11 killed after vehicle ploughs into festival

REUTERS

Vancouver, April 27: At least 11 people were killed when a man drove through a crowd at a Filipino community festival in the western Canadian city of Vancouver Saturday evening, police said in an X post.

Police said they had arrested a 30-year-old Vancouver man at the scene, who was known to them. The suspect was initially chased down and held by people at the scene. A number of people were also injured.

One witness told CTV News he saw a black vehicle driving erratically in the area of the festival just before the crowd was struck. "At this time, we are confident that this incident was not an act of terrorism," Vancouver police said in an X post.

The incident happened shortly after 8pm (0300 GMT) near East 41st Avenue and Fraser Street, where the Lapu-Lapu Day Block Party, celebrating a Philippine national hero, was taking place.

Canadian Prime Minister Mark Carney said on X, "I am devastated to hear about the horrific events at the Lapu-Lapu festival in Vancouver earlier this evening." Canada's federal election takes place Monday. Officials from Carney's Liberal Party said the prime minister's campaign events would be paused Sunday morning after the tragedy.

Exit-India deadline ends

As tensions between India and Pakistan spiral following the gruesome Pahalgam terror attack, a wave of grief and helplessness swept over families torn apart at the Attari border. Amid the rush to exit, wedding celebrations were abandoned, long-awaited reunions cut short. Scenes of teary farewells and long queues underscored the anguish of forced separation in stark contrast to the nationwide anger and hardened political resolve. With emotions boiling over, the border turned into a scene of sorrow and suspicion—a heartbreaking reflection of personal loss against a backdrop of warlike atmosphere consuming the subcontinent clouded with uncertainty.

Tourists return to Pahalgam a few days after the terror attack

- 537 Pakistani nationals cross Attari border
- 850 Indians return from Pakistan
- NIA takes over Pahalgam attack probe
- Pak violates cease fire for 3rd day on trot
- Navy carries out anti-ship firing drills seen at the Attari-Wagah border crossing.

A total of 850 Indians, including 14 diplomats and officials, have returned from Pakistan through the crossing located in Punjab in the last four days. Some of the Pakistanis might have left India through airports too, the officials said, pointing out that since India does not have direct air connectivity with Pakistan, they might have left for other countries. The deadline for exiting India for those holding SAARC visas was April 26. For those carrying medical visas, the deadline is April 29.

Any Pakistani, who fails to leave India as per the deadlines set by the government, will be arrested, prosecuted and may face a jail term of up to three years or a fine of a maximum ₹3 lakh or both.

According to the Immigration and Foreigners Act 2025, which came into effect April 4, overstaying, violating visa conditions, or trespassing in restricted areas could lead to three years in jail and a fine of up to ₹3 lakh.

"Terrorists and their backers carried out the Pahalgam attack to destroy Kashmir again as they did not like the return of peace and prosperity," Prime Minister Narendra Modi said Sunday and vowed the "harsh" response to the "perpetrators and conspirators".

As the Prime Minister, in his monthly Mann Ki Baat radio address, spoke of a "decisive battle" against terrorism, authorities in Jammu and Kashmir razed more houses of terrorists and rounded up their sympathisers in a stepped-up crackdown on terror ecosystem after the Pakistan-linked ultras Tuesday shot dead 26 people, mostly tourists, in cold blood.

The National Investigation Agency (NIA) formally took over the Pahalgam terrorist attack probe, registering a case in Jammu Sunday.

As the tensions between the two countries soared, the Pakistani military engaged in unprovoked firing along the Line of Control in the areas opposite Tutmari Gali and Rampur sectors for the third consecutive night, military sources said.

The Pakistan military was engaged in similar firing Thursday and Friday nights as well. "Our troops responded effectively with appropriate small arms fire," said an Indian official.

While the Pakistan military has been put on high alert following India's promise that it will hunt down those involved in the April 22 strike, the Indian Navy Sunday said its warships have successfully carried out multiple anti-ship firings, revalidating their readiness for long-range precision "offensive" strikes. "Indian Navy stands combat-ready, credible and future-ready in safeguarding the nation's maritime interests anytime, anywhere, anyhow," it said.

Villagers lynch siblings, burn bodies in forest

POST NEWS NETWORK

Khallikote/Berhampur, April 27: A group of villagers allegedly lynched two siblings over past enmity at Shalabana village under Beguniapada police limits in Ganjam district, and later burnt their bodies in a nearby forest to destroy evidence, police said Sunday.

The deceased were identified as Sanjay Barik, 25, and his younger brother Ajay Barik, 23, of nearby Bhaliagarh village under Beguniapada police limits.

Both the siblings were history-sheeters with several cases registered in their names in multiple police stations of the district, Purushottampur SDPO Deepak Kumar Mishra said. Ajay was incarcerated in connection with the murder of former Beguniapada block chairman Debaraj Sahu in 2021 and recently came out on bail, police said.

The matter came to the fore after some locals spotted the partially burnt bodies of the brothers lying on Marei-Nuagaon road under Khallikote police and alerted the police. The SDPO, Beguniapada police and a scientific team rushed to the spot and launched an investigation. The charred remains of the bodies were collected and sent for post-mortem. A murder case (No. 220/25) was registered in this connection at Beguniapada police station.

According to police, the murders were motivated by old enmity and simmering pent-up tensions in the area.

Preliminary investigation suggested that the incident occurred when a religious ceremony was underway at Shalabana village. Meanwhile, Sanjay and Ajay arrived at the spot and reportedly engaged in an argument with some locals. Enraged, a group of villagers allegedly beat them to pulp, dragged them to a remote area in a nearby forest and killed them. They later set the bodies on fire in a bid to destroy evidence. An investigation into the incident is underway, police said.

NEW NCERT TEXTBOOKS Mughals out, Mahakumbh in

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 27: All references to Mughals and Delhi Sultanate have been dropped from Class VII NCERT textbooks, while chapter on Indian dynasties, 'sacred geography', references to Maha Kumbh, and government initiatives like Make in India and 'Beti Bachao, Beti padhao' are among the new additions.

The new textbooks released this week have been designed in line with the new National Education Policy (NEP) and the National Curriculum Framework for School Education (NCFSE) 2023, which emphasise incorporating Indian traditions, philosophies, and local context into school education.

When contacted, NCERT officials said these are only first part of the book and second part is expected in coming months. They, however, did not comment on whether the dropped portions will be retained in the second part of the book. The book now has all new chapters with no mention of Mughals and Delhi Sultanate throughout.

Another new edition in the book is a chapter called 'How the Land Becomes Sacred' that introduces concepts like sacred geography detailing networks of such places as 12 jyotirlingas, the char dham yatra, and the Shakti pithas.

Rancho's school finally gets CBSE affiliation

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 27: Druk Padma Karpo School, nestled in the cold desert of Ladakh and popularly known as Rancho's school, has finally got CBSE affiliation more than two decades after it was founded. The affiliation was granted after several delays and rejections.

The school, which shot to fame after it featured in the Aamir Khan-starrer movie '3 Idiots' in 2009, was so far affiliated with the Jammu and Kashmir State Board of School Education (JKBOSE).

Known for its innovative methods of teaching much before the new National Education Policy (NEP) proposed reforms to move away from traditional rote learning, the school is now planning to expand till Class XII. "We have finally got the CBSE affiliation after delay of several years and our first batch of Class X students is now waiting for their CBSE board exam results."

"Though we had all the required infrastructure in place, excellent result record and focus on innovative ways of teaching and learning, we didn't get the NOC from the JKBOSE despite several attempts all these years," school principal Mingur Angmo told PTI.

As per the affiliation norms of the Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE), schools require a 'no objection certificate' from the respective state board. The foreign schools require a similar document from the embassy concerned or the Consulate of India in the country concerned. The school has been trying to get the clearance since even before Ladakh acquired the Union Territory status. Even after the bifurcation, several schools in Ladakh continue to be affiliated to the Jammu and Kashmir board.

The 24-year-old school is named after Mipham Pema Karpo (1527-1592), who is revered as a great scholar, while Padma Karpo means 'White Lotus' in Bothi, the local language.

The school is now flocked by tourists, making it a 'must go' point on the itinerary. A wall of the school's building featured in the closing scene of the Bollywood film in which one of the characters, Chatur, tries to urinate but gets an electric shock as two kids throw at him a light bulb connected with wire from the first floor's window.

While the 'iconic idiotic wall' — part of a building which was damaged in the 2010 flash floods — still remains on campus, the first floor, earlier made of bricks, has been replaced with wooden structures typically used in Ladakh. The school decided in 2018 to relocate the 'Rancho's wall' to ensure students don't get distracted due to inflow of tourists.

The actor, who has done more than 15 music videos, revealed that working on music videos helps him stay connected to his craft, allowing him to explore new dimensions of his performance and creativity.

Expressing the same, Arjun told this agency, "I usually do very story-based music videos. It keeps my passion alive for acting. It's like a small feature film in a span of like 4 minutes or 5 minutes where you perform. There's a story to it, and it's interesting, and obviously the music and the lyrics add so much to the overall value of the sound in terms of the product that you make. And I think people love music videos."

Mumbai: Malavika Mohanan, known for her performances in films like Petta, Master, and Thangalaan, has always been outspoken about the issues she observes within the film industry.

