11 dists of Odisha report deficit rainfall, while 18 experience normal precipitation this monsoon; Boudh only district with 21% excess rain

PNN & AGENCIES

Bhubaneswar, August 30: With about one-third of the state's geographical area experiencing deficit rainfall due to weak monsoon, the state government has prepared a contingency plan to deal with the situation, a top official said Wednesday.

Of the 30 districts, 11 reported deficit rainfall while 18 experienced normal precipitation. Only one district, Boudh, has recorded 21 per cent excess rainfall during the ongoing monsoon. The districts (till August 30) which come under deficit rainfall category are: Nabarangpur (-41 per cent), Kendrapara (minus 37%), Kalahandi (-36%), Ganjam (-35%), Jagatsinghpur, Jajpur, Khurda (each -28%), Puri, Cuttack (both -26%), Rayagada (-25%) and Koraput (-22%) The districts which record deficit rainfall ranging from minus

20 per cent to minus 59 per cent are considered as deficit areas. Odisha's Special Relief Commissioner (SRC) Satyabrata Sahu told reporters that some places in the state experienced deficit rainfall this year so far.

"The Agriculture department has prepared a contingency plan to deal with the situation," the SRC said. He said the department will take measures as per the plan on how to maintain the standing crops and start fresh cultivation where crops have been damaged. The SRC however, said the IMD has predicted good rainfall in September. According to the Regional Meteorological Centre here, the state since June 1, 2013 till August 30, 2023, has received a rainfall of 783.1 mm against the normal precipitation of 906.5mm thus recording a cumulative deficit of about 14 per cent. However, director of the weather body, HR Biswas said though the state is experiencing a weak monsoon, the situation will change from September 1. He said the IMD has forecast heavy rain and thunderstorm with lightning in several districts from the first week of September. With the gradual strengthening of monsoon flow over the state, the intensity of rainfall is also likely to increase from the beginning of September, Biswas said. He added that a cyclonic circulation lies over Northeast and adjoining East-Central Bay of Bengal and the numerical model indicates possibility of a fresh low pressure by September 4 and it could further increase the intensity of rain in Odisha.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 30: The CBI has taken over the investigation in 27 FIRs lodged in connection with ethnic clashes in Manipur that have claimed more than 160 lives in nearly four months, officials said.

According to the latest data, the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) has so far registered 27 cases handed over to it by the state police - 19 cases of crime against women, three related to an armoury loot by a mob, two of murder and one each of rioting and murder, kidnapping and general criminal conspiracy - sources aware of the developments said.

The agency has re-registered these cases, but has not made the details public because of the sensitive nature of the situation prevailing in the northeastern state, they said.

CBI teams have started questioning the suspects and victims after visiting the crime sites, the sources added.

The investigation gained momentum after the CBI top brass mobilised a team of 53 officers. including 29 women, drawn from various units of the federal agency across the country to probe the cases, they said.

The CBI has deployed another lot of 30 officers for probing cases in Manipur, giving further boost to the manpower involved in investigating the cases of violence, the sources said.

Around 100 officials of the agency are working on the ground to conclude the investigation in the 27 cases.

With the society in Manipur divided on ethnic lines, the CBI is facing the critical task of avoiding allegations of bias during the operation as any in-

The Supreme Court has already ordered a transfer of the CBI cases related to the Manipur violence to Assam.

The sources said several of these cases being probed by the CBI may attract provisions of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989, which can be investigated by an officer of the rank of deputy superintendent of police.

Since deputy SPs cannot be supervisory officers in such cases, the agency has mobilised one of its SP-ranked officers to monitor the investigation, they said.

The team that also includes at least three DIGs will report to a joint director who is supervising the overall probe, the sources said.

It is understood to be a firstof-its-kind mobilisation where such a large number of women officers have been simultane ously pressed into service, they added.

More than 160 people have been killed and several hundreds injured since ethnic violence broke out in Manipur May 3, when a 'Tribal Solidarity March' was organised in the hill districts to protest against the majority Meitei community's demand for Scheduled Tribe status.

Meiteis account for about 53 per cent of Manipur's population and live mostly in the Imphal valley, while tribals, including Nagas and Kukis, constitute 40 per cent and reside mostly in the hill districts.

Bhubaneswar, August 30: Business establishments, apartments and shopping malls should install at least one camera focused towards public roads, the Commissionerate Police said, Wednesday.

Launching 'Sahabhagita' (participation) initiative

SAHABHAGIT here, police commissioner SK Priyadarsi said the move is aimed at preventing and curbing crime incidents.

'The initiative (Sahabhagita), which was earlier launched in Cuttack, will now be implemented in Bhubaneswar," he said, urging citizens to share IP addresses of private CCTVs with law enforcers to fight crime.

Noting that CCTV cameras play an important role in surveillance, fight against crime and traffic management, he said that the initiative was launched in Cuttack city in July last year, and till now 600 community (private) CCTV cameras have been linked to the police control room.

"We appeal to CCTV camera owners of shopping malls, markets, business houses, jew-A ellery shops, banks and apartments to link their CCTV footage with police by sharing their IP addresses and keep at least one camera facing the road which can help track the movement of the people," the Privadarsi said.

He also assured the CCTV camera owners that their identities would remain confidential. He asked them to contact the local police station and share their IP addresses

AADHAAR BASED PAYMENT SYSTEM

Deadline extended for MGNREGA workers

KULDEEP SINGH, OP

New Delhi, August 30: The Union government Wednesday extended the deadline for mandatory use of Aadhaar based payment system (ABPS) for payment of wages to MGNREGAworkers till December 31 or further orders.

This is the fifth extension of the deadline for making ABPS mandatory for wage payments. The Union government had announced ABPS for payment of wages to MGNREGA workers in January this year and the initial deadline for the mandatory use of ABPS mode was February 1. The deadline was later extended to March 31, then June 30, and thereafter, to August 31.

"The progress of Aadhaarbased Payment System (ABPS) has been reviewed and the mixed route of wage payment (NACH and ABPS route) has been extended till December 31, 2023 or till further order," the Ministry of Rural Development said. The Centre has further made it clear to all the states that the beneficiaries shall not be refused work if they fail to provide Aadhaar number.

"The beneficiary who comes for work should be requested to provide the Aadhaar number but will not be refused work on this basis. If a beneficiary does not demand for work, in such case her/his status about eligibility for APBS does not affect the demand for work. Job cards cannot be deleted on the basis of reason that the worker is not eligible for APBS," the ministry said.

