3 Odisha ex-lawmakers' assets attached by ED

PNN & AGENCIES

New Delhi, August 4: The Enforcement Directorate said Thursday it has attached assets worth ₹2.16 crore of a company, whose former directors included an ex-MP and two former MLAs from Odisha, in a money-laundering probe linked to an alleged chit-fund scheme fraud.

A provisional order for attaching the properties of 'Nava Diganta Capital Services Ltd' and its group companies has been issued under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA).

In a statement, the ED said the group companies are represented through directors Anjan Kumar Baliyarsingh, Pradeep Kumar Pattnaik, Kartikeya Parida and ex-directors such as former Mayurbhanj MP Ramachandra Hansdah, former Keonjhar Sadar MLA Subarna Naik and ex-MLA from Kharlar: Hitesh Kumar Bagarti. Hansdah, who was with the NCP and the BJD, joined the Jharkhand Mukti Morcha (JMM) last year. Naik too was with the Biju Janta Dal (BJD). He and Hansdah were suspended by the BJD after they were arrested by the CBI in this case in 2014. Bagarti too was arrested in the same case and he had won the seat on a BJP ticket.

The attached assets include deposits worth ₹16 lakh kept in 48 accounts of the IDBI Bank and Indian Bank, two land parcels worth ₹2 crore at Narendrapur mouza in Puri district and Kaipadar mouza in Khurda district. The total worth of the assets attached is ₹2.16 crore. The money-laundering case stems from an FIR and two charge sheets filed by the CBI against the accused.

"Nava Diganta Capital Services Ltd was collecting public deposits by issuing redeemable preference shares and non-convertible debentures (income debentures and wealth debentures) by fraudulently luring the gullible public on the pretext of giving higher interests by issuing money receipts and certificates to this effect without having any authorisation whatsoever from any regulatory authority namely RBI, SEBI etc to do such activities," the ED claimed.

The company, it said, was found to be 'misappropriating' the invested amount and 'diverting' the funds by way of granting loans and advances to its other group concerns like 'Nava Diganta Projects Ltd' and 'Nava Diganta Properties Ltd'.

Woman, daughter run over by truck driver after row

POST NEWS NETWORK

Dhamrasala/Jenapur, August 4: A truck driver allegedly mowed down a woman and her daughter in this district after a heated argument over overtaking, police said Thursday. The incident occurred Wednesday when Sritika Chakrabarty (47) and her daughter, Somali (26) were returning home in Rathapadia village under Sukinda block on a scooter after attending a shradh ritual in neighbouring Kendrapara district, a police officer informed.

The truck driver, Amar Swain, a resident of Totakan in Samparu panchayat, overtook the two-wheeler from the wrong side. The driver also abused the mother-daughter duo at Aruha Chowk under Dhamrasala police limits, following which a bitter argument broke out between Somali and him, police said. Locals intervened to calm the situation and sent them to their respective destinations.

However, Swain went with his vehicle about five kilometres from the argument site and waited near Barada Chowk on NH-53 under Jenapur police station locality. When the scooter riders reached there, he intentionally mowed down the two-wheeler killing both occupants.

Initially it was thought to be a case of accident. However, police during investigation found out that the two deceased had been mowed down by Swain deliberately.

Swain has admitted to his crime and was arrested Thursday. A murder case has been lodged against him, SP Jajpur district, Rahul PR said Thursday.

After the post-mortem, the bodies were consigned to flames at the native village of the deceased.

Mrunal Thakur going places

Mumbai: Actress Mrunal Thakur, who was once a television actor, has acted in Marathi cinema too. After being a part of films made in her mother tongue (Marathi), she took a plunge in Hindi film industry. Soon, she is all set to see the release of her debut south film starring Dulquer Salmaan.

Talking about her exploring projects in multiple languages, Mrunal who was seen in films like Super 30, Batla House, Toofaan and Dhamaka says, "I am someone who likes doing different things at the same time. I would shoot for 15 days for my TV show and 15 days I would shoot for the film. I never like to sit at home idle. I am a workaholic and like to be on toes."

She further adds, "I have done a Telugu film now. Language should never be a barrier for an actor. What matters is how you are able to reach out to the audience. I want to do international films in foreign languages like Spanish and French too. It is always nice to learn about different cultures through these films. So, I am really happy that I don't prefer to get stereotyped." AGENCIES

Fake news irks Alia

Mumbai: Actress Alia Bhatt, who is currently expecting her first bundle of joy with husband Ranbir Kapoor, is currently going through a very busy phase in her life. While she is expecting her first child post a dreamy wedding with the actor, on the professional front she has two big projects lined up for release Darlings and Brahmastra.

In a recent conversation, Alia spoke about the spotlight on her personal life more than professional and her experience as a debutante producer.

The overwhelming coverage around her personal life in the media may give an impression that her work is not in the media focus but, Alia gracefully disagrees, "I feel there is a lot of focus on my work. Unfortunately, the nature of showbiz is such that people are interested to know about your personal life and as an actor you sign up for that."

But, there's one thing that irks her and rightly so - the fake news. Alia says, "The only thing that I get annoyed with is people making up fake news. But, again that's something that's difficult to control in the digital sphere." She claims that venturing into production has had no effect on the actor in her. For a generous amount of time on the Darlings sets, she walked around like an actor hired to do a job and not the producer of the film. IANS

One On One will be a fun ride for the viewers: Rajit

Known as 'Byomkesh Bakshi' among his fans, the name of National award winning actor Rajit Kapur is synonymous with content-driven movies. He has been active in films, TV shows, stage and web series for over 30 years. 'The Making of the Mahatma' actor is in the City with his anthology of plays 'One On One', as part of a fundraiser organised by Zain Foundation Trust for people with Autism Spectrum Disorder. The prolific performer takes time off to talk to Orissa POST on a host of topics. Excerpts:

ARINDAM GANGULY, OP

How One On One is different from other conventional plays?

Often the stage lovers don't get the opportunities to watch dramatised version of some beautifully written stories. In One On One, we are presenting a collection of seven short plays, interwoven with each other, based on some good short stories. I'm sure the play will be a fun ride for the viewers.

Odisha is a culturally rich state, have you ever watched any Odia play?

I have not seen any of them, but I have staged a play Mahua, the theme of which has an Odisha connection. We used folk music of Odisha in that play.

How is the response of the audience here in comparison to other cities?

The response varies from one city to another. While people in metros prefer to watch commercial plays, I think, Odia viewers are more drawn towards folk theatre.

You have portrayed many real life characters like Mahatma Gandhi, Vikram Sarabhai and Jawaharlal Nehru. How challenging were the roles?

Pretty challenging because one needs to do a lot of homework as they are not fictional. It's not possible to match them physically, but through their mannerisms an actor can convince the audience which I tried my best to do.

What role the character Byomkesh Bakshi played in your success as an actor?

Well, I am happy people still remember me as Bakshi and it is being binge-watched on YouTube channels. But for me, it was part of my job and I have moved on.

What gives you more satisfaction as an actor?

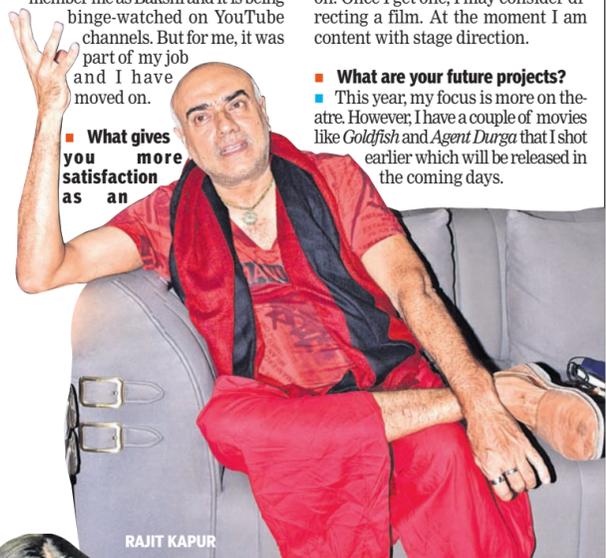

I love theatre because I get my work evaluated instantly by the audience. Besides, a chemistry is built up between the performer and audience during stage plays which is not the case in movies.

Any plans to turn to film direction?

I am yet to get a good plot to work on. Once I get one, I may consider directing a film. At the moment I am content with stage direction.

What are your future projects?

This year, my focus is more on the theatre. However, I have a couple of movies like Goldfish and Agent Durga that I shot earlier which will be released in the coming days.

Raima on rumours about her love life

Kolkata: Raima Sen can't understand why everyone is always so curious to know about her love life and marriage plans. She often finds it irritating. During a recent interview, the versatile actor stated that she is an independent working woman and she is surprised to see why people keep asking her when she will get married.

Sharing her thoughts on the matter the Teen Patti actor said, "I know what I want in the next five years in my career because it is a goal. But marriage is not an end goal for me. It is not like I will get settled down after I get married. I am very comfortable in my space right now."

Speaking about how she describes her ideal man Raima added, "Someone you can come home to and talk to about your whole day. But that person does not necessarily have to be a man, he/she could be a friend or a mother figure too." AGENCIES

Bhubaneswar, August 4: About 90 per cent of land for the much-talked about Gopalpur-Ratanpur Coastal Highway has been acquired so far, Union Road Transport and Highways Minister Nitin Gadkari told the Lok Sabha Thursday.

In a written reply to a question raised by Puri MP Pinaki Misra, Gadkari said that as per the suggestion of state government, the alignment of Gopalpur-Ratanpur Coastal Highway has been modified to start from Rameshwar (near Tangi) instead of Gopalpur.

Land acquisition for the coastal highway from Rameshwar (near Tangi on NH 16)-Brahmagiri-Puri-Konark-Naugaon-Paradip Port-Ratanpur has started and is currently in 3A stage (90 per cent completed), he said.

The approximate cost of land acquisition for the project is about Rs 817 crore. The work of the highway has not commenced as the project is in DPR stage, he added.

In April 2015, Gadkari had announced the coastal highway project during his visit to Odisha. After that, the project was delayed due to a political slugfest between the BJP and the BJP.

Later, the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change refused to accord approval to the alignment of the highway. Originally it was between Gopalpur and Digha. Now, the coastal highway will start from Tangi in Khurda district to Digha.

