San Francisco, June 24: Forget about famed boxing bouts like the Rumble in the Jungle or the Thrilla in Manila -- billionaire social media moguls Elon Musk and Mark Zuckerberg have been egging each other into a mixed martial arts cage match in Las Vegas.

In recent days, Twitter owner Musk and Facebook parent Meta CEO Zuckerberg - whose social media platforms duke it out daily for advertising dollars - have been trading bluster about going mano a mano.

According to UFC president Dana White, Musk and Mark are "dead serious" about fighting each other in a cage match. Reportedly, both the tech giants

Body camera to track criminals' movement

The development came after the Bureau of Police Research and Development (BPRD) issued a standard operating procedure (SOP) asking the jail authorities to attach body cameras to the uniforms of officials

POST NEWS NETWORK

Berhampur, June 24: With seve eral hardcore criminals lodged in the Berhampur Circle Jail, warders will put on body cameras to keep track of the movement and activities of the inmates, a report said.

The development came after the Bureau of Police Research and Development (BPRD) issued a standard operating procedure (SOP) asking the jail authorities to attach body cameras to the uniforms of jail officials. Therefore, the Berhampur Circle Jail authorities have decided to follow the SOP

Being the most sensitive jail in South Odisha due to the presence of a large number of hardened criminals, the security of the inmates in the Berhampur Circle Jail has always remained a priority for the officials.

This new system will soon be implemented in the Berhampur Circle jail, where efforts have been launched to train the warders. Later, a special control room will be set up on its premises, from where officials will keep a tab on the shots being recorded in body cameras. After this new surveillance system is implemented, all the inmates in and outside the wards will remain under the close watch of the authorities.

Reports say that there have been several hardcore criminals lodged in this jail for the last several years who have turned the jail into their transit home. Even some of them have become so powerful and influential that they are calling the shots from their cells. The jail also houses Maoist leader Sabysachi Panda and many other rebels from the banned outfit. Even persons arrested in illegal cannabis and drug trade, interstate dacoity, looting, and contract killing cases have been lodged in this jail.

Sources said that the jail authorities have installed CCTV cameras in every ward of the jail to keep track of the movements of the inmates inside the jail premises.

Besides, they have also deployed armed police personnel to keep a close watch on the inmates from the watch towers erected around the jail. Despite these measures, infighting among the inmates is often reported in the jail.

The authorities have failed to keep a record of cases of infighting and violence that take place outside due to the absence of any surveillance system.

डंडियन बैंक 🦝 🛛 Indian Bank

In such circumstances, the body camera will help the jail officials keep a watch on the movements of the history-sheeters lodged in the jail.

The body camera will also help jail personnel keep a close watch on the hardcore criminals while they are being taken to court for an appearance or to the hospital for treatment.

There are instances when hardcore criminals tried to flee, taking advantage of slack security measures during their production in court or while being rushed to a hospital. In these situations, the body camera will come in handy for the jail authorities.

Contacted, jailor Satya Narayan Behera confirmed the development, stating that the authorities have decided to install body cameras in the uniforms of the warders. Steps will be taken in this regard after getting clearance from the higher-ups. The jail has the capacity to house 914 inmates, but currently there are 833 inmates in the jail, he added

TIMBER SCARCIT	Y FOR RATH	A JAT	RA
Forest dept grows	'phasi'	for	char	iots

The plantation drive has been undertaken on a patch of 10-hectare at Sarabadi and Bajra regions of the Gumma forest area under the Badagarh range

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Berhampur, June 24: In a bid to address timber scarcity during annual Ratha Jatra in Puri, the state Forest department has planted around 30,000 'phasi' saplings in Ganiam district, according to a report. This specific variety of log is required for the construction of chariots during the festival in Puri.

The wheels of the chariots are made from 'phasi' logs. As many as 72 such logs of 14 feet in length and six feet in girth are required for making the wheels of the three chariots of the deities every year.

"To meet the requirement for timber in the future, we have planted around 30,000 phasi and 2,000 neem plants in two major areas of Ghumusar South Forest Division in Ganjam district," said Prabhakar Nayak, assistant conservator of forests (ACF) of the division.

The plantation was made on a patch of 10-hectare in Sarabadi and Bajra of the Gumma forest area under the Badagarh range, the official added. The plantation was undertaken after procuring the saplings from different forest divisions, said Nayak adding most of the saplings are alive due to proper care and preservation.

"We will be replacing the plants that have died in the area. We have raised a nursery for the replacement of the dead plants," said the ACF.

While the 'phasi' plants were inside the area, the neem trees were planted on the boundaries. The entire area has been enclosed with green fencing to prevent the entry of outsiders. Besides, forest guards have been deployed to protect the plants, he further said.

The forest personnel will take care of the trees till they become mature, which will take around 50 years, the ACF said.

The Srimandir administration has been facing difficulty in collecting the woods, particularly the 'phasi', for some years due to the dwindling of the species in the forest areas. With little choice left, the administration has been collecting this species from private lands as donation, it was learnt.

Ghumusar South and North divisions in the district have supplied some logs, including 'phasi' to the temple administration this year for the construction of chariots, said Sudarshan Behera, Divisional Forest Officer (DFO) Ghumusar North, who is also in-charge of Ghumusar South.

Action Sans Thought

🗂 2019, energised by his terrific Lok Sabha win the Prime Minister set off a series of ideological reforms. The gutting of Article 370, L the legislation of the citizenship law and the criminalisation of Muslim divorce. All these came from the Union and the BJP states, similarly enthused, wrote laws criminalising interfaith marriage and on beef and hijab and such things. The Ayodhya judgement also came around the same time. December 2019 was the high watermark of this period when there seemed to be no opposition to implement the nationwide NRC and CAA. Unfortunately for the Prime Minister a series of reversals followed the flow of victories. Protests across India ended the NRC-CAA policy. Though it was in the BJP's manifesto it remains unimplementable three and a half years later. The Census was likely also sacrificed because of this. In Ladakh, the strong leader narrative began to unravel quickly as discretion was chosen over valour (unlike Nehru). Kashmir remains a mess and the only part of undivided India today not under democratic rule. Events in Manipur have shown fully the absence of application and out paid to claims to good (or even any) governance. COVID affected the world but few nations saw the extreme trauma of the second wave and India's overflowing crematoria became a global story. Opposing ordinances passed without debate during the pandemic, the farmers' protest forced the government to reverse its laws and issue an apology.

