loans or what are called non-performing assets (NPAs) is much worse for PSBs in comparison with private banks. A recent report by the credit information company TransUnion CIBIL shows that willful defaulters have increased by 10-fold in the past 10 years. As of March 2021, these defaulters owed ₹2.4 lakh crore, of which 95% was owed to PSBs. This amounts to loot of public funds. Of these there are 36 people who have defaulted on more than ₹1000 crore each. The chances of recovery are remote, and in any case the legal process is longwinded. The question is whether this implies negligence of the lenders, lack of vigilance on loans, or lending under some political pressure? The negligence argument is not convincing, since for example, 30% of those loans were given by State Bank of India or its associates, who are all known for high standards of diligence and lending practices. Why is it that private sector banks have low NPA ratios? Are they better at loan monitoring? Are they better custodians of public deposits? Do they inherently take less risks? Is it because they don't lend to socially desirable but commercially non-lucrative borrowers? Or is it because they don't face political pressure to lend?

The view that privatising banks is the panacea for all ills of banking in India is obviously wrong. All

Fascist Footsteps

Clouds of Fascism and Right-wing autocratic rule are once again hovering over most of Europe as is evident following the collapse of the Mario Draghi government in Italy. Only recently France narrowly escaped such a prospect when the Right wing party leader Marine Le Pen failed to become the country's President though succeeding in securing an unprecedented number of votes. But, Italy's fate to be ruled by a Right-wing coalition, the major constituent being the successor of the architect of Italian Fascism, Benito Mussolini, looks almost certain.

Italy will hold a snap national election September 25 after Prime Minister Mario Draghi resigned following the collapse of his national unity government. It has already sent tremors through financial markets. A fierce election campaign is on the cards. The country is facing scorching summer heat and dire human and economic crises resulting from the pandemic and the energy and security concerns created by Russia's invasion of Ukraine. It is noteworthy that the Draghi government had assiduously, and somewhat successfully, tried to stave off these impediments. A bloc of conservative parties, led by the Far-right Brothers of Italy, is ahead of all other parties in opinion polls that predict a clear majority for it.

Draghi was an unelected former central banker who led a broad coalition for almost 18 months on the assurance of the partners in February 2021 that he would be given a free hand in managing the affairs of the country. He got support from both the Left and the Right. In view of the crises created by COVID-19 and the urgent need for help from the EU, most other major parties, including the Centre-left Democratic Party, the anti-establishment populist Five Star Movement, firebrand Matteo Salvini's hard-core nationalist Lega, and former Prime Minister Silvio Berlusconi's Forza Italia lent support to him.

Draghi was fed up with the internal bickering and pulls and pressures exerted by the coalition partners over the past few months. The need to get relief funds from Brussels and the fear that new elections would trigger chaos had held things together. However, in June, the coalition was on the rocks. An increasingly bitter intra-party fight within the Five Star Movement and then between Five Star and Lega, precipitated matters. First, the Five Star threatened to leave the government. Even then there was hope Draghi would survive with a narrower coalition. But, when Lega and Forza Italia insisted on more Right-wing government policies, Draghi had no option but to resign.

The turn of events does not augur well for Italy which needs to pass a budget to implement the reforms sought by the European Commission in exchange for a promised €200bn in grants and loans from the EU's pandemic relief fund. That process will now be delayed because Italy's President has dissolved parliament ahead of the September elections. Obviously, and something that most Indians would be able to comprehend, the focus of all those political parties would be on how to defeat their rivals at the hustings rather than fighting inflation, finding ways to get through a difficult winter without Russian energy supplies and helping consumers by fighting inflation.

Pre election polls suggest an alliance of Italy's Right-wing parties will form the next government. Apart from Salvini's Lega and Berlusconi's Forza Italia, the big winner will likely be the Brothers of Italy that had refused, from the beginning, to support Draghi's government. Its 45-year-old leader Giorgia Meloni, like Marine Le Pen of France, has moorings in Right-wing ideas. As a teenager, she joined the Italian Social Movement, a party inspired by Mussolini. In 2014, she became a founding member of the intensely anti-immigrant Brothers of Italy. She could temper her Right-wing rhetoric for pragmatic politics and the dire need for EU money for tiding over Italy's financial crisis but that would not be her true self.

Meloni may not have a cakewalk given infighting among Right-wing parties. But, it looks like the next Italian PM may not have Draghi's crisis-management skill and experience or the will to transcend party politics. This, some observers feel, is no good news for Italy, a country with a history of continual political turmoil.

WORDSWORTH

Usufructuary

We are short of words that contain four us. Among the few that are even relatively common (leaving aside Hawaiian muu-muu) are tumultuously and unscrupulous, although the very much rarer pustulocrustaceous and pseudotuberculous are also recorded. This term comes from Roman law. Usufruct is the right of temporary possession and enjoyment of something that belongs to somebody else, so far as that can be done without causing damage or changing its substance. For example, a slave in classical Rome could not own anything. Things he acquired as the result of his labour he merely held usus (et) fructus, under "use (and) enjoyment" — it was his master who actually owned them. The term remains in use in modern US legal practice and elsewhere to mean somebody who "enjoys the fruits" of something, usually land. These days a usufructuary can be a trustee who enjoys the produce or income from property he holds in trust for somebody else. Many Native American groups hold land on a usufruct basis, with rights to enjoy the renewable natural resources of the land for hunting and fishing.

Vaccary

You won't find this in any modern dictionary except the largest, as it has quite gone out of use except when speaking of historical matters. The word meant a cow pasture, not some peasant's patch where one cow was kept for her milk, but larger-scale pasturage where cattle were kept and bred and as a source of working oxen. The word is usually linked to grazing land in the moors and valleys of the Pennines in Yorkshire and Lancashire. In the thirteenth century numbers of vaccaries were carved out of the old private hunting chases of the nobility, who created them in an attempt to get some revenue back from their holdings. Vaccaries were small-scale commercial cattle farms — in places, as around Pendle (more famous for its witches), you can still see the big stone-slab walls that kept the cattle enclosed. The word comes from the mediaeval Latin vaccaria, derived from vacca, a cow. Vaccinate is closely linked, since that derives from the Latin vaccinus, of or from a cow, as cow-pox serum was used to protect people against smallpox.

