

Bhubaneswar, August 30: Crops standing on a whopping 1.2 lakh hectare of agricultural land in at least 10 districts have been damaged by the floods this month, an official said quoting the preliminary damage assessment report based on data received from different districts, Tuesday.

As many as 24 districts of the state have been affected, 10 of them severely, by the rain and subsequent floods in August, said the official.

Worst hit was Jagatsinghpur district where standing crops on around 2,420 hectare of farmland were washed away by floodwaters, sources said, adding that Puri and Kendrapada districts were also severely affected as vast areas remained marooned for days, causing severe loss to the farmers.

Apart from the coastal districts of Puri, Cuttack, Kendrapara and Baitarani and Budhabalanga rivers. In Nimapara of Puri district, over 7,000 hectare of paddy and non-paddy farmlands in 18 panchayats have been affected due to floods in Dhanua and Kusabhadra rivers, sources said. Crops and vegetables were affected in Athagarh societies and banks.

While transplanting paddy is in progress in areas unaffected by the floods, the Agriculture department has advised the farmers to go for re-sowing or planting early maturing varieties of paddy in medium and low land where the crop damage is about 50 per

The Odisha University of Agriculture and Technology (OUAT), in an advisory to the government and farmers, has suggested that Rabi crops be taken up where paddy crop damage is extensive and there is less possibility of growth for short-duration paddy crops, said the official.

Court asks Varsha to vacate MP's house

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Cuttack, August 30: A court here Tuesday upheld an order directing actor Varsha Priyadarshini to vacate her estranged husband's parental house.

On a plea preferred by Member of Parliament (MP) Anubhav Mohanty, the sub divisional judicial magistrate had asked Priyadarshini in June to vacate his house in Cuttack city within two months. Privadarshini challenged the lower court order and moved to the court of the additional district judge (ADJ), who ordered an interim stay.

In its final order, the ADJ court lifted the stay and directed Priyadarshini to vacate Anubhav's parental house, advocate Alok Mohapatra said.

The SDJM court had also directed the BJD MP to pay Rs 30,000 every month to Privadarshini for her accommodation elsewhere in the city. Anubhav has been depositing the amount in her bank account.

The SDJM had observed that + the elderly parents and some other relatives of Anubhav were staying away from their house due to the prevailing animosity between the husband and the wife.

Married in 2014, the star couple is now fighting a fierce legal battle in court for their separation.

Gautam Adani now world's third richest person

THIS IS THE FIRST TIME AN ASIAN PERSON HAS BROKEN INTO THE TOP THREE OF THE BLOOMBERG BILLIONAIRES INDEX

AGENCIES

New Delhi, August 30: Indian tycoon Gautam Adani has been named the world's third richest person with an estimated $137bn (£117bn) fortune and becomes the first Asian person to break into the top three of world's wealthy. Adani, 60, who founded the mining-to-energy conglomerate Adani Group after dropping out of university, was Tuesday ranked third on the daily-updated Bloomberg Billionaires Index.

With a $137.4bn fortune, Adani has overtaken France's Bernard Arnault and now trails just Elon Musk and Jeff Bezos of the US in the ranking. Adani has spent the past few years expanding his coal-to-ports conglomerate, venturing into everything from data centers to cement. media and alumina. The group now owns India's largest privatesector port and airport operator, city-gas distributor and coal miner. While its Carmichael mine in Australia has been criticized by environmentalists, it pledged in November to invest $70 billion in green energy to become the world's largest renewable-energy producer.

While his empire has expanded to one of the world's largest conglomerates fueling the remarkable gains in wealth, concerns have grown over the rapid growth. Adani's deals spree has been predominantly funded with debt and his empire is "deeply over-leveraged," CreditSights said in a report this month.

Some lawmakers and market watchers have also raised concerns over opaque shareholder structures and a lack of analyst coverage at Adani Group companies. Yet the shares have soared -- some of them more than 1,000% since 2020, with valuations hitting 750 times earnings -- as the tycoon focused on areas that Prime Minister Narendra Modi deems crucial to meeting India's long-term goals.

The pivot to green energy and infrastructure has won investments from firms including Warburg Pincus and TotalEnergies SE, helping Adani enter the echelons previously dominated by US tech moguls. The surge in coal in recent months has further turbocharged his ascent.

All told, Adani has added $60.9 billion to his fortune in 2022 alone, five times more than anyone else. He first overtook Ambani as the richest Asian in February, became a centibillionaire in April and surpassed Microsoft Corp.'s Bill Gates as the world's fourth-richest person last month.

Adani was able to move past some of the world's richest US billionaires partly because they've recently boosted their philanthropy. Gates said in July he was transferring $20 billion to the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, while Warren Buffett has already donated more than $35 billion to the charity.

Road safety: High performer tag for state

The Supreme Court Committee on Road Safety observes that even though the state is in the higher performer category, still a lot of improvement is required to be made

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, August 30: Odisha has been categorised as a 'high performer' state in implementation of road safety measures suggested by the Supreme Court Committee on Road Safety (SCCRS), officials said Tuesday

A team of consultants engaged by the committee visited the state for 15 days in June and conducted a detailed study to assess the implementation status of the road safety directions issued to the states. As per the compliance report shared by the team with plementing infrastructure. The panel observed that even though the state is in the higher performer category, there is still a lot of improvement required to be made. On-ground effectiveness also needs special focus in enforcing the rules and laws, equipment and infrastructure availability and functioning, it suggested. In the institutional category, which includes functioning of lead agency and utilisation of road safety fund, the agency has given 19 out of 25 to Odisha.

Similarly, the state has obtained 15.7 per cent out 25 per cent for enforcement and 14.4 per cent out of 25 per cent for engineering.

Likewise, it got 10.5 per cent out of 15 per cent in emergency care and 6.3 per cent out of 10 per cent in education score.

During the field visit, the road safety team observed various activities adopted by Odisha that can be considered as best practices and can be recommended to other states as well.

As per the guidelines issued by the SCCRS, the Transport department is working towards construction of truck terminals and comprehensive trauma care system plan. Soon, the command-and-control centre for CCTVs will be functional and the footage will be monitored continuously for issuing e-challans to the traffic violators, the STA officials said.

The frequency of enforcement drive has been increased and a consistent effort in this regard will help us in reducing road accidents in the state, they added.

cup of tea makes everything better. Tea can be part of a healthy diet and people who drink tea may even be a little more likely to live longer than those who don't, according to a large study.

Tea contains helpful substances known to reduce inflammation. Past studies in China and Japan, where green tea is popular, suggested health benefits.

The new study extends the good news to the UK's favourite drink: black tea. Scientists from the US National Cancer Institute asked about the tea habits of nearly half a million adults in the United Kingdom, then followed them for up to 14 years.

IMD blames weak monsoon for hot and humid weather

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Bhubaneswar, August 30: After spells of depression induced rains leading to floods in the state during the middle of August, Odisha is now witnessing hot and humid weather due to a weak monsoon, India Meteorological Department (IMD) said Tuesday.

As many as six towns have recorded maximum day temperature at 35 degree Celsius or above, the IMD said adding that Odisha is likely to experience scattered rain for the next 4 to 5 days due to the weak monsoon conditions

Chandbali in Bhadrak district recorded the highest temperature of 35.8 degree Celsius Monday followed by Boudh (35.5), Sambalpur (35.4), Bhawanipatna (35.2), Angul (35.1) and Cuttack (35). "The coastal region of the state will experience hot weather due to high temperature and humidity level," the IMD said. As the monsoon trough is likely to move north of its normal location, the influence is consequently likely to remain weak across the state for the next five days, it said. However, the weather office forecast light to moderate rainfall at some places across Odisha Tuesday.

The coating, which is clear and can be brushed or sprayed on, uses antimicrobial molecules derived from tea tree oil and cinnamon oil, both used for centuries as safe and effective germ killers that work in under two minutes, the researchers said

"Polyurethane is a safe and very commonly used coating. But we did do toxicity testing just to be sure, and we found that our particular combination of ingredients is even safer than many of today's antimicrobials," he added.

OTET QUESTION PAPER LEAK Action advised against 9 candidates

POST NEWS NETWORK

Malkangiri, August 30: A day after answer keys of the special Odisha Teacher Eligibility Test (OTET), went viral on social media platforms, the district administration recommended Tuesday disciplinary action against nine candidates on charges of malpractice during the examination. Among them, five candidates were caught adopting unfair means at the Malkangiri Science College while four were found cheating at the Government Girls' School in this town. The question papers and answer sheets of all the nine have been seized and sent to the Board of Secondary Education (BSE) office in Bhubaneswar. Strong action has been recommended against them.

The Special OTET examinations for both the categories (Paper I and II) of candidates were conducted by the BSE across the state Monday. However, the answer keys went viral on social media before the commencement of the tests in Malkangiri district.

The question papers were sent to three centres at Malkangiri around 6.30am from the strong room, but the answer keys went viral on social media platforms much before the commencement

Aspirants have demanded a high level probe and strong action against the persons involved in the leak and suggested that exams be held again with a new question paper of the examinations. The answers doing the rounds online were said to be of Set A questions. It turned out to be true as after the examinations, the viral answers to the questions were verified and they matched.