Since that period of reversals no new masterstroke has come. And with good reason: when action without thinking produces failures and stalemates then one most pause to consider what went wrong

And yet now there is talk of the Uniform Civil Code being floated as one of the key issues of the 2024 election. Like Kashmir and the NRC it is on the party manifesto, which says that "BJP believes that there cannot be gender equality till such time India adopts a Uniform Civil Code, which protects the rights of all women, and the BJP reiterates its stand to draft a Uniform Civil Code. drawing upon the best traditions and har monising them with the modern times."

There is a level of complexity required in this harmonisation and that is one of the reasons it has not happened till now. The BJP inserted the promise most recently into its manifesto in Karnataka, but it had little traction and that is for good reason. It is not only one community that will see its personal laws on inheritance, adoption, marriage and divorce change but all communities if there is a UCC.

The NDA has 350 Lok Sabha and 100 Rajya Sabha seats. If it has a draft bill on the UCC it should table and pass it. Talking about it is a waste of time when one is already in power and able to affect the change one wants.

However there is a larger issue. The second term of Modi has so far delivered an average GDP growth rate of under 4 per cent per year. COVID is only partly to blame. The economy had slowed before the pandemic same reasons that are slowing it now. Mainly insufficient private investment, flat private consumption and flat merchandise exports. The first because of a lack of confidence in corporate India about the medium term economic future; the second because slow growth has cut what people have earned and can therefore spend; and the last because our exports rise and fall with global trade which is currently on decline. Unemployment is over 7 per cent and labour participation levels at 40 per cent remain way below where they were 30 years ago.

These things will not be solved by a Uniform Civil Code. Just as these things were not solved by a new temple, another statue, change in the status of Kashmir or persecuting minorities through law. The large problems will remain. What floating the UCC balloon will do instead is to keep the focus of politics and media away from the economy, from Ladakh, from Manipur and Kashmir. Or at least attempt that and we must accept that previous attempts have been successful. A generation grew up thinking the main issue of Indian democracy should be what was ultimately a dispute over property in one city. A significant part of national energy was expended on Ayodhya and the nation emerged from it exhausted. The same period also saw what is called liberalisation and the expansion of caste reservations but these were normalised and accepted. The communal issue was kept going. There will be many ways of responding to the BJP on this from political and civil society opposition to litigation in courts (which will be inevitable) and all of these are valid. But there are two that also merit consideration, particularly for those people who have no strong feelings about the Uniform Civil Code. And they are to say to the BJP: Fine, go ahead with it if you have the votes for it. Show the draft legislation and get on with it. Let Parliament decide if it is to happen. Another would be to say: Fine, this is on your manifesto but so is economic growth and jobs, so is integrity in Ladakh and safety in Manipur. How does doing this now address the failures and problems in the rest? The likelihood is that the BJP will do neither. It will instead merely talk about it, stoke it using its stranglehold on media and communalise and polarise politics and society around it as it has successfully done often in the past. It is for the nation to determine whether these, like the BJP issues before it, are the ones that politics and voting should be about.

LEGALISING FRAUDS, DEFAULTS

n 8 June, in a contentious move, the RBI issued instructions under "Framework for Compromise Settlements and Technical Write-offs" that allow banks and other financial entities to "undertake compromise settlements or technical write-offs in respect of accounts categorised as wilful defaulters or fraud without prejudice to the criminal proceeding underway against such debtors." A fraudster is one who intentionally cheats the bank with false documents/information and misappropriates money. But there is vast difference between a defaulter and a wilful defaulter. One may be a defaulter due to inability to repay debt. But a wilful defaulter is one who chooses not to honour obligations to banks, despite the ability to do so

What is perplexing is that in the past, the RBI has itself been against providing scope to such borrowers. In its "Prudential Framework for Resolution of Stressed Assets" (June 7, 2019), the RBI had made it clear that borrowers who have committed fraud/malfeasance/wilful default will remain ineligible for restructuring. Two years ago, RBI had clearly stated that wilful defaulters would not be allowed to access capital markets or take fresh loans.

Recently, the RBI governor had warned about the many ways in which defaulters and fraudsters conceal the true status of distressed loans, especially engaging in evergreening of loans. Evergreening loans, a form of zombie lending, is a practice of extending new or additional loans to a borrower who is unable to repay existing loans, thereby concealing the true status of the NPAs.

Probably, the RBI is browbeaten to change the rule to suit fraudsters and defaulters -- may be pressure from crony capitalists, corporate behemoths or the ruling dispensation at Centre.

By allowing wilful defaulters to settle loans under the compromise, the RBI is effectively condoning their actions, placing the burden of their misdeeds on the shoulders of ordinary citizens

The Opposition parties, bank unions and economists have expressed their apprehension that this move would perpetuate a culture of non-compliance and leave banks and their employees bearing the brunt of the losses. Such negotiated transactions can compromise the integrity of the banking system, create a moral hazard and undermine the efforts to combat wilful defaulters effectively. By allowing wilful defaulters to settle loans under the compromise, the RBI is effectively condoning their actions, placing the burden of their misdeeds on the shoulders of ordinary citizens.

What is reprehensible is that the central bank has also directed banks to permit such accounts to take fresh loans after a 12-month "cooling period". In countries with impunity.

The corporate debt restructuring process too resulted in lenders taking huge haircuts. For example, banks have taken an average haircut of ₹69 as losses for everv ₹100 of their claims admitted for the resolution of stressed assets under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC). Creditors have realized ₹2.35 lakh crore in about 517 IBC cases till June 30, 2022, out of the total claims of ₹7.67 lakh crore.

Similarly, Banks and depositors are affected by loan write off. According to Finance Minister Nirmal Sitharaman (December 13, 2022), in the last five years, banks have written off bad loans worth ₹10,09,511 crore. But what is perplexing is that during the same period only 13% of loan written off has been recovered. By write-off, NPAs are reduced, the balance sheet looks good, the bank gets tax benefits, net profit of the bank increases. But the question remains: who are the beneficiaries of those unrecovered amounts? How did the bank manage losses due to write-off amounts?