Free haircut

A man and a little boy entered a barbershop together. After the man received the full treatment - shave, shampoo, manicure, haircut, - he placed the boy in the chair. "I'm going to buy a green tie to wear for the parade," he said. "I'll be back in a few minutes."

When the boy's haircut was completed and the man still hadn't returned, the barber said, "Looks like your daddy's forgotten all about you." "That wasn't my daddy," said the boy. "He just walked up, took me by the hand and said, 'Come on, son, we're gonna get a free haircut!'"

SPECTRUM MIDDLE EAST

Daoud Kuttab

WHILE THE US AND MOST OF THE REST OF THE WORLD HAVE CALLED ON ISRAEL TO END ITS MILITARY RULE OVER MILLIONS OF PALESTINIANS, THEY HAVE DONE LITTLE TO CHANGE THE STATUS QUO

For decades, the defining conflict of the Middle East has revolved around a single piece of diplomatic jargon: the "two-state solution." Originally, this term referred to a concrete idea — the formation of a sovereign independent Palestinian state alongside Israel. But for most politicians, it has long since become an empty cliché, uttered out of habit, and without much interest in seeing it through.

Consider US Secretary of State Antony Blinken's recent call with Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas. According to the State Department readout, Blinken "stressed the US commitment to improving the quality of life of the Palestinian people in tangible ways and the [Biden] Administration's support for a negotiated two-state solution."

Such talk is nothing new. While the US has formally recognised the state of Israel since 1948, it has yet to recognise the state of Palestine in accordance with the UN partition plan. Moreover, both territories that the original UN resolution set aside for an Arab state are now occupied by Israel. While the US and most of the rest of the world have called on Israel to end its military rule over millions of Palestinians, they have done little to change the status quo. Even though Palestine has been recognised as a non-member state by the UN and formally recognised by 139 UN member states, the US, the European Union, Japan, and Australia still have not taken this critical step.

Given this, US officials' endless repetition of the phrase "two-state solution" means nothing. But while few expect the US to sanction Israel or arm Palestinians (as it has done for Ukrainians), there are still practical steps that both America and the international community could take to make the two-state solution more than an empty slogan.

For example, the US could remove the Palestine Liberation Organisation — which signed the 1993 Oslo Accords along with Israel — from its list of designated terrorist organisations. It could block imports of products made in illegal Jewish settlements that bear the label "Made in Israel." And it could demand that Israel cease the daily violence committed against Palestinians and pursue justice for Shireen Abu Akleh, the slain Palestinian-American journalist whom US officials themselves believe was likely killed by an Israeli bullet.

America can also do more to help Palestinians build the state institutions they will need to end Israeli control of Palestinian land, water, and air. As matters stand, Israel restricts Palestinians' water usage and sets housing regulations in occupied territories, where Palestinian homes are regularly demolished. Palestinians are not even free to upgrade their cell-phone towers, owing to Israeli towers that have been built illegally on occupied Palestinian lands.

Under these conditions, an independent Palestinian economy is an impossibility. But a strong push to help Palestinians engage economically with neighbouring Arab countries — especially Egypt and Jordan — could start the process of ending Palestinians' forced dependence on Israel.

Recent political developments suggest that renewed progress on these issues is possible. The Centrist Israeli politician Yair Lapid has stepped in as a caretaker Prime Minister. Unlike the outgoing Right-wing PM, Naftali Bennett, Lapid supports the two-state solution and advocates renewed negotiations with the Palestinian leadership.

However, Lapid's tenure will probably be short-lived, given that Israel will go to the polls in November to elect a new government. Once again, Palestinians are left waiting and hoping for a positive outcome in an Israeli election, an exercise that most now consider a waste of time.

The land between the Mediterranean Sea and the Jordan River either must be split into two sovereign states, or it must be shared between the Palestinian and Israeli people, with all citizens having equal rights. Israeli and American leaders who profess to believe in the two-state solution must prove that they mean what they say. At a minimum, the US must demand — wielding the threat of sanctions — that Israel not pursue any further action that impedes the realisation of a contiguous Palestinian state.

Continued Israeli settlement activity makes a complete mockery of the two-state solution and any political leader who still claims to support it. Are world leaders — starting with Biden — serious when they talk about a democratic Palestinian state alongside a secure Israel? In the absence of meaningful policy changes, the "two-state solution" will continue to ring hollow.

Neighbour's evil designs

Sir, The expansionistic and imperialistic move by the Andhra Pradesh government in the border areas of Odisha is a matter of concern. In a democracy, such undue interference by a neighbouring state in our soil smacks of corruption and impropriety. Our freedom fighters and the founding Fathers of Utkala Sammilani sacrificed their lives for unification of various scattered lands lying outside our state for building a greater Odisha. Let their martyrdom not go in vain. But, a neighbouring state is entering illegally into our territory by providing local citizens with freebies and alluring promises. It is against the rule of law and propriety. An all-party meeting should be convened. Our leaders in the Parliament should apprise the matter to the higher authorities. A peaceful mass agitation is the need of the hour. All the stakeholders should think deeply about the situation. It is a matter of urgent importance.

Prabhudutt Dash, BHUBANESWAR

Incentivise aforestation

Sir, Growing urbanisation poses a serious threat to the environment since it is causing green spaces to disappear across the country. In almost all states, there is a decrease in the amount of trees. According to data analysis from the Forest Survey of India, every state's tree cover has decreased by minimum of 40 sq km in the past 10 years. Another threat is more and more trees would be cut down nationwide as a result of the Central government's forest conservation rules. Small tree patches and solitary trees outside of reported forest areas that are smaller than one hectare in size are referred to as 'tree cover.' These trees are typically found as dispersed trees in urban areas, village areas, and along roads. To improve tree cover each and every state has to come up with attractive offers to people. Every state in the nation should offer 5 to 6 units of free electricity in exchange for planting and maintaining a tree on a specific campus, similar to what the state of Jharkhand is doing now. The offer should be applicable only for suitable trees that will aid in future nature preservation. The offer of free electricity should merely focus on increasing urban vegetation by including every citizen in the mission to plant trees. Otherwise every state government has to set a target to plant crores of saplings in every moon-son to increase the forest cover.