After reports appeared in various sections of the media, district education officer Manas Kumar Jena and the additional district magistrate (ADM) Maheswar Chandra Nayak jointly conducted a probe. When contacted, Jena said that the answer keys and question paper that had gone viral did not happen in Malkangiri. However, a probe is underway to unravel the truth, he added. The development has sparked resentment among the candidates. It was alleged that some of the aspirants had spent around ₹5,000 to get a copy of the question paper following which the answers went viral on social media platforms. Many have demanded a high level probe and stringent action against the persons involved in the leak of the question paper. They have also demanded that the examination be scrapped and held afresh with a new question paper.

a bribe of ₹15,000. The accused identified as Abhay Kumar Behera had demanded ₹60,000 for the release of arrear payments of a group of assistant teachers. Behera was caught red-handed when he was accepting ₹15,000, the first installment of the total amount. Acting on a complaint, Vigilance officials had laid a trap and caught Behera with the bribe money. The entire amount of ₹15,000 was recovered from him and seized. Searches are being conducted at three locations in Keonjhar and Jajpur, allegedly belonging to Behera.

Jharsuguda, August 30: Operations at the coal block acquired by Neyveli Lignite Corporation Limited (NLCL) at Malda panchayat in Jharsuguda district are facing a huge land hurdle. The company has initiated steps to acquire land for mining of coal. However, local people are opposing the plans of the company. They have demanded ₹1 crore as compensation for an acre of land.

With the project facing hurdle, the district administration tried to broker a truce between the company and those opposed to it by calling a meeting Monday at Malda. The meeting was presided over by district sub-collector Dayamay Padhi. Also present at the meeting were BDO Purnachandra Bhoi, tehsildar Basant Kumar Hati and Executive Director of NLCL Hemant Kumar and land acquisition officer P Mahesh. A delegation of locals including sarpanch Rinki Singh attended the meeting. They were told that land is being acquired under Coal Bearing Areas (Acquisition and Development) Act, 1957 and so they will have to cooperate with the company. However, the local delegation rejected the proposal and said that they will not allow operations to start unless their 18-point charter of demands is fulfilled.

It should be stated here that most of the people in the said panchayat belong to scheduled tribes and Dalit communities. They said that coal mining will rob them of their age-old livelihood of farming for ever. "All affected people should be given right amount of compensation, scope of employment, rehabilitation, free electricity and drinking water and ₹1 crore per acre of land," the delegation said

NGT stays tenders of 4 sand quarries on Budhabalanga river

POST NEWS NETWORK

Baripada, August 30: The National Green Tribunal (NGT) has termed the district survey report (DSR) on sand mining in Mavurbhanj district as 'illegal' and stayed the tender process of four sand quarries on Budhabalanga river, sources said Tuesday.

A bench comprising Justice B Amit Sthalekar and expert panelist Saibal Dasgupta of NGT passed the order Monday. The bench had completed hearing on the matter. August 26. The NGT also directed the state environment impact assessment authority (SEIAA) to review the authenticity of the report by taking into consideration the Supreme Court notification and its order on the survev report of Balasore district. It also put on stay the tender of four sand quarries on the basis of an affidavit filed by the district collector till the final disposal of this case.

The SEIAA in an affidavit filed before the NGT stated that the district administration has submitted a second survey report before it in the month of July during final hearing of the case, August 26. The committee will review the report and take action on it, the NGT bench said. The NGT passed the order on the basis of the first statement of the SEIAA.

According to the case diary, a report on minor mineral management was prepared in 2019. Terming the report as illegal, noted environmentalist-cum-honorary wildlife warden Bibekananda Pattanik filed a complaint before the National Green Tribunal. The NGT admitted the petition (Case no-46/22) for hearing and heard it April 22, 2022. During the hearing, it directed the Mayurbhanj district collector to file its reply by April 26. The petitioner alleged that the report prepared on minor mineral management is an interim one and the officials concerned have not visited the areas required to for the survey.

The petitioner in his plea said the area of the four sand quarries under Badasahi tehsil for which the tender was floated has been reduced by five hectares. However, in the report the area of the same quarries has been increased by five hectares. The presence of a bridge within the sand ghat has been overlooked. The report has been prepared whimsically taking the facts into consideration, the plea further stated. It also pointed out that the report has not been prepared by observing the guidelines framed on sand mining in 2016 and 2020.

FOCUS NATION

This world is a vast unbroken totality. a deep solidarity ioins its contrary powers. SRI AUROBINDO

Now Payback

The recent floods that Pakistan is facing have taken a huge toll on that country. One third of the country is submerged in water, over 1,000 people have so far been killed, 33 million or one-seventh of the country's population have been rendered homeless and more than 300,000 dwellings have been flattened. Crops on vast swathes of land are destroyed and a food crisis is looming large. Hunger, waterborne diseases and displacement of millions of people are the immediate consequences. In short, it is a humanitarian crisis of unimaginable proportions prompting international agencies to rush aid - monetary and material - to Pakistan. The spectacle of famished men, women and children trying to save their lives and find safe shelters is heartrending. All these are tell-tale signs of what catastrophe climate change can cause to the human race irrespective of the geographical frontiers within which people live. International experts, working on the impact of global warming and alerting the world with their findings for the past few years, have said that apart from monsoon rains, the melting of glaciers in the Himalayas is a major cause of the floods wreaking havoc on Pakistan. The country's climate change minister, Sherry Rehman, says the floods - "caused by melting glaciers and torrential monsoon" – are the worst in living memory. Vitally important agricultural land will take months to drain.

Closer home, deadly floods hit northeastern India and Bangladesh recently due to which over 9 million people have been affected and over 300 people have been killed. The states of Assam, Meghalaya, Arunachal Pradesh, Tripura have been badly affected. Orissa too has had its share of torrential rains and devastating floods this monsoon. The government of Orissa has disclosed statistics of flood damage in the state. According to the statistics, crops standing on a whopping 120,000 hectares of agricultural land have been damaged in 10 districts of Orissa. Assessment in other districts is in process.

On the other side of the border, the Pakistan government is pleading that developed nations responsible for global warming through greater emissions of greenhouse gases should bear the responsibility of the affected people of the country as Pakistan accounts for less than one per cent of global carbon emission. Pakistan has more glaciers -7,532-than anywhere on Earth outside the polar region. As such, it is one of the countries that is most endangered by use of fossil fuel, rise in temperatures and other extreme weather events that is caused by global warming and climate change.

Only a few months ago, a large body of climate change scientists mapping the extent of global warming through noxious fumes generated by fossil fuel reported that man-made climate change is responsible for the deadly heatwaves afflicting Pakistan and India, apart from the Western countries. Studies are also being conducted to quantify the precise contribution of greenhouse gases to this season's catastrophic monsoon. The reports are awaited. There is, however, no gainsaying that a man-made climate emergency is round the corner. The floods in Pakistan, like recent heatwave conditions, droughts and fires in many parts of the world, are to be seen in this light. That is why the tragedy in Pakistan is a concern for the entire global population.

Though the IMF and other global financial bodies are planning how best they can bail Pakistan out, the country's history of corruption and aid to terrorist outfits makes many donors hesitant about loosening their purse strings. Reports suggest efforts are on to provide the logistics for allowing movement of food from India to Pakistan at this hour of crisis

The COP26 summit last year coined a new term - climate finance - for providing monetary help to countries suffering from climate change. This form of aid is conceived not merely to handle usual natural disasters. Instead, it is a transfer of wealth built up over centuries of fossil fuel extraction for enabling a global transition away from carbon and towards a sustainable way of life. Developed countries which have benefitted from the natural resources and human labour of developing countries have to now face payback.

t is not a secret that the pharmaceutical sector, for all that it has achieved in India, has created rather than solved a sales and marketing problem by normalising the practice of offering "incentives" to doctors in return for prescriptions that help increase sales. Ask around in the industry and it is not difficult to discover that at the root of most marketing efforts is a rather wellperfected system of gratification to doctors and surgeons and associated entities in return for prescribing the drug brands, medical devices or treatment regimens that are pushed by health care companies. This is an ugly game in which almost no one in the chain that produces, delivers and prescribes drugs or devices comes out clean. A small set of players from the medical fraternity has stood up but it has proven difficult to stop a system that is now wellentrenched. Multinationals are known to play the game as much as Indian companies though the level of sophistication and design of reward systems for doctors in return for helping to grow a particular brand may vary. The system is no longer seen as inappropriate at a minimum though it actually is far worse – a vile and corrupt practice for which the ordinary Indian patient inevitably pays a steep price.

The way it works has been described in a writ petition filed in the Supreme Court by the Federation of Medical and Sales Representatives Associations of India (FMRAI) and others. The petition says upfront in its first para: "There are abundant examples that show how corruption in the pharmaceutical sector endangers positive health outcomes. Whether it is a pharma company directly bribing a doctor for prescribing its medicines irrationally and/or irrespective of a health need or providing an indirect advantage to a health care professional for the same reasons, it is the patient's health that is put at risk ... violations of this kind ... are progressively becoming more pervasive.

The hearing ear lier this month brought up the remarkable growth of Dolo, a paracetamol brand with a 650 mg dosage rather than the more commonly used 500 mg tablets. Sales of Dolo 650 rocketed during the COVID-19 pandemic. The manufacturer's website is full of laudatory media reports on the brand, one of which is headlined: "Dolo turned into a hit with the right dose of perception and prescription." Another one says: "How Micro Labs struck gold with Dolo-650 during COVID-19.' The company has denied that it pushed its prescriptions or changed dosage to evade price control.

At the core of the petition and the larger debate that is now emerging is whether businesses have done enough to self-regulate under "Uniform Code for the Pharmaceutical Marketing Practices (UCPMP), which dates to January 2015, and seeks to curb unethical practices by the pharma players. The code governs the conduct of medical representatives, ad promotions, samples, gifts, hospitality, travel vouchers or cash offered by pharma companies to health care professionals or their families. None of this is enforceable by law though.

It is interesting that the govstents were recently brought under the price control regime in the face of intense resistance by global manufacturers and Indian distributors was a remarkable example of the government standing up to powerful lobbies and special interest groups.