This sudden change in the framework by the RBI will not only lead to corrosion of public trust in the banking sector but also devastate the confidence of depositors. It is immoral, unethical, unscrupulous, and illegal to have a compromise with big fraudsters and loan defaulters who wilfully reneged on their obligations and run away with public money. This compromise is tantamount to legalising frauds and wilful defaults. This is very painful especially when honest borrowers are groaning and struggling to repay their loans due financial problems and are never shown any mercy.

While it is impossible to know precisely what that impact will be, two changes appear particularly likely: demand for labour will fall, and productivity will rise. In other words, we appear to be moving toward a labour-less economic model, in which fewer human workers are needed to sustain growth. Jobs in back-office support, legal services, and accountancy seem to face the most immediate risk from new generative AI technologies, including large language models like ChatGPT-4. But every sector of the economy is likely to be affected. Because language tasks account for 62% of employees' time, a recent report by Accenture notes, large language models could affect 40% of all working hours. Accenture estimates that 65% of the time spent on these language tasks can be "transformed into more productive activity through augmentation and automation." Reduced demand for capital by firms will put downward pressure on the cost of capital, and companies will have less need to borrow from banks, causing overall activity in capital markets also to decline. Higher taxes on corporate profits (or revenues) would create additional challenges. While the state will need to increase revenues to support the growing number of unemployed, this could leave corporations with lower retained earnings to reinvest, despite the additional profits generated by AI-driven productivity gains. This is bad not only for the companies themselves. Lower investment in the economy would undermine growth, shrink the economic pie, and lower living standards. It would also narrow the tax base, erode the middle class, and widen inequality between the owners of capital and the traditional labour force. #### WORDSWORTH

he most famous knucker or water demon was said to live in a pool at Lyminster, near Arundel in Sussex. This was one of many knucker holes in the flat areas between the South Downs and the sea, which were held in local folklore to be bottomless. Not the least of the odd things about them was that they were reputed never to freeze in winter nor to dry up in summer. Knucker is a modern spelling of the Old English nicor or nicker for an imaginary being that lived in water. Nickera appears in the Anglo-Saxon poem Beowulf to refer to a lake monster. The word is linked to similar monsters in several Scandinavian languages and to Nixie, a German term for a female water-elf or water-nymph. It might also be a source for Old Nick, one of many names for the Devil, and for the German Nickel for a sort of goblin that lived in mines and from which we get the name for the metal.

the diminution of labour would undermine it, meaning that, ultimately, growth could well stagnate. Reduced demand for human workers implies a steep rise in unemployment, especially since the world population is set to continue growing.

Unemployment is already a persistent problem. According to the International Labour Organisation, the total number of unemployed young people (15-24 years old) has remained around 70 million for more than two decades. And the global youth unemployment rate has been trending up, from 12.2% in 1995 to just under 13% after the 2008 global financial crisis to 15.6% in 2021

AI will exacerbate these trends. And because AI's impact on labour markets is likely to be structural, the rise in unemployment would amount to a permanent dislocation. Structural unemployment could return to levels last seen in the deindustrialisation of the 1980s, when joblessness in the UK, for example, remained above 10% for the better part of the 1980s.

How can governments support

tion, with governments raising taxes on the proceeds from AIdriven productivity gains and using those revenues to support the wider population, including by implementing some version of a universal basic income.

To ensure adequate revenue to support expanded social safety nets, governments might move beyond taxing excess profits generated by AI-driven productivity gains to taxing the revenues of the firms reaping the biggest rewards. That way, the state – and, in turn, the general population would claim a greater share of the AI windfall.

Of course, the AI revolution also has profound implications for businesses. For starters, companies will have to adjust their strategies and operations to account for the combination of higher productivity and a smaller labour force, which will enable them to generate more output with less capital. Companies that adjust as needed, and deliver low cost-to-income ratios, will attract investors; those that are slow to change their operating models will lose competitiveness and could fail.

Structural racism

Sir, Police violence has a long history in the United States and remains a pervasive problem till today. It is intricately linked to deep and persisting racial inequalities and economic class divisions. Reform efforts, if anything to be meaningful and effective, need to address societal conditions. Therefore, instead of asking the police to address societal problems, the US should invest in services that directly address underlying issues such as mental health care and support and poverty. Establishing effective and independent oversight bodies and necessary legal tools to ensure accountability are crucial to limiting police violence in the US. Nevertheless, the brutal killing of George Floyd has opened the eyes of many people within the US for the need to address the harms of racially biased, coercive policing and the inherent structural racism within which policing exists in the country

Misuse of power

Sir, Using its veto power, China has once again blocked the move by the US and co-designated by India to blacklist LeT leader Sajid Mir. Mir is a global terrorist but it has become impossible to designate him as such with China coming in the way of efforts to blacklist him. The contention of China is that there is no sufficient evidence to designate him as terrorist. Wearer only knows where the shoe pinches. India knows much better than any country about the involvement of Mir in the 26/11 Mumbai attacks. China's move is politically motivated. Further, even if all the permanent members in the UN support India's permanent membership, China has been consistently vetoing. It means, India deserving permanent membership in the UN has not been meriting consideration. This is nothing but the misuse of veto power. Acceptance or rejection should be based on merit or demerit. India will never gain permanent membership so long as China will be vetoing any move in this direction in the UN. There is need to bring changes in the veto powers. If two-thirds of member countries support any move, such move has to be accepted.

PROTESTS IN ASSAM AGAINST DELIMITATION PROPOSALS

Guwahati, June 24: Protests against the delimitation proposals continued in Assam Saturday, with allies of the ruling BJP-led coalition as well as Opposition parties venting their discontent.

Terming the draft delimitation proposal an attempt by the BJP to polarise voters on religious lines disregarding the sentiment of the people, Opposition parties decided to present the 'grievances' of the citizens before the Election Commission.

Protests by Asom Gana Parishad (AGP) leaders took place in the Amguri Assembly constituency in Sivasagar district Saturday.

The constituency is represented by Pradip Hazarika of the AGP, an ally of the BJP.