TEACHER RECRUITMENT SCAM

Mamata breaks silence

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Kolkata, July 25: If anyone is found guilty of wrongdoing, he must be punished, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee said Monday days after her cabinet colleague Partha Chatterjee was arrested in the SSC scam by the Enforcement Directorate (ED).

Addressing an award function of the state government here, Banerjee slammed the opposition for a "malicious campaign" launched against her, asserting that she does not support corruption. "I will not get into the details of the case as it is sub judice. We have full faith in the judiciary. We want a time-bound probe into the matter. If someone is found guilty, the person should be punished accordingly, be it life imprisonment. I won't mind. But, I condemn the malicious campaign against me," she said.

"We want a fast-track court to hear the matter, otherwise it will be like the Saradha case, which is pending for over ten years and there is no verdict or justice. The crime was done by the CPI(M), but the TMC was targeted," she alleged.

Banerjee said she believes in politics of sacrifice and serving the country. "I am not in politics to improve my life. Throughout my life, I have been against corruption but I do not support injustice. However, I am unhappy with the recent developments that have taken place in the state. I do not spare anyone, even if that person is a minister," she said.

Referring to the video shared by the BJP, in which she was seen interacting with Arpita Mukherjee from whose house ₹22 crore in cash was found, the chief minister said the Trinamool Congress has no links with her.

"The party has no relation with that lady, neither do I know her. I will not be a part of the media trial that is going on. If I visit several Durga Puja pandals and interact with people there, does it mean I know them personally? No. And if that is the case, what about Nirav Modi and Mehul Choksi, who were clicked with BJP leaders?" she asked.

"Please remember, an injured lion can be dangerous. Please do not play with fire. If anyone has done wrong, prosecute him. But, do not touch me because I know how to fight back, for I have done nothing wrong. Take three months' time, but get to the bottom of the SSC scam," she said.

Banerjee claimed that over one lakh people were hired by the state government during her tenure but there were complaints of only 200 discrepancies in the recruitment drives done through the School Service Commission (SSC). "Will all of them be rendered jobless? If there are any mistakes, they can be rectified," she said.

Another student ends life in TN

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Chennai, July 25: Days after a Class 12 student committed suicide in a private school in Kallakurichi district of Tamil Nadu, a similar incident was reported from a Tiruvallur school hostel Monday morning.

A heavy police contingent is camping at Kezhachery in Tiruvallur district following the incident.

The student had gone to the school in the morning and then went back to her hostel room.

When she failed to return even after a couple of hours, school authorities alerted the hostel and on inquiry, she was found hanging in her room.

It may be recalled that on July 13, a plus two girl student jumped off from the hostel room in Kallakurichi which escalated into a major issue. The private school where the girl was studying was vandalised and the people took to the streets thus torching four school buses and one police bus.

Furniture and other materials were also destroyed.

With the police drawing flak from all corners over the manner in which it was handled, a heavy police contingent is deployed near the school. Police from other adjacent districts have also been called up to replenish stocks.

After the Kallakurichi incident, the state police are on the back foot and not to escalate any violence, many contingents of police have reached the spot.

Hijab row: SC to hear pleas against HC order

POST NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi, July 25: The Supreme Court will decide on a batch of petitions challenging the Karnataka High Court order that wearing hijab is not an essential practice in the Islam.

The affected girl students knocked the door of the apex court questioning whether the state can interfere with the students' choice to wear hijab to college without causing any harm to others.

Significantly, the Supreme Court had observed in 1994 that religious freedom is the hallmark of pluralism and inclusiveness.

Advocate Prashant Bhushan

had mentioned the hijab row case before the bench of the apex court for urgent hearing.

Bhushan sought early listing of the case and submitted that the case was pending for months.

The apex court had indicated that it may hear the case this week.

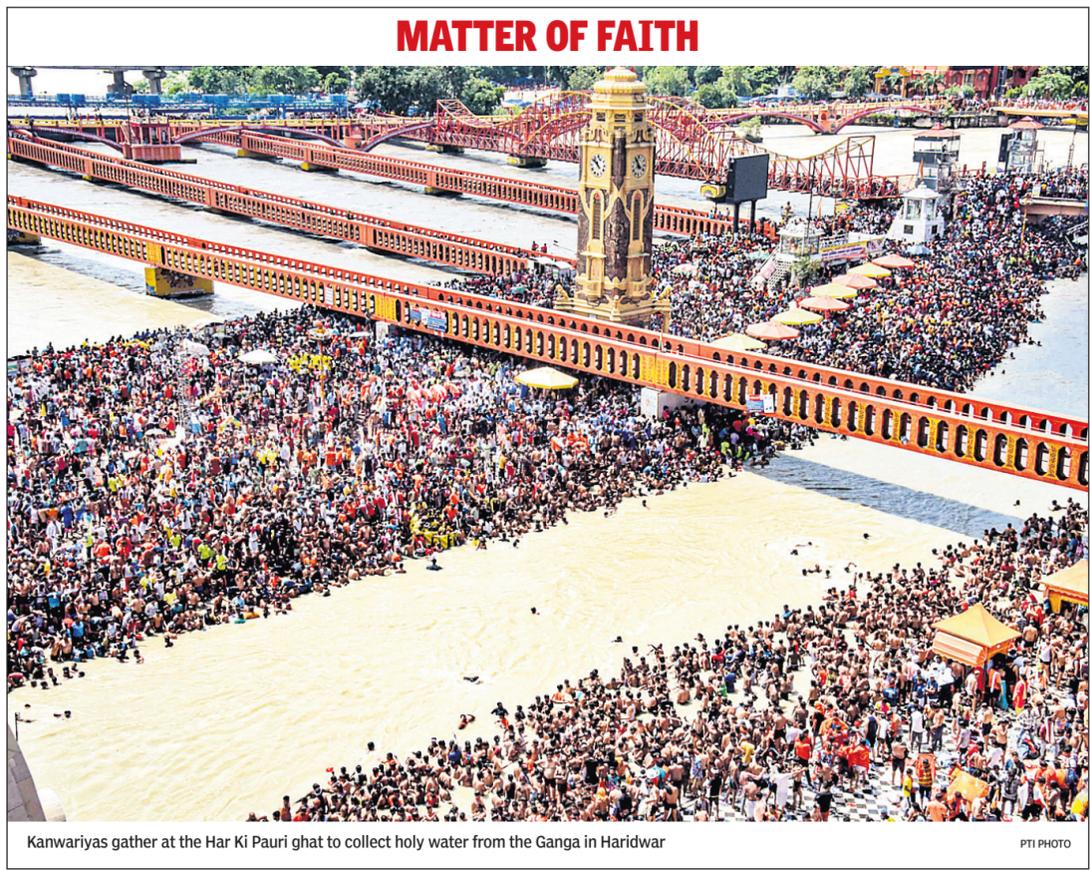

Niha Naaz, one of the petitioners, had argued that denying Muslim girls like her access to education and punishing them for wearing hijab to college, was a violation of their right to privacy.