A total of 150 structures, including 20 major bridges, 69 minor bridges, four rail over bridges, five vehicle underpasses and two flyovers, will be constructed for the project, sources said.

CARE Hospitals organises patient connect program

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, August 4: CARE Hospitals organized a patient experience workshop titled "CARE Connect" Thursday on the occasion of National Bone & Joint Day to showcase the lifestyle of patients post joint replacement surgery.

The event was attended by more than 20 patients from across Odisha who stole the show with their ramp walk. Joint pain is a common problem these days and a large population of young and middle-aged people has been affected by this issue. Moreover, the side effects of Covid-19 also extent to weakness and pain in the muscles and joints. In fact, nutritional deficiency including Vitamin D3 and B12 are also important contributing factors that can severely affect the bones and cartilage that are the support and strength of the joints.

On the occasion, Sandeep Singh,

Consultant Orthopaedic at CARE Hospital, said, "A number of things can affect your mobility, including fitness, health, and age. Mobility is something that we should all think about in regards to our health and function. Not only can it be an indicator of how healthy you are, but it's also an essential aspect of health that's vital for the quality of life. Since joint pain is not normally a life-threatening condition, many sufferers of joint damage or degeneration think that it is better to suffer than to undergo surgery." Meanwhile, Kislay Anand, hospital chief operating officer, said that the Department of Orthopaedics provides comprehensive and world-class orthopaedic services.

Climate change will significantly affect bird diversity: Study

Climate change will not only impact the number of bird species by 2080 but also have profound effects on their diversity and community composition, according to a study.

The scientists related past bird distributions to climate data and then applied these relationships to two future climate scenarios - based on low and medium greenhouse gas emissions - to predict changes in species distributions. The team looked not only at changes in numbers of species in areas but also at the types of species that would occur.

To summarise changes in species types they calculated something called phylogenetic diversity that summarises how many different types of birds would occur. For example, a community that had a lot of closely-related species, such as insect-eating songbirds, would have a much lower phylogenetic diversity score than a community that included a mix of more distantly-related species, for example songbirds plus other species such as birds of prey, partridges or gulls.

The researchers analysed how the communities of birds all over the world could change in the future and discovered that that climate change will not only affect species numbers but will also have profound effects on phylogenetic diversity and community composition.

The study, published in the journal Proceedings of the Royal Society B, evaluated data for a total of 8,768 bird species globally to predict how many different lineages could be lost regionally, or added, as species respond to climate change by shifting their distributions.

Although the researchers project species losses to be most common in tropical and subtropical areas, phylogenetic restructuring of species communities is expected to occur around the world. The study emphasises that preservation of local phylogenetic diversity can be a key to the resilience of biological diversity to environmental changes.

"In our study, we examined the effects of global warming on the regional distribution of terrestrial birds around the world," said study lead author, Alke Voskamp of Senckenberg Biodiversity and Climate Research Centre, Germany.

"The focus was on the effects on species richness as well as on various aspects of phylogenetic diversity, primarily how closely related the species are to each other," Voskamp said. Study co-author, Professor Stephen Willis of Durham University, UK noted that the diversity of lineages is very often related to the diversity of traits that species possess and thus to their roles and functions in ecosystems.

"For example, species from more distant lineages often have different beak types, and hence eat different types of food," Willis said.

"Change means that the ecosystem functions that birds perform in an area may also change in the future, with potential consequences for food webs, seed dispersal and plant pollination," he added.

The research highlights the importance of considering diverse measures in climate impact assessments. PTI

Illegal mining in Ranpur unabated despite NGT fiat

POST NEWS NETWORK

Nayagarh/Ranpur, August 4: Mafia gangs are carrying out rampant mining of murrum and laterite stones in Mayurjharia area under Ranpur tehsil of Nayagarh district despite a directive issued by National Green Tribunal (NGT) to halt it, a report said.

Locals said the administration fears to take action allegedly due to pressure from the mining mafia. Some are of the view that the administration, instead of taking action, is actually protecting the mafia gangs.

However, Sub-collector Lagnajit Rout said illegal mining will be investigated and action will be taken against the guilty. Reports said 144.09 acre (Plot No-1689 and Khata No-495) is reserved for gramya jungle in Mayurjharia area. A part of the land has cashew plantation and Odisha Cashew Corporation Limited used to lease it out at intervals.

The tehsil administration, however, has leased out four acres of the cashew plantation in 2020-21. The leaseholder was accused of doing excessive mining on the land.

In the last two years, murrum and laterite stones have been extracted from 3 acres of land by felling cashew trees.

In the cashew forest, there are mining pits as deep as 40 to 50 ft. Locals have repeatedly been drawing the attention of the Collector, sub-collector, tehsildar, RDC and ST secretary towards the illegal and excessive mining, but to no avail.

Shiba Prasad Raiguru, a local leader, said, "Illegal mining will not be stopped here as officials from top to the bottom are involved in it, resulting in losses to the government. Illegal mining is being run by a well-oiled racket here."

Dillip Kumar Samantray, who had moved the NGT against the illegal mining here, said that cashew forest is being cleared to carry out mining of murrum and laterite. "The leaseholder is not filling up the voids created after mining. Now, the leaseholder is expanding its area by felling cashew trees. The NGT order has failed in curbing the illegal mining. The administration is doing precious little."

The sub-collector hinted at investigation into the issue before a suitable action is taken against the guilty.

70% handloom units closed in Kendrapara

POST NEWS NETWORK

Kendrapara, August 4: Lack of government sponsorship, publicity and marketing facilities along with use of modern sewing machines and quality threads has dealt a body blow to the traditional handloom sector in this district, as per a report.

The impact can be gauged from the fact that over 70 per cent of the handloom units in the district have been shut down. Moreover, over 7,000 weavers have lost their jobs to modernisation sweeping the textile industry. They have been managing their profession somehow but the Covid pandemic dealt a heavy blow to their businesses.

They have stopped preparing clothes like dhoti napkins (gamchha) and sarees which had been their bread and butter for decades. Moreover, several handloom weavers' cooperative societies which had been marketing their products and working to safeguard their interests have now become a thing of the past after becoming defunct.

Tapan Sahu, a weaver of Kushiapal village on the outskirts of Kendrapara town, said that many looms have fallen silent as several weavers are now not keen on weaving sarees, lungis, dhotis and towels.

Increasing cost of raw materials has robbed the sheen off their businesses. He said that over 10,000 weavers of Kushiapal, Dihasahi, Hariapur, Korua, Kutaranga, Keutagada and other villages were depended on weaving clothes for their livelihood.

Hand woven napkins, dhotis and shawls produced were in great demand even in foreign countries. Weaving clothes in the loom became part of the curriculum and a school was established for the purpose during the freedom struggle launched by Mahatma Gandhi. However, despite a demand for handloom products many units are on the verge of closure while others have shut down due to lack of government sponsorship.

Another weaver Narayan Bhadra of Korua village said that weaving is the second form of livelihood for many after agriculture. Over 3,000 people are still engaged in weaving textile products. Their business was completely shut for a period of two years during Covid pandemic while some have returned to the business after lifting of the restrictions.

However, the weavers are losing their faith on this business after being troubled by a series of problems. The youths are no more interested in the age-old occupation and are migrating outside in search of other jobs.

Harekrushna Das, president of Kushiapal handloom weavers' cooperative society, said that the demand for handloom products is still high but lack of marketing facilities is troubling them.

Another weaver Ajay Kumar Behera said increasing cost of raw materials and lack of its proper availability have hit them hard. Moreover, the restrictions on use of chemical colours have got in the way of manufacturing impressive handloom products. Things have come to such a pass that the weavers now fail to recover the production cost of a handloom product when sold.

This apart, handloom products do not get the kind of publicity that Sambalpuri handloom or Jhel saree of Mayurbhanj worn by President Droupadi Murmu gets, he added.

When contacted, ADM Pitambar Samal said the state government is laying stress on improvement of handloom sector and marketing the products through Khadi Board and Boyanika. Recently, the government has sanctioned ₹15 crore to Boyanika. This will help improve the business of the weavers, he added.

NEIGHBOURHOOD FIRST

Although politics and politicians change, the assurance given by Ibrahim Solih is heartening for India. New Delhi has to carry its neighbours in trust and confidence

Maldivian President Ibrahim Mohamed Solih's four-day visit to India marks a turning point in South Asian politics as China meddles in it, and internal rebellion in countries such as Sri Lanka poses a potential threat of spreading to other countries in the region. The visit, which began Monday, is hailed by both sides as a manifestation of their respective friendly foreign policies towards each other. For Maldives, it is 'India First' and for India, it is 'Neighbourhood First'. Both the strategies claim to work in tandem to tackle shared concerns and promote mutual interests.

SOUTH BLOCK IS ASSERTING THAT MALDIVES, THOUGH THE SMALLEST COUNTRY IN ASIA, IS INDIA'S KEY NEIGHBOUR

The second important backdrop to this visit consists of the 'leadership tension' between President Solih and the Speaker and former President Mohamed Nasheed. In fact, Solih's visit takes place in the face of a number of controversies raging back home, involving a delicate balance between his former friend Nasheed as well as religious extremist parties in his ruling coalition. Recall, angry youth had this June disrupted the yoga event held at a stadium in Male organised by the Indian High Commission, calling it 'un-Islamic'.

A serious confrontation is afoot in Male as a no-confidence motion is sought to be moved against Speaker Nasheed protesting against the arrest of Nazim Abdul Sattar, an attorney and a brother. Nasheed claims the arrest as well as the no-confidence vote 'would benefit radical elements in the country'. The Government of India, however, is quiet on the internal tension.

South Block is asserting that Maldives, though the smallest country in Asia, is India's key neighbour and is known as the toll gate of the Indian Ocean. Maldives straddles a 960-km-long undersea ridge stretching north to south and forming a wall in the Indian Ocean. Though small in size, the geo-strategic importance of the island nation is significant. Notably, India's relations with Maldives have been multi-dimensional, largely cordial and cooperative. However, these were deeply strained under Maldives's pro-China ex-President Abdullah Yameen, who spearheaded the 'India Out' campaign. In recent years, both sides assert that the partnership has witnessed rapid growth in most areas of cooperation, especially in the field of development. New Delhi has already given the island nation over 1.2 billion USD for upgradation of infrastructure and is engaged in additional 45 infrastructure development projects. This visit is supposed to lend a fresh momentum to the bilateral relations, tightening geopolitical, security, and economic ties. A tweet from Ministry of External Affairs characterises and sums up the relationship. It reads: "A warm welcome to a close friend and a maritime neighbour: Ibrahim Mohammad Solih's official visit to India provides an opportunity to nurture the unwavering friendship between our two countries and will lend further momentum to the multifaceted partnership."