It stated that once Aadhaar is updated in the scheme database, beneficiary need not update account numbers due to change

The Congress party has demanded that the Modi government should stop weaponizing Aadhaar and technology to deny the most vulnerable citizens their social welfare benefits. It demanded that the government shall release the payments due to MGNREGA workers and implement open muster rolls and social audits to improve transparency. In a statement, Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh said, "This has become inevitable because despite four extensions, 41.1 per cent of the total 26 crore job card holders still remain ineligible for this mode of payment," he said.

in location or change in bank account number. Money will be transferred to the account number which is linked with Aadhaar number. The National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI) data shows that there is higher success percentage to the extent of 99.55 percent or above where the Aadhaar is enabled for DBT. In case of Account based payment, such success is about 98 percent.

The ministry further said that out of the total 14.33 crore active beneficiaries, Aadhaar has been seeded for 13.97 crore. Against these seeded Aadhaar, a total 13.34 crore Aadhaar have been authenticated and 81.89 percent of active workers are now eligible for APBS. In the month of July 2023, about 88.51 percent of the wage payment has been made through APBS, the ministry

New kidney-like device to free patients from dialysis

I n a breakthrough, US scientists have, for the first time, developed an implantable device that could one day free kidney failure patients from needing dialysis or having to take harsh drugs to suppress their immune system after a transplant.

The team at University of California-San Francisco discovered that kidney cells, housed in an implantable device called a bioreactor, can survive inside the body of a pig and mimic several important kidney functions.

The device, described in a paper published in Nature Communications, can work quietly in the background, like a pacemaker, and does not trigger the recipient's immune system to go on the attack.

Eventually, scientists plan to fill the bioreactor with different kidney cells that perform vital functions like balancing the body's fluids and releasing hormones to regulate blood pressure - then pair it with a device that filters waste from the blood.

The aim is to produce a human-scale device to improve on dialysis, which keeps people alive after their kidneys fail but is a poor substitute for having a real working organ. Thousands of people worldwide require dialysis several times a week. Many seek kidney transplants, but there are not enough donors, and only about 20,000 people receive them each year. An implantable artificial kidney would be a boon.

ney would be a boon. "We are focused on safely replicating the key functions of a kidney," said Shuvo Roy, a bioengineering professor in the UCSF School of Pharmacy.

"The bioartificial kidney will make treatment for kidney disease more effective and also much more tolerable and comfortable," he added. The team tracked the kidney cells and the recipient animals for seven days after transplantation and both did well.

Roy and his team engineered the bioreactor to connect directly to blood vessels and veins, allowing the passage of nutrients and oxygen, much like a transplanted kidney would.

Silicon membranes keep the kidney cells inside the biore-actor safe from attack by the recipient's immune cells. The team used a type of kidney cell called a proximal tubule cell, which regulates water and salt, as a test case.

The next step will be monthlong trials, as required by the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA), first in animals and eventually in humans.

"We needed to prove that a functional bioreactor will not require immunosuppressant drugs, and we did," Roy said.

"We had no complications and can now iterate up, reaching for the whole panel of kidney functions at the human scale."

He maintains a pro-China stance and defames India abroad, Pradhan claimed. Speaking at the Surakhya Bandhan Utsav in Sukinda area, Pradhan said that there is no shortage of funds from the Centre but beneficiaries are being deprived of various schemes because of the inefficient and corrupt BJD government in the state.

He claimed Odisha had received only ₹3 lakh crore from the Centre during the 10 years of UPA rule but the state received ₹18 lakh crore from the BJP-led Union government in the last nine years.

Abhiyan, Odisha unit.

Rayagada police expressed their ignorance about the incident and denied allegations that Samantara might have been picked up by the policemen in plainclothes.

Samanatra had extended his support to the agitation by local tribals against bauxite mining in Sijimali and Kutrumal in Kashipur block of Rayagada district by different companies.

Samantara claimed that he had been to Rayagada to meet jailed tribal leaders but was kidnapped before a press meet scheduled at 4pm.

On August 18, Tikiri police had detained Bhala Chandra Sarangi, an activist leader, who was going to Kashipur to discuss tribal agitation against mining in the area.

"I think the government might have been behind it to suppress anti-mining agitation in the area," said Sarangi, who was also present at the press meet.

JSW Foundation's anti-dengue awareness campaign in Barbil

POST NEWS NETWORK

Barbil, August 30: JSW Foundation, in association with a local Self-Help Group (SHG), has launched a comprehensive antidengue awareness campaign in response to the growing concern of rising dengue cases in the city at Ward No. 15 in Barbil.

As part of the campaign, JSW Foundation donated 200 mosquito nets and fogging machines besides developed information pamphlets on how to curb dengue through good cleanliness and hygiene practices. The materials were donated in the presence of ward members and local people. Ward No. 15 member Shibananda Champia and Ward No. 14 member Subhashree Debasmita Patra encouraged the residents to adhere to dengue prevention measures.

Key personalities including Pushpa Das, Shankar Konar, and Sunil Gupta graced the event with their presence and expressed their support for the campaign. JSW Foundation officials emphasised the importance of preventive measures, urging households to eliminate potential breeding grounds for dengue mosquitoes, such as stagnant water in coolers, containers, and trays

The officials further stressed the need for community members to sensitize themselves and raise awareness among their peers. Fostering a sense of responsibility among young minds was highlighted as a crucial aspect of combating dengue and preventing its spread.

Speaking on the campaign Ashwini Saxena, CEO of JSW Foundation said, "Dengue has been a prevailing concern around the country. The town of Barbil has been witnessing growing cases of the fever. Through the anti-dengue campaign, JSW Foundation reiterates its commitment to the health and wellbeing of the community. Our goal through this campaign is to create a dengue-free environment through continued collaboration and proactive initiatives."

tudies of the role of intelligence operations inevitably have a Rashomon-like quality, with the same events yielding various, sometimes contradictory, interpretations. The world of intelligence, after all, is one of secrets, special-access compartments, covert action, clandestine relationships, and occasionally off-the-books escapades. This makes it very difficult to assess successes and failures, and to chronicle the role of intelligence in political leaders' decisions.

Harvard historian Calder Walton confronts this challenge head on in a new book, Spies: The Epic Intelligence War Between East and West, which recounts the rise and role of modern intelligence capabilities through the history of the West's competition with the Russian security services. It is an ambitious and entertaining story, but one that is also firmly grounded in academic research. In fact, Walton's account sheds new light on seemingly well-studied events, from the Bolshevik Revolution and World War II to the deployment of moles in the ranks of American, British, and Russian intelligence services at the end of the century.