"Our Amguri constituency is being merged with another constituency and we are losing our identity. We will not accept it and continue our agitation," a local AGP leader said.

Opposition AIUDF held protests in Barak Valley districts Friday. The protestors demanded that status quo of boundaries and the name of constituencies be maintained. It has been decided that a delegation of 12 Opposition parties, including the Congress, will visit Sivsagar district June 30.

"We chose Sivsagar as the different communities, tribes and sub-groups are feeling hurt and betrayed. The BJP has ignored their sentiment and the EC has not taken into consideration the historical perspectives," state Congress president Bhupen Kumar Borah said.

After Sivasagar, the delegation will tour the Barak Valley districts of Cachar, Karimganj and Hailakandi July 2 and 3. "Population has increased everywhere, maybe in varying degrees. So, we fail to understand why the number of assembly constituencies in Barak Valley was decreased by two (in the delimitation draft). That's why our team will be going there," he said. A delegation of the 12 parties will visit New Delhi July 7-8, during which they will submit a memorandum on their findings to the ECI.

The only motive of the BJP behind the draft proposal is re-ligious polarisation, without any regard for the people. We cannot allow that to happen. We will approach the ECI with the findings based on our interaction with the people," Bora said. In the draft delimitation document released June 20, the EC has proposed to retain the number of assembly seats in Assam at 126 and the Lok Sabha constituencies at 14.

The commission has also planned to alter the geographical boundaries of most of the constituencies, both assembly and the Lok Sabha, while eliminating some seats and creating a few new ones.

Shimla, June 24: Villagers in Bilaspur's Ghumarwin and Hamirpur's Tauni Devi blamed construction companies for poor planning as heavy rain in these areas Friday flooded houses and submerged roads and bridges, disrupting normal life.

As heavy rain battered Daghol village in the Ghumarwin area of Bilaspur district, a newly built bridge in the area got submerged, leading to long queues of vehicles on both sides.

A portion of a road got flooded due to strong water currents. Water from a swollen canal swept away a car, which was later found near the flooded bridge.

Agitated villagers of Daghol squatted on the road to voice their resentment against the construction company, which they alleged constructed the new bridge without completely dis-

Obama' remark draws flak from Oppn parties

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Guwahati, June 24: Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma's cryptic 'Hussain Obama' tweet drew major flak from the

At least 14 river embankments

This was in reference to the former President saying in a TV interview this week that there was danger of India pulling apart if ethnic minorities and

Muslims were not protected. Condemning Sarma's remark, Sivasagar MLA Akhil Gogoi sought an apology from the Chief Minister and termed his tweet as 'nonsense'

In a video message, the MLA said: "Himanta Biswa Sarma made a communally perverted comment to the former US President. He has the habit of making such comments. I, as a brother of Himanta Biswa Sarma and a fellow MLA in the Assam Assembly, apologise to Barack Obama on behalf of the Chief Minister.'

Meanwhile, Trinamool Congress Raiva Sabha MP Sushmita Dev said that the Chief Minister's "communal comments are not only unconstitutional, these are actually against the law of the land which prevent any person from making divisive comments." "It is now interesting to see whether the Assam police which persecute people cutting across the state boundaries on the allegation of 'unlawful' comments will take any action against Sarma for his comments.

Traffic in the area resumed only after the police reached the spot and pacified the protestors.

Meanwhile, gushing water entered some houses in Thana Dorgan village in the Tauni Devi area of Hamirpur district Friday damaging household goods and electronic gadgets.

The affected people blamed the construction company executing the Mandi-Hamirpur National Highway project.

New Delhi, June 24: The Trinamool Congress Saturday demanded an all-party delegation be sent to violence-hit Manipur within a week as it questioned the Centre's handling of the situation and wondered if the government was "trying to turn Manipur into Kashmir"

During an all-party meeting chaired by Union Home Minister Amit Shah here on the situation in the northeastern state, TMC's Rajya Sabha MP Derek O'Brien accused the Centre of "ignoring" the needs of the people of Manipur, the party said in a statement.

Amit Shah told that Prime Minister Narendra Modi has been monitoring the situation in violence-hit Manipur since day one and "guiding us with full sensitivity" to find a solution to the problem. Leaders of different political parties, including the BJP, Congress, TMC, Left parties and others, are taking part in the meeting which is underway.

Guj man arrested for posing as PMO official, conning private school

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Vadodara, June 24: A man from Gujarat's Vadodara city has been arrested for posing as a PMO official to secure the admission of two children in a private school here and trying to dupe it of huge sums with his fake identity, an official said Saturday.

The arrest of Mayank Tiwari Friday comes months after an Ahmedabad resident, Kiran Patel, was held from a five-star hotel in Jammu and Kashmir for posing as a senior official from the Prime Minister's Office (PMO). Hospitality apart, Patel had also enjoyed security cover by tricking officials in the Valley.

Identifying himself as a director (strategic advisory) at the PMO in New Delhi, Tiwari first got in touch with the school and its trustee in March 2022, during the admission season, said the official from Waghodia police station in the city. Tiwari, a middle-aged man, sought the school's help with the admission of two sons of his "family friend" whom he described as Indian Army official Mirza Baig and said he was being transferred to Vadodara from Pune, the official said.

The school's director asked Tiwari, whose WhatsApp status said he was a "PMO official", to meet the trustee, who is also associated with a private university in Vadodara.

To impress upon the trustee, Tiwari told her that he could use his clout as a "PMO official" and get the school involved in the field of education research and get them various projects if they took care of the expenses, the official said.

A few months later, the trustee had doubts about Tiwari's claims of being a PMO official and the education research projects mentioned by him.

The trustee later found out that Tiwari was not a PMO official and had conned them by spinning a tale about his "immense influence"

Also, his profession was not clear, said the FIR. The trustee then alerted the school last month.

AKHILESH WARY OF SHARING SEATS WITH CONGRESS

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Lucknow, June 24: Opposition unity in Uttar Pradesh is likelv to remain a pipe dream ahead of the general elections 2024 since the two main opposition parties in the state -- the Samajwadi Party and the Bahujan Samaj Party -- agree to disagree on almost all issues.