In a recent interview, she boldly addressed a critical issue she has noticed—gender bias and the hypocrisy of some actors in the industry. According to Malavika, certain actors wear a 'mask' of respectfulness, projecting an image of being considerate towards women when the cameras are on, but behaving quite differently when the spotlight fades. She explained that these individuals are skilled at maintaining a dual persona, speaking up about women's issues to earn public approval, while their true behavior often emerges behind closed doors.

Malavika expressed her disappointment in witnessing this behavior firsthand, pointing out the stark contrast between how some actors behave in public versus private.

She criticised the deep-rooted mindset that treats men and women differently in the industry, and questioned when this outdated attitude would finally come to an end. Her remarks shed light on the ongoing challenges within the film world, where gender disparities persist despite public displays of progressive values. By speaking out, Malavika has once again called for meaningful change, urging the industry to move beyond pretenses and truly embrace equality for all.

times I failed at having the love I want," emphasising how each experience shaped her. While she doesn't regret her past, Shruti acknowledged the sadness that can come with failed relationships but refrains from placing blame, recognising that people evolve differently.

Shruti also expressed her preference for relationships over marriage, stating, "I love relationships, and I love romance," emphasising mutual growth and understanding over societal expectations. CM's public hearing at Berhampur soon

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, April 27: Nearly a week after conducting a regional public grievance hearing in Sambalpur, Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi Sunday announced that the Chief Minister's Grievance Cell will visit Berhampur soon. The CM said this while addressing the centenary year celebration function of the historic Bhipur Advanced High School in Ganjam.

The centenary celebration at Bhipur Advanced High School was attended by hundreds of students, alumni, teachers and locals.

In his keynote address, Majhi praised the legacy of the high school, describing it as a "pillar of knowledge and empowerment" in the region. He acknowledged the contributions of past educators and alumni in shaping not only the school's reputation but also the growth of the surrounding community. "This school has been a torchbearer of knowledge for a century. It has produced doctors, engineers, teachers and leaders who have contributed immensely to our society. Today, as we celebrate its centenary, we also look ahead to the future," he said.

The CM took the opportunity to outline the state government's long-term vision for a prosperous and developed state by 2036, which will mark 100 years of Odisha's formation as a separate state. He emphasised that education will play a central role in achieving this milestone.

"Odisha Vision 2036 is about inclusive growth, technological advancement, and sustainable development. But at the heart of all these efforts is education. An educated and skilled youth population is the strongest foundation we can lay for our future," he said.

Majhi also announced that Bhipur Advanced High School would be recognised as a 'heritage school'. He instructed the Ganjam Collector to prepare a detailed project report (DPR) for infrastructure development at the school, ensuring that the school's legacy is preserved and further strengthened for future generations. All other demands made by the school will also be fulfilled by the state government, he added.

The Chief Minister also highlighted the government's commitment to implementing the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, which had suffered a delay in Odisha during the previous government. He emphasised that under the current government, the policy is now being fully implemented, aiming to bring about a massive shift in the education sector.

He further emphasised that primary education in Odisha is undergoing a transformation under Godbarish Mishra Model Primary School Scheme. This new scheme aims at appointment of well-trained, qualified teachers at panchayat level, to ensure that quality education is accessible even in remote areas. In addition, he revealed that a significant portion of the state's Budget - a record ₹31,000 crore - had been allocated to bolster primary education this year.

The CM took a swipe at the previous government's 5T school system, calling it a "farce." He stated that the initiative had failed to provide the promised digital infrastructure, with only 16 per cent of schools having internet access.

₹1L-cr investment for Ganjam

CM Mohan Charan Majhi said investments valued at ₹1 lakh crore will be brought to Ganjam district. More than 1 lakh people would get employment in the industrial units to be set up with the investment, Majhi told reporters after visiting the Budhi Thakurani temple in Ganjam. The Budhi Thakurani Yatra, a 25-day festival, will be concluded Monday.

Flaws in OPSC, OSSC exams spark outrage

PNN & AGENCIES

Cuttack, April 27: Odisha Public Service Commission (OPSC) and Odisha Staff Selection Commission (OSSC) faced outrage when errors were detected in two major recruitment exams Sunday. The mistakes in the Civil Services Main-2023 and Excise and Traffic Sub-Inspector (SI) exams have infuriated candidates, who said such lapses are unacceptable given the exams' importance to their careers.

The OPSC's Civil Services Main-2023 Anthropology exam, held from 9am to 12pm and 2pm to 5pm, had a critical flaw. Questions from second paper appeared in the first and vice versa. Candidates were dismayed by the mix-up. OPSC acknowledged the error online but has not outlined remedial steps. The commission directed candidates to proceed with the exam using the provided question-cum-answer booklet. The OPSC has since assured all concerned that appropriate steps will be taken to address the situation while maintaining the integrity of the exam.

The OSSC's Combined Main Examination for Excise and

Traffic SI posts omitted syllabus sections like General English, Odia, and General Studies. After complaints, OSSC admitted the oversight, expressed regret, and proposed a supplementary exam. Candidates can submit suggestions for remedies via OSSC's website or email by May 4, 2025, but skepticism persists.

Examinees, who prepared extensively, are outraged. "Our future hinges on these exams," one candidate said. Social media, including X, reflects widespread frustration, with claims that OSSC included irrelevant questions from unrelated exams. Both commissions' errors, despite apologies, have eroded trust.

'Stranded' flyers protest at BPIA

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Bhubaneswar, April 27: A section of passengers late Sunday night staged a protest at the entrance of Biju Patnaik International Airport (BPIA) here, alleging that they were left stranded for hours after several Kolkata-bound flights were diverted to Bhubaneswar due to bad weather.

The passengers claimed that many of them, including children, were not given food or water after landing at the airport.

A student said she missed an examination after her flight was diverted to Bhubaneswar. "I have been stranded for more than eight hours at the airport. I had to miss my examination due to this," she said.

Bhubaneswar airport director Prasanna Pradhan said eight Kolkata-bound flights were diverted to Bhubaneswar between 10pm Saturday and 1:15am Sunday.

Out of these flights, six were cleared to return to Kolkata after a temporary halt, he said.

However, two Spicejet flights remained grounded as Bhubaneswar airport is a "non-operational airport" for Spicejet, the official said.

"Due to duty time limitation of the pilots and formal checking of the aircraft, the flights were detained here. The airline arranged buses and hotel accommodation for the passengers. However, some of them did not go to the hotels," Pradhan said.

He also said that the airport authority provided refreshments to the stranded passengers, and they were set to depart for Kolkata in two flights.

Rape accused marries victim in jail

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Berhampur, April 27: A 26-year-old man lodged in a jail in Ganjam district in a rape case, Sunday married the survivor on the premises of the prison, officials said.

The marriage was solemnised inside the jail in the presence of the family members of the bride and groom, several dignitaries and jail officials.

The entire sub-jail in Kodala wore a festive look, when the under-trial prisoner (UTP), identified as Surya Kant Behera of Gochhabadi in Polasara police station limits, tied the nuptial knot with the woman he was in love with before landing in the jail in November 2024.

Behera was working in Surat (Gujarat) before he was arrested by the police. Due to certain misunderstandings between the families of the bride and groom, the 22-year-old woman lodged a rape complaint against Behera and subsequently, he was taken into custody, said PK Mishra, an advocate of the bride.

Now, they have mutually agreed to their marriage, even though the groom is lodged in jail as a UTP, he said. "After getting permission from the jail authorities and following all legal aspects, we have coordinated their marriage function," said Tarinisen Dehury, jailor of Kodala sub-jail.

He said the marriage was solemnised following the traditional Hindu rituals and in the presence of the family members of both bride and groom and other dignitaries.

The groom arrived at the venue in a decorated electric vehicle (EV), which was also arranged by the jail officials.

Elderly persons, present in the venue, blessed both bride and groom and wished them a happy married life. All the expenditure, including the marriage dresses for the groom, was borne by the families of the bride and groom. "We are only facilitating their marriage," said Dehury.

The groom was again lodged in jail after completing the marriage function, while the bride returned home.

"We hope he will be released from jail soon and they lead a happy conjugal life," said Bhaskar Behera, father of the groom.

Congress slams govt over women's safety four-year-old girl was raped in Ganjam, whose body was recovered by the police. The state government has failed miserably to protect women.”

“Because of the lack of stringent measures, criminals are becoming confident to commit such heinous crimes repeatedly,” he added.

The fact-finding committee asserted that until every woman in Odisha feels safe, the Congress will continue its agitation against the state government.

In response to the claims, BJP spokesperson Anil Biswal said, “Congress has no moral authority to speak on women's safety, given their poor track record in ensuring women's protection during their rule.”

Biswal further added, “Under Congress rule, several high-profile rape cases occurred, including the Chhabi Rani and Anjana Mishra gangrape incidents, where two Congress workers were directly implicated. Additionally, the Deputy CM of Congress-led Karnataka admitted the state's failure to protect women.”

“Our government has sent all the accused behind bars and our leaders are clean and have no links with any criminals like Congress. The allegation from the Congress party is completely baseless and false,” he said.