Walton draws on newly opened archives, formerly classified inhouse histories, memoirs, and interviews with policymakers and spies

He thus illuminates how intelligence contributed to episodes like the 1962 Cuban Missile Crisis and the 1983 Able Archer incident, when a NATO drill triggered Soviet fears of a Western first strike, bringing the world to the brink of nuclear war.

But Walton does more than add previously secret details to old accounts. In an example of "applied history," he uses his examination of the past to weigh in on current events, such as the Ukraine war, and raise important questions about the future, including whether Western intelligence can prevail against China in the new cold war.

Spies details the rise and role of Russia's intelligence services, from Lenin's Cheka to Stalin's KGB to their post-Soviet incarnations. It offers new insights into their domestic and international missions, from the murderous role of the NKVD, the KGB's predecessor, in Stalin's Great Purge to the penetration of the Manhattan Project by Soviet spies gathering secrets vital to Moscow's nuclear breakthrough. And it describes how the SVR and the FSB, the KGB's successors, still use a Soviet-era playbook to guide their espionage, disinformation, and covert action abroad and repression at home.

Thanks to President Vladimir Putin - a former KGB man himself -KGB alumni dominate the Russian elite, including its corrupt economic oligarchy, and lead the powerful coercive institutions that are transforming Russia into an authoritarian security state. Whatever their labels, Russia's security services have formed the backbone of its ruling regimes in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries.

But, as Walton demonstrates, Russia's intelligence services have always had significant deficiencies, rooted not least in a totalitarian culture that has made it impossible to speak truth to power. From the deadly purges that reached deep into the NKVD in the 1930s to the top-down decision-making in Putin's Kremlin, the message to the rank and file has remained simple: say what your leader wants to hear, because unvarnished reporting and analysis can have deadly - not just career-ending - consequences.

According to Walton, the crippling conformity that characterised Soviet intelligence assessments meant that they played at most a marginal role in the Kremlin's Cold War decision-making. The disconnect between approved narratives and reality has also led to signature strategic failures, such as Stalin's rejection of intelligence warning of Hitler's impending invasion in 1941, and Putin's disastrous decision to invade Ukraine in 2022. Walton's historical perspective also provides a valuable framework for assessing the performance of Russia's Western counterparts. From the outset, he argues, Western leaders only belatedly recognised the vulnerabilities of their open societies and the magnitude of the threat posed by Soviet intelligence hat started as a futuristic global investment assessment by American investment firm Goldman Sachs in 2001, identifying four emerging economies with potential to lead a new financial architecture, has had its fruition in the concrete setting up of an alternate geopolitical and geoeconomic institutional structure as evinced in the recently concluded 15th Summit of the BRICS (Brazil, Russia, India, China, and South Africa which joined in 2010) at Johannesburg. With two back-to back major global catastrophes, COVID-19 and the Ukraine war, a good number of low and middle-income countries, facing the brunt of these events in terms of food. fuel, and fertiliser crises and attendant poverty, hunger and malnutrition problems have been desperate to come together to agitate for their cause in a non-

UN forum given the lackadaisical nature of the world organisation, both in attention and delivery. These countries, the so-called emerging markets and developing countries (EMCDs), form the bulk of the Global South which has rallied to create a separate forum to ventilate their grievances and call for greater global attention. This explains why above 50 countries, the bulk from Africa, converged on Johannesburg during the Summit out which six were finally selected (from 22 applicants) to be inducted as new members from the 1 Jan 2024. Four from Arab/Asia (Egypt, Saudi Arabia. UAE and Iran). one from Africa (Ethiopia), and one from South America (Argentina) were selected on the basis of consensus. It needs to be noted that while India has strategic relationships with five of the six new members, China shares deep economic ties with almost all of them with the latter being members of the Chinaled Belt and Road Initiative.

It may have been a slight distraction for India to be sidelined with Xi's state visit, which coincided with the Summit, getting better protocol. If South African media reports are to be believed, the Indian PM refused to alight the aircraft realising that the South African government had sent a minister to receive him. Consequently, the Vice President was hastily summoned to receive PM Modi. There were also scenes of anti-Modi demonstrations in Johannesburg with 'Go Modi' slogans and hate posters. This however did not deter Modi from making his points forcefully in staking a leadership position in the Global South. The Chandrayaan-3 landing on the Moon while the Summit was in full swing may have given Modi a further boost. The G20 Presidency could add further heft to India's profile though internal disturbances could affect its outreach in the Summit and beyond. The Johannesburg Declaration, the outcome document of the Summit, called for "greater representation of the EMCDs in international organizations, and special and differential treatment for developing countries in the WTO."

Russia was represented at the Summit by Foreign Minister Lavrov with Putin absenting himself against the background of an ICC arrest warrant though his presence loomed large in the members taking a cautious stand in referring to Ukraine. Putin in his video message at the leaders' meeting called for "building of a multi-polar world, one that is truly balanced." In fact, all other members widely welcomed holding of the 16th Summit in Kazan, Russia in 2024. It was apparent from the deliberations that the grouping was trying to evolve a new language and structure, away from the US-guided international rules-based order.

This has put India in a piquant situation. The obvious question is, can India's credibility stand when it is seen in one grouping with Russia and China and in the other with the US and its allies in the Quad. That would be India's greatest challenge in the coming days, leveraging that with a year-long preparatory exercise for the G20 Summit (Sept 9-10) in New Delhi with all major powers signing up (barring Russia again). Burdened with a host of internal problems, despite all efforts by the Modi government to present an image of peace and stability, India risks taking a beating.

With induction of the new members, BRICS would come to represent over 41% of the global population and nearly 30% of global GDP. The crucial question remains, the future evolution of BRICS. With disparate systems and divergent objectives the need would be to find congruence to chart a unified and strong path. While China and India, the two strongest and populous economies, are vying for leadership of the Global South, China seems to have an edge.

Besides, the West's apathy for this group may not help India in the long run as the majority of members, old and new, may look at China more for finance and investments support, and join China-led Global Development Initiative, a corollary of BRI.