Even as the Samajwadi Party and the Bahujan Samaj Party reiterate their commitment to defeating the BJP, they are averse to the idea of sitting together -or with the Congress -- for forging an alliance against the ruling BJP. Though Akhilesh Yadav seems to have softened his stand towards the Congress and attended the Patna conclave, he is unwilling to share seats with the Congress in UP.

Both the Samajwadi Party (SP) and the Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) were born from the vote base of the Congress - the BSP with Dalits and the SP with Muslims.

Muslims, Dalits, along with the Brahmins, were once the mainstay of the Congress in Uttar Pradesh.

'Aligning with the Congress at this point when the party is looking towards a revival after the Bharat Jodo Yatra (BJY) would amount to political harakiri. We cannot give our own vote bank (Muslim in this case) a political option. What is the guarantee that Muslims will not return to the Congress if we forge an alliance with them?' asked a senior SP leader.

The SP leadership wants to continue projecting itself as the only alternative to the BJP in UP.

Samajwadi Party president Akhilesh Yadav has consciously avoided being seen in the same frame with Rahul Gandhi. Even though several top Congress leaders visited his Saifai home to offer condolences when his father Mulayam Singh passed away in October last year, Akhilesh did not soften his stand and refused to join the BJY.

Similarly, BSP leader Mayawati, who suffered a major erosion of her vote bank in the last assembly elections -- with a large part of her Dalit vote bank shifting to the BJP -- is now wary of the Congress which is blatantly targeting the Dalits.

The Congress leadership in Uttar Pradesh now comprises of leaders culled from the BSP from Brijlal Khabri to Nakul Dubey to Naseemuddin Siddiqui - all of whom are claiming to use their previous connect with the BSP to bring the Dalits closer to the Congress.

The Congress, for obvious reasons, is now considered a nonentity in UP and parties are naturally wary of joining hands with it and losing their own ground.

The Congress, too, does not seem very interested in making friends with the SP, especially after the 2019 debacle when the two parties allied with the 'Do ladke' slogan.

New Delhi, June 24: A 20-yearold vouth was allegedly stabbed by his neighbour in a petty dispute in northeast Delhi's Dayalpur area, police said Saturday.

On Friday around 10 pm, Rahul from Brijpuri had gone to have ice cream with his cousin Sonu, 19, after dinner near Shibban School, a senior police officer said. There Rahul had an encounter with a 20-year-old Mohammad Zaid who lives in the same street as he does, and got into fight with him, during which Zaid stabbed Rahul in the lower abdomen, the officer said. Sonu also got knifed in hand.

Paramilitary has been deployed in the area to prevent any communal flareups, police said. The investigation so far has revealed that the two had some ego clash. Zaid works as a carpenter with his father, while Rahul supplies chips and other edibles, and his father sells candy.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (northeast) Joy Tirkey said, "It was a trivial issue that led to a scuffle between them. Zaid, who was alone that time. was having a sharp object most likely a knife and attacked Rahul. When Sonu came to his rescue, he also received injury in his hand. Efforts are being made to nab him." Zaid, absconding, has been booked under IPC section 307 (attempt to murder) and 324 (voluntarily causing hurt by dangerous weapons or means) at Dayalpur Police Station, the officer said. ### Biparjoy played killjoy, delayed SW monsoon by a week

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, June 24: Cyclone Biparjoy has played killjoy with the much awaited south-west monsoon in India, as the extremely severe storm pushed the arrival of the rainy season by at least a week

In fact it managed to reach Maharashtra and parts of Telangana and Andhra Pradesh by only the third week of June. Rajasthan has also been witnessing heavy rains for the past seven days.

IMD scientists are expecting that by next week, it will pick up momentum and cover parts of eastern, central and northern India

In the month of June, there has cent. Oilseeds sowing also plunged by 14 per cent, as per official estimates.

Economists say that shortfall in availability of food items would lead to higher retail inflation. Even the Reserve Bank of India in its latest bulletin for June has said that rising retail inflation has slowed down personal consumption expenditure, which has resulted in scaling down of corporate sales and reduction in private investment towards capacity creation.

"Bringing down inflation and stabilising inflation expectations will revive consumer spending, boost corporate revenues and profitability, which is the best incentive for private capex,' the bulletin's article on "State of the Economy" said. Moving forward, experts feel that the El Nino may also leave an impact on the monsoon season in days to come.

El Nino is a weather phenomenon which causes disruptions in ocean currents, temperatures and weather conditions across the world, leading to changes in global atmospheric circulation and longer, colder winters in certain regions.

In India, it causes the monsoon season to experience belownormal rainfall, droughts and inadequate crop yield.

According to the IMD, there is a 70 per cent probability of El Nino impacting the monsoon season in India. The weather phenomenon is detrimental to crops, resulting in damaging yields, leading to rise food prices.

If the weather department's prediction turns out to be accurate, then El Nino may im-pact the agriculture sector this season.

RUSSIA-UKRAINE WAR MUTINY BY MERCENARIES

Russian President Vladimir Putin is facing the most serious threat to his hold on power in all the 23 years he's run the nuclear state. The Wagner showdown marked the most dramatic escalation in a long-running feud between the mercenary leader and Russia's defense establishment that's spiraled into what is the biggest challenge to Putin's authority since he sent troops into Ukraine 16 months ago

AGENCIES

Moscow, June 24: Russian President Vladimir Putin vowed to punish "traitors" from the Wagner mercenary group, after its leader swore he would topple Moscow's military leadership.

Yevgeny Prigozhin, 62, released a series of messages from late Friday into Saturday, claiming that he and his mercenary troops had entered the southern Russian city of Rostov-on-Don and taken control of its military sites.

What sparked the rebellion?

For months, Prigozhin has been locked in a power struggle with the military top brass, blaming them for his troops' deaths in eastern Ukraine

He has repeatedly accused them of failing to equip his private army adequately, of holding up progress with bureaucracy, while claiming victories won by Wagner as their own.

In eastern Ukraine, the mercenary unit has been spearheading Russia's costly battles. It had been at the forefront of the months-long assault for Bakhmut, capturing the site for Russia, but at huge losses.