Senior Congress leader Manoranjan Das, Debasis Nayak, Anima Minz and others attended the presser.

Pradhan pointed out that since February 21, several minor girls in Odisha have either got pregnant in government schools or have fallen victim to heinous crimes like rape and murder.

Pradhan further said, “In just eight to nine months of this government, over 2,000 cases of atrocities against women, including murders and assaults, have been registered across various police stations.”

Citing about the recent case, Pradhan said, “On Saturday a

KoS facility unveiled at RSC

The new facility offers immersive 360-degree visualisations to bring scientific phenomena to life, enhancing experiential learning

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, April 27: In a significant step toward enhancing experiential science education, the Regional Science Centre (RSC) in Bhubaneswar launched its latest innovation—the Knowledge on Sphere (KoS) facility Sunday.

The inauguration was graced by dignitaries including Higher Education, Sports & Youth Services Minister Suryabanshi Suraj, Higher Education department principal secretary Aravind Agrawal, Central Research & Training Laboratory director Manash Bagchi, and RSC project coordinator Kapil Jain. At the core of the KoS facility is a striking six-foot suspended globe that offers 360-degree visualizations of real-time and simulated scientific data. The facility brings global and cosmic phenomena to life, such as ocean currents, tectonic movements, planetary dynamics, and climate change, offering an immersive learning experience for students and educators alike.

What sets KoS apart is its indigenous development. Using locally developed software and efficient projection technologies, the system presents a cost-effective alternative to international models, showcasing India's growing capabilities in scientific visualisation and innovation.

The launch event featured demonstrations of topics like the Indian monsoon, Earth's topography, and even theoretical scenarios like Earth's axis tilting by 90 degrees. These visualisations captivated the audience, sparking curiosity and engagement.

More than just a tool for visual learning, the KoS is designed to inspire critical thinking and curiosity about planetary systems. With this new addition, RSC strengthens its position as a hub for science education and innovation.

ECOR GM inspects rail infra projects in Western Odisha

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, April 27: The East Coast Railway (ECOR) General Manager Parmeshwar Funkwal recently conducted an extensive inspection of key rail infrastructure and traffic facility projects across the Sambalpur-Jharsuguda section in Western Odisha.

During the visit, he inspected critical locations including Jharsuguda Road, Brundamal, Lapanga, and Sarla stations, reviewing project progress and the operational readiness of railway sidings essential for supporting regional industrial growth.

Accompanied by Divisional Railway Manager Subash C Chaudhary and senior officials, Funkwal focused on traffic management, infrastructure upgrades, and operational enhancements across the section.

A major highlight of the inspection was the newly-commissioned Freight Train Examination and Routine Overhauling (ROH) Facility at Sarla Station. Designed to handle 90 to 100 train examinations and 100 wagon ROHs monthly, the facility is expected to enhance operational efficiency by reducing BTAP wagon turnaround time by 30 per cent, improving freight handling capacity, and strengthening safety standards. This development is seen as a major boost for industries like steel, aluminium, and coal, fostering economic growth and job creation in the region. Funkwal emphasised the importance of robust coordination with industrial stakeholders to maximise operational efficiency and drive economic development. He also reviewed safety measures and stressed the need to upgrade passenger amenities, including waiting areas, lighting, drinking water facilities, and signage, to ensure safer and more comfortable travel experiences.

Anzac biscuit myth and women's wartime role

The Anzac biscuit stands as a cultural symbol, representing the bond between those on the home front and soldiers serving overseas during the First World War.

Often said to have been developed to survive the long journey to the trenches and boost soldiers' morale, the biscuit's story carries the charm of wartime folklore. Yet behind this appealing narrative lies a broader history—the story of women who worked tirelessly to provide comfort and supplies to troops.

The biscuit myth

Soldiers at the front did receive biscuits, but they were more akin to the hard, long-lasting “ship's biscuits” of earlier centuries. Made from simple ingredients like flour, water, and dry milk, these were tough enough to be used as stationery and often needed to be soaked or grated to be eaten.

Although baked goods were requested from the public, they had to meet strict requirements to survive the long transit. The recipe known today—featuring oats, coconut, and golden syrup—likely would not have lasted the journey, especially given the risk of ingredients like coconut becoming rancid.

The recipe we now recognise did not appear until several years after the war. While biscuits were indeed sent overseas, they were not the same as the Anzac biscuits we know today.

Organised efforts on the home front

A major volunteer organisation, largely led by women, coordinated the effort to provide soldiers with essential and comfort items. In 1917, a cookery book was published to raise funds, featuring the first printed biscuit recipe bearing the name ‘Anzac’. However, this version contained no oats or coconut and was instead spiced and sandwiched with jam.

The organisation's motto, ‘keep the fit man fit,’ reflected its goal: to support soldiers' well-being beyond basic survival. Items such as socks, mittens, pyjamas, tobacco, and even gramophones and sporting goods were distributed. Women also operated canteens near the front, providing millions of mugs of tea, coffee, soup, and cocoa to weary troops.

One soldier recalled during the harsh winter how the thought of the canteen's soup kitchen gave him strength to endure the hardships of trench life.

The modern Anzac biscuit

Today, strict guidelines protect the name and recipe of Anzac biscuits. However, early versions would not have complied with these standards. It wasn't until the 1920s that recipes combining oats and golden syrup—and later coconut—began appearing in newspapers.

This timeline shows that while biscuits were indeed sent to soldiers, they were not the iconic Anzac biscuits as we now know them.

Beyond the biscuit

Protecting the tradition of the Anzac biscuit helps preserve a shared cultural memory. But it's important not to let the comforting myth overshadow the real and remarkable efforts of women during wartime—women who organised, mobilised, and provided tangible support, both at home and at the front.

2 from WB killed, another injured in road accident

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Bhadrak, April 27: Two persons were killed and another seriously injured when their motorcycle crashed into a protection wall of a bridge on NH 16 in Bhadrak district Sunday, police said.

According to police, three persons from West Bengal (WB) were travelling towards Cuttack on a motorcycle. The bike crashed into the protection wall near Banta Chak, throwing all three riders into the middle of the road. While two of them died at the spot, local residents rescued the critically injured youth and rushed him to the hospital, a police officer said.

The injured youth has been admitted to Bhadrak Medical College and Hospital for treatment.

Upon receiving information, police reached the scene, sent the bodies to Bhadrak Medical College for post-mortem examination, and launched an investigation into the incident, said Bhadrak Town Police Station inspector in charge (IC) Sudhanshu Sekhar Mishra.

Preliminary investigation suggests that one of the deceased has been identified as Ased Ali, 23, from the Purba Medinipur district of West Bengal.

However, the identities of the other two are yet to be ascertained, he said. In another incident, a four-year-old boy was killed, and his parents and uncle were injured after their motorcycle hit a dumper on the Patnagarh-Gaisilet Road in Bolangir district, police said.

The boy was seated on the fuel tank of the motorcycle, while his uncle was riding it, and his parents were seated behind.

The boy died on the spot. The other three persons were undergoing treatment at a hospital.

Decades old tech flaw leaves Baitarani downstream parched

KANPUR DAM

POST NEWS NETWORK

Joda, April 27: An alleged technical flaw dating back to 1980s, when construction of the Kanpur dam on Baitarani river began, has rendered the downstream of the river parched. The construction of the dam, the second major river dam project in Odisha, is yet to complete.

Sources said that the dam authorities, without making any alternative arrangements, have stopped the river's flow and are now building a depletion switch. As a result, the complete cutoff of water is severely impacting both agriculture and industry on the downstream of the river.

The Baitarani River originates from the Gonasika hill in Keonjhar district, flowing over 360 km before merging with the Brahmani river near Dhamara in Bhadrak district, and ultimately draining into the Bay of Bengal. A major dam project at the river's upper catchment area, near Kanpur under Joda block in Keonjhar district, was commissioned in 1968. The construction began in 1980 and is on its last leg.

However, the river's flow was abruptly stopped since last few days, causing significant resentment among the local residents on the downstream who rely on the river for water. The lack of water and the resulting fall in groundwater levels have created a state of distress in the region.

While farmers have reportedly taken to protests, several industries that draw water from the river, including Jindal Steel and Power Ltd. (JSPL), Tata Steel, and BRPL are facing operational challenges.

The scarcity has prompted some industries to start laying their own pipelines to secure water supply.

Due to the reduction in water flow, water leakage from canal sluices is now visible, disrupting the supply of irrigation water to farmers' fields. The severe heat and drying up of water sources have left residents of the river basin areas facing acute hardships.

The water crisis is affecting a wide region, starting from the Kanpur dam and extending through Champua, Turumunga, Udaypur, Patana, Anandapur, and into Jajpur.

Prasad Ranjan Panda, a senior engineer of the Kanpur irrigation project, said a technical flaw from the 1980s has caused today's difficulties. He explained that river water was not properly conserved,

Sub-Collector visits Kanpur dam

Meanwhile, Champua Sub-Collector Umakanta Parida visited the spot and took stock of the situation Sunday. He assured to take steps to supply water to the farmlands of farmers. Accompanied by Block Agriculture Officer Sarada Hansda and Assistant Agriculture Officer Ramamani Sahu, Parida discussed about ways to combat the present situation. He also interacted with project engineer Prasad Ranjan Panda and officials of Agriculture and Rural Water Supply departments, farmers and industrial firms on the issue. He said farmers will be supplied with water on priority basis as per the order of Keonjhar Collector Vishal Singh. A mega water pump of 170 HP will be used which will benefit 1,500 farmers in 10 villages, while 132 lift irrigation points has also been installed, he added.

and depletion switches were not installed at crucial points during the dam construction. "Because of that, efforts are now underway to build these depletion switches to retain water in the dam," he said.