As India declares that Maldives has always been a close and significant maritime neighbour, New Delhi has extended timely help to it. President Solih acknowledged India's contribution to the development and stability of the island nation and highlighted the positive role in his country's affairs in the past two years. In particular, he thanked the Indian government for helping out in coping with the COVID-19 pandemic and the supply of vaccines. Notably, India has extended a further support of 100 billion USD as line of credit for augmenting development activities and decided to support in 2020, implementation of Greater Male Connectivity Project in Maldives. President Solih announced that the Male connectivity projects will be completed under India's 100 million USD grant and 400 million USD line of credit from the US. Addressing the media, Solih said: "Maldives-India relationship goes beyond diplomacy. This visit is an affirmation for the close bond between our two countries."

Both the countries inked six agreements in various areas and issued a joint statement, which significantly reiterated that both countries would not allow their territories to be used against the other. It said, "This partnership is a force of stability in the Indian Ocean region." The six pacts are expected to facilitate cooperation in capacity building, cybersecurity, housing, disaster management and infrastructure development in Maldives. In order to counter transnational crimes and terrorism in the Indian Ocean region, both signed a cybersecurity agreement, wherein Prime Minister Modi said, "Chances of terrorism, drug trafficking and transnational crimes are high in the Indian Ocean region. We have, therefore, decided to increase cooperation in this field, which will include training and capacity building of the security officials in Maldives."

On surveillance, India announced to provide Landing Craft Assault (LCA) to the Maldives National Defence Force (MNDF) and another warship to replace CGS Hurabee, a naval patrol vessel gifted in 2006. It will also provide 24 utility vehicles to MNDF. Another agreement is to design and construct 61 police infrastructures across Maldives. Remember, that India had built a National College for Policing and Law Enforcement in Addu city, which was inaugurated by EAM S Jaishankar on his earlier visit this year. Further, New Delhi has been supporting construction of social housing units in Maldives.

Although politics and politicians change, the assurance given by Ibrahim Solih is heartening for India. New Delhi has to carry its neighbours in trust and confidence. Solih said, "Maldives will remain a true friend of India... India has always been a reliable ally to Maldives through thick and thin."

The height of his acknowledgement of friendship with India was when he said, "It is during my administration thus far, that we have reached the pinnacle of our diplomatic and economic relations." He affirmed, "On our part, our relations with India will always be of highest priority." New Delhi should reciprocate such confidence of her smaller neighbours.

SPECTRUM EASTERN ECONOMIC FORUM

A strategic opportunity for India

The 7th Eastern Economic Forum (EEF) will take place in Russia's Far Eastern port of Vladivostok from 5-8 September and represents a grand strategic opportunity for India. These two great powers have expanded their special and privileged strategic partnership in an unprecedented manner.

New Delhi has decisively acted to become the Kremlin's irreplaceable valve from Western pressure and thus preemptively averted Moscow's potentially disproportionate dependence on Beijing. This was a game-changer in terms of shaping the contours of the global systemic transition to multi-polarity that was accelerated by the Ukrainian conflict. EEF is always a major event in Russia-India relations, but this year it is more important than ever due to a larger context. Russia urgently needs to diversify from its hitherto disproportionate economic dependence on EU towards the Global South, and India has been designated its priority partner in this respect.

They've already revived the International North-South Transport Corridor (INSTC) through their shared Iranian strategic partner and have thus come to align their grand strategies in Eurasia, which is a major accomplishment. It is now time to do the same in the Indo-Pacific by taking maximum advantage of the EEF to that end.

The Vladivostok-Chennai Maritime Corridor (VCMC) that was jointly announced by Russian President Vladimir Putin and Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi during the latter's appearance at the EEF in September 2019 as the guest of honour creates the geo-economic basis for bringing this about, but implementation was unexpectedly delayed as a result of the pandemic.

Nevertheless, there's no better time than now for reviving the VCMC exactly as the INSTC was recently revived, which will align their Indo-Pacific grand strategies and thus enable them to more effectively shape the emerging multipolar world order in the eastern hemisphere. The whopping 99-paragraph Partnership for Peace, Progress, and Prosperity that was agreed to during President Putin's visit to New Delhi in December 2021, which importantly was his first trip abroad since the pandemic began apart from his brief meeting with US President Joe Biden in Geneva earlier that summer, provides a detailed action plan for implementing this vision.

Paragraphs 31-34 in particular explain how they hope to accomplish this in the Far East while paragraph 42 did the same when it came to the INSTC, the vision of which has already achieved tangible dividends as was earlier explained. It's now incumbent on both great powers to revive the VCMC during next month's EEF.

The bulk of bilateral trade between Russia and India concerns arms and energy, the latter of which surged by over 50 times since Moscow began selling Delhi discounted oil after the start of its special military operation in Ukraine. Natural resources, however, should be but a single part of more comprehensive economic relations between these rising great powers. Influential Russian businessman Oleg Deripaska recently told the Economic Times that he envisions his country's trade with India replacing its lost trade with Europe, but economic ties must urgently diversify in order for that to happen, and it'll take a lot of time for that to occur. Therein lies the importance of next month's EEF since India can double down on the Russian dimension of its multi-polar grand strategy to make inroads in its partner's resource-rich and geo-strategically positioned Far Eastern region. The VCMC will predictably have a major resource component to start off with, but it mustn't remain limited only to trade in that sphere. Rather, flagship projects can serve as magnets for attracting other investments in different industries as Indian entrepreneurs build upon prior successes to truly making themselves an economic force to be reckoned with in this part of the Indo-Pacific.

Russia needs major investments in Far East in order to have a more solid basis upon which to build the geo-economic dimension of its Indo-Pacific strategy. China's already a key player in that part of the country but the Kremlin pragmatically wants to preemptively avert any potentially disproportionate dependence on China there just like it hopes to do in general like was earlier explained. Japan and the Republic of Korea were once considered to be promising partners for diversifying Russia's development of the Far East but those two are reluctant to offend their American military ally by expanding trade with Moscow after the Ukrainian conflict. India therefore does not have much competition there in this respect since New Delhi has already proven that it won't unilaterally concede on its objective national interests related to its special and privileged strategic partnership with Russia.

India as a civilisation-state should therefore prioritise the creation of a comprehensive joint action plan for developing the Russian Far East, one which might begin with expanding energy and other resource cooperation but will inevitably evolve into other domains including academic, industrial, merchant, and tourist cooperation, etc.

NEW DELHI HAS DECISIVELY ACTED TO BECOME THE KREMLIN'S IRREPLACEABLE VALVE FROM WESTERN PRESSURE AND THUS PREEMPTIVELY AVERTED MOSCOW'S POTENTIALLY DISPROPORTIONATE DEPENDENCE ON BEIJING

The hooch menace

Sir, Illicit liquor related deaths are quite common in India. A few are highlighted and the rest go unreported. In early 2021, spurious liquor claimed precious lives in the districts of Morena and Bulandshahr in Madhya Pradesh and Uttar Pradesh respectively. It is common knowledge that no state is spared of hooch deaths. But what is tragic about last week's hooch tragedy in Gujarat is that there is prohibition in place in the state. Botad district was the worst hit while there were some casualties in Ahmedabad district. Nearly fifty people breathed their last in Botad district with many in the know claiming the state was not revealing the exact numbers. Manufacture, storage, sale and consumption of liquor have been banned in the state since 1949 through the Bombay Prohibition Act. After Gujarat became a state in 1960, the law was further 'tightened'. Select star hotels in the state can 'permit' guests to consume liquor in the safe confines of their rooms. But illegal liquor sale has been going on unabated, and the Botad tragedy is a stark example. In liquor related deaths, bootleggers are routinely rounded up, and materials used in preparing hooch are seized and destroyed. Those from the lower socioeconomic sections are easy targets for illicit liquor vendors because they fall prey to inexpensive and powerful liquor sold by unscrupulous elements. The spurious hooch dealers lure and con the poor by offering employment opportunities, among others. When a person indulges in partake of the spurious liquor, the toxic actions of methanol onsets slowly but surely. Nationalisation of the sale of liquor to eliminate unlawful liquor operators, through a national liquor policy, and taking stringent measures to control the free availability of rectified spirit are steps that can arrest hooch deaths.

Diplomatic coup

Sir, US House Speaker Nancy Pelosi's visit to Taiwan has ruffled Chinese feathers. Pelosi ignored China's repeated warnings, including a veiled threat of military action, against her trip to pull off a diplomatic coup. Her trip is the highest level visit by a US official in 25 years. While China vowed targeted military countermeasures, the US deployed four of its warships, including the aircraft carrier USS Ronald Reagan, in waters east of Taiwan. Pelosi's Taiwan trip could further jeopardise US-China relations and lead to regional unrest.

THE MOTHER

The Canadian psychologist and Alt-right media fixture Jordan Peterson recently stumbled onto an important insight. In a podcast episode titled "Russia vs. Ukraine or Civil War in the West?," he recognised a link between the war in Europe and the conflict between the liberal mainstream and the new populist Right in North America and Europe.

Although Peterson initially condemns Russian President Vladimir Putin's war of aggression, his stance gradually morphs into a kind of metaphysical defence of Russia. Referencing Dostoevsky's Diaries, he suggests that Western European hedonist individualism is far inferior to Russian collective spirituality, before duly endorsing the Kremlin's designation of contemporary Western liberal civilisation as "degenerate." He describes postmodernism as a transformation of Marxism that seeks to destroy the foundations of Christian civilisation. Viewed in this light, the war in Ukraine is a contest between traditional Christian values and a new form of communist degeneracy.

This language will be familiar to anyone familiar with Hungarian Prime Minister Viktor Orbán's regime, or with the January 6, 2021, insurrection at the US Capitol. As CNN's John Blake put it, that day "marked the first time many Americans realized the US is facing a burgeoning White Christian nationalist movement," which "uses Christian language to cloak sexism and hostility to Black people and non-White immigrants in its quest to create a White Christian America." This worldview has now "infiltrated the religious mainstream so thoroughly that virtually any conservative Christian pastor who tries to challenge its ideology risks their career."