"Freedom of conscience forms a part of the right to privacy," her petition said.

Naaz submitted that no law prohibited hijab and the Karnataka High Court order had created dichotomy of freedom of religion and freedom of conscience.

Naaz also argued in her petition that students like her had expected the HC to quash the Karnataka government order of February 5 directing college development committees to prescribe uniforms for them.

"State government's order is a ridiculing attack on Muslim students wearing hijab under the guise of attaining secularism and equality on the basis of uniform," Naaz contended.

Six die after drinking illicit liquor in Gujarat

'Tiger state' records most big cat deaths in country

FELINE GRAVEYARD

- There are six tiger reserves in the state, namely Kanha, Bandhavgarh, Pench, Satpura, Panna and Sanjay Dubri
- Of the 27 tiger deaths this year, nine were males and eight females
- According to officials, territorial fights, old age, ailments, poaching and electrocution are some of the prominent reasons for their deaths

Bhopal, July 25: Madhya Pradesh, which is known as the 'tiger state' of India, has also earned the dubious distinction of accounting for the highest number of deaths of these majestic striped felines. Till July 15 this year, of the total number of 74 tiger deaths registered in the country, MP alone accounted for 27 of them - highest for any state during this period, the data published by the National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA) on its website has revealed. The centrally located state is followed on this front by Maharashtra, which registered 15 deaths during the period. Karnataka comes next with 11 fatalities, Assam five, Kerala and Rajasthan four each, Uttar Pradesh three, Andhra Pradesh two, Bihar, Odisha and Chhattisgarh one each, among other states, as per the NTCA figures. According to officials, territorial fights, old age, ailments, poaching and electrocution are some of the prominent reasons for their deaths. Madhya Pradesh had regained the coveted tag of being the 'tiger state' of the country in the 2018 census.

As per the All-India Tiger Estimation Report 2018, the state was home to 526 tigers, the highest for any state in the country. There are six tiger reserves in the state, namely Kanha, Bandhavgarh, Pench, Satpura, Panna and Sanjay Dubri. Of the 27 tiger deaths this year, nine were males and eight females. In other cases, the gender of the animals was not mentioned in the data. The deceased included adults, sub-adults and cubs. Tigers live, breed and hunt in forests and they are at the top of the food chain. As apex predators, their presence indicates a healthy and broader ecosystem. Expressing concern over the rising number of tiger deaths, wildlife enthusiast and Right to Information (RTI) activist Ajay Dube told PTI, "In Panna, no tigers were found about 10 years back. After that, the NTCA advised the states to set up their own Special Tiger Protection Forces (STPFs) for safeguarding the big cats, especially from poachers." The Centre has made budgetary provisions for supporting the STPFs, but the MP government has so far not constituted any such force due to its own vested interests, he alleged. If established, this force will check, besides poaching, other activities like illegal mining and felling of trees in the forest areas, he said. He also said that states like Karnataka, Odisha and Maharashtra have created STPFs and their results are visible as Karnataka, despite having a sizeable population of tigers, has a lower mortality rate of big cats than Madhya Pradesh. Principal chief conservator of forests (PCCF) wildlife, JS Chauhan, said, "The higher number of tiger mortality is due to the fact that Madhya Pradesh has the highest population of big cats in the country. Due to this, the number of their deaths is naturally also high." "Territorial fights among tigers can't be avoided as it is a natural process for them. Old age is another issue," he said. The forest department can only try to prevent poaching and it always strives to do so, he said. On the issue of formation of the STPF, he said Madhya Pradesh was the first state to give a nod for it, but it has not been formed yet somehow. political interests above the interests of the country and that of society," he added. Speaking on social justice, Modi said every section of society should get equal opportunities. "No one should be deprived of the basic needs. The country will move forward when the Dalits, backwards, tribals, women and divyang move ahead. Harmohanji considered education as the most important for this transformation," he said. Hailing Yadav, Modi said he not only took a political stand against the massacre of the Sikhs in 1984 but also came forward to save them. He risked his life and saved the lives of many Sikh families, Modi said, adding that the country recognised his leadership and awarded him the Shaurya Chakra for it. Modi said Yadav took forward the ideals of socialist leader Ram Manohar Lohia in his long political life. "The work which he has done for society and his contribution to the politics of UP and the country will guide coming generations," he said. The prime minister said Lohia worked on the cultural strength of the country by organising Ramayana fairs and caring for the Ganga. "Lohiaji was of the view that socialism is a principle of equality. He used to alert (people) that the decline of socialism may convert it into inequality. In India, we have seen both these situations," he said. Modi said India is realising Lohia's dreams by initiatives like the Namami Gange, Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao, Eklavya Schools for tribal areas and the promotion of education in mother tongue. Born October 18, 1921, Harmohan Singh Yadav was a towering leader of his community. He remained active in politics for a long time and served in various capacities as an MLC, MLA, member of the Rajya Sabha and the chairman of the Akhil Bhartiya Yadav Mahasabha. He was also instrumental in establishing many educational institutions in and around Kanpur with the help of his son Sukhran Singh. The PM attending his death anniversary programme is being seen in political circles as part of the BJP's outreach to numerically strong Yadavs, the core vote bank of the Samajwadi Party led by Akhilesh Yadav.