However, the work is time-consuming, and, as a result, there is no flow of water into the river at present. Panda said by June, after the start of the monsoon, canal gates at the dam will be opened to allow high-volume water flow into the river.

"Had the depletion switches been constructed when the spillway was originally built, today's crisis could have been avoided," he said, adding, the installation of the switches will help stabilise the dam's structure and restore the river's natural water flow.

Panda assured that the work will be completed before the beginning of rainy season.

Man beaten to death in Ganjam

Bhanjanagar: A 35-year-old man was allegedly beaten to death by his elder brother following an altercation in Brahmanapadar village under Tarasingh police limits in Ganjam district, Saturday night. The police have detained the accused brother, and his minor son, for questioning after the widow of the deceased, Balaram Gouda, lodged a complaint Sunday. According to reports, Balaram was residing in Bhanjanagar with his family. He worked as a painter. He had returned to his native village for some work Saturday night. After spending some time at his parents' house, he went to relieve himself. Later, an altercation reportedly broke out between Balaram and his elder brother Shankar, in front of the house over some issue. Following this, Shankar, along with others, allegedly tied Balaram to a tree along the village road and beat him up mercilessly. Their mother rushed to rescue Balaram but found he had already succumbed to his injuries. Balaram's wife, Sumitra Mallik, arrived in the village Sunday morning, and informed the Tarasingh police who have registered a murder case and detained Shankar and his minor son.

Commuters suffer as amenity centre closed for 10 months

POST NEWS NETWORK

Nandapur, April 27: A way-side amenity centre built in Handiput under this block in Koraput district has remained shut for the past 10 months, leaving commuters and tourists inconvenienced without access to basic amenities.

The apathy of the concerned departments has sparked growing dissatisfaction among locals and visitors alike. The centre was built with funds worth several lakhs jointly by the state Public Works and Tourism departments to provide amenities like restrooms and waiting areas for vehicle drivers and tourists visiting various destinations in this block. However, the crucial facility has remained locked and unused for the last 10 months.

While the state and district administrations have been making efforts to promote tourism and create employment for locals, the situation at Handiput highlights a glaring exception. Few days back, the doors and windows of the toilets in the centre was found vandalised, prompting repair and appointment of two guards to maintain the facility. Woman detained for misusing terror victim's photo to raise funds; let off

Balasure, April 27: The Cyber police here Sunday detained a woman for allegedly misusing the name and photograph of Pahalgam terror attack victim Prashant Satapathy to fraudulently collect money using social media.

Satapathy, who died in the attack in Jammu and Kashmir April 22, has been hailed nationwide as a hero. However, the woman, misused his image on social media to solicit funds without the family's knowledge or consent, a police official said.

The matter came to light Saturday when Satapathy's family noticed the misuse, and immediately lodged a complaint with the Balasure Cyber Police Station. Acting swiftly, the cyber police tracked the accused - a writer by profession - to Angul district and brought her to Balasure Sunday.

In the presence of the family members, she admitted to her wrongdoings, claiming it was a mistake. She then apologised and agreed to return the collected money to the donors.

However, the incident left the family deeply distressed. Priyadarshini Satapathy, Prashant's widow, said, "We have not sought any money from anyone, nor have we made any appeal on social media. The entire nation regards my husband as a hero, and that honour is more than enough for me. I only wish that no other family suffers this way."

Jayanta Satapathy, Prashant's younger brother, emphasised that the family had never authorised any fundraising activities. "We disapprove of anyone collecting money using my brother's photograph. We request everyone to stay away from such unauthorised initiatives," he said.

Sushanta Satapathy, Prashant's elder brother, added that the wrongdoer confessed, apologised, and refunded the amounts received from contributors. "We then decided not to initiate any legal, or police action against her," he said. Police also refused to disclose her name following the admission of guilt and apologies.

Fund bungling alleged in awareness drive

POST NEWS NETWORK

Khaira, April 27: Allegations have surfaced regarding the misappropriation of funds under 'Shubhadra Sachetanata' awareness programme in Khaira block of Balasure district with residents of 37 panchayats calling for a high-level probe into the matter.

The state government had launched a statewide awareness campaign March 5 to sensitise citizens on various social issues. Instructions were issued for organising rallies and roadside meetings at the block and panchayat levels. Khaira block reportedly received the highest allocation of funds for this initiative.

According to official records, a total of ₹31.65 lakh was allocated across 12 blocks, including the district headquarters and Balasure Municipality. Of this, Khaira block alone received ₹3.07 lakh. Each of the 37 panchayats in the block was sanctioned ₹5,000, totalling ₹1.85 lakh. The remaining ₹1.22 lakh was reportedly spent on activities conducted at the block level.

A big rally was held from block office to Medical Square, with participation of around 100 women. Reports suggest that ₹22,000 was spent on refreshments and placards for the participants, prompting residents to question the whereabouts of the remaining ₹1 lakh.

When approached for clarification, Khaira block CDPO Urmila Behera stated that the programme, which was organised in all panchayats, included activities such as rangoli drawing. She denied any misappropriation of funds, asserting that the expenditure was justified.

Silk City adorns new look for Budhi Thakurani Yatra

PNN & AGENCIES

Berhampur, April 27: Traditional arts and crafts have come alive in Berhampur during the ongoing biennial Budhi Thakurani Yatra, with chariots of the deity and storytelling arts being exhibited in various locations across the Silk City.

The 25-day-long festival, which started April 3, will end April 28 with the return of Maa Budhi Thakurani, the presiding deity of the Silk City, to the temple.

Thakurani Yatra is celebrated to mark the visit of the goddess to her father's house at Desibehera Street.

With dazzling lights and decorated pandals, the chariots of deities like Sri Ram, Laxman, Parasuram, Jwalamukhi and Mahalaxmi, and the storytelling arts are the major attractions for visitors during the festival.

Some of the chariots, like 'Boita' (boats used by Odia sailors in ancient times), 'Doli' (swing) and 'Binchana' (hand fans), are also displayed at various places.

A total of 28 chariots were set up in the City on the occasion.

"The chariot of 'Boita' (Boita Rath), which has been placed at Bachuwari street, represents the rich maritime tradition of ancient Odisha and also Berhampur as the major business hub of the state," said Bhagaban Sahu, a retired history professor.

The chariots and 'kalakunjus'

(arts) have been put up in different localities to attract people to the festival and showcase the skills of artists. Every chariot has its significant linkage to the festival, said Hrusikesh Panigrahy, a retired officer of All India Radio (AIR).

"We have been exhibiting the Jwalamukhi idol since 1939," said Tarini Sahu, one of the organisers of the chariot at Kalu Patra Sahi here. He said the idol was made in neem wood by one of the artists from Manjusha in Andhra Pradesh.

"Before the festival, we paint the idol to make it bright. Our budget to display with illumination is around ₹10 lakh, which is collected through donations," he added.

Similarly, the story of Sri Ramalila was displayed in the art form at the coconut market. This story of Ram is displayed in pictures in 113 frames.

US President Donald Trump's remarks that there have always been tensions between India and Pakistan and the two countries will figure it out between themselves "one way or the other" sends a very clear message to India which, at present, is being goaded, by internal political pressure, to contemplate armed retaliation against its arch rival Pakistan over the recent terror attack that claimed the lives of 26 tourists in Pahalgam, Kashmir. "I am very close to India and I'm very close to Pakistan, as you know. And they've had that fight for 1,000 years in Kashmir. Kashmir has been going on for 1,000 years, probably longer than that. And it was a bad one yesterday, though, that was a bad one. Over 30 people," Trump said during a press gaggle with reporters aboard Air Force One on the way to Rome. This very assertion that the US is equally close to both India and Pakistan lays bare the apparent failure of our foreign affairs apparatus, irrespective of the tall claims to the contrary and the constant declaration by India's national television media that the PoTUS is a "dear friend" of our Prime Minister. Moreover, three months into his presidency, Trump has yet to appoint an ambassador to India, indicating the low priority this country holds on his agenda.

For starters, the terror strike on civilians, that too tourists, was possible due to utter intelligence and security failure. About two thousand tourists were picnicking in the Baisaran meadow, touted as a Mini Switzerland in Pahalgam, and there was not a single jawan of Central forces or the state police in the vicinity. The Centre's claim that the situation in the restive Kashmir Valley has become "normal" six years after the abrogation of Article 370 has perhaps led the administration into a state of complacency, leaving the unsuspecting tourists vulnerable to Islamist extremists. While most biased commentators are baying for Pakistan's blood, none has questioned, as yet, about accountability of the Indian security system that failed to react instantly and minimize loss of lives. The nation would like to know who is responsible for the multiple failures and who is answerable.