Yet, malpractices in marketing continue to work against the interests of patients, unfairly, even criminally, enriching pharma sector players and medical practitioners. This cannot help make the sector more professional or competitive globally. These ways of growing, accepted as they are as regular and routine, can only pull down the standing of India and open more questions on whether Indian companies can truly work to global standards in a sector that has inevitably been far more regulated than any other. A corrupt practice normalised and condoned by an entire nation is a signal to do more of the same. It is not an invitation to raise standards or to innovate or to build new strate gies to grow the market. The sector and the nation already face the more complex problem of fixed dose combinations (single dosages that are a cocktail of two or more approved active pharmaceutical ingredients) and a plethora of brand names – many of which sell combinations not required or not recommended or those banned in global markets. The situation may be already out of control here, at least in terms of branded generics. In 2021, the Competition Commission of India reported that "there were 47,478 brands associated with 2,871 formulations in the pharmaceuticals market in India during August 2019-July 2020, implying the presence of 17 brands on an average for every formulation."

Pushing for a strong law that stops companies from giving and doctors from taking incentives for prescriptions and sending the guilty to prison will turn out to be the best medicine for a sector that holds the promise of a bright future but is mired in some dark practices that it cannot be proud of.

A dictionary for self-motivated self-starters

WORDSWORTH

Bejuggle

S ince we moderns know juggle only to mean expertly tossing a number of things in the air and catching them, this antique word will puzzle us. That's because down the centuries jugglers have become more specialised. When the word came into English, getting on for nine centuries ago, it had the same sense as its French, Italian and Latin forebears: a jester, one who amuses through stories, songs, tricks and clowning. The Latin source was joculator, from joculari, to jest or joke. The first of these has bequeathed us joculator, a jester or minstrel, now obsolete; from the same source came the better-known jocular and jocund and their relatives. Over time jugglers became less and less general entertainers. They set aside their music and stories and became exclusively conjurors, in particular that sort who deceives his audience by legerdemain or sleight of hand. It was only at the beginning of the nineteenth century that they came exclusively to practice the specific type of manual dexterity that we now associate them with (as an historical note, later in the same century the first edition of the Oxford English Dictionary didn't include this sense of the verb juggle because the word hadn't yet acquired it). By the sixteenth century, the verb had developed the negative ideas of a man who deceived in earnest, not just for entertainment, who tricked or cheated another. The be- prefix was added to it in the seventeenth century to suggest that the process was happening thoroughly or excessively.

t's not uncommon these days, even though the word is still widely used, to find it spelled bellweather or even bellwhether. For example the Washington Times for 29 October 2006: "That's why we should have used some bellweather event like the signing of the Iraqi constitution, or the parliamentary elections as our moment to declare victory and exit stage left." There's some excuse for this, assuming a lack of prior knowledge and the absence of a dictionary, since the second part of the word is now rare in our urbanised existence. Wether is an old English word for a castrated ram. The experts think it comes from a prehistoric root meaning a year, perhaps because the ram concerned was a yearling; it's a relative of yeal, via the Latin vitulus, a calf. The shepherd used a wether as the leader of the flock, whom the rest would follow. To be sure to know exactly where he was, a bell was hung around his neck. So: bellwether. By the fifteenth century, it was being applied to people, as a contemptuous term for a leader whom only sheep would follow, especially one who possessed a loud mouth but little judgement. That was still in use centuries later, as you may tell from Francis Grose's Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue of 1811, in which the word is defined as "[t]he chief or leader of a mob". In more modern times - within the past century or so - it has moved sense to refer to things, rather than people, that lead or indicate a trend, such as the way we are likely to vote in an election. A bellwether security is one that predicts the way the stock market is moving. To blindly follow trends as though we were sheep, of course, merely returns us to the old meaning.

FINDING WORK ISN'T EASY. ESPECIALLY WHEN YOU HAVE TROUBLE UNDERSTANDING THE JOB ADS AND FIGURING OUT EXACTLY WHAT EMPLOYERS WANT

t any given time, more than a billion people around the world are unemployed. About a third of them are actively looking for jobs, another third are searching half-heartedly and the remaining third have resigned themselves to living with a rich relative. Or at least a relative who has a decent job and a fairly comfortable couch. Finding work isn't easy, especially when you have trouble understanding the job ads and figuring out exactly what employers want. Some want you to be a "selfstarter," as though you're a generator or something. Others expect you to list three references on your application, as though "dictionary" and "encyclopedia" aren't enough. A few want to pay you a salary that's "commensurate with your experience," as though you've had any experience at all with the word "commensurate.

To make things easier for job seekers, I've decided to create an "employment dictionary" that explains, from an employer's point of view, the various terms and phrases found in job ads. Some of the entries would look like this:

"Salary negotiable": We don't want to mention any salary here, just in case you're willing to work for less. Don't worry: We will pay you what we paid the previous person or what you expect to be paid, whichever is lower.

"Previous experience necessarv": We will not consider future experience. Please tell us only what you did in the past, not what you plan to do in the future. Nobody can predict the future, but we can certainly look into your past.

'Excellent P.C. skills required": We expect everyone in our office to be politically correct. You must not make fun of the Zambian man who says, "Sank God it's Fly-day," nor the Indian guy who warns everyone about "compooter wiresirs."

"Must be self-motivated": We prefer employees who can inspire themselves, including those who are inspired to take naps under the desk. The important thing is not to rely on the boss for motivation, but to possess self-esteem, self-confidence and a collection of selfhelp books.

"Exceptional communication skills needed": When we ask you if you've done any "bookkeeping," we don't want to hear about all those books you didn't return to the library. And when we ask you to "cc the human resources director," we don't want you to go and see the director twice.

'Come and join our winning team": We haven't won anything in our lives. By calling ourselves a "winning team." we're hoping to forget all our sports disappointments, including the last-place finish in the kindergarten egg-andspoon race.

"We offer a competitive benefits package": Our benefits package includes a free membership to a local gym, where you can be as competitive as you wish. Exercising regularly is a great form of health insurance.

"Energetic and enthusiastic individual needed": Your energy will be highly valued in our office, especially when we ask you to fetch the coffee. Your enthusiasm will come in handy too. We expect you to jump and scream when we give you the annual bonus: free fries at McDonald's

"You must have good organisational skills": We may ask you to organise the company picnic. But if our budget is skimpy, please do not organise any type of strike. Otherwise, you may have to organise a trip to the unemployment office

"Must have a can-do attitude": If we ask you to complete a task, please do not say, "No-can-do." You must approach the task as something that can be done, even if you have to say something like "can-dotomorrow" or "can-do-next-year."

"No phone calls please": We hired the president's niece as our receptionist. She's still trying to figure out how to answer the phone. We're trying to teach her the proper greeting: "Hold please." If you have any questions about our job openings, please consult Melvin's employment dictionary. Especially the section about nepotism.

Soren on sticky wicket

Sir, This refers to the editorial "Jharkhand Mess," Orissa POST, August 30. For acts of omission and commission the Chief Minister of Jharkhand Hemant Soren is on a sticky wicket. Some happenings reflect that his reign has not been able to depart from the trajectory undergone by his father Shibu Soren much earlier. The arrest of the three Congress MLAs while transporting huge illicit cash in West Bengal, the recent case of mining activities in his own name, some Public Interest Litigations (PILs) against him will strain the existing state government. It will be a sad state if the regional party's government in Jharkhand is out of power. The Opposition Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) will attempt everything to discredit the ruling party. What people-friendly measures have been taken by the Soren dispensation will be lost in the mud, the minus points will come to the surface and create political instability in the state, which has seen in 22 years 11 governments. Hemant must skillfully manage events and things with political aptitude. Today our political leaders of all colours should take lessons from leaders of the past who made service to people their mission. Baring a few, most present-day leaders are immersed in money-making and hence fail to earn the trust and confidence of the people.

Parthasarathy Sen, NEW DELHI

Fabulous Hardik

Sir, From being stretchered off the field at Dubai in the 2018 Asia Cup to returning with a matchwinning all-round performance at the same venue in the same tournament now, life has turned a full circle for Hardik Pandya. When he scalped three key wickets of Rajasthan Royals in the Indian Premier League (IPL) finals this year and set up a maiden title win for Gujarat Titans, there was little doubt that Hardik had returned to bowling at his best and at full tilt. In a similar fashion in the high-octane game against Pakistan the other day, he produced a feisty spell of fast bowling, picking three vital wickets, besides scoring an invaluable 33 not out off 17 balls to set up India's victory in a thriller to begin the team's Asia Cup 2022 campaign on a thumping note. Needless to say Hardik Pandya will be a vital cog in Team India's wheel of fortunes inthe upcoming T20 world cup. Ranganathan Sivakumar, CHENNAI

32 MLAs of ruling UPA in J'khand flown to Raipur

Jharkhand Chief Minister Hemant Soren with UPA MLAs leaves for Ranchi airport

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Raipur, August 30: As many 32 MLAs of the ruling UPA coalition in Jharkhand Tuesday arrived in Raipur by a chartered flight in a bid to thwart the BJP's possible attempt to poach them, and moved into a nearby resort. The United Progressive Alliance of the JMM, Congress and RJD in Jharkhand has 49 MLAs in the 81-member Assembly.

The flight carrying the MLAs took off from the Ranchi airport shortly after 4.30 pm and arrived at Swami Vivekananda Airport in Raipur, the capital of the Congress-ruled Chhattisgarh, around 5:30 pm. A total of 41 persons, including 32 MLAs, landed here and three buses took them from the airport to the Mayfair resort in Nava Raipur, 10 km away, said a local Congress leader. Jharkhand Chief Minister Hemant Soren did not accompany them, he added.