Kanpur, July 25: Prime Minister Narendra Modi Monday accused the Opposition of obstructing development works merely on the ground that they could not accomplish these during their tenure while alleging that they keep their political interests above that of society and the country. "Many times, the opposition parties put some obstacles in the government's work as they could not implement the decisions taken by them when they were in power," Modi said addressing virtually a programme on the 10th death anniversary of former Samajwadi Party Rajya Sabha member Harmohan Singh Yadav. "Now, if they (decisions) are implemented, they oppose it. People of the country don't like it," he added. Recalling words of former prime minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee, Modi underscored the primacy of the nation over party politics. "Parties exist because of democracy and democracy exists because of the country. Most parties in our country, especially all non-Congress parties, have followed this idea," he said. "I remember the 1971 India-Pakistan war when all major parties stood shoulder-to-shoulder with the government. When the first nuclear test was conducted by the country, all parties stood firmly with the government," Modi added. The prime minister said when the country's democracy was crushed during the Emergency, all major parties came together to save the Constitution. "Chaudhary Harmohan Singh Yadav was also a 'jujharu sainik' (combative soldier) of that struggle. In other words, the interests of our country and that of society are bigger than our ideologies," he stressed. "However, in recent times, there has been a trend to put ideology and Kanauj (UP), July 25: Samajwadi Party (SP) chief Akhilesh Yadav Monday took a jibe at the ruling BJP over a portion of the Bundelkhand Expressway developing deep potholes following rainfall in Jalaun. Yadav was in Kanauj to meet a party leader who recently lost his son. "At the time of inauguration of the Bundelkhand Expressway, prominent leaders had made tall claims. But after just five days of the inauguration, it developed big potholes. The expressway could not even handle a little rainfall," he told reporters. It seems there has been a 'dacoity' in its construction, not just loot, Yadav added. The 296-km-long expressway was inaugurated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi July 16. A portion of the expressway developed deep potholes following heavy rainfall in Jalaun within a week of its inauguration. The potholes appeared at Chiriyia Salempur in Jalaun district. Uttar Pradesh Expressway Industrial Authority spokesperson Durgesh Upadhyay had said earlier, asserting that they were repaired instantly and the road opened to traffic.

Accused of helping BJP, AIMIM lodges FIR against Cong leader

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Bhopal, July 25: An FIR was lodged against Madhya Pradesh Congress vice-president Abbas Hafeez as he called All India Majlis-e-Ittehadul Muslimeen (AIMIM) a 'B' party of the BJP and accused its chief Asaduddin Owaisi of helping the saffron party in recently concluded urban polls in Madhya Pradesh. Owaisi's AIMIM contested urban body elections for the first time in Madhya Pradesh and made remarkable entry. FIR against Hafeez was lodged in Bhopal for his statement against Owaisi. Hafeez made this claim in a video message uploaded on his official Twitter handle a couple of days back. Hafeez made this allegation referring to the result of Burhanpur mayoral post, where the Congress candidate lost election against the BJP with a margin of 542 votes. Congress claimed that the BJP won Burhanpur mayoral post with the help of AIMIM. In a statement, Hafeez argued that Congress lost by a slim margin because AIMIM cut into party's vote bank. He also alleged that AIMIM chief Owaisi has been 'caught red-handed helping BJP'. Subsequently, MP cadre of AIMIM Friday registered an FIR against Hafeez under section 504 (Intentional insult to provoke breach of peace) at Ashoka Garden police station in Bhopal. Although, FIR was registered by AIMIM leaders in Bhopal, the Congress accused the state ruling BJP's hand behind this issue. The development prompted senior Congress leader and Rajya Sabha MP Digvijaya Singh to jump in support of Hafeez. "What has Abbas Hafeez said so wrong? It is yet another evidence that BJP's police promptly registered the FIR. The BJP's police force doesn't show such promptness in other cases," Digvijaya wrote on Twitter. MP BJP unit was yet to respond on the issue. Earlier, Madhya Pradesh Congress Committee (MPCC) head

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Lucknow, July 25: Amid the controversy surrounding the transfers in Uttar Pradesh's health and public works departments, Bahujan Samaj Party chief Mayawati has alleged the government is trying to save some 'big fish' involved. Deputy Chief Minister Brajesh Pathak, who also holds the portfolio of health, had July 4 written to the additional chief secretary, medical and health, demanding an explanation over the 'lapse' in not "fully implementing the transfer policy in postings in the current session." At a meeting of the BSP office-bearers from Gujarat, Maharashtra, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu and Kerala Sunday, Mayawati alleged the people of Uttar Pradesh are harassed due to corruption at every level. "They are now witnessing how the game of corruption is being played in transfer-posting, which has become an industry. The state government has been compelled to unmask it but efforts are on to save some 'big fish' of this game," she alleged. After Pathak's letter surfaced on social media, Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath formed a committee led by the chief secretary to probe the transfers in the health department. A few days ago, Adityanath had

8 killed in Purvanchal e-way accident

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Barabanki (UP), July 25: Eight people were killed and 16 injured when a Delhi-bound bus rammied into a parked bus on Purvanchal Expressway here Monday, police said.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi expressed grief over the incident and said the state government is providing all possible help to the victims. Superintendent of Police Anurag Vats said around 4.45 am, a private double-decker bus from Bihar's Muzaffarpur on its way to Delhi collided with another bus parked on Purvanchal Expressway under the Lonikatra police station area.

Additional Superintendent of Police (ASP) Manoj Pandey said the accident took place near an eatery close to Narendrapur Madraha village. The parked bus was on its way to Delhi from Sitamarhi, also in Bihar.

There were 36 passengers altogether in the two double-decker buses and police suspect the driver was sleepy at the time of the accident.

"The accident on Purvanchal Expressway in Barabanki is extremely saddening. I express my condolences to those who have lost their loved ones. Along with this, I wish speedy recovery to all injured. Under the supervision of the state government, the local administration is engaged in providing all possible help," Modi was quoted as saying in a tweet by his office.

Police took the injured to a community health centre in Haidergarh, from where those seriously hurt were referred to a trauma centre in Lucknow.

At present, nine injured are being treated at the Lucknow trauma centre and three at Ram Manohar Lohia Hospital in the state capital. Other passengers were sent to their destinations after administering first aid.