How this affects Russia's war? The rebellion marks the most serious challenge yet to Vladimir Putin's long rule and Russia's most serious security crisis since Moscow meanwhile has warned that Kyiv's army was seizing the moment to concentrate its troops "for offensive actions" near Bakhmut.

The significance of the mutiny was also not lost on world leaders, with leaders of the United States, France and Germany all saying that they are watching developments closely.

'All 25K ready to die'

Moscow: The head of the Wagner mercenary group said Saturday he had crossed into Russia with his forces to topple Moscow's military leadership, saying he and his 25,000 fighters were "ready to die"

"All of us are ready to die. All 25,000, and then another 25,000," Yevgeny Prigozhin, 62, said in an audio message after earlier accusing the Russian top brass of launching strikes against his men. In response, Russian authorities said security had been tightened in several regions and the mayor of Moscow announced that "antiterrorist" measures were being taken in the capital. The FSB security service accused Prigozhin of attempting to launch a "civil conflict" and urged Wagner fighters to detain him. "We will destroy everything that stands in our way," Prigozhin said earlier, in the most audacious challenge to President Vladimir Putin since the start of the offensive in Ukraine last year. Prigozhin said his forces, who have spearheaded much of Russia's offensive in Ukraine, had entered the southern Russian region of Rostov, and had also shot down a Russian military helicopter. "Law enforcement agencies are doing everything necessary to ensure the safety of residents," Rostov governor Vasily Golubev said. Videos and pictures posted online, including by TASS, showed armed men surrounding administrative buildings in Rostov and tanks deployed in the city centre. It was not clear who the armed men were. In Moscow, critical facilities were "under reinforced protection", the TASS state-run news agency reported, citing a law enforcement source. Prosecutor General Igor Krasnov had informed Putin of "the initiation of a criminal case in connection with an attempt to organise an armed rebellion", Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said, adding the president was getting regular updates on the situation. In recent months, Prigozhin has become embroiled in a bitter power struggle with the defence ministry, accusing the military of attempting to "steal" his victories in Ukraine.

Anyone who chooses the path of evil destroys themselves: Zelenskyy

Kyiv: Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said Saturday that "Russia's weakness is obvious" and that the longer Moscow keeps its troops and mercenaries in Ukraine, the more chaos it would invite back home. He made the comments on the Telegram messaging app amid an apparent mutiny on Saturday by Wagner mercenary chief Yevgeny Prigozhin against the Russian military. "Anyone who chooses the path of evil destroys themselves. For a long time, Russia used propaganda to mask its weakness and the stupidity of its government. And now there is so much chaos that no lie can hide it. Russia's weakness is obvious. Full-scale weakness," Zelenskyy wrote. "And the longer Russia keeps its troops and mercenaries on our land, the more chaos, pain and problems it will have for itself later."

A debris field from the submersible Titan was found at the bottom of the North Atlantic Thursday by a robotic diving vehicle deployed from a Canadian search vessel, ending an intense five-day international rescue effort.

Fragments of Titan, which lost contact with its surface support ship about one hour and 45 minutes into a two-hour descent on Sunday, littered the seabed about 1,600 feet (488 meters) from the bow of the Titanic wreck, about 2-1/2 miles (4 km) below the surface, U.S. Coast Guard Rear Admiral John Mauger said.

Washington, June 24: Pakistan Friday criticised the United States and India after President Joe Biden met Prime Minister Narendra Modi at the White House and both leaders called on Pakistan to ensure its territory was not used as a base for militant attacks

Pakistan's foreign ministry said a joint US-Indian statement was "unwarranted, one-sided, and misleading". The reference to Islamabad in it was "contrary to diplomatic norms," it said. The ministry added that it was surprised by the joint statement and said it had "close counterterrorism cooperation" with the United States.

Relations between India and Pakistan have been fraught for years. Since independence from Britain in 1947, India and Pakistan have fought three wars, two of them over the Muslim-majority Himalayan region of Kashmir, which they both claim in full but rule in part.

The joint US-Indian statement said: "They (Biden and Modi) strongly condemned cross-border terrorism, the use of terrorist proxies and called on Pakistan to take immediate action to ensure that no territory under its control is used for launching terrorist attacks.

Pakistan's foreign ministry said India was using the allegations of extremism against Islamabad to deflect from the situation in Kashmir and the treatment of minorities in India.

New Delhi has for years accused Pakistan of launching militant attacks in India.

No evidence Covid started in Wuhan lab: US Beijing sizzles under worst heatwave

AGENCIES

Taipei, June 24: Beijing and parts of northern China are experiencing record temperatures, with authorities urging people to limit their time outdoors.

The Naniiao observatory in southern Beijing Saturday for the first time recorded temperatures above 40 degrees Celsius for a third consecutive day, according to the China Meteorological Administration.

In nearby Hebei province and the port city of Tianji, temperatures have also soared above 40 C over the past few days, prompting authorities to issue 'red" alerts for extreme weather.

In China's four-tier weather alert system, the red indicates the most severe conditions.

On Thursday, Beijing experienced its second-hottest day on record - with temperatures soaring to 41.1 C. It was also the highest temperature ever recorded in China's capital during the month of June.

Beijing's all-time high of 41.9 C, since modern records began, occurred July 24, 1999.

Chinese meteorologists say the current heat wave has been caused by warm air masses associated with high-pressure ridges in the atmosphere and compounded by thin cloud covers and long daylight hours around the summer solstice. Other countries in Asia have experienced deadly heat waves in recent weeks, which scientists say are aggravated by rising global temperatures, caused partly by the burning of fossil fuels.

In China, the heat wave has coincided with a three-day public holiday, the Dragon Boat Festival, devoted to eating rice dumplings and racing boats propelled by teams of paddlers.

Beijing's weather authorities urged residents to avoid exercising outdoors for long periods and take measures to shield from the sun.

The report said that while "extensive work" had been conducted on coronaviruses at the Wuhan institute, the agencies had not found evidence of a specific incident that could have caused the outbreak

FIRST OF ITS KIND Bribes-for-jobs scam uncovered at TCS; 4 executives sacked

The ₹100cr scandal comes as a surprise, as big organisations such as TCS are expected to have robust safeguards to prevent corruption that could hamper operations and sully their image

AGENCIES

Chennai, June 24: India's largest IT firm, Tata Consultancy Services (TCS), has been rocked by a ₹100 crore scandal after the company discovered that some of its senior executives, who had been trusted to hire thousands of critical employees, accepted bribes from staffing firms.