As an aside, it needs mention that the Modi-Xi "informal' conversations which took place on the sidelines of the Summit at India's request showed India in a non-flattering light while the Chinese side demonstrated its recalcitrance to resolve the 3-year old border tensions despite the 19 Commander-level talks so far. There were divergent assessments of the leaders' statements following the talks. While Modi underlined that maintenance of peace and tranquillity in border areas and observing and respecting the LAC were essential for normalisation of relationship, Xi told Modi that both sides should consider the "overall interest" of ties and "properly handle" the border issue. Now with the China border map of 2023 having shown both Arunachal Pradesh and Siachen as part of China, the latter's intention is clear. Both Demchok and Depsang friction points are still very much alive and it is not likely that China would disengage with so much infrastructure built and manpower deployed. So long as China views India through the US prism it will continue to harden its position to keep India under constant pressure on its eastern border. Following the Summit BRICS has been galvanised with a new spirit to evolve a counter narrative to West-established development paradigm. However, the more pressing issue would be to first stabilise its internal dynamics for the sake of cohe sion and harmony. In that lies the future of the Global South and to a large extent settling animosities between India and its eastern adversary.

In fact, US intelligence got off to a rocky start. When the Central Intelligence Agency was created in 1947, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Omar Bradley was angry that he was not put in charge. So, he teamed up with FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, himself no fan of the intelligence start-up, to keep the CIA's director, Roscoe Hillenkoetter, in the dark. Hillenkoetter was thus not informed of the top-secret Venona project or the revelations of far-reaching Soviet spying, before, during, and after WWII, that the programme's cryptologists produced. This US intelligence "mess," as Walton aptly calls it, lasted until 1952.

Of course, bureaucratic rivalries and political infighting continued, even as the US intelligence community matured. But popular ambivalence has also affected the trajectory of America's intelligence services, owing to disagreements about their role in a democracy together with decades of controversy, from failed covert-action programmes and proxy wars abroad to abuses of power at home.

As a changing world transforms the security landscape, national leaders will need public cooperation. But deep polarisation and growing popular distrust in government, exemplified by (but not confined to) those who believe former President Donald Trump's claims about the mythical "Deep State," pose significant hurdles and threaten America's democracy and international role. While Walton acknowledges this danger, he is far more concerned about the threat China poses in an increasingly technology-driven world. Here, Walton doesn't mince words. US leaders, he contends, have ignored China's massive, multi-front intelligence offensive, underfunding collection and counterintelligence, and underplaying the economic, technological, and strategic challenge the country poses. "If I were to situate where we...are (regarding China) today," he writes, "I would place us at approximately the year 1947.

That said, Walton's case for action on China lacks the depth of analysis that buttresses his judgements about Russia. And his recommendations for future intelligence efforts - based on "lessons" from the last 100 years - are thought-provoking, though less than persuasive. "The age of the secret service is over," he writes in his conclusion. "In a world that will be increasingly dominated by open-source information, the future of intelligence lies in the private sector, not with governments." Maybe so. But Walton's faith in technology as the intelligence world's silver bullet, and in the power of persuasion to enlist corporations that demonstrate daily their reluctance to leave the Chinese market, merit skepticism. As Walton notes, history may not repeat itself, but it does, as Mark Twain quipped, sometimes rhyme. Whether high-tech tools and open-source collection or classic espionage will deliver what countries need remains to be seen. But one thing is certain: in any democratic society, popular and political support for intelligence is vital. The success of any intelligence service begins at home.

THE ISRO'S IMPRESSIVE COST-EFFICIENCY IN SPACE EXPLORATION IS STRIKINGLY EVIDENT WHEN COMPARED TO OTHER SPACE AGENCIES WORLDWIDE

ernment departments can effectively function at far lower costs. The country possibly does not need big ticket projects for constructions and demolitions as the historic landing at the moon's south pole exemplifies. The budgeting and costing method of governance needs a review. And undoubtedly, it can be much simpler. The payload of Mangalyaan in 2013 was about 15 kg while NASA's Curiosity Mars project weighed about a 1000 kg. This explains the cost difference. For studies, the concept and reach of equipment matters, not the size. The ISRO has achieved its feat for abysmally low annual budget of $1.93 billion against $25.3 billion of NASA in 2023-24. The White House enhanced it to $27.2 billion. Even the crashed Russian Luna project cost over $190 million against $75 million or ₹615 crore for Chandrayaan-3.

Indeed, it is a feat to achieve so much for a cost that is 13 times less than that of NASA. The lion's share of NASA's $8.1 billion, four times more than the total ISRO expenses, is provided for its ing the Artemis-II mission to the moon next year and sending man to Mars. In fact, the 2023-24 budget has ISRO allocation at ₹12543 crore against ₹13700 crore a year back.

ISRO is not a spender like the highways or urban development ministries. Its Antrix earns an average of ₹200 crore or $25 million a year from its launches. Besides, it earns from its transponder and other communication services. Department of Space and its arm New Space India Ltd earned ₹2780 crore in 2022-23, up from ₹929 crore in 2020-21. It is steadily engaged in providing options to reduce imports by 40 to 50%. ISRO has prioritised homegrown components and technologies over costly imports. It pursues the indigenisation programme for critical components, materials and subsystems with industry participation to reduce import dependence.

Indian highways collect almost 13 times more than its need of ₹60,000 crore through tolls and cess. This spurts inflation. The collapse of ILFS with ₹91000 crore dumps testifies mega overspending. The ISRO model reduces costs and inflationary pres-review expenses of departments not only under its control but also of the major private sector organisations that sustain on outsourced government work.

ISRO's impressive cost-efficiency in space exploration is strikingly evident when compared to other space agencies worldwide. In 2022, India's space programme budget ranked seventh globally. Even in lunar missions, Chandrayaan-3's budget remains notably lower than most other competitors. ISRO's precision achievement at such low-cost calls for showcasing of its performance as also study its working pattern as to how it achieves the feat at a budget of ₹13479 crore in 2020 and ₹12500 crore in 2023, almost a ₹1000 crore less. The ISRO earned ₹1100 crore or $94 million in the last five years from the launch of foreign satellites, according to a statement of Minister of State for Space Jitendra Singh in Rajya Sabha. This is in addition to its earnings from other communication services. The ISRO launched 177 foreign satellites through its commercial arm Antrix between

January 2018 and November

19 countries. It has earned $223 million or ₹1830 crore from launching foreign satellite aboard the Polar Satellite Launch Vehicles (PSLV).

The ISRO generates its major share of revenue by the sale of satellite data, leasing the INSAT/ GSAT transponders along with various other services to national and international clientele.