The Pahalgam massacre, one of the many deadly terror attacks to have struck India in recent years, has led New Delhi to further downgrade its ties with Islamabad with a host of measures including cancellation of visa for Pakistan nationals, closing the Attari-Wagah border and keeping the Indus Water Treaty, which has survived three wars, in abeyance. The national mood, to some extent, has been whipped up in favour of harsh retaliation against Pakistan in terms of military intervention even as the Centre has not yet declared how it proposes to punish the perpetrators, backers and handlers of terror. Many observers are of the view that the Pahalgam terror attack could be a trap that Pakistan has laid for India. First and foremost could be to distract its own people from the economic and other hardship plaguing that country. Pakistan is probably in great economic crisis and is, as is usual for it, managing to stay afloat primarily due to bailout packages from China and some Gulf countries. Also, there is growing discontent among the masses towards the country's all-powerful military. A war with India could change the national mood and unite all factions for a common cause.

Secondly, Pakistan has consistently leveraged the Kashmir issue as a political and ideological instrument. However, the recent attack in Pahalgam reveals a new aspect and that is the communal targeting of non-Moslems. The terror attack follows Pakistan army chief General Asim Munir's comments referencing the Two-Nation Theory, which initially provided the rationale for the Partition of India based on religion. While anti-India rhetoric has long been a part of Pakistan's military narrative, introducing a communal element is unusual.

Thirdly and most importantly, Pakistan may be acting at China's behest to harm India's interests. For, Beijing understands that a military conflict between Pakistan and India, even if a minor one, could damage India's economy which is already facing a host of problems. If India is perceived as unstable or engaged in warfare, most international companies that are withdrawing from China due to the ongoing trade war with the US might refrain from investing in India. Many analysts see China taking advantage of the situation in which India currently finds itself.

It should be amply clear to any impartial observer that India is all alone in this fight against terrorism with no country, neighbor or otherwise, willing to support it militarily. Adding to the problem is that our ties with all our neighbors, not just Pakistan, have greatly deteriorated. This leaves a lot to ponder for India's foreign policy makers because it is exactly their failure that has led this country to the present day isolation and mess that it seems to have fallen into.

THE ASSAULT ON TRADE

It should be clear by now that appeasing Trump will only hasten the collapse of the multilateral trading system and further undermine democratic governance worldwide

US President Donald Trump's misguided trade war against the rest of the world could mark the beginning of the end for both his political dominance and his "Make America Great Again" (MAGA) movement – but only if Germany and Europe can coordinate a powerful international response.

The European Commission and the outgoing German government's biggest mistake was to signal a willingness to concede to Trump's demands, potentially turning his economic blunder into a political victory. It should be clear by now that appeasing Trump will only hasten the collapse of the multilateral trading system and further undermine democratic governance worldwide.

The European Union's response will be pivotal in determining whether the Trump administration (which is intent on dismantling the multilateral trading order) or China (which seeks to preserve it) will prevail. European leaders face a clear choice: stand for multilateralism and align with China or side with Trump's MAGA-fied United States. There is no third option. Germany and Europe cannot remain neutral in this conflict. Giving in to Trump's demands by pursuing a bilateral trade agreement would be tantamount to endorsing the end of multilateralism.

The EU's ongoing failure to push back against Trump's policies reflects shocking shortsightedness and political naivete. While the direct economic impact of Trump's tariffs on Europe will likely be limited, the long-term consequences – especially for Germany's export-driven eco-conomic model – could be dire. Yielding to Trump would threaten the very foundation of German prosperity, which depends more than that of any other European country on open global trade grounded in non-discrimination, fairness, and competition.

So, how should Germany and the EU respond to Trump's tariffs? The incoming German government – together with France, the United Kingdom, and other European partners – must defend multilateralism by aligning with China and imposing reciprocal tariffs on American goods.

In future negotiations with the US, European leaders must also insist on two key conditions. First, they should call for a renewed commitment to multilateralism as the foundation of the global trade system. That includes not only rolling back tariffs and other trade barriers to pre-crisis levels, but also revitalizing multilateral institutions like the World Trade Organization, which the US has systematically undermined by blocking the appointment of new judges to its appellate body.

Importantly, the focus should not be limited to the WTO. Other multilateral institutions such as the United Nations, the International Monetary Fund, and the World Bank must also be empowered to play a more active role, particularly in representing and protecting the interests of the weakest economies in the Global South.

Second, Europe should push for fair competition and common rules, especially when it comes to regulating US-based tech giants. These companies pay little to no tax and routinely violate EU laws and regulations concerning data protection, ethical standards, and market competition.

The recent US court ruling that Google has indeed built an illegal monopoly in search underscores the urgency of the issue. As German Finance Minister Jörg Kukies recently observed, European countries are increasingly reliant on services provided by US tech giants. If the EU fails to act now, this harmful dependence will continue to deepen, making Europe even more vulnerable to Trump-style political and commercial blackmail. Reviving multilateralism will also require meaningful concessions and reforms from China, the EU, and Germany to help correct global imbalances. Through massive subsidies and other forms of support for domestic firms, China has repeatedly undermined multilateral rules to gain unfair advantages. But Germany also must reduce its own gigantic current-account surpluses, which are largely driven by domestic regulations and other structural barriers that make it harder for foreign companies to enter its market.

Given that addressing these distortions could offer considerable benefits to American companies, there is good reason to believe that such a balanced trade agreement might appeal to Trump and encourage him to change course.

Despite its economic costs, Trump's global tariff war offers Europe a chance to establish itself as a mediator and defender of multilateralism in an increasingly multipolar world. It is high time that Europe stood up for its values and coordinated a unified response with partners like China, Canada, Mexico, the UK, and Japan.

By provoking a confrontation with all the world's major economies at once, Trump has made a serious strategic miscalculation. Pushing back may cost Europe in the short term, but allowing Trump to prevail and dismantle the multilateral trading system would be far more damaging – both to the EU economy and to democracy itself.

BY PROVOKING A CONFRONTATION WITH ALL THE WORLD'S MAJOR ECONOMIES AT ONCE, TRUMP HAS MADE A SERIOUS STRATEGIC MISCALCULATION

SPECTRUM EDUCATION

Techno-feudalism & digital divide

Will Artificial Intelligence (AI)-led robots take over classrooms and replace teachers? Will AI-driven technology undermine human connections in teaching? Will AI disrupt traditional classroom-based teaching and learning? As concerns about a so-called dystopian future for teachers and education grows, these fundamental questions reflect the fear surrounding AI-driven digitalisation of classrooms, educational processes, systems, teaching and learning environments. Adding to the debate, Microsoft co-founder and tech mogul Bill Gates has asserted that AI will replace teachers within the next ten years. While this may sound bizarre, it reflects yet another organised attack on education—one that seems to follow a strategic pattern of predictive propaganda. It is essential to expose the underlying strategies employed by tech moguls that aim to dismantle the collective foundations of education and learning.

Teaching and learning in a classroom setting are far from monotonous activities confined to a rigid curriculum. The dynamic interaction between teacher and students constantly reshapes the nature of the educational experience. As a result, two classes taught by the same teacher on the same topic can be vastly different from each other. Classrooms serve as spaces where both teachers and students learn from one another, building a collective foundation of knowledge. They are not merely places for the transmission of information; they create and promote critical thinking, questioning, argumentation, articulation, observation, interaction, and the exchange of ideas. Through this collaborative process, knowledge is both processed and produced—whether in its essentialist form or as a tool for emancipation. Classrooms not only shape minds but also train hands. Such an experiential or hands-on learning is good for employability and generating critical consciousness for global citizenship. No technology can truly replicate the dynamic, human-centered nature of the classroom experience.

However, the narrative promoted by tech moguls—that AI will replace teachers—is a form of propaganda designed to further the privatisation of education, consolidating control in the hands of powerful online platform companies like Microsoft. Such a strategy is designed to generate further revenue for the rent-seeking techno-feudal platform capitalism. So, the greatest threat to education and educators today is not AI itself, but the techno-moguls who wield it as a tool to serve their interests.

New technologies help in processes of teaching and learning. It enhances the classroom dynamism and democratises teaching and learning processes. Technology facilitates in the democratisation of classrooms and in the process of cocreation and dissemination of knowledge. Technology is an inseparable part of the classroom teaching and learning today. Technology plays a crucial role from attendance monitoring, classroom organisation to evaluation and feedforward processes in teaching and learning activities. The AI led digitalisation of classroom has transformed the way teaching and learning takes place. It redefines teaching and learning environment where roles of educators have been already transformed.

Technology-driven transformations of classroom teaching and learning environments have the potential to accelerate deeper and faster learning, while also enhancing the creative capabilities of both teachers and students. Therefore, the accessibility, availability, and democratization of technology and its platforms are crucial for the educational empowerment of both students and teachers.

However, the techno-feudal environment perpetuated by the owners of technology and platform companies promotes an undemocratic, rent-seeking culture rooted in the digital divide—where access to and availability of technology depend largely on one's ability to pay. This environment not only promotes discrimination but also reinforces entrenched class divisions in a digital form, deepening existing inequalities under the guise of technological progress.