According to reports, a few senior personnel at the company were accepting bribes from staffing firms for giving jobs to their candidates, for years. This has led to the company sacking four officials from its resource management group (RMG) and banning three staffing firms. The report said that earlier, a whistleblower at the company wrote to the company's CEO and COO stating that the global head of RMG, ES Chakravarthy, had been accepting commissions from these staffing firms for vears.

An executive on condition of anonymity said it is not known for how long this alleged scam was going on. The executive said the company hired over 3,00,000 people in the past three years. Even if ten per cent of the recruitment was made via selected staffing firms who gave a commission on each person recruited, then the scale of the scam would be at least ₹100 crore.

The most preferred routes for hiring executives, as well as contractors for IT companies like TCS, are employee referral programmes and staffing firms. These firms provide lists of candidates to the company, which then conducts tests or interviews and later hires them as per the need.

"While there are complaints regarding code of conduct violations that arise from time to time, the company has robust processes for investigating and resolving them to closure," a TCS spokesperson said.

The RMG division of TCS has around 3,000 people and places around 1,400 engineers on projects daily. The average comes out to be one placement every minute. Last year. TCS earned $27.93 billion in revenue and has 6,14,795 employees.

The two preferred routes for hiring experienced executives for IT services firms such as TCS are employee referral programmes and staffing firms. Even temporary workers or contractors are hired through staffing firms.

This is also the first such scandal that has been reported in TCS. It comes just days after K Krithivasan took over as the company's chief executive officer (CEO).

Oil firms may cut petrol, diesel prices as state polls near

OMCs may be asked to cut petrol and diesel price by ₹4-5/ltr from Aug onwards given the key state elections likely from Nov-Dec onwards INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE New Delhi, June 24: Oil marketing companies (OMCs) may have to cut petrol and diesel price by ₹4-5 a litre from August onwards given the key state elections likely from November-December onwards.

Though OMCs' FY24 P/B valuations appear reasonable, there exists significant uncertainty on earnings in the fuel marketing business given risk of OPEC+ strong pricing power driving high crude price during the next election-heavy 9-12 months, JM Financial Institutional Securities said in a research. Hence, optimism on OMCs will be contingent on crude sustaining below $80/bbl and government fully compensating for FY23 fuel under-recoveries.

OMCs valuations appear reasonable but sharp jump in crude price during elections could pose risk to OMCs marketing earnings, the report said.

However, OMCs marketing segment earnings could come under risk if Brent crude price jumps above OMCs break-even crude price of $85/barrel or if any fuel price cut is followed by rise in crude price, as reversal of fuel price cut might be unlikely during the election period

Upside risk to crude price exists as we believe OPEC+ will continue to support Brent crude price at $75-80/bbl, which is the fiscal break-even crude price for Saudi Arabia, given their strong pricing power, the report said.

OMCs may be asked to cut petrol/diesel price by ₹4-5/ltr from August onwards given the key state elections likely from November - December onwards. Media reports suggest that the oil ministry may nudge OMCs to cut petrol/diesel prices as OMCs' balance sheet have largely got repaired and are likely to report strong profits in Q1FY24; however, the reports didn't mention the likely timeline and quantum of possible cuts as it will depend on level at which crude price and INR/USD exchange

The latest IEA report presents a completely grim picture for the refiners. Spare global refinery capacity is likely to reach 8 million bopd by CY28 amid capacity additions, slowing oil demand from transportation sector and competition from non-refined products, Motilal Oswal Financial Services said in a note.

China will play a key role in balancing the global refined product market as 44 per cent of the upcoming capacity during the next six years and 40 per cent of global spare capacity in CY28 will be concentrated in China.

Oversupply may lead to a glut of refined products in global markets that may weaken refining margins structurally over the medium term. IOCL will be the most hit by declining GRMs due to its highest refining lever-age among OMCs, the research said.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, June 24: Former India captain Sunil Gavaskar has lashed out at the national selectors for making Cheteshwar Pujara the "scapegoat" and ignoring prolific domestic scorer Sarfaraz Khan for the two Tests in the West Indies next month.

Referring to Sarfaraz's nonselection, Gavaskar questioned the logic behind having the Ranji Trophy if performance in the country's premier domestic tour nament is not looked into while picking the Indian red-ball teams instead of taking into account the players' record in the IPL.

"Sarfaraz Khan has been scor ing at an average of 100 in all past three seasons. What does he have to do to be picked in the squad? He might not be in the XI, but you pick him in the team," Gavskar said of the Mumbai batter to Sports Today.

"Tell him that his performances are being recognised. Otherwise, stop playing Ranji Trophy. Say, it's of no use, you just play IPL and think you are good enough for the red-ball game as well.

With the help of three centuries, Sarfaraz amassed 556 runs in six games at an average of 92.66 in the 2022-23 Ranji Trophy. The 25-year-old right handed batter had scored 982 runs at an average of 122.75 in the 2021-22 Ranji season, including four hundreds. In all,

BACK TO WORK A DAY AFTER SNUB

New Delhi: The doughty Cheteshwar Pujara hit the ground running and batted in the middle a day after being dropped from the Indian Test team for the upcoming West Indies tour, taking the axing in his stride. Pujara uploaded a nine-minute video clip of him batting in a ground and playing few shots. The senior Indian batter was Friday dropped from the Indian Test squad travelling to the West Indies for a two-match series next month. Pujara was subjected to harsh criticism after his underwhelming performance in the recently concluded World Test Championship Final at The Oval in London. With Pujara being dropped from the Windies tour, it is being speculated in certain sections that the India veteran may have played his last Test. However, Pujara's father and coach Arvind said his son can make a comeback to the national side and has already started his preparation for the Duleep trophy. "He is mentally very strong. I can't comment about selection. But from what I have seen, he is batting at his best. In fact, he was working hard in the nets the same day post the WI team announcement," he said. "He has started preparing for the Duleep trophy and will continue playing on the county circuit. As a father and coach, there is no reason for me to believe why he can't comeback."