Antrix's turnover kept rising over the years. It was ₹884 crore in 2009-2010. ₹1924 crore in 2015-2016 while its profits have surged from ₹108 crore in 2009-10 to ₹209 crore in 2015-16. ISRO's earnings from its commercial space missions have been growing continuously.

While the national highway system has created a system of tendering and a genre of subcontracting, creating cartels, ISRO has developed a large ancillary that enriches its products and builds up critical national resource. In the coming years, ISRO has bigger plans and is likely to give many surprises by increasing its income and enriching the space journey. Government departments would do well to take a few lessons for starters.

Nutrition awareness

Sir, The effects of bad diets are severe, causing millions of deaths annually worldwide and contributing to various health problems. The COVID-19 pandemic worsened this situation, highlighting the connection between poor eating habits and common issues like obesity, diabetes, and high blood pressure. It's crucial to prioritise healthy eating, especially in a world where people are often inactive, have unhealthy diets, and experience stress. Obesity is a big problem in Indian cities, while some still don't have enough food. India ranks 107th out of 121 countries on the Global Hunger Index, showing the need for more nutritious food. National Nutrition Week is from September 1 to 7, promoting healthy eating and a balanced lifestyle for better physical and mental health. The goal is to raise awareness and encourage good food choices. The week's importance arises from growing worries about heart diseases, obesity, and inadequate diets. It draws inspiration from the 1975 initiative of the American Dietetic Association, aimed at educating people about nutrition's role in well-being. India acknowledged the week in 1982, launching multiple campaigns to underscore the link between nutrition and a healthy lifestyle. Bad nutrition causes diseases and costs a lot globally. Eating better could make things better. People want healthier products, and investments in health are going up. Bad nutrition affects more than just health - it also costs the environment and society. A systemic approach is necessary to promote the role of nutrition in holistic well-being and prevention by fostering better consumption patterns, aligning with consumers' desire for Krishna Kumar Vepakomma, HYDERABAD healthier lives.

LPG relief

Sir, The Union government slashing the price of domestic gas cylinders by as much as ₹200 is a well-designed strategy. The reduction will also affect LPG cylinders under the Prime Minister's Ujjwala Yogna. Prime Minister Narendra Modi celebrated the decision as a Rakhi gift to women. But the Opposition viewed it as an election gimmick ahead of 🔺 the crucial Lok Sabha elections and the Assembly polls in a handful of states. The government will compensate oil marketing companies for selling LPG cylinders at a discounted rate. NJ Ravi Chander, BANGALORE

A large number of people, condition of restoring statehood even from far off places, come to after the return of normalcy, there would be no reason to delay the temple every Onam to get a glimpse of the vanarasadya, the the legislative assembly in J&K so that power is transferred to the elected representatives of the people," said a senior leader of the regional National Conference (NC) while adding that a formal reaction would soon be given by NC president, Dr. Farooq Abdullah.

The leaders of the Peoples Democratic Party (PDP) said the restoration of statehood should be the first step towards ending people's suffering in J&K.

"We believe that the restoration of statehood would be the means and not the end in itself to undone the wrongs done August 5, 2019 when Article 370 was unconstitutionally abrogated," said a top leader of the PDP. who like the NC said a formal statement would be given by the party president, Mehbooba Mufti

Similarly, middle rung leaders of the J&K Apni Party headed by Syed Altaf Bukhari, Peoples

can be verified or

the SEBI w

Conference (PC) headed by Sajad Gani Lone and others have described the likely restoration of statehood to J&K as a much awaited decision.

Constitutional experts and senior advocates are discussing the constitutional and administrative implications of the restoration of statehood.

Speaking to IANS, senior advocate, Tasaduq Khwaja said, "Two constitutional and legal scenarios will emerge."

If the Centre announces restoration of statehood to J&K as it existed August 4. 2019, then the constitutional requirement would be to revisit the reorganisation which was done in J&K after downgrading of state, he said

That would require revisiting/revoking all reorganisational decisions whether legal or administrative. Like the present AGMUT cadre of IAS and IPS will not remain relevant, it would have to be replaced by state cadres of these elite services as they existed before reorganisation.

Khwaja said this will also apply to many other procedures, decisions and orders that were taken on the strength of the reorganisation of J&K.

The second scenario would be the Centre announcing the upgrading of J&K to a state," he said.

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Thiruvananthapuram, August 30: Why does a person touted as the 'people's CM' need a tightened safety is a question doing rounds in Kerala amid news of Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan moving in unprecedented security cover.

This comes in the wake of addition of 45 security personnel to his existing nearly 50 police personnel team.

When queried, his party leaders dismissed it saying this is not unusual for a person getting Z+ security cover.

Earlier, his cover comprised around a dozen vehicles in his motor cavalcade, including an ambulance and few commandos among around 40 police officials.

Meanwhile, this enhanced security has left his rivals irked. Leader of Opposition VD Satheesan and other Congress leaders never miss an opportunity to take pot shots at the chief minister. Terming it nuisance

Mehbooba Mufti calls for return of Kashmiri Pandits

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Wednesday called for the return of Kashmiri Pandits to the valley, saying the atmosphere of gloom in the union territory will end only after that.

The atmosphere of gloom will not end in the Kashmir Valley until Kashmiri Pandits return to their homes and live with dignity and joy, Mufti told reporters at Thajiwara in Bijbehara area of south Kashmir's Anantnag district.

She attended a special prayer meet at the temple here in which scores of Kashmiri Pandits participated. Mufti, a former chief minister of Jammu and Kashmir, said she prayed for the return of the Pandits to the valley.

"I wish and pray to God, and I prayed here as well, to end our miseries and bring a day when, like today we see Kashmiri Pandits and Muslims brothers and sisters enjoying here, our Kashmiri pandit brethren who are in Jammu or Delhi or anywhere else, return to their homes and live their life with dignity like the yesteryears," she said. Meanwhile, Mehbooba's daughter Iltija Mufti ac-

tunate that they are trying to spread this venom among the children now. I have seen many videos on social media where children are shouting disgusting slogans," Iltija told reporters at Thajiwara in the Bijbehara area of south Kashmir's Anantnag district.

She was reacting to a question about a social media video that showed a teacher asking Class II students to slap a classmate in Uttar Pradesh's Muzaffarnagar.

She accused the BJP of plunging the whole country into darkness.

Beijing, August 30: China Wednesday defended its move to release a new "standard map" for 2023 showing Arunachal Pradesh and Aksai Chin as part of its territory, saying that it is a "routine practice" in accordance with its law and urged India to "stay objective and calm" and refrain from "over-interpreting" the issue.