The fact that Peterson has assumed a pro-Russian, anti-communist position is indicative of a broader trend. In the United States, many Republican Party lawmakers have refused to support Ukraine. JD Vance, a Donald Trump-backed Republican Senate candidate from Ohio, finds it "insulting and strategically stupid to devote billions of resources to Ukraine while ignoring the problems in our own country." And Matt Gaetz, a Republican member of the House of Representatives from Florida, is committed to ending US support for Ukraine if his party wins control of the chamber this November.

But does accepting Peterson's premise that Russia's war and the Alt-right in the US are platoon of the same global movement mean that Leftists should simply take the opposite side? Here, the situation gets more complicated. Although Peterson claims to oppose communism, he is attacking a major consequence of global capitalism. As Marx and Engels wrote more than 150 years ago in the first chapter of The Communist Manifesto:

"The bourgeoisie, wherever it has got the upper hand, has put an end to all feudal, patriarchal, idyllic relations. ... All fixed, fast-frozen relations, with their train of ancient and venerable prejudices and opinions, are swept away, all new-formed ones become antiquated before they can ossify. All that is solid melts into air, all that is holy is profaned, and man is at last compelled to face with sober senses his real conditions of life, and his relations with his kind."

This observation is studiously ignored by Leftist cultural theorists who still focus their critique on patriarchal ideology and practice. Yet surely the critique of patriarchy has reached its apotheosis at precisely the historical moment when patriarchy has lost its hegemonic role - that is, when market individualism has swept it away. After all, what becomes of patriarchal family values when a child can sue her parents for neglect and abuse (implying that parenthood is just another temporary and dissolvable contract between utility-maximising individuals)?

Of course, such "Leftists" are sheep in wolves' clothing, telling themselves that they are radical revolutionaries as they defend the reigning establishment. Today, the melting away of pre-modern social relations and forms has already gone much further than Marx could have imagined. All facets of human identity are now becoming a matter of choice; nature is becoming more and more an object of technological manipulation.

The "civil war" that Peterson sees in the developed West is thus a chimera, a conflict between two versions of the same global capitalist system: unrestrained liberal individualism versus neo-fascist conservatism, which seeks to unite capitalist dynamism with traditional values and hierarchies.

There is a double paradox here. Western political correctness ("wokeness") has displaced class struggle, producing a liberal elite that claims to protect threatened racial and sexual minorities in order to divert attention from its members' own economic and political power. At the same time, this lie allows Alt-right populists to present themselves as defenders of "real" people against corporate and "deep state" elites, even though they, too, occupy positions at the commanding heights of economic and political power.

Ultimately, both sides are fighting over the spoils of a system in which they are wholly complicit. Neither side really stands up for the exploited or has any interest in working-class solidarity. The implication is not that "Left" and "Right" are outdated notions - as one often hears - but rather that culture wars have displaced class struggle as the engine of politics.

Where does that leave Europe? The Guardian's Simon Tisdall paints a bleak but accurate picture:

"Putin's aim is the immiseration of Europe. By weaponising energy, food, refugees and information, Russia's leader spreads the economic and political pain, creating wartime conditions for all. A long, cold, calamity-filled European winter of power shortages and turmoil looms. ... Freezing pensioners, hungry children, empty supermarket shelves, unaffordable cost of living increases, devalued wages, strikes and street protests point to Sri Lanka-style meltdowns. An exaggeration? Not really."

To prevent a total collapse into disorder, the state apparatus, in close coordination with other states and relying on local mobilisations of people, will have to regulate the distribution of energy and food, perhaps resorting to administration by the armed forces. Europe thus has a unique chance to leave behind its charmed life of isolated welfare, a bubble in which gas and electricity prices were the biggest worries. As Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky recently told Vogue, "Just try to imagine what I'm talking about happening to your home, to your country. Would you still be thinking about gas prices or electricity prices?"

He's right. Europe is under attack, and it needs to mobilise, not just militarily but socially and economically as well. We should use the crisis to change our way of life, adopting values that will spare us from an ecological catastrophe in the coming decades. This may be our only chance.

ISRO eyes share in global small satellite market

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 4: The Indian Space Research Organisation August 7 will launch its smallest commercial rocket - SSLV - to put in orbit two satellites, offering cheap rides to space and eyeing a share in the burgeoning small satellite launch market.

The 34-metre Small Satellite Launch Vehicle (SSLV) is 10 metres shorter than ISRO's warhorse rocket Polar Satellite Launch Vehicle (PSLV) and can put payloads up to 500 kg into 500 km planar orbit.

Unlike the PSLV, the SSLV uses solid fuel - hydroxyl-terminated polybutadiene - to fire the three stages of the rocket which takes the payloads to the desired altitude. The liquid-propelled Velocity Trimming Module (VTM) then inserts the satellite into orbit.

In its maiden launch, the SSLV will place in orbit the 145 kg Earth Observation-2 satellite and AzaadiSat, a 8-kg cubesat designed by 750 girl students from government schools across the country to mark the 75th anniversary of Independence.

According to ISRO officials, the SSLV has a low turnaround time and can be assembled within a fortnight, allowing the space agency to provide launch on demand service in the fast growing low earth orbit launch sector.

The SSLV D-1 will soar into the skies at 9:18 am from the Satish Dhawan Space Centre at Sriharikota Sunday and place in orbit the two payloads at the end of its 13.2 minute flight.

The SSLV is 34 metres in height with a vehicle diameter of two metres and a lift off mass of 120 tonnes.

The PSLV, on the other hand, is 44 metres tall, 2.8 metres in diameter and a lift-off mass of 320 tonnes. It has the capacity to put up to 1,800 kg payloads into orbit.

"The SSLV is a ready to transfer vehicle with modular and unified systems and with standard interfaces for end-to-end industrial production," an ISRO official said.

The key features of SSLV include a booster motor segment with open joint configuration to minimise segment assembly and launch integration time.

It also has a unified interstage joint configuration to enable quick integration and launch, and miniaturised low cost avionics system with industrial commercial off-the-shelf components.

The SSLV also has multi-satellite accommodation with a multi-satellite adaptor deck and a digital control system with fully indigenous electro-mechanical actuators.

Raut's ED custody extended till Aug 8; wife summoned

Raut, who was arrested in the early hours of Monday in an alleged money-laundering case, was remanded to ED custody till August 4 and produced before a Special PMLA Court this afternoon

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Mumbai, August 4: A Mumbai Special Court Thursday extended Shiv Sena MP Sanjay Raut's custody to the Enforcement Directorate (ED) by 4 days till August 8.

The ED has also summoned Raut's wife Varsha for investigation after certain fresh details have emerged in the case.

Raut, who was arrested in the early hours of Monday in an alleged money-laundering case, was remanded to ED custody till August 4 and produced before a Special PMLA Court this afternoon.

The ED sought an extended custody for Raut till August 10 as it had secured certain documents and wanted to probe related matters, besides investigating other accused in the 2018 case pertaining to money-laundering arising out of the Patra Chawl redevelopment project in Goregaon.

At the hearing, Raut and his lawyers informed the Special Judge M.G. Deshpande of lack of proper ventilation in his jail cell but the ED lawyers dismissed the charges saying he is lodged in an airconditioned cell. Pleading for custody till August 10, the ED's Special Counsel Hiten Venegaonkar argued that Raut was not cooperating with the investigators and evading replies, the sleuths wanted to probe the bank transactions in his wife (Varsha Sanjay Raut)'s accounts, comprising ₹1.08 crore and an additional ₹1.17 crore.

Raut's Senior Advocate Manoj Mohite contended that the ED has already carried out a thorough probe and his client's statement was recorded prior to the arrest August 1, but hardly any investigation was done after he was taken into custody with the same allegations being repeated.

Special Judge Deshpande said that the ED has made legitimate progress in its probe and certain aspects require to be investigated by confronting the accused with the witnesses.

It may be recalled that the ED had raided Raut's residence in Bhandup at dawn on Sunday (July 31), interrogated him at his home for nearly 10 hours before taking him to the agency's office under detention for further questioning, and finally arrested him shortly after midnight Monday.

The ED has alleged that one of the project developers who indulged in a scam of over ₹1,039 crore is a close associate of Sanjay Raut. Raut's team has claimed that the entire case is politically motivated and intended to harass him as he has been exposing the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) since the past over two-and-half years. Meanwhile, Raut's brother, Shiv Sena MLA Sunil Raut said that they had full faith in the judiciary and the BJP is scared of him.

ED summons Kharge during Parl session

The ED resumed its searches at the office of Young Indian in the National Herald case after Mallikarjun Kharge presented himself before the probe agency

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 4: The Congress Thursday raised the issue of ED action and police gherao of its party office and the residences of Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi, with Leader of Opposition Mallikarjun Kharge saying in the Rajya Sabha that he has been summoned by the ED at a time when Parliament is in session.

The ED resumed its searches at the office of Young Indian (YI) here in the National Herald case after Mallikarjun Kharge presented himself before the probe agency with the Congress slamming the summons to the senior party leader right in the middle of the Parliament session.

The appearance of 80-year-old Kharge before the officials of Enforcement Directorate (ED) at the Herald House building and its action in the money laundering case linked to the Congress-owned newspaper also turned into a slugfest between the Congress and the BJP after the Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha told the House during Question Hour he was summoned to appear at 12.30 PM.

The Congress also raised the issue of ED action in both the Houses of Parliament and caused disruptions. While Kharge, who was quizzed for over seven hours, alleged this was an attempt to "frighten and intimidate" the Congress and wondered if democracy would remain alive, his party said the ED summons during the working hours of Parliament was a "black chapter of democracy" and an "insult" to the legislature.

Union minister Piyush Goyal, who is the Leader of the House in the Rajya Sabha, hit back and rejected Kharge's charge as "baseless". He maintained that the government does not interfere in the functioning of law enforcement agencies, and asked the Congress leaders to face the law instead of running away.

Launching a scathing attack on the Prime Minister, senior Congress leader Rahul Gandhi said he is "not afraid of Narendra Modi" and will not be "intimidated" by the ED action in the National Herald case.

Rahul's attack drew a sharp response from the BJP which accused the Congress of trying to spread "anarchy" and "abusing and intimidating" the ED.