Every sweet has its sour

Every sweet has its sour: Even the ubiquitous Indian sweet 'revdi' acquired a new found meaning when the Prime Minister chose it to target his political opponents accusing them of promising freebies in exchange for votes. He termed it a dangerous 'revdi culture'. However the BJP-ruled Gujarat government's frenzied sop-announcements in the run-up to the 2017 Gujarat Assembly elections makes it a veritable case of the pot calling the kettle black!

The rebuttal from Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal, though, was swift. "Providing free and top quality services to the public-education, healthcare and the like is not 'revdi' but providing undue benefits to some corporates surely is", he said, answering a swipe with a jibe. AAP cadres were quick to take to the streets statewide to protest the remark. "Government schools in Delhi have reported 99 per cent results in the recent board examinations, what about Gujarat", questioned AAP spokesperson.

According to official sources, the state government has closed down around 90 government primary schools and merged nearly 500 of them since 2020. A survey by the education department in 2019 had found that of the 32,772 government schools in Gujarat, 12,000 were run with just one or two teachers and 15,171 with less than 100 students. Interestingly, except for a 17-month break, the BJP has been in power in Gujarat for 27 years and was earlier part of the Janata Dal government in the state too. Passing the buck is a handy political tool.

Five days after the PM's 'revdi' jibe, the AAP national convener, Kejriwal landed in the Prime Minister's home ground of Gujarat and almost in an air of obstinate defiance promised up to 300 units of free electricity per month per billing cycle, if voted to power in the state. Power remains the bugbear of the average Gujarati and with the state government raising fuel surcharges by 20 paise to Rs 2.50, applicable on every unit of electricity consumed, for the fourth time in five months, it has unknowingly created a fertile ground for AAP promise to yield tangible results. The recovery of the rise, already cleared by the Gujarat Electricity Regulatory Commission (GERC) headed by former chief secretary and Modi confidante, Anil Mukim, will begin with the May-June, 2022 electricity bill. In summary, the power bill for consumers in Gujarat is set to get costlier by an additional Rs 270 crores per month and Rs 3,240 crores per annum from June 2022 onwards. The rise, coming close to the election is likely to help AAP to rub in the issue.

While Prime Minister Modi may have charged opposition governments with doling out freebies, its own government in Gujarat was doling out sops in the run up to the last elections with not a care in the world. In almost one fortnight before the elections were declared and the code of conduct came into force, the Gujarat government announced projects and sops worth Rs 11,000 crores. Of these, four big schemes and some other benefits were introduced in the last 24 hours before the model code came into effect.

With elections due in Gujarat later this year, the same vicious cycle of sops and inaugurations has begun. The actual situation on the ground, however, presents a different picture. Only one university from Gujarat made it to the list of top 100 in 'overall' category of the National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF) rankings. Gujarat University was ranked 73rd.

China warns US of strong measures if Pelosi visits Taiwan

China claims democratically ruled Taiwan as its territory and has never ruled out taking the island by force. Taiwan rejects China's sovereignty claim and vows to defend itself

Beijing, July 25: China delivered sterner warnings to US officials about House Speaker Nancy Pelosi's possible visit to Taiwan, a foreign ministry spokesman said Monday, confirming a report by the Financial Times (FT).

London: China represents the "largest threat" to Britain and the world's security and prosperity this century and there is evidence to suggest it has targeted countries from the US to India, UK Prime Ministerial candidate Rishi Sunak said Monday. The 42-year-old former Chancellor set out a series of plans he would undertake if elected the prime minister, including building a new NATO-style military alliance of "free nations" to defend against Chinese "technological aggression". "I would close all 30 of China's Confucius Institutes in the UK - the highest number in the world," said Sunak as part of his Conservative Party leadership campaign pitch to win over members' votes.

The FT report, published Saturday, cited six people familiar with the Chinese warnings as saying they were significantly stronger than the threats that Beijing has made in the past when it was unhappy with US actions or policy on Taiwan, which is claimed by China. The private rhetoric suggested a possible military response, the FT cited several people familiar with the situation as saying. # Pope apologises for 'devastating' school abuses in Canada

Discoveries of hundreds of potential burial sites at former schools in the past year drew international attention to the legacy of the schools in Canada and their counterparts in the US. The discoveries prompted Pope to comply with the truth commission's call for him to apologise on Canadian soil for the Catholic Church's role for the Catholic Church's cooperation with Canada's "catastrophic" policy of Indigenous residential schools, saying the forced assimilation of Native peoples into Christian society destroyed their cultures, severed families and marginalized generations in ways still being felt today.

I humbly beg forgiveness for the evil committed by so many Christians against the Indigenous peoples in the country, Francis traveled to the lands of four Cree nations to pray at a cemetery. Four chiefs then escorted the pontiff in his wheelchair to powwow ceremonial grounds where he delivered the long-sought apology and was given a feathered headdress.

His words went beyond his earlier apology for the "deplorable" acts of missionaries and instead took responsibility for the church's institutional cooperation with the "catastrophic" assimilation policy, which Canada's Truth and Reconciliation Commission said amounted to a "cultural genocide." More than 150,000 native children in Canada were forced to attend state-funded Christian schools from the 19th century until the 1970s in an effort to isolate them from the influence of their homes and culture. The aim was to Christianize and assimilate them into mainstream society, which previous Canadian governments considered superior.

The Canadian government has admitted that physical and sexual abuse was rampant at the schools, with students beaten for speaking their native languages. That legacy of that abuse and isolation from family has been cited by Indigenous leaders as a root cause of the epidemic rates of alcohol and drug addiction now on Canadian reservations.

Many in the crowd Monday wore traditional dress, including colorful ribbon skirts and vests with Native motifs. Others donned orange shirts, which have become a symbol of residential school survivors, recalling the story of one woman whose favorite orange shirt, a gift from her grandmother, was confiscated when she arrived at a school and replaced with a uniform.

Probe on WhatsApp must go on: CCI

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, July 25: The Competition Commission of India (CCI) Monday told the Delhi High Court that WhatsApp's updated privacy policy of 2021 has not been withdrawn and its probe concerning the policy should be allowed to proceed.