India Tuesday lodged a strong protest with China over its so-called "standard map" laying claim over Arunachal Pradesh and the Aksai Chin, and asserted that such steps only complicate the resolution of the boundary question.

The External Affairs Ministry also rejected these claims as having "no basis". "Just making absurd claims does not make other people's territories vours," External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar told NDTV while reacting to the Chinese move.

Asked for his reaction to India's diplomatic protest by a Chinese state-run outlet, Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Wang Wenbin told a media briefing in Beijing on Wednesday that "August 23, the Ministry of National

PM should speak on it, says Rahul

New Delhi: Congress leader Rahul Gandhi Wednesday termed as "very serious" the issue of China releasing a "standard map" that laid claim over Arunachal Pradesh and Aksai Chin, saying the neighbouring country had already taken India's land in Ladakh and Prime Minister Narendra Modi should speak on the issue. Asked about the map issue as he was leaving for Karnataka, Gandhi told reporters, "I have just returned from Ladakh and I have been saying for years that what the PM has said, that not one inch of land has been lost in Ladakh, is an absolute lie. ## PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 30: The Supreme Court is scheduled to resume hearing Thursday a clutch of petitions challenging the remission granted to all 11 convicts in the Bilkis Bano gang-rape case and murder of seven of her family members during the 2002 Guiarat riots.

A bench of Justices BV Nagarathna and Ujjal Bhuyan, which is hearing the final arguments on the pleas challenging the remission granted to the convicts, will hear for the seventh day the submissions of the accused who are defending their release.

While hearing the arguments on August 24, the top court had said, "Law is supposed to be a noble profession," as it voiced surprise over how can one of the convicts in the case practise law after his conviction, the remission of his sentence notwithstanding.

The issue came to the court's notice when advocate Rishi Malhotra, defending the remission granted to Radheshyam Shah, told the bench that his client had served over 15 years of actual sentence and the state government gave him the relief after taking note of his conduct.

The Gujarat government had released all 11 convicts in the case on the basis of the 1992 remission policy and not the policy adopted in 2014, which is now in force.

Under the 2014 policy, the state cannot grant remission for a crime investigated by the CBI or where people have been convicted of murder with rape or gang-rape.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 30: Researchers have developed an innovative patient triage platform powered by artificial intelligence (AI) that they say can predict patient disease severity and length of hospitalisation during a viral outbreak.

Triage is the prioritisation of patient care based on illness, severity, prognosis, and resource availability. The platform, described recently in the journal Human Genomics, leverages machine learning, a form of AI, and data from metabolomics -- the study of small molecules related to cell metabolism.

patients can be sent home and those possibly needing intensive care unit admission is critical for health officials seeking to optimise patient health outcomes and use hospital resources most efficiently during an outbreak,"said senior study author Vasilis Vasiliou, a professor at Yale University, US.

The researchers developed the platform using Covid-19 as a disease model. It integrates routine clinical data, patient comorbidity information, and untargeted plasma metabolomics data to drive its predictions.

"Our AI-powered patient triage platform is distinct from typical COVID-19 AI prediction models," said Georgia Charkoftaki, a lead author of the study and an associate research scientist at Yale.

Using machine learning, the researchers built a model of COVID-19 severity and prediction of hospitalisation based on clinical data and metabolic profiles collected from patients hospitalized with the disease.

EU'S LARGEST WILDFIRE GETTING UNCONTROLLABLE

The European Union's largest wildfire since the bloc started keeping records more than two decades ago showed no signs of abating Wednesday in northeastern Greece despite the efforts of a multinational firefighting force on the ground and a fleet of water-dropping aircraft. Now in its 12th day, the blaze that began near the port city of Alexandroupolis August 19 joined with smaller fires to form an inferno that has decimated homes and vast tracts of land near the border with Turkiye. With around 81,000 hectares (200,000 acres) of land burned, according to the European Union's Copernicus Emergency Management Service, the blaze is the largest single wildfire any member nation has experienced since the European Forest Fire Information System started keeping records in 2000.

Pak's drug nexus to India busted

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Lahore, August 30: Pakistan's Anti-Narcotics Force (ANF) Wednesday said it has unearthed a crossborder drug smuggling network to India via drones which is being operated by the Lahore police antinarcotics wing head.

Last week, the Pakistan Rangers claimed to have arrested six Indian nationals inside Pakistani territory for allegedly trying to smuggle "narcotics, weapons and ammunition" into Pakistan.

Four of these alleged smugglers belong to India's Firozpur, namely Gurmeet Singh, Shinder Singh, Juginder Singh, and Vishal Jagga. Rattan Pal Singh belongs to Jalandhar and Garvender Singh belongs to Ludhiana.

According to the Punjab police, Lahore police antinarcotics wing head Mazhar Iqbal is accused of smuggling drugs, especially heroin to India via drones. Iqbal has made billions of rupees through smuggling and ac-

PRICE CUT NO GOVT relief for oil COS

IOC, BPCL and HPCL posted bumper earnings in the April-June quarter

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, August 30: Bumper earnings in the first five months of the current fiscal and international benchmark coming off its highs will help state-owned oil companies absorb the Rs 200 per cylinder cut in cooking gas LPG prices, sources said indicating there may be no government compensation for that.

On Tuesday, the government announced a Rs 200 per cylinder cut in prices of domestic cooking gas to soften the impact of rising inflation on households as well as counter the promise of cheaper LPG made by the Congress party in upcoming assembly elections.

This resulted in the price of a 14.2-kg LPG cylinder in the national capital coming down to Rs 903 from Rs 1,103 earlier. For Ujjwala beneficiaries, the price will be Rs 703 after considering the continuing Rs 200 per cylinder subsidy.

State-owned Indian Oil Corporation (IOC), Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd (BPCL) and Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd (HPCL) posted bumper earnings in the April-June quarter and the trend is continuing in thereafter, government and industry sources

Also, Saudi CP - the price to which domestic LPG rates are benchmarked due to high import dependence - declined from $732 per tonne in March 2023 to $385 in July. Rates have gone up in August to $464 per tonne but still provide enough cushion for oil companies to cut LPG prices, they said.