Tech moguls like Bill Gates rarely speak about the democratisation of technology or ensuring universal access to digital education and skills for all irrespective of different backgrounds of the learners. Instead, the focus is often on replacing teachers with technology. This is deeply concerning, as teachers do far more than deliver content—they nurture creative thinking and critical awareness, enabling students to reflect on everyday realities while also acquiring skills for employability.

People like Bill Gates promote the individualisation of the digital learning environment, a model that prioritises profit while promoting a culture of compliance concomitant with the requirements of platform based digital techno-capitalism.

It is essential to protect the collective foundations of classroom teaching and learning, while also democratising digitalisation and ensuring collective control over technologically advanced learning platforms. Only by doing so can we truly empower both students and teachers, and work toward a 21st-century education that is scientific, secular, technological, and universal—free from all forms of discrimination.

Pioneering astrophysicist

Sir, India mourns the passing of Dr. Krishnaswamy Kasturirangan, an illustrious space scientist, education reformer, and visionary leader who left an indelible mark on the nation's scientific and academic landscape. Born in 1940 in Kerala, Dr. Kasturirangan's distinguished career spanned groundbreaking contributions to space research, notably through his leadership at ISRO where he advanced missions like INSAT-2, IRS-1A and 1B, operationalised PSLV, and laid the foundation for Chandrayaan-1. As a pioneering astrophysicist, he deepened India's understanding of cosmic phenomena, while his advocacy for environmental protection through the Western Ghats report highlighted his broader commitment to sustainable development. His visionary role in drafting the National Education Policy 2020 ushered a transformative shift in India's educational philosophy, emphasizing holistic and flexible learning pathways. Recognised with India's highest civilian honours—the Padma Shri, Padma Bhushan, and Padma Vibhushan—Dr. Kasturirangan also served with distinction as Chancellor of Jawaharlal Nehru University, member of the Planning Commission, and a nominated Rajya Sabha member. Pleasure of reading

Sir, Books can be quiet friends, accessible teachers and patient companions. No entertainment is as inexpensive as reading books; nor any pleasure as lasting. As readers learn to read, the importance of reading to learn dawns upon them. Reading is a vacation as well as a vocation. An author only begins a book, and the reader finishes it. Top world leaders have been readers though the converse may not hold true. Nevertheless, readers are the leaders of their minds. Not sure how many of the present leaders think before they talk but certainly there are very few leaders who read before they think. Emotional and philosophical angles apart, reading literally preserves the intellectual prowess of an individual. Enhanced concentration and ability to focus better are the unsolicited gifts of reading. Memory, comprehension and analytical ability, besides writing skills, are known to receive a boost through reading.

BORN TO ROAR Delhi zoo welcomes Asiatic lion cubs after 16 years

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 27: Lioness Mahagauri gave birth to four cubs Sunday, making it the first successful breeding of Asiatic lions at Delhi's National Zoological Park since 2009.

The five-year-old Asiatic lioness gave birth to the cubs this morning. The species is marked as 'Endangered' by the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species. The famous Delhi zoo last saw the birth of lion cubs in May 2009, when two cubs were delivered.

In May 2009, when two cubs were delivered. For now, the newborn cubs will stay with their mother. They will only be shifted for medical checks depending on how Mahagauri reacts, Kumar said.

Junagadh in 2021. In recent years, Delhi Zoo has witnessed other big cat births too. Two Royal Bengal Tiger cubs were born in May 2023, although three from the same litter were stillborn. In August 2022, three White Tiger cubs were born, but one died after four months. The birth of the lion cubs comes as good news for the zoo, which has been facing criticism over a series of animal deaths. This month alone, a Thamin deer, a Gaur calf, and an Albino Blackbuck died. In March, a female Dhole passed away and in February, the zoo lost a 15-year-old leopard, a 22-year-old jaguar, and a 15-year-old nilgai. The zoo also made headlines recently after a leopard mauled a zookeeper during a transfer operation. Reports said the staff member involved had experience only with herbivores and not carnivores. Opened in November 1959, the National Zoological Park currently houses 95 species of animals and birds. It received its first lion pair in 1969. Gujarat is the world's last abode of Asiatic lions. As per the last census conducted in June 2020, the state is home to 674 Asiatic lions, mainly the Gir Wildlife Sanctuary. Population estimation of Asiatic lions is carried out once every five years and the last such exercise was conducted in 2020. In March, Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced the initiation of the 16th cycle of lion estimation exercise in May this year.

Mumbai: PNB's scam-hit branch now brews organic coffee

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, April 27: The Brady House branch of the Punjab National Bank (PNB) in Mumbai, infamous for a multi-million dollar scam involving diamondaire Nirav Modi and his uncle Mehul Choksi, has been turned into a cosy cafe. Patrons sit on comfy chairs and plush sofas, sipping steaming cups of organic coffee with light music playing in the background on the premises, a stark contrast to the chaos that erupted after the duo defrauded the bank of more than ₹13,000 crore. The premises in the Brady House building in the Fort area of south Mumbai were once at the centre of one of the biggest financial scams to rock the country. Nirav Modi and his uncle Mehul Choksi allegedly siphoned off over ₹13,000 crore of public money from the PNB using LoUs and foreign letters of credit (FLCs) by bribing officials of the bank's Brady House branch between March 2011 and November 2017. With Choksi's arrest in Belgium two weeks ago, the Brady House is again in the spotlight, but the operations of this branch were shifted to PNB House at Sir P M Road in Fort a few years ago. The scam came to light in January 2018 when the PNB submitted a fraud report to the Reserve Bank of India and lodged a complaint with the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI). Choksi and Modi had fled the country before that, and the CBI and the Enforcement Directorate (ED) have probed into the scam. In March 2019, Modi was arrested in London on an extradition warrant based on the CBI and ED's charges against him and has been languishing in prison since.

Uddhav-Raj reunion buzz faces big hurdles

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, April 27: With speculations about rapprochement between Uddhav Thackeray and his estranged cousin Raj Thackeray gathering steam, leaders of the Shiv Sena (UBT) and Maharashtra Navnirman Sena (MNS) have said that though it is a promising prospect, personal ties and organisational synergy are hurdles that need to be overcome.

The Thackeray cousins have sparked a buzz about a possible reconciliation, with statements indicating they could ignore "trivial issues" and join hands nearly two decades after they parted ways.

The Thackeray cousins have sparked a buzz about a possible reconciliation, with statements indicating they could ignore "trivial issues" and join hands nearly two decades after they parted ways. While MNS chief Raj Thackeray has said uniting in the interests of Marathi mannos is not difficult, former Maharashtra chief minister Uddhav Thackeray has said that he was ready to put aside trivial fights, provided those working against the state's interests were not entertained. The Sena (UBT) Saturday put up a cryptic post on its social media handles, saying, "Time has come to unite for the sake of Mumbai and Maharashtra. Shivsainiks are ready for the protection of Marathi asmita (pride)." The cousins are currently abroad. Raj is expected to return in the last week of April, and Uddhav in the first week of May. The reunion buzz has also come at a time when both parties have reached a nadir with regard to their electoral performance and are going through their toughest political phase. The Sena (UBT) won 20 seats, while the MNS drew a blank in the 2024 assembly polls. Leaders of both parties have, however, said that though Uddhav's response to Raj's call may have sparked speculation, it is easier said than done. A Sena (UBT) leader said both cousins are of different temperaments. The past baggage over more than two decades has resulted in mistrust towards each other — Raj had quit the Shiv Sena in 2005 and blamed Uddhav for it. He has made it clear several times that he could work under no one but Bal Thackeray. Last week, Shiv Sena (UBT) leader Sanjay Raut said family relations are not severed because of politics. But personal ties are not just restricted to two individuals — it is also about their immediate families, especially the sons of both the cousins — Aaditya (Uddhav) and Amit (Raj) — who are being groomed to helm the organisation eventually. This will be different, unlike the alliance between the undivided Shiv Sena, Congress and the undivided NCP in 2019, said Prakash Akolkar, the author of "Jai Maharashtra", a book on the history of Shiv Sena. Maharashtra Minister and BJP leader Nitesh Rane had last week questioned if Uddhav Thackeray had consulted his wife Rashmi before responding to Raj's statement that triggered speculation of an alliance. A Sena (UBT) leader acknowledged that coming together of the two parties is more difficult than it appears. The prospect of the two cousins coming together has enthused supporters of both parties, but it might not be the case with a section of cadres and party leaders. "When we discuss seat-sharing agreements in Mumbai, how will the seats be divided? How will the winnable and non-winnable seats be divided? What about areas like Dadar and Worli, where both parties have a strong base? What about other cities where Sena (UBT) and MNS have their strength," an MNS leader said.

Delhi schools to launch 'Maa Yamuna Swachhata Abhiyan'

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 27: The Delhi government has decided to launch the "Maa Yamuna Swachhata Abhiyan" across schools in the national capital with Chief Minister Rekha Gupta saying it was aimed at increasing sensitivity towards the need to revive the holy river. According to officials, the main objective of this campaign is to increase sensitivity among children about the importance of the Yamuna River and to connect them with the broader cleanliness movement. "The Yamuna River cleaning is an issue which is very close to our hearts. Through this school, we aim to send a message to children that the Yamuna issue matters to us. With everyone's support, we must speed up the cleaning process of the river," the chief minister said. "The Yamuna is not just is incomplete without a clean Yamuna", Verma added. Under the "Maa Yamuna Swachhata Abhiyan, essay writing competitions, drawing and painting competitions, awareness walks and cultural programmes will be organised, a statement said. The Delhi Jal Board will collaborate with the Directorate of Education to provide schools with necessary educational materials, awareness kits and other resources to support this initiative.