The CCI also said the scope of its inquiry has no overlap with the issue of an alleged infringement of user privacy pending before the Supreme Court. The submissions were made by CCI before a bench headed by Chief Justice Satish Chandra Sharma on appeals by WhatsApp LLC and Facebook Inc against a single-judge order dismissing their challenge to the probe ordered by the CCI into the instant messaging platform's updated privacy policy.

In January last year, CCI on its own had decided to look into WhatsApp's updated privacy policy based on news reports regarding the same. WhatsApp and Facebook had subsequently challenged before the single judge CCI's March 2021 order directing a probe against them, saying that the issue concerning its new policy was already pending consideration before the high court and the Supreme Court.

5G spectrum race starts today; Jio, Airtel lead

The 5G era will open 10 times faster than 4G and 30 times faster than 3G, allowing millions to have an experience never seen before

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, July 25: With the mega 5G spectrum auction (worth ₹1.9 lakh crore) beginning from Tuesday amid the tussle over captive private 5G networks, Reliance Jio and Bharti Airtel are set to boost their market share as India prepares for a 5G era. The four big players in the race -- Reliance Jio, Bharti Airtel, Vodafone Idea and Adani group -- having submitted a combined ₹21,400 crore in earnest money deposit (EMD), are ready with their war chests and strategies for the mega bid, that is likely to be around ₹1.5 lakh crore if the last two auctions are kept in mind.

Reliance Jio Infocomm has submitted an EMD of ₹14,000 while Bharti Airtel has put in ₹5,500 crore. In the 2021 auctions for 4G spectrum, Reliance Jio used 77.9 per cent of their earnest money deposit while Airtel used 87.7 per cent. The 5G auction -- entailing 72 GHz of the spectrum - will conclude by July-end and the rollout is expected by September this year. The Department of Telecom has released a notice inviting applications (NIA) for the auction of spectrum in 600, 700, 800, 900, 1800, 2100, 2300, 2500, 3300 MHz and 26GHz bands. The NIA provides explicit clarity on the subject of Captive Non-Public Networks (CNPN). The telcos are allowed to surrender spectrum that will be auctioned after a minimum period of 10 years from the date of acquisition. Last month, in a big relief to telecom companies, the DoT scrapped the 3 per cent floor rate on spectrum usage charge (SUC). With the 5G auctions, India is one step closer to realising a 5G-led future, with a strong base of 5G-capable devices already in place.

SHARE LOCK-IN PERIOD ENDS Zomato falls to record low

REUTERS

Bangalore, July 25: Shares of Indian food delivery company Zomato fell more than 14% to a record low Monday as a one-year share lock-in period for promoters, employees and other investors expired following the 2021 listing. Zomato made a stellar debut July 23, 2021 in the Mumbai market, but its shares have lost more than 60% of their value since then on concerns about valuations and as global growth stocks cratered. Investors are also not comfortable with the acquisition of Blinkit, he said, adding that the fundamentals of the company were still good. Including Monday's losses, Zomato shares have lost nearly 30% since the company announced its deal to buy local grocery delivery startup Blinkit in June. On Monday, the stock posted its biggest intraday percentage drop since January 24 in heavy-volume trade of 2.7 times the 30-day average.

The firm now has a market value of ₹366 bn compared with ₹1.29 trn at its all-time high in Nov

Analysts say Zomato needs to pump more money into Blinkit as the quick-commerce sector grows at a rapid clip, with rivals Swiggy, Reliance-backed Dunzo, Tata-backed BigBasket and Zepto making big investments. On Friday, Reuters reported that Domino's India franchise will consider taking some of its business away from Zomato and Swiggy if their commissions rise further.

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

San Francisco, July 25: Elon Musk-run Tesla Monday revealed it incurred $170 million loss from its Bitcoin investments in the first six months of the year.

Tesla revealed last week that it has sold 75 per cent of its Bitcoins, adding $936 million in cash to its balance sheet in the second quarter (Q2) this year, as it deals with economic meltdown amid cryptocurrencies falling off the cliff.

In a new filing with the US Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), Tesla said that in the first quarter of 2021, it invested an aggregate $1.5 billion in Bitcoin.

"In the six month period ended June 30, 2022, we recorded $170 million of impairment losses resulting from changes to the carrying value of our bitcoin and gains of $64 million on certain conversions of bitcoin into fiat currency by us," the electric car-maker revealed.

"As with any investment and consistent with how we manage fiat-based cash and cash-equivalent accounts, we may increase or decrease our holdings of digital assets at any time based on the needs of the business and our view of market and environmental conditions," it added.

In the Q2 earnings call with analysts, Musk said that the reason the company sold a bunch of its Bitcoin holdings "was that we were uncertain as to when the Covid lockdowns in China would alleviate".

Axar helps India seal series

Not converting fifties into tons upsets Iyer

DISAPPOINTING END: Romario Shepherd completes Sanju Samson's run out after the latter's maiden ODI fifty

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Port of Spain, July 25: India's Shreyas Iyer has been in impressive form in the ongoing white-ball tour of West Indies but the batter is unhappy with his failure to convert back-to-back half-centuries into hundreds.

Iyer made 63 off 71 balls batting at No.3 to play a big role in India's series-clinching two-wicket win over West Indies in the second ODI here Sunday. Iyer, who had scored 54 in India's three-run win in the first match, said he would look to score a century in the next game.

"I was happy with what I scored today but unhappy the way I was dismissed. I could have taken the team through easily. I was setting up the total and it was unfortunate that I lost my wicket. Hopefully, I can do better and score a century in the next match," he said after the game.

The 27-year-old right-handed batter rued not scoring a hundred. "Last time also it was a good catch (to dismiss him). Obviously, I can't say I threw away my wicket but I should have converted into hundreds. But I feel good to contribute to the team's win.

"It's really fortunate to get to fifty (back to back) but I should have converted into hundred because I had got a good start. You don't get these kind of starts again and again in international cricket and converting as many fifties to hundred is very beneficial. I thought today was a great chance to do that."

Iyer has been batting at No.3 in his last few matches and he said he is enjoying his new role. "It is one of the best positions to bat at. If you go in at a tough situation. If the wickets fall, you go early and you have to see off the new ball and then build the innings.