Oil Minister Hardeep Singh Puri in television interviews Wednesday said the three oil marketing companies cut the prices as "good corporate citizens" and the extension of "very healthy profits" of April-June (the first quarter of the current fiscal) in the following months will help their decision. Sources said the price cut is on oil companies and the government has so far not indicated any intention to provide for those. The three firms booked under-recoveries or losses when Saudi CP had shot up in March/April. The losses are yet to be recovered, they said.

An industry source said if the reduction in benchmark rate was the only criterion for deciding the price cut, LPG rates should have then been cut in July. But the decision is political.

Cooking gas prices have shot up in the last couple of years and have become a major election issue.

The government in October 2022 provided a one-time grant of Rs 22,000 crore to oil companies to cover for the losses they had incurred on selling LPG at below cost in the previous two years.

The three firms posted healthy profits in April-June as the freeze on petrol and diesel prices revision despite the fall in oil prices helped margins.

Non-basmati white rice exports trapped at ports allowed

INDIA'S RICE EXPORT CURBS HAVE PUT UPWARD PRESSURE ON GLOBAL RICE PRICES

REUTERS

New Delhi, August 30: India allowed has traders to ship out their non-basmati white rice cargoes sitting at ports due to a sudden ban on exports of the category, a government order said late Tuesday

On July 20, India surprised buyers by banning exports of widely consumed non-basmati white rice to control rising domestic prices. The move followed a ban on broken rice exports last year.

The export ban trapped thousands of tonne of nonbasmati white rice at ports, leaving traders facing losses. The Directorate General of Foreign Trade (DGFT), a unit of the trade ministry, in its latest order said it would allow shipments of trapped cargoes provided traders paid the export duty by July 20, when the ban was imposed.

Before the July ban on non-basmati white rice exports, overseas shipments of the grade would attract a 20% tax.

After the DGFT order, around 150,000 tonne of nonbasmati white rice cargoes would be shipped out of various ports, said Prem Garg, president of the Indian Rice Exporters Federation.

"Three ships were standing still at the Kandla port and a lot of containers were lying at different ports, causing a lot of problems for the rice industry," he said. India, which accounts for 40% of world rice exports, sells the staple to more than 150 countries, including a few poor and vulnerable countries in Africa and Asia. New Delhi exported a record 22.2 million tons of rice in 2022.

After banning non-basmati white rice exports, India Friday imposed a 20% tax on parboiled rice shipments and introduced a floor price for overseas sales of basmati rice, as part of efforts to keep a lid on local prices.

Medvedev rolls on

ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York, August 30: Daniil Medvedev sent an early message that this US Open might be more than a two-man race between Carlos Alcaraz and Novak Diokovic. The 2021 champion rolled into the second round Tuesday, beating Attila Balázs 6-1, 6-1, 6-0 in just 1 hour, 14 min-

Medvedev certainly has the game to compete with either on the hard courts of the US Open, where the Russian was also the runner-up to Rafael Nadal in 2019 before winning his first major two years later.

Later in the day, defending champion and top seed Carlos Alcaraz of Spain advanced to the second round after Dominik Koepfer retired in the second set of their matchup at the Arthur

The 29-year-old sought treatment at the end of the first game and persevered until the middle of the second set when the discomfort became intolerable. Koepfer fought hard to win two games in each of the first two sets, but ultimately retired with Alcaraz leading, 6-2, 3-2. Alcaraz will next meet South African Lloyd Harris.

The women's No.3 seed, Jessica Pegula, also moved on quickly with a 6-2, 6-2 victory over Camila Giorgi. Andy Murray, who won the 2012 US Open title, advanced in straight sets but needed nearly three hours to do it, beating Corentin Moutet 6-2, 7-5, 6-3. Stan Wawrinka, who won the trophy in 2016, followed Murray's victory on the Grandstand.

No.5 seed Ons Jabeur, who lost in last year's final to Iga Swiatek, was checked by a trainer and was coughing and blowing her nose during her match before getting past Camila Osorio 7-5. 7-6(7-4). She said she has the flu and a history of asthma, calling it "a very, very tough day." "To be honest with you, I just thought: Just put the ball in and see what happens," Jabeur said.

She found a way through, unlike Leylah Fernandez, the runner-up in 2021, who was eliminated by No.22 Ekaterina Alexandrova 7-6(7-4), 5-7, 6-

Also ousted was No.7 Caroline Garcia, a 2022 US Open semifinalist who was routed 6-4, 6-1 by Chinese qualifier Wang Yafan. But Wimbledon champion Marketa Vondrousova, the No.9 seed, advanced easily by knocking out qualifier Na Lae Han 6-3, 6-0 in an hour.

Other seeded winners on the men's side included No. 12 Alexander Zverev and No.16 Cam Norrie. No.11 seed Karen Khachanov, who reached the semifinals last year, lost 6-2, 6-4, 6-2 to American wild card Michael Mmoh; and No.29 Ugo Humbert of France was swept by Matteo Berrettini, the 2021 Wimbledon runner-up, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.

NEERAJ FOCUSES ON DIAMÓND LEAGUE

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Zurich, August 30: Newlycrowned world champion Neeraj Chopra will look to maintain his unbeaten streak in the prestigious Diamond League meet when he competes in a starstudded men's javelin throw field here Thursday.

Chopra Sunday clinched his maiden World Championships title in Budapest with a throw of 88.17m. He had won a silver medal in the 2022 edition.

The Indian superstar also became only the third javelin thrower in history to hold both the Olympic and World Championships titles after world record holder Jan

Zelezny of the Czech Republic and Andreas

Thorkildsen of Norway. Zelezny

Olympics and the 2009 World Championships.

The 25-year-old Chopra has been unbeaten this season, having won two Diamond League meetings in Doha (May 5) and Lausanne (June 30) before his World Championships triumph. In Zurich, where he is competing four days after being crowned world champion, Chopra will be up against familiar rivals like Czech Republic's Jakub Vadlejch, bronze winner in Budapest with 86.67m, Julian Weber of Germany and two-time world champion Anderson Peters of Grenada. Only Pakistan's Arshad Nadeem, silver medallist in Budapest, will not be there in Zurich. Chopra, who won the Diamond League final trophy last year, sits third with Peters, who has been struggling this season and failed to qualify for the final round in the World Championships, is at fourth spot with 15 points from three events.

The Zurich leg is the last one in the Diamond League series where men's javelin throw event is on the roster before the season finale in Eugene, USA on September 16-17 where the Diamond League champion will be crowned.

Only the top six in the points table will compete in Eugene. Chopra won the title in the 2022 finale held in Zurich.