Asia's oldest newspaper Mumbai Samachar to digitise its rich legacy

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, April 27: Asia's oldest active newspaper, 'Mumbai Samachar', which published reports on the first war of Indian independence in 1857, the death of legendary Rani Laxmibai of Jhansi and the birth of Congress, is turning a new page in its illustrious history by digitising its rich legacy. Established in 1822 by Fardunji Marzban, a Parsi scholar, the newspaper's management has launched a new project to digitise and document the rich legacy of the Gujarati daily. Located in a colonial-era building in Mumbai's prominent Horniman Circle area, the newspaper has weathered many storms during its 203-year-old history, including a drop in subscription and readership after the advent of the internet, news apps and social media expansion, but continues its journey. "We are in talks with different agencies to restore the old documentary — Mumbai Samachar 200 Not Out — will be screened at the Cannes Film Festival, being held from May 15 to 20. Prime Minister Narendra Modi launched its trailer, while the documentary was released by Union Home Minister Amit Shah in Mumbai (in September 2024)," he said. Started as 'Shri Mumbai Na Samachar' by Parsi scholar Marzban, the newspaper primarily served as a source of information for traders, the majority of them Parsis and Marwaris, and details about goods coming on ships at the Bombay harbour. Founder Marzban hailed from Surat and was always interested in the printing business. When he came to Mumbai, he started a book-binding shop. He got 150 subscribers and offered them a copy of the newspaper for ₹2 a month. Besides disseminating information about ships to traders, free death notes were published as community service, and later, news reports were also printed. The newspaper started getting advertising revenue from traders who wanted to send their goods by ships to other places. There were advertisements for dramas as well. Since 1841, there have been two Marathi editors of the paper — Janardhan Vasudev and later Vinayak Vasudev.

DELHI'S INITIATIVE Sheltering the stray cows

Delhi Chief Minister Rekha Gupta announced the measures at a public gathering at Gramin Gaushala in Bawana and stressed that she, her ministers and the BJP MLAs consider the cow as a mother figure ("Gau mata")

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 27: In a step towards addressing the issue of bovines straying on the national capital's roads, the Delhi government will survey cow shelters and frame a scheme to extend financial support for the smooth operation of such facilities. Delhi Chief Minister Rekha Gupta announced the measures at a public gathering at Gramin Gaushala in Bawana and stressed that she, her ministers and the BJP MLAs consider the cow as a mother figure ("Gau mata"). Reminding the cattle owners that such animals were not allowed within the city limits, she suggested the bovines be housed at designated places like Ghoga Dairy, around 50 kilometres from Central Delhi. The chief minister said her government would conduct a survey of all cow shelters in Delhi and a scheme would be drawn to provide financial assistance for the facilities to care for the cows in a holistic manner. It is the government's duty to take care of the old and ill cows wandering on roads after being abandoned and the dispensation is committed to fulfil its duty, Gupta added. In its maiden budget session after coming to power in Delhi, the BJP government last month announced bringing a law for the conservation and protection of stray cows in the city. The proposed legislation would include strict enforcement mechanisms to curb cow exploitation, illegal cattle trade, and owners' negligence. Several BJP MLAs have repeatedly raised the issue of stray cows causing traffic congestion, sanitation hazards and more often than not accidents. According to data provided in the assembly by Model Town MLA Ashok Goel, police received 25,393 stray cow-related complaints between January 1 and February 19 this year, primarily the bovines causing traffic congestion and accidents.

PAHALGAM TERROR ATTACK

NIA registers case, intensifies search

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 27: The National Investigation Agency (NIA) has formally taken over the Pahalgam terrorist attack case, intensifying its search for evidence and questioning eyewitnesses to unravel the terror conspiracy, officials said Sunday. They said the anti-terror agency registered a case in Jammu Sunday following orders from the Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA), and several teams are involved in the investigation.

After the dastardly terror attack Tuesday afternoon that claimed 26 lives, a team of NIA officials led by its Inspector General (IG) was rushed to the site to assist the local police, the officials said. They said NIA teams have been camping at the terror attack site since Wednesday, looking for clues.

“The entry and exit points are being closely scrutinised by the investigating NIA teams for clues to the modus operandi of the terrorists. The teams, aided by forensic and other experts, are checking the entire area thoroughly for evidence to expose the terror conspiracy that led to the horrendous attack that has shocked the nation,” an NIA statement said. The eyewitnesses are also being questioned in minute detail to piece together the sequence of events that led to one of the worst terror attacks in Kashmir, it said. The teams, overseen by an IG, a Deputy Inspector General (DIG) and a Superintendent of Police (SP) from the anti-terror agency, are examining eyewitnesses who had seen the horrifying attack unfold before their eyes at the peaceful and picturesque Baisaran

Separate teams of NIA officials have been visiting across the country to seek details from survivors of the terrorist attack, said to be orchestrated by Pakistan-based Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT), the officials said

NIA teams have recorded accounts from victims' family members in Maharashtra, Odisha and West Bengal among other states, they said

J&K: Houses of 3 more suspected terrorists razed

Srinagar: Authorities here have demolished the houses of three alleged active terrorists in Bandipora, Pulwama and Shopian districts of Jammu and Kashmir as security forces continued their crackdown on the terror ecosystem following the Pahalgam terror attack. With this, nine houses of suspected terrorists and overground workers of terror outfits have been razed so far since the April 22 attack in the lush meadows of Baisaran that killed 26 people and left the nation grief-stricken and fuming. As part of the anti-terror crackdown, that picked up more steam after the Pahalgam tragedy, security forces have raided more than 500 locations in the Valley in just five days and grilled hundreds of suspects. Political parties have urged the Centre to ensure that innocent people are not targeted while it goes after terrorists.

Valley in Pahalgam, Jammu and Kashmir, according to the statement issued by NIA.

In the targeted attack, a group of terrorists killed male tourists milling around eateries, taking pony rides or just picnicking with their families including young children and parents at the meadow touted as ‘Mini Switzerland’ for its serene beauty. Separate teams of NIA officials have been visiting across the country to seek details from survivors of the terrorist attack, said to be orchestrated by Pakistan-based Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT), the officials said. NIA teams have recorded accounts from victims' family members in Maharashtra, Odisha and West Bengal among other states, they said.

Initial investigations into the dastardly terror attack indicate that the number of terrorists involved could range from five to seven, they said. The attackers were also aided by at least two local militants who received training in Pakistan, the officials said.

Acute shortage of judges leading to cases going unheard: HC

The Delhi High Court said that on account of overflowing dockets, it was unable to decide appeals within a reasonable period of time and when some matters remain unheard, it is "extremely painful" for the judge

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 27: The Delhi High Court has highlighted the "acute shortage of judges" with respect to the population and the litigation quantum due to which several matters remain unheard.

The high court said that on account of overflowing dockets, it was unable to decide appeals within a reasonable period of time and when some matters remain unheard, it is "extremely painful" for the judge.

The court's remarks came while hearing a plea by a cheating and forgery case convict, seeking permission to travel abroad to attend a club assembly of Rotary Club in Almaty, Kazakhstan and Georgia for his social ties and business growth. "In my considered view, since on account of overflowing dockets, this court is unable to decide the appeals within a reasonable period of time, the right to even leisure trips to certain extent ought not be declined," Justice Girish Kathpalia said. The court permitted the man to travel abroad from May 1 to May 11 upon furnishing a personal bond of ₹5 lakh with one surety of the like amount.

It said the events like club assembly of Rotarians are more in the form of general get-togethers where social and business relations are developed. "On account of acute shortage of judges as compared to the general population and the litigation quantum, for a long time, the list of regular matters does not reach till the end of the day of hearing." "Rather, many times even beyond 05:00 pm when the courts rise for the day, some of the matters remain unheard, which is extremely painful for the judge. In such an uncertain atmosphere, depriving the applicant/ appellant of free movement, even if to enjoy leisure trips cannot be justified," Justice Kathpalia said. The court noted that the man's appeal challenging his conviction in the cheating and forgery case, was filed in the high court in 2019 and admitted by the previous judge, to be heard at its turn as a regular matter.

The man's counsel submitted that he was earlier also allowed to go abroad and that being of 67 years of age, there was no scope of his fleeing from justice. The counsel for CBI told the court on an earlier occasion, the man was denied permission to travel abroad as it was a leisure trip and contended that if he was allowed to leave the country, he might not return. While allowing the man's plea, the high court said the court must be conscious about ensuring the return of the applicant to face the pending legal proceedings which can be done by imposing appropriate conditions on him.

Pakistanis overstaying in India may face 3 years jail or ₹3L fine or both

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 27: Any Pakistani, who fails to leave India as per the deadlines set by the government, will be arrested, prosecuted and may face a jail term of up to three years or a fine of a maximum ₹3 lakh or both.