Sarfaraz has scored 3,505 runs in 37 first-class matches at an avturies.

erage of 79.65, including 13 cen-

As far as Pujara is concerned, his absence from the Indian Test team for the Windies tour has been one of the talking points. He said not having millions of followers on social media platforms, like some of the other India stars such as Virat Kohli and Rohit

Sharma, is no reason to drop anyone. "Why has he been made the scapegoat for our batting failures? He has been a loyal servant of Indian cricket, a quiet and able achiever. But because he doesn't have millions of followers on whatever platforms who would make a noise in case he gets dropped, you drop him? That is something beyond understanding," said Gavaskar.

'What is the criteria for dropping him and keeping the others who failed. I don't know because nowadays there is no media interaction with the selection committee chairman or whoever where you could actually ask these questions,' he added

The highly promising and inform Yashasvi Jaiswal could be taking up the No.3 spot that Pujara made his own over the last decade. Continuing, the batting great said that age should not be a criteria for selecting players.

"Yes he has been playing County cricket, he knows what the red ball is all about," said Gavaskar about Pujara. "Nowadays players can play till they are 39 or 40, there is nothing wrong with that. They are all very fit and as long as you are producing runs or taking wickets, I don't think age should be a factor.

"Clearly only one man has been singled out while the others also failed. To me, the batting failed (in WTC final). Apart from Ajinkya Rahane, there was nobody who got any runs. So why Pujara has been made the fall guy is something the selectors need to explain," he said

Mumbai. June 24: For Yashasvi Jaiswal, who got his maiden callup in the India Test side Friday when the BCCI announced the squad for the upcoming two-Test series in the West Indies, it was the culmination of a journey he had embarked on almost a decade ago.

Having left his home in Bhadohi, Uttar Pradesh, spending early teenage years at a tent at the Azad Maidan here and doing hard yards in Maximum City under his coach Jwala Singh, an India cap wasn't everything for the 21-year-old batting prodigy, but the only thing he aspired for.

It was never about how he would get there but when. Friday afternoon the news came, and there was pure joy and elation in equal measure for the stylish southpaw

The young batter told this agency in an exclusive interview that he was both nervous and excited over the possibility of his call-up to the India Test side, a dream that turned into reality after putting in splendid performances across formats in domestic cricket as well as in the IPL.

"My father started crying (when he got to know)," said Jaiswal, adding that he would head to the National Cricket Academy (NCA) in Bangalore perhaps in a couple of days to prepare for the West Indies tour. Having returned recently to his home here, Jaiswal revealed he had a busy day Friday, as he was out for a training session followed by a shoot - which is Jaiswal was among the reserve players for the World Test Championship final earlier this month and a call-up for the West Indies tour for two Tests was inevitable after proving himself across formats.

"I am feeling good, I will try to do my best," Jaiswal said. "I am excited but at the same time I just want to go out and express myself," he added.

Jaiswal said he was nervous till the time he saw his name in the squad announced by the BCCI. "I was a little nervous, till the time you do not get to know that your name is there in the team, there are butterflies.

Nepal could have gone 1-0 up in the match had Bimal Ghatri was a bit quicker with his shot. as it was kicked away by Rohit Kumar close to the goal line in the 34th minute.

In the 41st minute, Mahesh, who made a fine run down the right flank, jinked a lovely cross to Sahal inside the box but the latter overran the ball and could to beat goalkeeper Kiran Limbu.

The goal energised the Indian players and they continued the search for another with Sahal marshalling the midfield brilliantly. The Kerala man along with Mahesh Singh worked the engine room of India in the second half.

The second goal was a tribute to Sahal's speed and skills. The midfielder made a bull run through the centre and his pass found Chhetri but his shot deflected off Limbu. However, Mahesh was right in place to head the ball into the net in the 70th minute as India gained a decisive 2-0 lead.

Despite conceding a two-goal lead, Nepal tried gamely to stage a comeback. But India were able to keep the scoreline intact.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Beroun (Czech Republic), June 24: Diksha Dagar produced a stunning bogey free 7-under 65 to build a five-shot lead after two rounds in the Czech Ladies Open here.

Diksha moved to 10-under 134 with rounds of 69 and 65 as was five clear of Spain's Ana Pelaez Trivino (70) and English duo of Cara Gainer (68) and Gabriela Cowley (67), who were now 5-under 139 with one more round to go.

Diksha, who won the Women's South African Open in 2019, is seeking her second title on the Ladies European Tour. A win for her will mean a second LET win for Indians, as Aditi Ashok earlier in the season won the ২ Kenya Ladies Open.

Another Indian, Pranavi Urs, who like Diksha did well on her home Tour — the WPG Tour earlier — had two eagles on the front nine after starting late in the second round.

War of words continues between Yogeshwar, protesting wrestlers

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, June 24: Facing opposition from fellow wrestlers for receiving exemption from Asian Games trials, the protesting wrestlers Saturday denied demanding such a favour from IOA and said they will quit wrestling if it is proved.

London Olympic bronze medallist Yogeshwar Dutt Friday questioned if these grapplers were agitating to get such favours and exhorted the junior wrestlers, their coaches and parents to raise voice against this injustice.

'We did not ask for exemption from trials, just asked for time to prepare," said Sakshi after going live on social media. "If you had problems with onebout trial, you should have gone to the sports minister. But you chose to spread poison through social media," Bajrang said.

'We are ready to quit wrestling  $\ if \ it \ is \ proved \ that \ we \ asked \ for \$ exemption. We never wrote any letter for exemption."

It was first reported by PTI Thursday that six protesting wrestlers-the troika, Bajrang's wife Sangeeta Phogat, Sakshi's husband Satywart Kadian and Jitender Kinha - will have to win just one bout against the winner of stage-one trials to be on the Indian team for the Asian Games and World Championships.

The wrestlers also vowed to continue their fight. "We will continue our fight till Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh is punished, we are waiting for chargesheet," Vinesh said.

Sakshi, Bajrang and Vinesh Phogat have been demanding arrest of former WFI chief Brij Bhushan for allegedly sexually harassing women wrestlers.