Chhattisgarh Congress leaders Ramgopal Agrawal and Girish Dewangan also travelled to the resort with the Jharkhand MLAs. The buses were escorted by pilot vehicles. Security was tightened around the resort and mediapersons were not allowed inside.

News channels showed a convoy of vehicles of VIPs and police entering the resort ahead of the arrival of the Jharkhand MLAs.

This is for the third time in the last one-and-a-half years that MLAs of Congress and its allies have been shifted to Raipur amid fears of poaching by the BJP. In June, fearing cross-voting in the Rajya Sabha election, the main opposition Congress in Haryana had shifted its MLAs to Raipur to protect them from alleged poaching bid. Candidates of the Bodoland Peoples Front (BPF), a member of the Congressled grand alliance during the last year's Assam Assembly polls, were brought to Raipur in April 2021 ahead of counting of votes. Jharkhand Chief Minister Soren's Jharkhand Mukti Morcha (JMM) believes that the BJP may make a serious attempt to poach MLAs from the party and also from the ally Congress in a bid to topple the government in a manner similar to Maharashtra and there is a need to ringfence the legislators in a safe haven. Following a petition by the BJP seeking Soren's disqualification from the Assembly in an office of profit case, the Election Commission sent its decision to state Governor Ramesh Bais August 25. Though the EC's decision has not yet been made official, there is a buzz that the poll panel has recommended the chief minister's disqualification as an MLA. In a joint statement August 28, UPA constituents had accused the governor of encouraging political horse-trading by "deliberately delaying" announcing the decision. A meeting of the Jharkhand cabinet is scheduled on September 1 at 4 pm. The JMM, the largest party, has 30 MLAs, the Congress 18 legislators, and the RJD one. The main opposition BJP has 26 MLAs in the House.

SC closes contempt proceedings

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 30: The Supreme Court Tuesday closed the contempt proceedings, arising out of the demolition of Babri Masjid at Ayodhya in 1992, against the state of Uttar Pradesh and others.

A bench headed by Justice S K Kaul said the issue does not survive now and referred to the November 2019 verdict of a constitution bench. A five-judge constitution bench of the apex court had on November 9, 2019, cleared the way for the construction of a Ram Temple at the disputed site at Ayodhya and directed the Centre to allot a five-acre plot to the Sunni Waqf Board for building a mosque.

While closing the contempt proceedings, the bench observed that the matter ought to have come up for hearing earlier.

The counsel appearing for the petitioner told the bench, also comprising Justices A S Oka and Vikram Nath, that the contempt plea was pending for a long and the petitioner had died in 2010. "I appreciate the fact that the matter ought to have come up earlier," Justice Kaul said.

The counsel appearing for the petitioner said the order passed by the apex court in 1992 was violated and after that, the contempt petition was filed. He said nearly 30 years have gone by and the petitioner had filed several applications for listing of the matter. "I appreciate your concern.

But, now nothing survives in this matter," Justice Kaul observed, adding, "You cannot keep whipping a dead horse.'

The bench said it was unfortunate that the matter was not taken up. "We are making an endeavour to take up old matters. Some may survive, and some may not survive.... Now, you have a full verdict delivered by a larger bench," it said.

The bench noted in its order that the petitioner has passed away and the issue has been settled by a constitution bench in November 2019. "Be that as it may, the lis really does not survive for consideration,' the bench said, adding, "The contempt proceedings are closed". The 16th-century Babri mosque, built by the Mughal empire's founder Babur, was destroyed December 6, 1992.

New Delhi, August 30: After hearing intense arguments, the Supreme Court Tuesday told the Karnataka government to maintain the status quo at the Idgah Maidan in Bengaluru's Chamarajpet, adding that Ganesh Chaturthi puja can be held somewhere else, instead. A bench of Justices Indira Banerjee, Abhay S. Oka, and M.M. Sundresh said: "The writ petition is pending before the Banerjee. The bench orally told Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, representing the Karnataka government, "You have the puja somewhere else. And go back to the high court.' The Karnataka Waqf Board argued before the top court that such religious festivals have not been held at the place "for 200 years". The petitions were filed by The Central Muslim Association of Karnataka and the Karnataka State Board of Augaf against the Karnataka government and others.

At the root of the matter was a major question: who owns the ground, the state government or the Waqf Board? Mehta said the revenue officer said that this land continued to be of the ownership of the state government. Senior advocates Kapil Sibal and Dushyant Dave, representing the petitioners, opposed this submission.

Jaipur student builds shipping container home for homeless

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Jaipur, August 30: Aarav Gandhi (17), a 12th standard student in a Jaipur school, has conceptualised 'Project Gharana' and built a fullyfunctional shipping container home as a prototype for affordable housing for the homeless people.

He envisages to build 100 shipping container homes to help rehabilitate over 500 homeless citizens in an affordable and sustainable community. These homes can help eliminate the societal problem of homelessness and adopt environment-friendly practices, such as responsible disposal of waste and use of recycled materials in construction.

Presently, Aarav is looking for partnerships to build more shipping container homes and realise his dream of 'Project Gharana'. "From a young age, I have had a strong affinity for architecture and construction, which allowed

Kolkata grapples with short supply of fresh fish

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Kolkata, August 29: Exports to Bangladesh and online sales have led to a drop in supply and spiralling of prices of quality freshwater fish in Kolkata markets.

Katla (a large carp), weighing over 5 kg that the Bengali desires for his fish kalia, has all but disappeared from markets. All that are available are 3-4 kg fish from local ponds or 'bheris'. Fish from 'bheris' are cultivated and have no taste, says Suvendu Mukherjee, a fish-lover who has been following this trend. "Till a couple of years ago, we would get Katla weighing 12-14 kg. These used to be the wild variety found in canals and near dams in states like Chhattisgarh and Madhya Pradesh. These fish would be caught there and transported to ends. Nowadays, anything weighing above 5 kg is picked up, packed in ice and transported to Bangladesh. Even the Aar or Singhara (a catfish loved by Bengalis and Punjabis alike) is in short supply. Anything above 1.5 kg is being exported. We are left with the smaller fish that we have to sell for ₹1,000-1,200 a kg. The customers aren't happy," he says. India is the largest exporter of fresh water fish (chilled) to Bangladesh. As it is, there is a shortage of quality fish in West Bengal. Though the state tops the country in fish production, it consumes much more and has to be supplied by fish farms in Andhra Pradesh and other southern states. However, the connoisseurs aren't

"He has given a fiery speech here. Who can say that he and his wife will not receive a central agency notice tomorrow. This time if they summon him and his wife, I will ask them to take their twoyear-old kid along with them to the agency office," she added.

Reacting to the development, Trinamool Congress member Santanu Sen said that the Chief Minister's apprehension on this count was correct.

"It is the height of political vendetta, where the Union government and BJP are shamelessly using Central agencies," Sen said. CPI(M) central committee member, Sujan Chakraborty said that Mamata Banerjee knows about the inevitable fate of her as well as her nephew and hence she expressed her apprehension. Senior BJP leader Rahul Sinha said that the Central agency probe in the matter is taking place following the directive of the court and hence it is a futile exercise to give this summon a political colour.

Durga idol makers getting good orders from abroad

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Kolkata, August 30: A robust order flow from foreign countries after two back-to-back slack seasons due to the Covid-19 pandemic is making creators of Durga idols in Kolkata happy, though the bookings are yet to reach the pre-coronavirus levels.

The overseas orders increased three times compared to last year and 12 times the 2020 figure, a spokesperson of a key organisation of artisans in Kumartuli, the clay modellers' colony in north Kolkata, said.

"Around 60 idols are going abroad this year. The number was not more than 20 in 2021 and five in the previous year," Kumartuli Mritshilpi Samity spokesperson Kartik Pal said. While some idols have already been sent, others will be dispatched soon as the festival begins at the end of September. However, around 100 idols were "Already 12 idols - including five to the US, three to the UK and one each to Uganda and Italy-have been shipped. Two others are destined to be dispatched to Japan and Switzerland by September 4-5," he said. To a question, he said the price of an idol sent abroad starts from ₹one lakh in Indian currency and it rises depending on the height and materials used. Mintu Pal said the "good news" is he is sending idols to two new destinations -Uganda and Switzerland – and he hopes that the momentum will increase from next year's Durga Puja.

'Palace on Wheels' to Cattle fairs take a hit as lumpy skin disease rears its ugly head operate on O&M model

The infected animal stops eating, and the milk production comes down. In severe cases, they die after suffering from pneumonia and difficulty in breathing. Separating the infected animals from the healthy ones is the only way to check the spread

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Hanumangarh (Rajasthan), August 30: For the third consecutive year, Roop Singh Rathod from Barmer has to worry about how to sell his cattle. Rajasthan's famous cattle fairs bring around ₹80 crore in business to rearers. But it will fall silent this year as well - this time due to the lumpy skin disease (LSD).

The cattle-rearing business was slowly limping back to normal after the pandemic-weary days, but the new viral infection cast a shadow on the fair schedules. The LSD has already hit 15 districts of the state, leading to the Rajasthan government prohibiting the organisation of cattle fairs, until further notice.

"The competitive prices we used to get at the fairs were double of what we could manage at home. During the Covid-19 days, a local trader offered me just Rs 25,000 for a cow, which I could have easily sold for ₹40,000 at the Tilwara fair. Similarly, for a Sindhi racer horse, I was offered ₹50,000. I sold it for ₹one lakh at Tilwara, though I had to wait for two years," says Rathod, who hails from Khara village.