"Sonia Gandhi and Rahul should know that they are not above law. The country is governed by the Constitution," BJP spokesperson Gaurav Bhatia said.

Targeting the government, the Congress said Kharge's summoning by the ED during the working hours of Parliament was an "insult" to the legislature and alleged that "Modishahi" is reaching a new low. Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh said Kharge was called by the probe agency when Parliament is in session and he left around 12:20 pm and presented himself.

A red alert indicates heavy to extremely heavy rains of over 20 cm in 24 hours, while orange alert means very heavy rains of 6 cm to 20 cm. A yellow alert means heavy rainfall between 6 and 11 cm.

The inclement weather in the state resulted in water levels of various rivers - like Chalakkudi, Pampa, Manimala and Achankovil - in various districts rising close to or crossing danger levels.

As the rains intensified in the state and in anticipation of water in Chalakkudi river rising further, Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan warned residents along its banks and those in low-lying areas of Thrissur and Ernakulam districts to be cautious and to be ready to evacuate as per instructions of the authorities.

CHEMISTRY POST-GRADUATE HELD AFTER LARGEST SEIZURE OF MEPHEDRONE IN MAHA IN LAST ONE YEAR

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, August 4: Mumbai police seized more than 700 kilograms of mephedrone worth ₹1,400 crore, the largest recovery of the synthetic stimulant drug in Maharashtra in the last one year, after a raid at a drug manufacturing unit at Nalasopara in Palghar district, and arrested five persons, officials said Thursday.

The Anti-Narcotics Cell (ANC) of the Mumbai crime branch conducted the raid at the unit located in Nalasopara (west) Wednesday and recovered the contraband, also known as MD, that was meant to be supplied to drug peddlers in Mumbai and its neighbouring areas, an official said.

The main accused in the case is a post-graduate in organic chemistry, who got the formula of producing mephedrone through experiments, he said, adding that one of the other four arrested accused is a woman.

The raid was carried out based on specific inputs, which the ANC's Worli team had received after the arrest of a drug peddler from Govandi, a suburb in Mumbai, in March this year. Continuing its probe into the supply chain, Mumbai police Tuesday arrested one more accused and nabbed the main accused a day later following the raid at his Nalasopara unit. The ANC team recovered 701.740 kg mephedrone valued at ₹1,403 crore from the accused, said Datta

Mephedrone, also known as "meow meow" or MD, is a synthetic stimulant banned under the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances (NDPS) Act

The main accused is a 52-year-old man, who holds a post-graduate degree in organic chemistry. After experimenting with various chemicals, he found out the formula of producing high quality mephedrone and was manufacturing the banned drug Nalawade, Deputy Commissioner of Police (ANC), in a press conference. This was the largest seizure of mephedrone in Maharashtra in the last one year, he said.

During the probe, it came to light that the main accused himself was manufacturing the banned drug, he said. The main accused is a 52-year-old man, who holds a post-graduate degree in organic chemistry. After experimenting with various chemicals, he found out the formula of producing mephedrone, he said, adding that he was producing high quality substance.

Police are investigating the whole supply chain and the financial trails of the drug traffickers, he said. Wholesalers in the drug trade used to contact him for mephedrone and he was not selling the banned substance less than 25 kg in quantity, he said. The accused person was using social media platforms, calling apps for drug peddling and supply, he said. Of the total five accused, four were arrested in Mumbai, while one person was held in Nalasopara, the official said, adding that various angles were being probed in the case. This is one of the biggest drug hauls by the city police in recent times, he said.

BEST's 1st ever double decker e-bus likely to roll from Sept

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, August 4: The first electric double decker bus is expected to be commissioned for the public in Mumbai from September, Brihanmumbai Electric Supply and Transport (BEST) Undertaking officials said Thursday.

The prototype electric double decker bus is ready with all necessary permissions and is expected to be delivered to BEST, which currently has more than 400 single decker electric buses, anytime soon, they added.

The civic-run BEST has awarded a contract to a private company for supply of 900 electric buses in phases, with 50 per cent of these to be delivered by March 2023.

The first electric double decker bus is expected to undergo some trials after delivery. Hence, it will be hit the roads for the public from September. The concerned private manufacturing company had planned an event to showcase the bus in Mumbai Friday. It had nothing to do with BEST. However, the event has been cancelled due to some reasons, an official said. Incidentally, the metropolis' premier road transport undertaking will be celebrating its anniversary August 7.

The Undertaking had 900 conventional double decker buses in its fleet since 1990, but the numbers steadily reduced over the years to around 50 now. Five vehicles are used for open deck heritage tours, while the remainder ply on various routes, he added.

'WHO IS REAL SHIV SENA'

SC asks EC not to decide on Shinde group's plea

Apex court was hearing petitions filed by the Shiv Sena and its rebel MLAs on constitutional issues of splits, mergers of political parties, defections, and disqualifications

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, August 4: In a relief to Uddhav Thackeray, the Supreme Court Thursday orally asked the Election Commission of India (ECI) not to decide a plea by Eknath Shinde group to recognise them as the real Shiv Sena.

A bench headed by Chief Justice NV Ramana and comprising Justices Krishna Murari and Hima Kohli asked the Election Commission not to take any pre-emptive action on the claim raised by Shinde group for recognising them as the real Shiv Sena party in the meanwhile.

The top court told the ECI that if the Thackeray faction seeks time to file response to its notices on the Shinde-faction petition, then it should consider their request keeping in mind the views expressed by the apex court.

The bench told senior advocate Arvind Datar, representing ECI, "Let them file affidavits. But can't you hold...let no pre-emptive action be taken... We are not passing any order. But at the same time don't take any pre-emptive action..."

Datar submitted that the disqualification proceedings under the tenth schedule operate in a different territory and it does not affect the ECI's power to decide the claim of rival factions for official recognition.

The top court said it will decide by Monday whether to refer to a larger bench regarding the constitutional questions involved in the disqualification of MLAs arising from Maharashtra political scenario.

Shinde faction moved the Election Commission seeking their recognition as the real Shiv Sena ahead of the BMC polls. However, the Thackeray faction has contested it saying that a few MLAs can't decide about the entire political party.

Top court was hearing petitions filed by the Shiv Sena and its rebel MLAs on the constitutional issues of splits, merger, defection and disqualification.

Will Lalu continue to head RJD?

SPECULATION GROWS AHEAD OF PARTY POLLS

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Patna, August 4: The Rashtriya Janata Dal is gearing up for organisational polls, culminating in election of the national president in October, amid uncertainties surrounding its frail founding chief Lalu Prasad, who has held the top post since the party came into being.

As per the schedule released by the party at its state headquarters here, elections for units at booth, panchayat, block and district levels will start from August 16 and conclude by September 6.

On September 21, elections will be held for state presidents and members of the state executive besides the party's apex body - the national council.

The council will meet in Delhi October 11 for the all-important election of the national president.

Prasad, who is on the wrong side of 70, recuperating from a shoulder injury and looking forward to getting a kidney transplant abroad, had floated the RJD in 1997, splitting the Janata Dal.

Always elected unopposed to the top party post, Prasad is at present enjoying his 11th consecutive term as the national president. The last time he got elected was in 2019, in absentia, because of jail term he was serving in fodder scam cases.

It has been a matter of speculation for some time as to whether the ailing septuagenarian would consider stepping down. The party rank and file has accepted Prasad's younger son and heir apparent Tejashwi Yadav as its de facto leader.

The young leader's stature has grown since he steered the party to a handsome performance in the 2020 assembly polls, wherein the RJD emerged as the single largest party, though falling far short of the majority mark.

The elevation of Tejashwi, currently the leader of the opposition, will signal a "generational shift", signs of which have been visible in moves like upper castes and women being given a greater share.

However, there are apprehenat the helm of affairs to keep the entire flock together. I don't think he will step down. Ill-health hardly makes him unfit for the top party post," Tiwary told PTI.

The JD(U) of Prasad's arch rival Nitish Kumar, with which the RJD has had a short-lived alliance in recent past, believes that the former chief minister's party is faced with "a historic opportunity" in the organisational polls. "The RJD professes to be a follower of the ideology of Jayaprakash Narayan and Ram Manohar Lohia. We do so as well and we have no quarrels with their claim."

"But, they must remember that JP and Lohia were always against the politics of nepotism and money power," JD(U) MLC and chief spokesman Neeraj Kumar said, in an obvious reference to corruption charges in which the RJD's proverbial 'first family' is embroiled.

"The RJD has a historic opportunity to promote workers who neither have the advantage of pedigree nor come with deep pockets. We have been doing so in JD(U). They can do likewise if they muster the will," he said.

UNESCO TAG REKINDLES HOPE FOR RESTORATION OF BIHAR'S CENTURY-OLD OBSERVATORY

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Muzaffarpur (Bihar), August 4: The authorities of Langat Singh College here are hopeful that the Bihar government will take steps for conserving the 106-year-old astronomical observatory as it has been included on the UNESCO list of important endangered heritage observatories of the world.

The observatory, the first of its kind in eastern India, was established in the college in 1916 to impart astronomical knowledge to the students in detail.

"A planetarium was also set up in the college in 1946. After 1970, the condition of the observatory, as well as the planetarium, started declining gradually and most of the machines installed there have either been lost or become junk," Dr OP Roy, Principal of Langat Singh College, said.

A few years ago, Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar had visited the observatory and assured the authorities of grants for its restoration but nothing happened, he said.

"Now, after its inclusion in the UNESCO list of endangered heritage observatories, we are hopeful that the state government will take appropriate steps for its conservation," the principal of the institute said.

It is a great moment for the college, he said adding that everybody associated with it is happy with the development.

Senior faculty members of the college are of the opinion that credit for its inclusion in the UNESCO list also goes to J N Sinha, a former professor at Delhi University.

"His constant efforts for attracting UNESCO's attention to the observatory finally bore fruit," Roy said. Langat Singh College, now affiliated to Bhim Rao Ambedkar Bihar University, was set up in 1899.

26/11 survivor moves HC over housing woes

Mumbai: Devika Rotawan, a survivor and eyewitness to the 26/11 Mumbai terror attacks, has moved the Bombay High Court seeking allotment of residential premises after the Maharashtra government rejected her plea. Rotawan, who was nine years old at the time of the terror attacks at multiple locations in the city, was at the Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Terminus (CSMT) railway station along with her father and brother when two of the ten Pakistani terrorists opened fire. The plea also said she and her family are living in penury and they would be rendered homeless as they have not been to pay the rent for their house.