Long jumper Murali Sreeshankar will also be in action and he would be looking to redeem himself after failing to qualify for the final round at the World Championships.

Sreeshankar, who has a season's and personal best of 8.41m. jumped a below-par 7.74m to finish 22nd overall in the qualification round. He is currently third in the long jump standings of this Diamond League season, with 10 points from two events.

Olympic and world champion Miltiadis Tentoglou (Greece), Tajay Gayle and Carev McLeod (both Jamaica) will also be action. Gayle had won silver in Budapest with a jump of 8.27m.

Tentoglou, who won gold in the World Championships with 8.52m, is leading the Diamond League standings with 21 points from three events.

England's female – int'l players to get same match fees as male cricketers

ASSOCIATED PRESS

London, August 30: England's female international cricketers will be paid the same match fees as their male counterparts on the back of record attendances and viewing figures for the Women's Ashes played over June and July.

The move toward abolishing the pay gap between male and female players in England had already been recommended in a report by the Independent Commission for Equity in Cricket, which was published two months ago and highlighted deep-rooted discrimination in the English game. That report said the average salary for England Women players was 20.6% of what players in the men's team received for limited-overs games.

New York, August 30: Upon further review, the US Open's new video replay system needs a little work. The new setup allowing players to challenge certain calls, such as double bounces, was used for the first time Tuesday when Corentin Moutet hoped to get a crucial call overturned in his match against Andy Murray.

Unfortunately for the French player, the chair umpire's tablet malfunctioned, preventing her from watching video footage and forcing the original call of a point for Murray to stand. "It obviously didn't go to plan in a be one hell of a team heading into this Asia Cup and the World Cup. It will take some beating since Pakistan is an extraordinary team.

Pakistan will take on India in the much awaited clash September 2. The Men in Blue have won the last three meetings against Pakistan in ODIs.

Ashwin feels the depth in Pakistan squad makes them serious contenders for Asia Cup and subsequent World Cup. "It is all down to their (Pakistan's) squad depth. Pakistan have invariably developed exceptional cricketers.

"Thanks to their tape-ball cricket, they have always produced an incredible series of pacers. Also, their batting has been superior during the late 90s and 2000s. But, the exposure they have got to various (T20) leagues has been the primary reason for their re-emergence in the previous five or six years.

They also have the PSL (Pakistan Super League). Additionally, in the recent BBL (Big Bash League) drafts, there were at least 60-70 Pakistan players," the off-spinner noted.

pretty important moment of the match," Murray said.

The video review introduced this year by the US Open on five of its courts is a first in Grand Slam tennis. Players get three challenges per set for things such as double bounces, a ball touching a player's body, a player touching the net or a player being hindered by noise. They'll hold onto a challenge if they're correct and receive an additional one in tiebreakers. Murray had won the first two sets and was serving with a 5-3 lead in the third when Moutet lunged along the sideline in hopes of returning a shot. The call was that he hadn't hit the ball before it bounced a second time, and match between Andy Murray and Corentin Moutet Moutet quickly threw up his arms to initiate the challenge. Chair umpire Louise Azemar Engzell put on headphones to watch a replay of the point, but the tablet brought to her malfunctioned.

"Per protocol, a video review and any call based off a review must be made by the chair umpire via the video delivered to their tablet on court." a US Tennis Association spokesman said in an email. "If the video is not available on the chair umpire's tablet, the original call on the court — in this case, the not up' — stands.

Chair umpire Louise Azemar Engzell points out the tablet screen showing 'Cannot Connect to GRAND VAR' during the

The spokesman added that the tablet on the Grandstand was repaired after the match. Had Moutet won the point, he would have had a break point. Instead, Murray closed it out moments later for a 6-2, 7-5, 6-3 victory.

Murray said the TV replay that was available clearly showed that the ball bounced twice, so the initial call was correct. The 2012 US Open champion added that he didn't understand how the new technology worked, but hoped it would be right for future matches. "So, yeah," Murray said, "it would be good if they could get that fixed.

to watch the drawn Women's Ashes series between England and Australia, with crowds of around 20.000 at several of the limited-overs matches. More than 23,000 tickets were sold for the five days of the Test at Trent Bridge. Broadcast viewing figures of 5.3 million were double those in 2019.

The pay increase will take effect immediately, starting with this week's T20 series against Sri Lanka. "We all want cricket to be the team sport of choice for female athletes," said Richard Gould, chief executive of the England and Wales Cricket Board.

The ICC said in July that men's and women's teams will receive equal prize money at cricket's ments with immediate effect.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Multan, August 30: Skipper Babar Azam hit a delightful 151 (131b, 14x4, 4x6) while Iftikhar Ahmed smashed his maiden ODI century (109 n o, 71b, 11x4, 4x6) as Pakistan thrashed minnows Nepal by 238 runs in the opening match of the Asia Cup, here Wednesday.

Babar and Iftikhar played pivotal roles in powering Pakistan to 342/6 after opting to bat. Babar was involved in two crucial partnerships after a sedate start-first stitching 86 runs with Mohammad Rizwan (44) and then sharing a whirlwind 214 runs for the fifth wicket with Iftikhar — to take Pakistan to an imposing total.

This was after Pakistan made an unimpressive start to their innings as they lost both the openers early. It was always going to be a Herculean task for Nepal and it turned out to be so.

Kushal Bhurtel made a brave start to Nepal's chase with consecutive boundaries off Shaheen Afridi (2/27) on the opening two Naseem Shah (1/17) then got into the act in the next over as Nepal slipped to 14/3. Aarif Sheikh (26) and Sompal Kami (28) then tried to steady the ship with a 59-run fourth-wicket stand, before Haris Rauf (2/16) reduced the Himalayan nation to 82/5. Thereafter, wickets fell like nine pins, eventually bundling out for 104 in 23.4 overs. Leg-break

While Babar kept one end steady, Salman Agha (5) failed to trouble the scorers much, falling prey to Sandeep Lamichhane. Iftikhar played aggressively from the onset. Babar brought up his ton off 109 balls in the 42nd over. Iftikhar brought up his maiden ton off just 67 balls. Babar fell just seven runs short of his personal best score.

Brief scores: Pakistan 342/6 (Babar Azam 151, Iftikhar Ahmed 109 n o. Mohammad Rizwan 44: Sompal Kami 2/85) beat Nepal 104 (Sompal Kami 28, Aarif Sheikh 26; Shadab Khan 4/27, Haris Rauf 2/16, Shaheen Afridi 2/27) by 238 runs.