Hanumangarh's famous Gogomedi cattle fair, scheduled for August 11, is postponed indefinitely, as is the case of Parbatsar's Shri Veer Tejaji fair. Even the Nagar Palika, Nagar Parishad and panchayat level fairs are not happening. Backbone of rural economy

More than 250 fairs are organised across the state in a year. The high volume of people participating in them ensures that the cattle rearers get a fair price for their livestock and traders get supreme quality animals. Cattle rearers from nearby states also visit, thus promoting cultural relations and state economy. These fairs also stand as a testimony to the rich history and culture of Rajasthan. Queues of colourfully-decorated animals, the smell of firewood, sounds of folk songs and the tinkling of ghungroo bells are common features of these largescale events, which are organised by the Animal Husbandry Department to foster business between cattle traders and rearers. Some say the first cattle fair was organised in the region nearly 700 years ago! Not simply an event of cultural importance, the cattle fairs also spur the local economy, in addition to bringing national and international tourists. Transporters, ornament makers, food vendors, craftspeople and other small businesses rely on these fairs.

Double trouble

"Local traders will never quote good prices for our animals. We have been suffering huge losses in the last two years," says Chetram, a cattle rearer from Hanumangarh's Rampura village. Cut from their main source of income, the rearers are forced to stretch their already tight budgets to spend on fodder. Added to this is the risk of losing their animals to LSD. "During the Covid-19 days, at least our animals were healthy and the only loss was of business. Now, we are losing our livestock, and also our source of income, laments Shankar Singh, a cattle rearer from Sangriya. LSD is a contagious infection that affects cattle with lower immunity. The infected animal develops fever, hypersalivation and nasal discharge, followed by the formation of nodes that look like lumps on the skin. The head, neck and udder are among the spots where these eruptions are most visible.

The infected animal stops eating, and the milk production comes down. In severe cases, they die after suffering from pneumonia and difficulty in breathing. Separating the infected animals from the healthy ones is the only way to check the spread.

"As of now, the disease has affected about six lakh animals in the state, killing nearly 25,000 of them. The situation is serious," informs Arvind Jaitly, Deputy Director (Disease Control), Animal Husbandry Department.

"We organise fairs in different locations all through the year, as it serves the interests of both rearers and traders. The department also earns during these fairs. But with the present level of spread of the LSD, stopping of fairs for a while is an imperative," he adds.

According to a news report, the figures in other states have been soaring too -- 74,325 cattle in Punjab, 58,546 in Gujarat, 6,385 in Jammu and Kashmir, 1,300 in Uttarakhand, 532 in Himachal Pradesh and 260 in Andaman and Nicobar Islands have been affected by the LSD.

Milk supply, subsidiary activities hit The cattle population in Rajasthan is already on the way down. According to the Animal Husbandry Department, the cattle population in the state came down from ₹5.77 crore in 2012 to ₹5.68 crore in 2019 - a drop of 1.61 per cent in seven years.

Rajasthan is also the second highest milk-producing state in the country -- at 187.7 million metric tonne. In India, the per capita availability of milk is 394 gm, while it is 870 gm in Rajasthan. With the spread of LSD, the production of both milk and dairy items has come down. If the situation persists, milk production is expected to drop further. Even the subsidiary activities have been affected. Mangilal Gusai, who sells trinkets for decorating animals, says, "Cattle fairs are our only source of income. As they stand postponed, we don't know what to do.' Gusai's family of seven works out of their home, readying the ornaments during the monsoon season - June to September: "We took a loan to buy raw materials. We have products worth ₹four lakh lying at home, with no place to sell them.

Even the Tourism Department is taking the hit, as it works in conjunction with the Animal Husbandry Department to organise events like the Pushkar Fair, a highly-desired travel experience for a tourist. "The cattle fairs offer a glimpse into the local culture and rural lifestyle of Rajasthan. The trade, competitions and cultural events happening at the fairs draw huge crowds," says Bikaner Krishan Kumar. Assistant Director. Tourism Department.

The ownership of the train will remain with the Rajasthan Tourism Development Corporation and its operation is proposed from October, confirmed officials. Now the train will run on an operation and maintenance model (O&M) under the Bharat Gaurav Train Policy' of Indian Railways from the year 2022-23.

Moosewala killing: One of key conspirators held in Azerbaijan

Chandigarh: One of the key conspirators of Punjabi singer Sidhu Moosewala's sensational killing, Sachin Thapan Bishnoi, who fled India before the crime on a fake passport, has been arrested in Azerbaijan, Punjab Police officials said Tuesday. The location of another plotter, Anmol Bishnoi, has also been traced to Kenya. The Bishnois had fled India before the daylight killing of Moosewala on May 29 in the Moosa village in Mansa district. It is believed that Sachin, a nephew of jailed gangster Lawrence Bishnoi, and Brar hatched the conspiracy to kill the famed Punjabi singer. According to the police, Sachin and Anmol hired shooters and provided them legalistic support, besides arms and ammunition. The other two gangsters involved in the killing and hiding abroad are Goldy Brar and Lipin Nehra. The Interpol has earlier issued a red-corner notice against Goldy Brar who claimed responsibility for Moosewala's killing.

50 Dalit families driven out of village PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Medininagar, August 30: About 50 Dalit families were allegedly driven out of a village, where they were living in for the last four decades, by members of a particular community in Jharkhand's Palamu district, police said Tuesday

On receiving the information, Sub-Divisional Officer (SDO), Medininagar, Rajesh Kumar Sah, and Sub-Divisional Police Officer (SDPO), Bishrampur, Suriit Kumar rushed to Tongri Pahadi area, 1 km from Murumatu village, and were camping there to maintain law and order, the police said.

A criminal case was lodged against 12 named people and 150 others in this regard, they said.

Meanwhile, taking cognisance of the incident, Jharkhand Governor Ramesh Bais has expressed concern over the incident.

The governor has sought a detailed report from the Deputy Commissioner, Palamu, A Dodde within two days, a statement from the Raj Bhavan said. Dodde told PTI that the police have been asked to apprehend the culprits immediately. The DC assured all 50 families of rehabilitation in the same village on a priority basis.

The relief agencies have been activated for the purpose. Dode added. The victims all belonged to the 'Mushar" caste and were living in the village for the last four decades. One of the victims, Jitendra Mushar, said "We were living in the village for years together but several people, all residents of Marumatu village, forcibly drove us out of the village on Monday. They loaded our belongings in vehicles and dropped us in a nearby jungle." He alleged that they were also assaulted and prevented from approaching the police in this regard.

Azad loyalists continue to resign from Congress

AZAD, 73, FORMER CHIEF MINISTER OF JAMMU AND KASHMIR, ENDED HIS FIVE-DECADE ASSOCIATION WITH THE CONGRESS FRIDAY, TERMING THE PARTY "COMPREHENSIVELY DESTROYED" AND LASHING OUT AT RAHUL GANDHI FOR "DEMOLISHING" ITS ENTIRE CONSULTATIVE MECHANISM

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Jammu, August 30: As many as 64 senior Congress leaders, including former deputy chief minister Tara Chand, resigned from the party in support of Ghulam Nabi Azad here Tuesday, asserting that Azad's vision will shape a new and bright future for Jammu and Kashmir.

They submitted a joint resignation letter to Congress president Sonia Gandhi

Chand along with others, including former ministers Abdul Majid Wani, Manohar Lal Sharma, Gharu Ram and former MLA Balwan Singh, announced their resignations from the Congress, at a press conference.

"Owing to the circumstances and the leadership crisis in Congress party, where a coterie surrounding party high command is calling shots in the most irresponsible manner and ruining the party. "All of us had a very long association with the party spanning over decades and devoted all our energy and resources towards expanding the party in Jammu and Kashmir but unfortunately we found that the treatment meted out to us was humiliating," Balwan Singh said, reading out from the joint resignation letter signed by 64 leaders and senior functionaries from across Jammu province. The letter further said "with our leader and mentor Ghulam Nabi Azad having resigned from the party on the issue listed by him in a letter to you (Sonia), we believe that we should also come out of Congress to make some worthwhile contribution in building a positive political society where people are heard and responded too.

Azad will soon launch a nationallevel party from Jammu and Kashmir. "We all support Azad and we will join him in his journey to lead J&K to a bright future," they said in the resignation letter.

Claiming that Jammu and Kashmir is facing an unprecedented crisis in the absence of an elected government, Balwan Singh said Azad's decision to launch a national level party from here will inspire hope and new determination to set things right once and for all. "We are confident that J&K will be able to get statehood back after a gap of three years under the leadership of Azad. He is the sole and most powerful voice for statehood of J&K and early elections," he said.

Singh said Azad is a perennial hope for the people of J&K for bridging gaps between regions and communities.

"We are sure that his (Azad's) vision will help J&K and its depressed masses to come out of the dark shadows of pessimism and shape a new and bright future for J&K," he said.

Over a dozen prominent Congress leaders, including former ministers and legislators, besides hundreds of Panchayati Raj Institution (PRI) members, municipal corporators and district and block level leaders have already left the Congress to join Azad over the past four days.

CBI given me 'clean chit', says Sisodia

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Ghaziabad, August 30: The CBI has given a "clean chit", Delhi Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia said on Tuesday after a team of the probe agency searched his bank locker for about two hours.

Sisodia and his wife were present as the four-member team, including a woman officer, conducted the search at a Punjab National Bank branch in Vasundhara, Ghaziabad, on the outskirts of the national capital.

The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) leader is among the 15 people and entities named in an FIR registered by the agency in connection with alleged irregularities in the implementation of the Delhi government's Excise Policy 2021-22.