From small towns in Bihar to big cities like Delhi and Kolkata, people joined in to raise their voice

Another user @Sahilrazvi wrote in Hindi, "A handful of historic buildings are left in Patna. Sultan Palace is among them and a rare specimen of mixed architecture. Government has decided to demolish it to make a five-star hotel. On this decision, historians and civil society members want to oppose it vehemently." A large number of users who joined the trend also posted pictures of Sultan Palace.

Recently, historians, conservationists and ordinary citizens of the country had vehemently opposed this decision and appealed to the government to preserve and restore the architectural icon and not raise a veritable pride of Patna.

Sultan Palace, located on the historic Gardiner Road (now Beer Chand Patel Road) near R-Block area, was built in 1922 by the legendary barrister of Patna, Sir Sultan Ahmed, who also briefly served as a judge in the Patna High Court and as the first Indian Vice-Chancellor of the Patna University from 1923-30.

Many citizen-led initiatives having a presence on Twitter, Facebook, or Instagram, such as Lost Muslim Heritage of Bihar, HeritageTimes, Pedal4Planet also extended support to it and appealed to save the palace for posterity.

"5star hotel!!! By demolishing an iconic monument listed by Bihar Government itself, also a perfect candidate for 'A heritage category hotel in the capital'. What's stopping YOU to make a dream possible. When you already wanted it before...#savesultanpalace, asked @Diptanashu, and shared a news report on the protest the move is facing from several quarters.

EAM, Blinken discuss pressing global issues

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 4: External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar and US Secretary of State Antony Blinken Thursday held talks on pressing global challenges, amid rising tensions between China and Taiwan following US House Speaker Nancy Pelosi's high-profile visit to Taipei.

In his opening remarks at the meeting that took place on the margins of an ASEAN conclave in Phnom Penh, Blinken referred to concerns over "challenges" in Sri Lanka, Myanmar, and the situation in the Indo-Pacific.

It is understood that the escalating tension between China and Taiwan, especially in the Taiwan Strait, following Pelosi's visit to Taipei figured in the talks.

China has launched a major live-fire military exercise in the waters around Taiwan in response to Pelosi's visit to the self-ruled island, triggering global concerns.

The Jaishankar-Blinken meeting also came days after the US killed Ayman al-Zawahiri, the al-Qaeda leader and a key plotter of the 9/11 attacks, in a drone strike in a Kabul safe house. "A warm conversation to start meetings on sidelines of ASEAN Ministerial in Phnom Penh. Discussed the ever strengthening India-US relationship and the global situation with US Secretary of State @SecBlinken," Jaishankar tweeted.

In his opening remarks at the meeting, Blinken said the US and India are strong proponents of the ASEAN centrality in the Indo-Pacific, according to the US State Department. Last month, Sri Lanka witnessed massive political turmoil following mass protests that forced President Gotabaya Rajapaksa to flee the country.

CLIMATE CHANGE

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 4: India has enhanced its climate ambitions in the post-pandemic scenario when the world is seeing less action on climate change and this needs to be appreciated, experts have said welcoming the country's updated Nationally Determined Contribution (NDC) under the Paris Agreement.

Environment Ministry officials said the two quantified targets included in the NDC are interlinked with the other promises made at the Glasgow conference last year i.e. 500 gigawatt non-fossil energy capacity by 2030 and reducing total projected carbon emissions by 1 billion tonnes by that year.

"The updated NDC already includes 50 per cent electric power installed capacity from non-fossil fuel-based resources by 2030. This

MONKEYPOX SCARE

Govt holds meeting with experts

India has so far reported nine cases of monkeypox including one death

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 4: A meeting of top health experts called by the Centre Thursday deliberated on the need for revisiting existing guidelines on management of monkeypox amid rising number of cases of the disease in the country.

"It was a technical meeting to revisit the existing guidelines," an official said.

The meeting was chaired by Dr L Swasticharan, director of Emergency Medical Relief and attended by officials from the National Aids Control Organisation, National Centre for Disease Control and World Health Organisation (WHO) representatives.

According to existing 'Guidelines on Management of Monkeypox Disease' issued by the Centre, any person having a history of travel to affected countries within the last 21 days presenting with an unexplained acute rash and symptoms like swollen lymph nodes, fever, headaches, body aches and profound weakness is to be considered to be a 'suspected case'.

A 'probable case' has to be a person meeting the case definition for a suspected case, clinically compatible illness and has an epidemiological link like face-to-face exposure, including health care workers without appropriate PPE, direct physical contact with skin or skin lesions, including sexual contact, or contact with contaminated material such as clothing, bedding or utensils.

A case is considered laboratory confirmed for monkeypox virus by detection of unique sequences of viral DNA either by polymerase chain reaction (PCR) and/or sequencing.

Defining contacts, the guidelines stated that a contact is defined as a person who, in the period beginning with the onset of the source case's first symptoms, and ending when all scabs have fallen off, has had one or more of the exposures-- face-to-face exposure, direct physical contact, including sexual contact, contact with contaminated materials such as clothing or bedding -- with a probable or confirmed case of monkey pox.

Cases can be prompted to identify contacts across household, workplace, school/nursery, sexual contacts, healthcare, houses of worship, transportation, sports, social gatherings, and any other recalled interactions.

RS passes Family Courts (Amendment) Bill, 2022

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, August 4: Amid continuous sloganeering by the opposition members, the Rajya Sabha Thursday passed the 'Family Courts (Amendment) Bill, 2022' by a voice vote. Lok Sabha had passed this bill last week.

Opposition members led by Congress were protesting alleging misuse of investigating agencies by the government against the political opponents. In response to the discussion on the bill, Union Minister of Law and Justice Kiren Rijiju talked about the need to have the legislation passed considering the long list of pending cases.

He said that there are at present

715 family courts in the country with over 11 lakh pending cases and the government is emphasising to have at least one family court in each district for speedy disposal of cases. According to the Family Court Act of 1984, it is mandatory for a state government to set up a family court for every city or a town whose population exceeds one million. The Minister informed the House that the Union government has already asked judicial officers to give importance to family matters. Rijiju further mentioned that in India, marriage is not only a union of two individuals but that of families and communities, and that when a marriage breaks down, a structure crumbles.

'India enhanced goals when world seeing less action'

The Union Cabinet Wednesday approved India's updated NDC, incorporating two of the promises made by PM Modi at the Glasgow conference -- reducing emissions intensity of GDP by 45% by 2030, compared to 2005 levels, and achieving about 50% cumulative electric power installed capacity from non-fossil fuel-based energy resources by that year with the prime minister's Glasgow announcements. It enhances the ambition and yet puts sustainable development at the centre of the debate, she noted.

Director General of Centre for Science and Environment (CSE) Sunita Narain said India has taken important action at a time when the world is seeing less action on climate change. "But disappointed that we have stated that we will have 50 per cent installed non-fossil fuel capacity by 2030 instead of what India had said in Glasgow that we will meet 50 per cent of electricity requirements from renewables by 2030. This is disappointing as we are already roughly 40 per cent (power generation capacity from non-fossil fuel-based sources)," she said.

Council on Energy Environment and Water (CEEW) fellow Dr Vaibhav Chaturvedi said the share of non-fossil sources in India's power generation capacity has already crossed 41 per cent on the back of dedicated policies, and emissions intensity of GDP declined by 24 per cent between 2005 and 2016. Emission intensity is the volume of emissions per unit of GDP.

"That India's ambition has been enhanced in the post-pandemic scenario needs to be emphasised and appreciated."

"The Union Cabinet's statement explicitly states that the enhanced NDC is a step towards the net-zero goal, the government should now follow this with explicit inclusion of the 2070 net-zero pledge in its yet to be submitted long-term strategy to the UN," he said.

The revised NDC does not include 500 GW of non-fossil fuel-based capacity by 2030 and a reduction of one billion tonnes of carbon emissions by 2030.

China conducts precision strikes over Taiwan Strait

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Beijing, August 4: The Chinese military Thursday launched a four-day war game with precision strikes using ballistic missiles over the Taiwan Strait, in retaliation to US House Speaker Nancy Pelosi's visit to Taipei disregarding Beijing's vociferous warnings.

The People's Liberation Army (PLA) fired several ballistic missiles into waters to the east of Taiwan on Thursday afternoon, with all of them hitting targets accurately, a Chinese military spokesman said.

Senior Colonel Shi Yi, a spokesman for the PLA Eastern Theatre Command, said that rocket forces in multiple locations on the mainland launched several types of missiles carrying conventional warheads to designated waters off the eastern coast of Taiwan. The PLA will perform long-range artillery strikes and ballistic missile launches to target areas around Taiwan in the coming days, official media here quoted the military as saying. On Wednesday, the PLA said it plans to conduct the war games in the region from August 4-7. The drills were expected to continue till Sunday.

This is the second time this week the Chinese military announced missile test plans in the Taiwan Strait. China views Taiwan as part of its territory, despite having never controlled it and has long vowed to reunify the island with the Chinese mainland, by force if necessary.

Taiwan has confirmed that the PLA has launched several Dongfeng tactical ballistic missiles capable of flying up to 500 km into waters northeast and southwest waters of the island on Thursday afternoon, a day after Pelosi left the island.

Ukraine under pressure in east

REUTERS

Kyiv, August 4: Ukraine said Thursday it had repelled multiple Russian assaults on a strategic stronghold in the east of the country, and the head of the NATO military alliance said Moscow must not be allowed to win the war.

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy this week described the pressure his armed forces were under in the Donbas region in eastern Ukraine as "Hell". He spoke of fierce fighting around the town of Avdiivka and the fortified village of Pisky, where Kyiv has acknowledged its Russian foe's "partial success" in recent days.

The Ukrainian military said on Thursday Russian forces had mounted at least two assaults on Pisky but that Ukraine troops had managed to repel them.

Ukraine has spent the last eight years fortifying defensive positions in Pisky, viewing it as a buffer zone against Russian-backed forces who control the city of Donetsk about 10 km (6 miles) to the southeast.

The Russian defence ministry on Thursday confirmed its forces were on the offensive.

It said they had inflicted heavy losses on Ukrainian forces around Avdiivka and two other locations in Donetsk province, forcing Kyiv's mechanised and mechanised infantry units to withdraw.