"And also, if the opening partnership is very good and you have to carry it on and build onto that from where they left. It is a fun position to bat at and I really enjoyed."

He credited his strong form to the extra hard work he has been putting in recently. "The result I am getting is because of the hard work I am doing. I am doing some extra hard work recently because wickets and conditions are changing and there are back to back matches so I have to keep fit and try to control the controllables."

There were some tense moments during the 312-run chase when India needed six runs off three balls. Talking about those moments, Iyer said, "It was fun to be honest. Rahul (Dravid) sir was getting very tensed, he was passing messages. But the players were very calm and composed during pressure situations."

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Port of Spain, July 25: Axar Patel smashed a whirlwind unbeaten 35-ball 64 (3x4, 5x6), his maiden ODI fifty, to steer India to a series-clinching two-wicket win over the West Indies in a tense second match here.

Set a stiff target of 312, the visitors were tottering at 205/5 in 38.4 overs but Patel rescued India with his six-hitting prowess, taking the visitors home with two balls to spare Sunday.

Needing six runs off last three balls, Patel clobbered Kyle Mayers (2/48) straight over his head for a six as India took an unassailable 2-0 lead in the three-match series.

Patel added 51 off 33 balls with Deepak Hooda (33). This was after Shreyas Iyer (63, 71b, 4x4, 1x6) and Sanju Samson (54, 51b, 3x4, 3x6) took the chase deep with well-paced fifties.

"It's very special, to get it in a crucial, series-winning cause is amazing. When I went out, I aimed for 10-11 an over. We thought it could be done as we have IPL experience," Patel, who was adjudged man of the match, said. "We wanted to be calm and keep cover of the rate. This was special as this is my first ODI since 2017, even my first fifty came here."

India skipper Shikhar Dhawan was lavish in his praise for the all-rounder. "The way Axar played was amazing. Our domestic and IPL cricket keeps us ready as we play in front of big crowds. As Axar said, he's done it multiple times in IPL. That brings a big stage."

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Sydney, July 25: Australian batter Will Pucovski and seven other players will travel to Chennai for a 10-day training camp next month as part of an exchange programme with MRF Pace Foundation.

The 24-year-old Pucovski had made his Test debut against India in January last year but had dislocated his shoulder during the match and had to undergo surgery. He then suffered a concussion last October, which kept him out of action.

He returned at the back end of the summer, making 59 in the Marsh Sheffield Shield final. He was not named in the Australia 'A' squad for Sri Lanka tour but the move to include Pucovski in the camp suggests the Victorian could be in the frame for the Test tour of India.

Josh Philippe, Teague Wyllie and Cooper Connolly, Henry Hunt and spinners Matt Kuhnemann, Todd Murphy and Tanveer Sangha are the other players who will head to India for the training camp, August 7-17.

The 10-day camp is part of a longstanding reciprocal deal between Cricket Australia and the MRF Pace Foundation in Chennai, cricket.com.au reported. The eight Former Sri Lanka all-rounder Thilan Samaraweera is part of the coaching group. Australia pace legend Glenn McGrath will also be present as a coach as a part his role as a consultant at the MRF

"It is exciting to renew the partnership with the MRF Academy and provide this group of young players a truly unique experience," said Australian men's selector Tony Dodemaide.

Birmingham, July 25: Olympic bronze medallist Lovlina Borgohain Monday alleged that her preparations for the Commonwealth Games are being hampered because of the "continuous harassment" her coaches are facing from the authorities.

The Indian boxing squad reached the Games Village here Sunday night after a training stint in Ireland but Lovlina's personal coach Sandhya Gurung could not enter the Village since she does not have accreditation.

Lovlina, perhaps, wanted her personal coach Amey Kolekar with her during the CWG but he did not feature in the long list. The decorated pugilist expressed her anger in a long twitter post. "Today with a lot of grief, I want to tell everyone about the continuous harassment going on with me. The coaches who helped me win an Olympic medal are always being sidelined which has severely impacted my training schedule," Lovlina wrote in her twitter post.

"One of the coaches is Sandhya Gurungji, who is a Dronacharya awardee. I had to plead with folded hands to get my coaches included in the contingent. I am feeling mentally harassed because of this ordeal," she posted.

"Right now, my coach Sandhya Gurung is standing outside the CWG village and not being allowed to enter. Just eight days before the start of my event, my training schedule has been hampered. My other coach has been sent back to India," she said. Lovlina alleged that she endured similar treatment before the World Championship in Istanbul and she fears that something similar will happen at the upcoming Birmingham Games.

"I don't understand how will I focus on the Games (CWG) amidst all this? My World Championships also suffered because of this. I don't want my CWG to be affected due to politics. Hoping I will overcome this politics and win a medal for my country. Jai Hind," she wrote.

The Boxing Federation of India (BFI) said the accreditation process is being managed by the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) and hoped that issue will be sorted soon.

"The IOA and BFI are working to get Sandhya's accreditation continuously. It is in IOA's hand but it will come by today or tomorrow.

We had given all names beforehand but there is a quota system. Based on the number of athletes who have qualified there is 25 per cent quota. So we had four officials, which includes coach, doctor etc," BFI secretary Hemanta Kalita told this agency.

"We had requested the IOA and they have increased the quota to eight. Four will stay inside the village and four have to stay outside, they can enter the village, and spend the day but at night they have to go back out," Kalita added.

The other coach Lovlina is talking about is her strength and conditioning coach Amey Kolekar, who is also her personal coach. His name was not on the long list. Kolekar was with her in Ireland. The Indian team already has a strength and conditioning coach, who will help out the pugilists during the Games.

Meanwhile the Sports Authority of India (SAI) said it will try that a proper resolution is reached. "The SAI has taken up the matter with BFI. The Sports Ministry is in talks with IOA to solve the matter and ensure best possible preparation for Lovlina who is a strong medal contender," SAI official said.

Earlier, Boxing's assistant coach Sandhya Gurung and sports psychologist Gayatri Vartak were included in the Indian contingent days before the start of the Commonwealth Games.

Dronacharya awardee Gurung is an assistant coach in the national camp. Vartak is a mental conditioning coach who worked with the Indian table tennis team at the national camp in May.