The CBI was acting under pressure, Sisodia told reporters after the search was over

The Delhi deputy Chief Minister said he was happy "the Prime Minister got my house searched but could not find anything".

'Today, he sent the CBI to get my locker searched but could not find anything. This is the proof that I and my family have come out clean in all the inquiries done by the Prime Minister. I have got a clean chit in all the probes done by the prime minister and not a single penny of questionable nature has been detected. I have full faith in my truth," Sisodia said. He said all the CBI officers were cordial

"We also cooperated. Unofficially they (CBI) admit that there is nothing questionable but they are also under some sort of pressure to find something so that I can be put in jail for two to three

"There is pressure from the prime minister to put me behind bars for two to three months... Truth shall triumph," a smiling Sisodia said.

In the morning, camera crews jostled with each other and curious crowds gathered as the Sisodias as well as CBI the team arrived at the bank.

On August 19, the federal probe agency raided 31 locations, including Sisodia's residence, over alleged irregularities in the implementation of the Delhi government's Excise Policy 2021-22.

6 mn Afghans at risk of famine: UN

Kabul: A top UN official has warned that 6 million Afghans are at risk of famine as the war-torn country continues to face extreme hardship and uncertainty under the Taliban regime. UN humanitarian chief Martin Griffiths made the remarksat a UN Security Council meeting on the humanitarian situation in Afghanistan, reports dpa news agency. More than half of the country's population needs humanitarian assistance, Griffiths said. With the Taliban's return to power on August 2021, the country's situation has further deteriorated. Unemployment and extreme poverty have forced tens of thousands of Afghans to flee their country.

Kyiv, August 30: A surge in fighting on the southern front line and a Ukrainian claim of new attacks on Russian positions fed speculation Tuesday that a long-expected counteroffensive to try to turn the tide of war has started.

Officials in Kyiv, though, warned against excessive optimism in a war that has seen similar expectations of changing fortunes before. Even though independent verification of battlefield moves has been extremely tough, the British defence ministry said in intelligence report that, as of early Monday, "several brigades of the Ukrainian Armed Forces increased the weight of artillery fires in front line sectors across southern Ukraine".

Attention centred on potential damage Ukraine might have inflicted on Russian positions around the port city of Kherson, a major economic hub close to the Black Sea and one of Moscow's prized possessions since it started the invasion just over half a year ago.

Ukraine's presidential office reported Tuesday that "powerful explosions continued during the day and night in the Kherson region. Tough battles are ongoing practically across all" of the strategic area. Ukrainian forces, the report said, have destroyed a number of ammunition depots in the region and all large bridges across the Dnieper that is vital to bring sup-

Kherson region with artillery fire. The most important thing is Ukrainian artillery's work on the bridges, which the Russian military can no longer use," Ukrainian independent military analyst Oleh Zhdanov said. "Even the barges have been destroyed. The Russians can't sustain forces near Kherson

- this is the most important." Monday, the southern command centre's Nataliya Gumenyuik told Ukrainian news outlet Liga.Net that Kyiv's forces have launched offensive operations "in many directions in our area of responsibility and have breached the enemy's first line of defense." The statement quickly made headlines after weeks of reports that Ukraine forces were preparing an offensive there and as Ukrainian attacks on the Kherson region intensified.

Zhdanov said that Russia has three lines of defence in the Kherson region, and breaching the first one signals only "isolated offensive actions by the Ukrainian army".

The war has ground to a stalemate over the past months with casualties rising and the local population bearing the brunt of suffering during relentless shelling in the east and also in the wider area around the Russian-occupied Zaporizhzhia atomic power plant which has also been at the heart of fighting in Ukraine.

SL Prez asks parties to join unity govt

President Ranil Wickremesinghe Tuesday appealed to all political parties to join an all-party government to tackle the island nation's worst-ever economic crisis and prevent "strong economies" from using it as a "tool of interference," days after India and China clashed verbally over the docking of a hightech Chinese ship at a strategic port in this country.

Wickremesinghe's remarks came as he presented the interim budget for 2022 in Parliament in his capacity as the minister of finance."We can no longer be a nation dependent on loan assistance. We can also no longer be used as a tool of interference by other countries with strong economies," Wickremesinghe said without naming any country. However, his remarks came days after the Chinese embassy and the Indian High Commission here clashed verbally over the docking of 'Yuan Wang 5' at Sri Lanka's southern Hambantota port. "All this can be achieved, only if we work together in unity with common consent. I reiterate the invitation to all the parties represented in this Parliament to join an all-party government. Since this unprecedented situation is the responsibility of us all, and therefore need to prioritise the necessities of the country," he said.

Iraqi cleric Sadr calls off protests

REUTERS

Baghdad, August 30: Iraq's powerful cleric Moqtada al-Sadr ordered his followers to end their protests in central Baghdad Tuesday, easing a confrontation which led to the deadliest violence in the Iraqi capital in years.

Apologising to Iraqis after 22 people were killed in clashes between an armed group loyal to him and rival Shi'ite Muslim factions backed by Iran, Sadr condemned the fighting and gave his own followers one hour to disperse.

"This is not a revolution because it has lost its peaceful character,' Sadr, a former anti-U.S. insurgent leader, said in a televised address. "The spilling of Iraqi blood is forbidden." As the deadline passed at around 2 p.m. (1100 GMT), Sadr's followers could be seen beginning to leave the area in the fortified Green Zone in central Baghdad where government offices are located and where they had occupied parliament for weeks.

Violence erupted after

Sadr announced

from politics

Monday's clashes between rival factions of Iraq's Shi'ite Muslim majority follow 10 months of political deadlock since Iraq's October parliamentary election, which have raised fears of escalating unrest.

Sadr emerged as the main winner in the election but failed in his efforts to form a government with Sunni Muslim Arab and Kurdish parties, excluding the Iran-backed Shi'ite groups. This week's violence erupted after Sadr said he was withdrawing from all political activity - a decision he said was in response to the failure of other Shi'ite leaders and parties to reform a corrupt and decaying governing system.

Meanwhile, the Iraqi military declared an open-ended nationwide curfew Monday and urged the protesters to leave the Green Zone. But an Iraqi government official, speaking on condition of anonymity shortly before Sadr's call to end the protests, said authorities could not impose control on the rival armed groups.

Ship beached after collision

Madrid: Gibraltar authorities said Tuesday that a cargo ship has been beached to prevent it from sinking after it collided with a liquefied natural gas carrier in the Bay of Gibraltar. The government said booms had been placed in the area to contain any possible fuel seepage. No one was injured in the collision. Islamabad, August 30: Grappling with unprecedented floods, the cash-strapped Pakistan government on Tuesday teamed up with the United Nations to issue a flash appeal for USD 160 million to deal with the disaster that has displaced over 33 million people in the country that has become the "ground zero" of global warming.

The country-wide death toll has touched 1,136 as of Monday, with over 1,634 injured and 33 million displaced, according to the latest data issued by the National Disaster Management Authority, the chief national body tasked to deal with calamities.

Pakistan's Interior Minister Ahsan Iqbal said Tuesday that the country would need more than USD 10 billion to rebuild the infrastructure devastated by the raging floods, which roughly translates to 3 per cent of the country's GDP.

During a meeting chaired by Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif on Monday, it was decided to form a National Flood Response and Coordination Centre to provide proper institutional response to the calamity, which will comprise federal ministers, representatives of armed forces, chief ministers and experts.

'The Centre will serve as a bridge between disaster management authorities, donors and government institutions. It will collect and analyse latest information and pass it on to the relevant government agencies. It will also oversee rescue and relief work including restoration of infrastructure," the PM Office tweeted after the meeting.

Meanwhile, the Pakistan government and the United Nations jointly issued a flash appeal for USD 160 million to help the country deal with the catastrophic floods."Pakistan is awash in suffering," UN Secretary General Antonio Guterres said in a video message. "The Pakistani people are facing a monsoon on steroids - the relentless impact of epochal levels of rain and flooding.

He said the funds will provide 5.2 million people with food, water, sanitation, emergency education, protection and health support. Foreign Minister Bilawal Bhutto-Zardari urged the global community to extend support to Pakistan.

The trial, and his prolonged detention. has further strained relations between Israel and humanitarian organizations that provide aid to Palestinians

The sentence is likely to continue to affect those ties.

The trial sheds light on the way Israel's legal system handles sensitive security cases, with the defense team given only limited access to evidence, which was also not made public. Critics say the courts too often side with the evidence brought forward by Israel's security establishment. "It's inconceivable," el-Halabi's lawyer, Maher Hanna, said of the length of the sentence. "They insist that injustice will persist throughout the whole process.'

GRIM SITUATION

CHINA HAS EMPLOYED SOME OF THE WORLD'S HARSHEST AND MOST FREQUENT LOCKDOWN MEASURES IN ITS DETERMINATION TO STAMP OUT EVERY COVID OUTBREAK, ARGUING IT SAVES LIVES

REUTERS Hong Kong, August 30: Zhang Meng had a breakdown last December. The 20-year-old found herself sobbing on the stairs of her dorm, driven to despair by re-versity campus in Beijing.

The lockdowns had meant she was mostly confined to her room and unable to meet up with friends. There were also strict curbs on when she could visit the canteen or take a shower. Describing herself as someone who craves in-person social interaction, Zhang said the restrictions had "removed the safety net that was holding me up and I felt like my whole being was falling down". That month, she was diagnosed with major depression and anxiety. Yao, also 20 and who asked that his first name not be used, had his first breakdown in high school where he was a boarder, unable to understand why lockdown policies were so tough. He said that one day he had to take refuge in a school toilet, crying so hard "it felt like my insides were crying." In early 2021 while at university in Beijing, unable to shake that depression and also unhappy he had not taken the courses he wanted to for fear of upsetting his father, Yao attempted suicide.