Reuters could not immediately verify either side's assertions.

Video footage released by the Russian defence ministry showed Russian rocket launchers in action and tanks advancing and firing at speed across open terrain. It was not clear where they were filmed.

Iran nuclear talks resume in Vienna

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vienna, August 4: Negotiators from Iran, the US and the European Union prepared on Thursday to resume months-long, indirect talks over Tehran's tattered nuclear deal, even as international inspectors acknowledged the Islamic Republic began a new expansion of its uranium enrichment.

The resumption of the Vienna talks, suddenly called on Wednesday, appears not to include high-level representation from all the countries part of Iran's 2015 deal with world powers. That comes as Western officials express growing scepticism over a deal to restore the accord and the EU's top diplomat has warned "the space for additional significant compromises has been exhausted".

Iran's top negotiator, Ali Bagheri Kani, had arrived in Vienna for the talks, Iranian state media reported. US Special Representative for Iran Rob Malley also was on hand, tweeting on Wednesday that "our expectations are in check".

As in other talks, the US won't directly negotiate with Iran, instead speaking through EU diplomat Enrique Mora. The US hasn't had direct talks with Iran since then-President Donald Trump unilaterally withdrew America from the accord in 2018.

Mora also met on Thursday with Russian Ambassador Mikhail Ulyanov, who has represented Moscow's interests in the talks.

Ulyanov also met with Bagheri Kani in a separate meeting.

"As always we had a frank, pragmatic and constructive exchange of views on ways and means of overcoming the last outstanding issues," Ulyanov wrote on Twitter. But going into the negotiations, Iran laid out a maximalist stance. Through its state-run IRNA news agency, Tehran denied that it had abandoned its effort to get America to delist its paramilitary Revolutionary Guard as a terrorist organisation as a precondition to the talks.

US to probe Sikh turban seizures

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Washington, August 4: US authorities are investigating claims of human rights activists that turbans of nearly 50 Sikh asylum seekers were confiscated after they were detained along the Mexican border, according to media reports.

Sikhism requires men to wear turbans and do not cut their hair. According to human rights activists, nearly 50 Sikh migrants have had their religious headgear taken away by Border Patrol agents recently.

"We take allegations of this nature very seriously," Customs and Border Protection (CBP) Commissioner Chris Magnus was quoted as saying in a statement to ABC News on Wednesday.

Magnus said the agency immediately began taking steps to address the allegations after they were raised in June. "Our expectation is that CBP employees treat all migrants we encounter with respect. An internal investigation has been opened to address this matter," he said. Earlier this week, the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) wrote to the CBP Commissioner, urging officials to stop confiscating the turbans of Sikh asylum-seekers.

"We write to inform you of ongoing, serious religious-freedom violations in the Yuma Border Patrol Sector, where your agents are confiscating turbans from Sikh individuals during asylum processing," the ACLU wrote to CBP Commissioner Magnus on Monday, The Hill reported.

"In the last two months alone, our organisational partners in Arizona have documented nearly 50 cases of asylees arriving from Yuma who reported that their religious headwear had been taken by US Customs and Border Protection (CBP) and never returned or replaced," the letter added.

Was Pak airspace used in drone strike that killed Zawahiri?

Reports claim that the attack was launched from Ganci Airbase, a US transit facility at Manas in northern Kyrgyzstan

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Islamabad, August 4: The US drone strike that killed Ayman al-Zawahiri has raised questions over Pakistan's possible role in the raid amid reports suggesting that the country's airspace could have been used for carrying out the precision strike on the al-Qaeda chief's safe house in Kabul.

In the first high-profile US attack in Afghanistan since American troops withdrew from Afghanistan in August of last year, a drone strike in the Afghan capital this weekend killed Zawahiri, who helped Osama bin Laden plot the September 11, 2001, attacks on the United States. The attack has led to speculation here whether Pakistani airspace was used by the CIA drone to attack Zawahiri in the neighbouring country

"A US drone flew into Afghanistan from the direction of the Gulf region - assuming Pak hasn't given bases yet (unless this govt has done so covertly) - but flew over which country's airspace? Iran does not give any airspace rights to US mly so was Pak airspace used?" senior Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) leader Shireen Mazari tweeted after some media reports that the American drone that eliminated Zawahiri was possibly launched from an airbase in Kyrgyzstan.

Reports claim that the attack was launched from Ganci Airbase, a US transit facility at Manas in northern Kyrgyzstan. Ganci is a former American military base in Kyrgyzstan, near the Bishkek international airport. It was operated by the US Air Force, which handed it over to the Kyrgyz military in June 2014.

The Biden administration, however, is still refusing to disclose where the drone take-off from and what route it used. The US Department of Defence only issued a brief statement, saying: "Zawahiri was killed in an over-the-horizon operation in downtown Kabul, where he was residing as a guest of the Taliban. The house was struck by two Hellfires missiles in a precision, counterterrorism operation at 6:18am Kabul time on Sunday." Michael Kugelman, a scholar of South Asian affairs at the Wilson Center, Washington, said that the drone strike has generated "lots of discussion" in the US on "Pakistan's possible role" in the raid. "Lots of discussion on Pakistan's possible role in the Zawahiri raid. I wouldn't overstate its role, but also would take w/some grains of salt Pak officials' contention that

Had no info: Taliban

Islamabad: The Taliban said Thursday they are investigating what they described as "claims" that al-Qaeda chief Ayman al-Zawahiri was killed in a U.S. drone strike in the Afghan capital. However, the group insisted in a statement that it "has no knowledge of the arrival and residence" of al-Zawahiri in Afghanistan. The statement marked the first time the Taliban leadership addressed the U.S. Announcement that al-Zawahiri was the target of Sunday's strike. However, despite the Taliban denial of knowledge of al-Zawahiri's presence, U.S. Officials have said the al-Qaida head was staying at a Kabul safe house linked to the deputy leader of the Taliban.

there was no role at all. Two possible forms of support: Airspace and intelligence. Some thoughts on both," he tweeted. "The geography doesn't lie. If this drone was launched from a US base in the Gulf, it wouldn't be able to fly over Iran. Flying over Central Asia is circuitous and hard to pull off if you're undertaking a rapid operation. This leaves Pakistani airspace as the most desirable option," he said. On the possibility of Afghanistan's Central Asian neighbours providing that support to the US, he said, "As for Afghanistan's other neighbours, Can't rule out the possibility that some Central Asian states helped on the intelligence side. As for Iran, in the past, it assisted the US a bit in Afg w/CT, but that wouldn't happen today, and esp. w/Biden's attempts at detente w/Tehran having failed."

He said that as for intelligence support, the US officials have indicated the planning and surveillance for this operation took months. "Could it do that all alone, with no on-ground presence?" he asked, adding that if not Pakistan, "some renegade Taliban members might have supplied that information to the US".

AMID LONG RECESSION WOES

BoE raises rates by most since '95

The BoE warned that Britain was facing a recession with a peak-to-trough fall in output of 2.1%, similar to a slump in the 1990s but far less than the hit from Covid-19 and the downturn caused by the 2008-09 global financial crisis

British consumer price inflation hit a 40-year high of 9.4% in June, already more than four times the BoE's 2% target

REUTERS

London, August 4: The Bank of England (BoE) raised interest rates by the most in 27 years Thursday, despite warning that a long recession is on its way, as it rushed to smother a rise in inflation which is now set to top 13%.

Reeling from a surge in energy prices caused by Russia's invasion of Ukraine, the BoE's Monetary Policy Committee voted 8-1 for a half percentage point rise in Bank Rate to 1.75% - its highest level since late 2008 - from 1.25%.

The economy would begin to shrink in the final quarter of 2022 and contract throughout all of 2023, making it the longest recession since after the global financial crisis.

Ushering in the slowdown, consumer price inflation was now likely to peak at 13.3% in October - the highest since 1980 - due mostly to the surge in energy prices following Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

That would leave households facing two consecutive years of declines in their disposable incomes, the biggest squeeze since these records began in 1964.

The British central bank has now raised rates six times since December but Thursday's move was the biggest since 1995.

The pressure on Governor Andrew Bailey and colleagues to move in larger steps intensified after recent big rate hikes by the US Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and other central banks. Those moves weakened the value of the pound, which can add to inflation. The BoE repeated that it was ready to move forcefully if needed to stem more persistent inflationary pressures. But it stressed

With gas prices continuing to reach record levels, both households and businesses will see large increases in their energy bills throughout the winter and into 2023 that there were "extremely large" uncertainties about the economy - which could make the slowdown more or less severe than its core forecasts - and it would judge what its next moves should be as events unfold.

"Policy is not on a pre-set path," the BoE said. "The scale, pace and timing of any further changes in Bank Rate will reflect the Committee's assessment of the economic outlook and inflationary pressures."

The BoE said it expected to start selling down its huge stockpile of government bonds, with active sales of around 10 billion pounds a quarter, shortly after its next meeting in mid-September. The gilt holdings peaked at 875 billion pounds in December and have since fallen to 844 billion pounds after the BoE stopped reinvesting the proceeds of maturing bonds in February.

Sensex snaps 6-day rally ahead of RBI's repo rate decision

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, August 4: The Sensex and Nifty snapped their six-session rally to close marginally lower Thursday as investors booked profit in banking, finance and energy counters ahead of the RBI's policy decision.

The Reserve Bank of India's rate-setting panel will announce its bi-monthly monetary policy Friday amid expectations of at least a 35-basis-point hike in the interest rate to check high inflation.

A depreciating rupee further weighed on sentiment, traders said. In choppy trade, the 30-share BSE Sensex ended 51.73 points or 0.09 per cent lower at 58,298.80. The broader NSE Nifty dipped 6.15 points or 0.04 per cent to 17,382.

NTPC was the biggest laggard in the Sensex pack, slipping 3.10 per cent, followed by SBI, Reliance Industries, Axis Bank, PowerGrid, Kotak Mahindra Bank, IndusInd Bank and HDFC.

In contrast, Sun Pharma, Nestle India, Infosys, Dr Reddy's, Wipro, Mahindra & Mahindra and Tata Steel were among the major gainers, climbing up to 2.46 per cent.

"Profit-taking finally came into play after 6-session gains, as rate-sensitive sectors like banking and realty faltered ahead of the RBI's policy meet outcome on Friday. Key indices pared most of their losses towards the end as strength in other Asian and European indices aided sentiment," said Shrikant Chouhan, Head of Equity Research (Retail), Kotak Securities Ltd.

In the broader market, the BSE midcap gauge went higher by 0.29 per cent and the smallcap index advanced 0.25 per cent.

The rupee depreciated by 17 paise to close at 79.32 against the US dollar

From the BSE sectoral indices, telecom declined by 1.14 per cent, followed by realty (1.11 per cent), utilities (0.70 per cent) and power (0.64 per cent).

Among the gainers were healthcare (1.93 per cent), IT (1.23 per cent), metal (1.01 per cent) and teck (1.05 per cent).

World stocks were largely positive as investors monitored corporate earnings as well as US-China tensions over US House Speaker Nancy Pelosi's high-profile visit to Taiwan.

In Asia, markets in Seoul, Tokyo, Shanghai and Hong Kong ended in the green.

European stocks were trading mostly higher during mid-session deals. The US markets had ended significantly higher Wednesday.

Meanwhile, international oil benchmark Brent crude dipped 0.28 per cent to $96.51 per barrel.

Foreign institutional investors remained net buyers in the capital markets as they bought shares worth ₹1,474.77 crore Thursday, as per exchange data.

Pace of rupee in circulation dips by half since April YoY

REUTERS

Mumbai, August 4: The rupee in circulation has increased by only around ₹500 billion in the first four months of this financial year that began in April, which is nearly half the pace of the same period a year ago.

"Economic activity is completely back to pre-pandemic levels, and hence there is hardly any need for panic-driven cash withdrawals, which is leading to a drop in cash in circulation," a trader with a state-run bank said.

The rise in the cash in circulation for April-July stood at ₹508 billion ($6.38 billion), as compared to ₹928 billion for the similar period last year and a mammoth ₹2.25 trillion in 2020-21, the peak of lockdown, data from the Reserve Bank of India showed.

The currency in circulation had jumped by over ₹4 trillion in 2020-21, while the increase tapered to ₹2.80 trillion in the last financial year, and market participants expect another drop in the current year.

"We do not have any major elections in the remaining part of the year and could just have around two trillion rupees of rise for the full year. The impact on overall surplus may not be large," a trader with a primary dealership said.

Meanwhile, the banking system liquidity surplus remains around two trillion rupees, and Kotak Mahindra Bank expects the surplus to ease to around ₹1.50 trillion by end of this week.

One-day interbank call money rate was at 4.75%, while the overnight tripartite repo or TREPS rate was at 4.50%.

Traders also await the RBI's monetary policy decision tomorrow, and apart from a hike in repo rate, any measure or commentary on liquidity management would impact money markets.

Automobile retail sales plummet 8% in July

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 4: Automobile retail sales in India dropped 8 per cent on an annual basis in July on account of fall in registrations of passenger vehicles, two-wheelers and tractors.

As per data released by the automobile dealers' body FADA Thursday, the overall automobile retail sales last month stood at 14,36,927 units, as compared with 15,59,106 units in July 2021.

Passenger vehicle retail sales witnessed a dip of 5 per cent at 2,50,972 units last month, as against 2,63,238 units in the year-ago period.

Federation of Automobile Dealers Associations (FADA) President Vinkesh Gulati noted that though there is a blip in July numbers, the segment continues to see introduction of new models, especially compact SUVs, aiding growth. "Along with this, a better supply in the coming months will help in bringing down customer anxiety due to the long waiting period," he added.

Similarly, two-wheeler retail sales stood at 10,09,574 units in July down 11 per cent from 11,33,344 units in July 2021. "The two-wheeler retail run witnessed poor demand as rural India continues to underperform. This coupled with high inflation, erratic monsoon and high cost of ownership continues to keep bottom of the pyramid customers at bay," he noted.

Russia is India's 3rd largest coal supplier

REUTERS

New Delhi, August 4: Russia became India's third-largest coal supplier in July, with imports rising by over a fifth compared with June to a record 2.06 million tonne, data from Indian consultancy Coalmint showed.

Russia has historically been the sixth-largest supplier of coal to India, behind Indonesia, South Africa, Australia, and the United States, with Mozambique and Colombia alternatingly featuring in the top five.

India, the world's second-largest producer, importer and consumer of coal, has historically imported more coking coal — used mainly in steelmaking — from Russia, with Australia being the other key supplier.

However, steep discounts offered by Russian suppliers to Indian consumers in the recent months have incentivized higher buying of thermal coal — used mainly in power generation — especially as global prices have traded at near-record highs due to western sanctions choking traditional trade.

Thermal coal imports from Russia jumped 70.3% in July, compared with June, to a record 1.29 million tonne, while coking coal imports rose by over two-thirds to more than 280,000 tonne, Coalmint data showed.

Yes Bank charts growth roadmap after $1bn capital raising

Moody's Thursday said it has upgraded Yes Bank's rating while changing outlook to 'stable' on the back of its equity capital raise plan

REUTERS

Mumbai, August 4: Two years after India's central bank had to step in to take control of Yes Bank to calm panicky depositors and stem systemic risk, the lender is aiming to expand its loan book and acquire smaller rivals to revive its business, its chief executive said.

The expansion plan of the mid-sized lender comes after it raised $1.1 billion last week by selling up to a 10% stake to Carlyle Group and Advent International.

The fundraising marked a rare vote of confidence in Yes Bank, which had to be taken over by the central bank in March 2020 after months of deterioration in its financials and allegations of mismanagement.

Yes Bank is looking to increase its loan book by 15% in the fiscal year ending March 2023 as it sharpens its focus on mortgages, vehicle loans and small and mid-sized business loans, said CEO Prashant Kumar.

Its loan book expanded 8% in the last fiscal year, slightly lower than the 9.6% growth posted by the Indian banking sector, after having contracted in the preceding two years.

"We will definitely be growing

(the loan book) more than what the industry is, but we would not like to make any mistake," Kumar told Reuters, alluding to the bank's previous rapid credit expansion that was blamed for its woes.

"We may also explore opportunities in microfinance, as that is an area we are not present yet and it will take time to build it internally so it may make sense to acquire instead," said Kumar, who took over the reins in March 2020.

LONG ROAD AHEAD

Set up in 2004, Yes Bank was the country's fifth-largest lender up until early 2020, after which it lurched from one crisis to another, including the arrest of its founder amid allegations of governance lapses.

Its gross bad loans as a percentage of total lending had risen to 18.87% as of December 2019, from 2.1% a year earlier. At the end of June 2022, the ratio was 13.9%. Other state-owned banks and private lenders had to step in 2020 to rescue the bank.

Yes Bank's stock has risen over 22% so far this year, after having fallen 23% last year and 62% in 2020. In fiscal 2022, the bank reported a profit of ₹10.66 billion ($134 million) compared to a loss of 34.62 billion rupees the previous year. Kumar is confident that its stabilising capital position will lead to an improved rating of the bank, which in turn will bring in more business and aid profitability.

However, analysts and investors remain sceptical.

"Even if the Yes Bank turnaround works, it'll take at least six to seven years," said a fund manager, whose portfolio currently does not hold the bank's stock and who declined to be identified as he was not authorised to speak to the media. "I don't think the latest developments will excite investors."

PANGHAL ASSURES MEDAL

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Birmingham, August 4: Amit Panghal ensured a fourth medal for India from the boxing ring after winning his flyweight (48-51 kg) quarterfinal against Scotland's Lennon Mulligan at the Commonwealth Games Thursday. It was a unanimous verdict in favour of the Indian southpaw. Panghal had won a silver medal during the last edition in Gold Coast.

The bout wasn't of great quality but the 26-year-old India prevailed over his much younger Scottish opponent, tiring him out with a solid defence. He gained points with occasional ferocious counter-attack. In the first two rounds, Panghal employed a guard down approach to invite Mulligan to go on the offensive but swayed away from his reach with some nimble footwork. In between he did land a couple of left jabs to rattle the 20-year-old Scot and in the final round unleashed a barrage of 'one-two' combination (a left-jab followed by a right cross). Mulligan in fact got a standing count and by the end of round two, the writing was clear on the wall that Panghal will earn a second CWG medal. Later on the day, Sagar Ahlawat continued India's medal rush in boxing, joining Panghal and

TEJASWIN OPENS UP ON PLANS FOR ASIAN GAMES

Birmingham: Indian high jumper Tejaswin Shankar Thursday said he has not been able to perform to his full potential owing to chronic tendonitis and it's now a "certainty" that he will compete in decathlon at next year's Asian Games. GOT LOT OF LOVE FROM INDIA: BUTT

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Birmingham, August 4: As soon as Nooh Dastagir Butt won Pakistan's first gold medal at the Birmingham Games, one of the first persons to lend a congratulatory hand was none other than Indian superstar Mirabai Chanu. As an Olympic medallist, Chanu has catapulted herself to superstardom and is not only an icon in India but also for weightlifters from the neighbouring nation.

"It was such a proud moment for me when she congratulated me and praised my performance," Butt told PTI after winning the gold in the men's 109+kg category with a record lift of 405 kg. The 24-year-old Pakistani shattered all the three Games record - 173 in snatch, 232 in clean and jerk and the aggregate. "We look up to Mirabai for inspiration. She has shown us that, we from the South Asian countries can also win an Olympic medal. We became so proud of her when she won the silver at the Tokyo Olympics."

Gurdeep Singh won bronze in the same category and Butt considers the Indian as one of his close friends. "We have been very good friends for the last seven-eight years. We have trained together in abroad a few times. We are always in touch," Butt let everyone know the bonhomie he shares with his Indian counter-parts.

For Butt, it was never an Indo-

Pak battle but an individual challenge to surpassing his best. "It was not that I was competing with an India lifter. I just wanted to give my best and win it here," he said of Gurdeep. Butt has been to India twice for international events. First was the Youth Commonwealth Championship in Pune, back in 2015 and the very next year for the South Asian Games in Guwahati.

"I've been to India two times and the support I received each time is unforgettable. I long to go back to India again," he added. "I think, mere Pakistan se jyada fans India mein hai (I think, I've more fans in India than back home)," he said in jest. It has been six years since that championship and Butt wouldn't mind visiting India again. "Definitely, I look forward to visiting again. I never enjoyed any other competition like the way I did in India," he added.