China has employed some of the world's harshest and most frequent lockdown measures in its determination to stamp out every COVID outbreak, arguing it saves lives and pointing to its low pandemic toll of around 5,200 to date.

It's an effort it has shown little sign of abandoning, but the policy's impact on mental health alarms medical experts and as Zhang's and Yao's experiences have shown, it is already taking its toll.

'China's lockdowns have had a huge human cost with the shadow of mental-ill health adversely affecting China's culture and economy for years to come," argues a June editorial in the British medical journal the Lancet.

In particular, experts fear for the mental health of teenagers and young adults, more vulnerable because of their age and lack of control over their lives, and who have to contend with far greater education stresses and economic pressures than earlier generations.

The number of young people affected is potentially huge. Some 220 million Chinese children and young people have been confined for prolonged periods due to COVID restrictions, the Education Ministry estimated in 2020. It did not respond to a Reuters request for an updated figure and comment on the topic.

Kids under pressure

The COVID curbs have sometimes forced young people into extreme situations. During Shanghai's two-month draconian lockdown this year, for instance, some 15 to 18year-olds had to isolate by themselves at hotels as they were not allowed to return home. "They had to cook for themselves and didn't have people to talk to so it was actually very hard for them," said Frank Feng, deputy principal at Lucton, an international school in Shanghai, said. Around 20% of Chinese junior and senior high school students learning remotely during lock-downs have experienced suicidal ideation, according to a survey.

RBI launches key surveys to get inputs for monetary policy

AGENCIES

Mumbai, August 30: Reserve Bank of India Tuesday launched the next round of household survevs to capture inflation expectations and consumer confidence.

The results of the survey provide useful inputs for monetary policy, the central bank said.

The September 2022 round of Inflation Expectations Survey of Households (IESH) aims at capturing subjective assessments on price movements and inflation, based on their individual consumption baskets, across 19 cities. The IESH seeks qualitative responses from households on price changes in the three months ahead as well as in the one-year ahead period and quantitative responses on current, three months ahead and one year ahead inflation rates.

The households to be covered under the survey in the cities include Ahmedabad, Bhubaneswar, Chennai, Delhi, Guwahati, Jammu, Kolkata, and Thiruvananthapuram. Consumer Confidence Survey (CCS) to be conducted in 19 cities seeks qualitative responses from households.

Rupee marks biggest gain in a year on strong foreign inflows

REUTERS

Mumbai, August 30: The Indian rupee notched its biggest one-day gain in a year Tuesday against a wobbly dollar as local equities saw a rush of foreign investor inflows. The partially convertible rupee surged 0.6% to 79.45 in its best session since Aug. 27, 2021. The currency had hit a record low of 80.12 Monday, but closed at 79.9625.

India's Nifty 50 stock index soared 2.7% as investors returned to buy the dips after a recent selloff. Overall, local equities have seen foreign investor inflows of about $6 billion in August, the highest since December 2020.

August also marked the first month this year when overseas investors turned net buvers of India's government debt. On the day, yield on the 10-year paper dropped 6 basis points to 7.1893%

HSBC analysts became more optimistic about the rupee, citing a pullback in commodity prices and return of inflows supporting the currency, in addition to support from the country's central bank.

"While we think the USD/INR pair can still rise further, we see scope for the rupee to outperform some other "deficit" peers temporarily," they wrote in a note.

The rupee's strength Tuesday comes after the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) stepped in to prevent the currency from trading under 80 per dollar in the previous session, traders had told Reuters.

The dollar index losing steam ahead of U.S. jobs data also lifted market sentiment

However, with the Federal Reserve determined to keep interest rates higher for longer, even as recession looms in the world's biggest economy, it could boost near-term volatility, analysts warned.

EVs on Indian roads to touch 5 crore by 2030, says KPMG

This presents an enormous opportunity for players in the EV charging ecosystem. "Currently, only about 1,700 public charging stations are operational across the country which is inadequate to support the EV growth," the report added.

There has been a strong government push to improve penetration of charging networks and increasing interest from public and private players, which is likely to bring in the much-required investments in this space, it said.

The charging infrastructure market is slated for an exponential growth with a mix of factors expected to determine the volumes and type of charging solutions required.

In terms of growth potential in the charging business, the KPMG report said in the two-wheeler segment a 15-20 per cent growth is expected by 2025, which is slated to rise even further to 50-60 per cent by 2030.

ber of electric vehicles on Indian roads As for personal passenger vehicles, senting an enormous opportunity for by 2025 the charging business is expected to grow by 8-10 per cent and 35-40 per cent by 2030, while in four-wheeler commercial vehicles, the growth is to be likely at 15-20 per cent by 2025 and 60-65 per cent by 2030. For electric bus charging, the report said the expected growth is 10-12 per cent by 2025 and 45-50 per cent by 2030. The same for three-wheelers is 45-50 per cent by 2025 and 90-95 per cent by 2030, the report added. It, however, pointed out that India's charging infrastructure demands are unique, considering that the vehicle mix is dominated by two-wheelers and three-wheelers, as opposed to advanced countries where four-wheelers is the dominant segment. In the short-term, the report said home/workplace and fleet charging solutions show maximum potential with a shift to take place to public charging as the market matures in future.

A large increase in electric vehicles (EV) sales is anticipated in India due to favourable factors on demand, supply and regulatory front despite a low penetration level of about 1 per cent currently, KPMG said in its report -- Electric vehicle charging - the next big opportunity.

According to the report, India's electric mobility story is rapidly evolving, with EVs gradually entering the mainstream, resulting in a three-fold rise in EV sales over the last fiscal year. The growth is currently being led by twowheeler (2W), three-wheeler (3W), and bus segments.

"As of March 2022, the number of EVs on Indian roads had surpassed one million. This number is likely to grow to 45-50 million EVs on road by 2030," it

Bleeding bitcoin holding out for a hero

REUTERS

London, August 30: Who can save bitcoin? The world's biggest cryptocurrency can't seem to catch a break. It finally looked to be regaining strength this month, breaching $25,000 for the first time since its June collapse, only to relapse towards $20,000.

A deflating end to August has forced the market to confront the Big Bitcoin Question: where will a real rally come from? Right now, doughty retail investors are looking like the most likely source of relief, as institutional players get cold feet in the midst of a macro maelstrom.

The amount of "illiquid bitcoin" across the market - held by wallets that rarely spend or sell - has risen by 73,840 bitcoin over the past week, the largest weekly increase for more than two months, according to Chainalysis data. That equates to roughly $1.7 billion at recent prices.

Furthermore, the amount of bitcoin held for over a year has increased by 54,300 on average in the last four weeks, the largest rise in about four months, Chainalysis said. Meanwhile, cryptocurrency exchanges have seen net outflows for three straight months as investors pulled their tokens into "cold storage" rather than selling, according to Arcane Research.

"It's clear that longer-term holders at the retail level are also accumulating, the number of wallets holding relatively small amounts of bitcoin is indeed growing," said Jay Fraser, head of strategy at BSTX securities exchange.

"Don't underestimate the impact of the retail HODLers," Fraser added, referring to a cohort whose name emerged years ago from a trader misspelling "hold" on an online forum. Their lack of selling helps to create more scarcity so that, eventually, a supply shock for bitcoin will again play out."

So what about those deep-pocketed institutional players that jumped on the crypto bandwagon when prices were high?

They have been selling hard, according to some market participants who say these big investors have been the primary driver of the crypto slump over recent months.

In the week to Aug. 19 - the week that saw bitcoin slide anew - the digital asset investment products favored by traditional institutional finance players saw outflows of around $9 million according to Coinshares data. "The latecomers - institutions that came in close to the highs or the $30,000 to $50,000 levels - they're the ones that drove the market down, mostly," said Ed Hindi, chief investment officer at Tyr Capital Partners. Hindi pointed to a steep discount between futures contract prices and the bitcoin spot price on the CME exchange as further evidence of institutional bearishness.

Serena not done yet

ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York, August 30: They came from far and wide for Serena no last name required, befitting someone as much an icon as superstar athlete — to see her practice and play and, it turned out, win a match at the US Open, turn ing out in record numbers to fill Arthur Ashe Stadium and shout and applaud and pump their fists right along with her.

Serena Williams is not ready to say goodbye just yet. Nor, clearly, are her fans. And she heard them, loud and clear.

In her first match at what is expected to be the last US Open — and last tournament — of her remarkable playing career, even if she insists that she won't quite say so, Williams overcame a shaky start to overpower Danka Kovinic 6-3, 6-3 amid an atmosphere more akin to a festival than a farewell.

What memory will stick with her the most from the evening? "When I walked out, the reception was really overwhelming. It was loud and I could feel it in my chest. It was a really good feeling," said the owner of six U.S. Open championships and 23 Grand Slam titles overall, numbers unsurpassed by any other player in the sport's professional era. "It's a feeling I'll never forget," she added. "Yeah, that meant a lot to me.'

This opening outing against Kovinic, a 27-year-old from Montenegro ranked 80th, became an event with a capital "E." Spike Lee participated in the pre-match coin toss. Former President Bill Clinton was in the stands. So were Mike Tyson and Martina Navratilova, sitting next to each other. And sitting with Dad and Grandma was Williams' daughter, Olympia, who turns 5 Thursday, wearing white beads in her hair just like Mom did while winning the US Open for the first time at age 17 back in 1999

Williams is now 40, and told the world three weeks ago via an essay for Vogue that she was ready to concentrate on having a second child and her venture capital firm.

Asked after her victory Monday whether this will definitively be her final tournament, Williams replied with a knowing smile:

"Yeah, I've been pretty vague about it, right?" Then she added: "I'm going to stay vague, because you never know.

The night session drew 29,000 folks, a high for the tournament more than 23,000 were in Ashe; thousands more watched on a video screen outside the arena — and the place was as loud as ever. Certainly louder than any other first-round match in memory. Both players called the decibel level 'crazy'. Kovinic said she couldn't hear the ball come off Williams' racket strings - or even her own.

Early, Williams was not at her best. Maybe it was the significance of the moment. There were doublefaults. Other missed strokes, missed opportunities. She went up 2-0, but then quickly trailed 3-2. Then, suddenly, Williams, looked a lot like the champion she's been for decades and less like the player who came into this match with a 1-3 record since returning to action in late June after nearly a year off the tour.

She rolled through the end of that opening set, capping it with a service winner she reacted to with clenched fists and her trademark cry of "Come on!" That was met with thunderous cheers and applause — as was the ending of the 1-hour, 40-minute contest, as if another trophy had been earned.

Instead, there is plenty more work to be done. Williams will play in the second round of singles on Wednesday against No.2 seed Anett Kontveit of Estonia. And there's also doubles, too: Williams and her sister, Venus, are entered together in that competition, with their initial match slated for Wednesday or Thursday.

After watching the victory over Kovinic, spectators held up blue, white or red placards that were distributed at their seats to spell out 'We (love) Serena.'

After Kovinic was introduced simply by name, making clear to even her what an afterthought she was on this muggy evening, Williams' entrance was preceded by a tribute video narrated by Queen Latifah, who called the American the "Queen of Queens." The arena announcer called Williams "the greatest of all time," and intoned: "This U.S. Open marks the final chapter of her storied tennis history.

She means a lot to a lot of people. As a tennis player. As a woman. As an African American. As a mother. As a businesswoman.

Medvedev through, Halep stunned $\stackrel{\leftarrow}{}$

ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York, August 30: Daniil Medvedev had an easy start to his US Open title defense, beating Stefan Kozlov 6-2, 6-4, 6-0. Simona Halep had another early exit, this one coming in a memorable first tour-level win for Ukrainian Daria Snigur.

Snigur upset the No.7 seed 6-2, 0-6, 6-4, then struggled through tears to explain what the victory meant to her family and her country, which is at war with Russia.

Medvedev advanced to face Arthur Rinderknech of France. The Russian is trying to become the first repeat champion at the US Open since Roger Federer won five straight from 2004-08.

Andy Murray was another early winner, 10 years after winning the first of his three Grand Slam titles in Flushing Meadows. He had one of the first upsets of the tournament by beating No.24 seed Francisco Cerundolo of Argentina 7-5, 6-3, 6-3.

Fourth-seeded Stefanos Tsitsipas won't be staying in it after dropping the first 11 games to qualifier Daniel Elahi Galan before falling 6-0. 6-1. 3-6. 7-5.

Many fans arriving for the day session at the final Grand Slam event of the season were focused on the match that would lead off the action at night. Williams, the 23-time major champion, has said she is preparing to end her tennis career

Leading 3-0 in the third set, Medvedev told the chair umpire he wanted a bag of ice so he could put it on his head. "It was pretty hot today and humid," Medvedev said. Snigur was playing her first match in the main draw of a Grand Slam. The 20-year-old wore a ribbon in the blue and yellow colors of Ukraine's flag on her chest, and she put her hands around it after finishing off the victory.

She played last week in the Tennis Plays for Peace Exhibition" to raise money to aid Ukraine. That was on Louis Armstrong Stadium, which may have calmed her nerves a bit when she was sent back out onto the same court Monday.

Halep had won 19 of her last 22 matches and recently returned to the top 10, but the US Open has been the most challenging major for the two-time Grand Slam champion. She is 21-11 in New York and has lost in the first round of three of her last five appearances.

Bianca Andreescu, the 2019 US Open champion, needed three sets to get past Harmony Tan, the French player who beat Williams in the first round at Wimbledon. Two other past champions had short stays. Dominic Thiem, the 2020 champion who missed last year because of injury, fell to Pablo Carreno Busta in four sets. The 2016 winner, Stan Wawrinka, retired from his match against Corentin Moutet after losing a second-set tie-breaker. He has been plagued by injuries in recent years.

No.29 seed Tommy Paul overcame the heat to outlast Bernabe Zapata Miralles 4-6, 6-3, 2-6, 6-0, 7-5 in 3 hours, 10 minutes. Fellow American Sebastian Korda also got his first win at his home Slam, beating Facundo Bagnis in four sets.

Another American advanced in an upset, with JJ Wolf ousting No.16 seed Roberto Bautista Agut in straight sets.

Also, Wu Yibing became the first Chinese man to win a US Open match in the professional era, upsetting No.31 seed Nikoloz Basilashvili 6-3, 6-4, 6-0.

Third-seeded Maria Sakkari and No.17 Caroline Garcia were among the early winners on the women's side, with Sakkari overcoming Wimbledon semifinalist Tatjana Maria in three sets.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Bangalore, August 30: Indian women's hockey vice-captain Deep Grace Ekka Tuesday said the Birmingham Commonwealth Games bronze medal is a thing of the past now and the team is focussing on winning this year's FIH Nations Cup, a qualifier for next season's Pro League.

India, Canada, Ireland, Italy, Japan, South Korea, South Africa and hosts Spain are the eight participating teams in the Nations Cup to be held in Valencia from December 10 to 17. The winner of the tournament will directly qualify for next season's FIH Pro League.

"We did well in Birmingham, but now that is a closed chapter. We have had a good break and now we have to get back to work. I am sure chief coach Janneke Schopman will assess our previous performance and plan the upcoming days in camp accordingly," Ekka said in a Hockey India release.

"We have to do well in Spain in the FIH Women's Hockey Nations Cup, and for that the preparation begins from today. It won't be easy but training hard and doing the right things repeatedly during our sessions is the only thing we can do," she explained.

"Our aim in Spain will be to progress to the FIH Hockey Women's Pro League and for that we have to win the Nations Cup. Our target is in front of us, now it's up to us to make sure we build in the correct direction.'

The Indian women had finished a creditable third in their debut FIH Pro League outing in 2021-22 season. The defender, a veteran of 240 caps, however, said the podium finish in Birmingham will do wonders in lifting the confidence of the team.

'We would have liked to play the final in Birmingham for sure, but winning bronze was a big achievement for us. Standing on the podium is a moment we will never forget. It's a big morale booster for the entire team.'

The Indian women's team on Tuesday assembled for a long preparatory camp at the SAI centre here after enjoying a good break following a successful outing in Birmingham.

The Group A match won't be more than a glorified net session for Rohit Sharma's men against a team, mostly comprising Pakistani and Indian expats, who otherwise are not good enough to play firstclass cricket in either of the two nations.

After a hard earned victory over Pakistan in a last over thriller, scripted by Hardik Pandya, the focus against Hong Kong will be on batters and their adequate game time.

Rahul, whose first T20I in 2022 was against Pakistan the other night, would want to come out all guns blazing and may take this opportunity to try an alternate batting approach at the onset, compared to what has been his style at the IPL.

In T20Is, teams are going for impact performance and often a 20 ball 45 is of greater value than a 90 not out of 65 balls. Quality of an innings and its significance in the larger context of the game is more important at this stage as India get ready for the T2O World Cup to be hosted by Australia from October 16 to November 13.

Team India might go for some changes to playing XI against Hong Kong, Wednesdav

Obviously, the quality of Hong Kong bowling, to put it politely, won't match up to Pakistan, but there is always a fear as one doesn't exactly know what to expect from an unknown entity

Hence, it is important that Rahul uses this opportunity to the fullest to gain his confidence before the start of the Super Fours and business end of the tournament.

Skipper Rohit has made it clear that experimentation will continue and hence one shouldn't be surprised if there is another batting order that could be tried out Wednesday.

For Virat Kohli, the Hong Kong match will be all about another quality hitting time in the middle against an attack that is sure to feel intimidated by his sheer presence in the middle. Even Rohit, after a subdued game against Pakistan, would like to deposit a few into the stands. It would be interesting to see if Ravindra Jadeja is sent at No.4 position against Hong Kong or whether Rishabh Pant is tried in place of Dinesh Karthik, just to give him some game time.

Referee (VAR) technology making its debut in the age-group showpiece, world football governing body FIFA announced Tuesday.

The prestigious tournament, which was given the go-ahead by FIFA after lifting the 11-day-long suspension on All India Football Federation (AIFF), will be held in Bhubaneswar (Kalinga Stadium), Margao (JLN Stadium) and Navi Mumbai (DY Patil Stadium) from October 11-30. "The FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup will give us important and significant insights into the qualities of the match officials who have been appointed. We are very happy that, also for the first time, VAR technology will be used at a FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup." said FIFA's Head of Women Refereeing Kari Seitz. "This event will be another great opportunity to showcase the skills of the appointed VARs and continue the development of

Women's World Cup Costa Rica 2022 and the FIFA Women's World Cup France 2019

This will be the second time the VAR technology will be used in India, the first one being from the quarterfinal stage of the AFC Women's Asian Cup the country hosted in January-February this year our female VARs as part of the Road to Australia/New Zealand 2023 project," she said in a FIFA statement.

The FIFA Referees Committee also announced match officials for the tournament comprising 14 women referees, 28 women assistant referees, three support referees and 16 video match officials. The Asian Football Confederation

(AFC) will be represented by 14 referees, assistant referees and video match officials from seven member associations. There is no one from India.