The 'Leave India' notice to the Pakistani nationals was issued by the government after 26 people, mostly tourists, were killed by Pakistan-linked terrorists at Pahalgam in Jammu and Kashmir April 22.

The deadline for exiting India for those holding SAARC visas was April 26. For those carrying medical visas, the deadline is April 29. The 12 categories of visas whose holders have to leave India by Sunday are - visa on arrival, business, film, journalist, transit, conference, mountaineering, student, visitor, group tourist, pilgrim and group pilgrim.

According to the Immigration and Foreigners Act 2025, which came into effect April 4, overstaying, violating visa conditions, or trespassing in restricted areas could lead to three years in jail and a fine of up to ₹3 lakh.

"Whoever,—(a) being a foreigner, remains in any area in India for a period exceeding the period for which the visa was issued to him or stays in India without a valid passport or other valid travel document in contravention of provisions of Section 3 or does any act in violation of the conditions of the valid visa issued to him for his entry and stay in India or any part thereunder: "(b) contravenes any other provisions of this Act, other than sections 17 and 19, or of any rule or order made thereunder or any direction or instruction given in pursuance of this Act or such order or direction or instruction for which, no specific punishment is provided under this Act, shall be punishable with an imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years or with a fine which may extend to three lakh rupees or with both," the Act says.

Union Home Minister Amit Shah Friday called up the chief ministers of all states and asked them to ensure that no Pakistani stays in India beyond the deadline set for leaving the country.

After Shah's telephonic conversations with the chief ministers, Union Home Secretary Govind Mohan held a video conference with the chief secretaries and asked them to ensure that all Pakistani nationals whose visas were revoked must leave India by the fixed deadline.

The already strained relations between India and Pakistan nosedived further after the Pahalgam terror attack, with New Delhi announcing a barrage of retaliatory steps, including the cancellation of visas, and Islamabad hitting back with a string of tit-for-tat measures.

The three rivers meant for Pakistan, a country of 240 million people, irrigate more than 16 million hectares of farmland, or up to 80% of the total

REUTERS

Latifabad, April 27: Spraying pesticides on his parched vegetable street away from the Indus River, Pakistani farmer Homla Thakur is worried about his future.

"If they stop water, all of this will turn into the Thar desert, the whole country," said Thakur, 40, before heading back to the river to refill the tank for the spray gun.

His nearly 5-acre (2 hectare) farm is located in the Latifabad area of the southeastern province of Sindh, from where the Indus flows into the Arabian Sea after originating in Tibet and snaking through India.

Thakur's fears were echoed by more than 15 Pakistani farmers and several other experts, especially as rain has been scanty in recent years.

For the first time, India Wednesday suspended the World Bank-mediated Indus Waters Treaty of 1960 that ensure water for 80% of Pakistani farms, saying it would last until "Pakistan credibly and irrevocably abjures its support for cross-border terrorism".

India says two of the three militants who attacked tourists and killed 26 men in Kashmir were from Pakistan. Islamabad has denied any role and said "any attempt to stop or divert the flow of water belonging to Pakistan ... will be considered as an Act of War".

The treaty split the Indus and its tributaries between the nuclear-armed rivals.

Government officials and experts on both sides say India cannot stop water flows immediately, because the treaty has allowed it to only build hydropower plants without significant storage or dams on the three rivers allocated to Pakistan.

"We will ensure no drop of the Indus River's water reaches Pakistan," India's water resources minister, Chandrakant Raghunath Paatil, said on X. He did not respond to questions about the fears in Pakistan.

Ukrainians decry US peace plan to surrender annexed-Crimea

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kyiv, April 27: A peace proposal by the Trump administration that includes recognising Russian authority over Crimea shocked Ukrainian officials, who say they will not accept any formal surrender of the peninsula, even though they expect to concede the territory to the Kremlin, at least temporarily.

Giving up the land that was illegally annexed by Russia in 2014 is also politically and legally impossible, according to experts. It would require a change to the Ukrainian constitution and a nationwide vote, and it could be considered treason.

"It doesn't mean anything," said Oleksandr Merezhko, a lawmaker with Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy's party. "We will never recognize Crimea as part of Russia."

Unlike a territorial concession, a formal surrender would permanently relinquish Crimea and abandon the hope that Ukraine could regain it in the future.

The Ukrainian public largely understands that land must be ceded as part of any armistice because there is no way to retake it militarily. Polls indicate a rising percentage of the population accepts such a trade-off.

But much of the public messaging about land concessions has suggested that they are not necessarily permanent, as when Kyiv Mayor Vitalii Klitschko told the BBC recently that Ukraine may need to temporarily give up land as part of a peace deal.

Saying otherwise would effectively admit defeat — a deeply unpopular move, especially for Ukrainians living under Russian occupation who hope to be liberated and reunited with their families one day. It also would call into question the sacrifices made by tens of thousands of Ukrainian service members who have been killed or wounded.

US President Donald Trump underscored the Crimea proposal in an interview published Friday in Time magazine: "Crimea will stay with Russia. Zelenskyy understands that, and everybody understands that it's been with them for a long time."

His comments offered the latest example of the US leader pressuring Ukraine to make concessions to end the war while it remains under siege. Trump has also accused Zelenskyy of prolonging the war by resisting negotiations with Russian President Vladimir Putin.

Trump's first 100 days: American prez overturning world order

Countries consider defense boosts, closer China ties amid US policy shifts as experts warn of lasting damage to American relations with traditional allies

REUTERS

Washington, April 27: He has launched an unprecedented global tariff war and slashed US foreign aid. He has disparaged NATO allies and embraced Russia's narrative about its invasion of Ukraine.

In the chaotic first 100 days since President Donald Trump returned to office, he has waged an often unpredictable campaign that has upended parts of the rules-based world order that Washington helped build from the ashes of World War II. "Trump is much more radical now than he was eight years ago," said Elliott Abrams, a conservative who served under Presidents Ronald Reagan and George W Bush before being appointed US special envoy on Iran and Venezuela in Trump's first term. "I have been surprised."

Trump's second-term "America First" agenda has alienated friends and emboldened adversaries while raising questions about how far he is prepared to go. His actions, coupled with that uncertainty, have so unnerved some governments that they are responding in ways that could be difficult to undo, even if a more traditional US president is elected in 2028.

All this comes amid what the Republican president's critics see as signs of democratic backsliding at home that have raised concerns abroad. These include verbal attacks on judges, a pressure campaign against universities and the transfer of migrants to a notorious El Salvador prison as part of a broader deportation drive.

This assessment of Trump's shakeup of the global system comes from Reuters interviews with more than a dozen current and former government officials, foreign diplomats and independent analysts in Washington and capitals around the world.

Many say that while some of the damage already done could be long-lasting, the situation may not be beyond repair if Trump softens his approach. He has already backtracked on some issues, including the timing and severity of his tariffs. But they see little chance of a dramatic shift by Trump and instead expect many countries to make lasting changes in their relationships with the US to safeguard against his erratic policy-making. The fallout has already begun. Some European allies, for instance, are looking to boost their own defense industries to reduce reliance on US weapons. Debate has intensified in South Korea about developing its own nuclear arsenal. And speculation has grown that deteriorating relations could prompt US partners to move closer to China, at least economically.

The White House rejects the notion that Trump has hurt US credibility, citing instead the need to clean up after what it calls former President Joe Biden's "feckless leadership" on the world stage.

"President Trump is taking swift action to address challenges by bringing both Ukraine and Russia to the negotiating table to end their war, stemming the flow ofentanyl and protecting American workers by holding China accountable, getting Iran to the negotiating table by reimposing Maximum Pressure," White House National Security Council spokesman Brian Hughes said in a statement.

FPIs extend investment in Indian equities

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 27: Foreign investors have infused ₹17,425 crore in the country's equity markets last week, supported by a combination of favourable global cues and strong domestic macroeconomic fundamentals.

This came following a net investment of ₹8,500 crore in the preceding holiday-truncated week ended April 18.

Globally, steady performances in major markets, expectations of a pause in US Federal Reserve's rate hikes, and a stable US dollar boosted risk appetite for emerging markets like India. Easing global trade tensions further lifted investor sentiment, Himanshu Srivastava, Associate director - Manager Research, Morningstar Investment, said.

Domestically, India's resilient growth outlook, moderating inflation, and an optimistic forecast of an above-normal monsoon for 2025 enhanced confidence in the market. Together, these factors created an attractive investment environment for foreign investors, he added.

According to the data with the depositories, Foreign Portfolio Investors (FPIs) made a net investment of ₹17,425 crore in equities during April 21 to April 25.

Overall, FPIs pulled out ₹5,678 crore from the equities in April so far, taking the total outflow to ₹1.22 lakh crore since the beginning of 2025, data showed.

Geopolitical issues to drive markets: Analysts

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 27: Geopolitical developments between India and Pakistan, quarterly earnings and macro data will be the key drivers of stock markets in the holiday-shortened week, say analysts. Trading activity of foreign investors, who were sustained buyers in the Indian market last week, and global trends would also guide movement in the market, they said.

Equity markets will remain closed Thursday for 'Maharashtra Day'. Further updates related to tariffs will also be watched by investors, experts noted.

Stock markets witnessed profit-taking in the last two sessions due to increased geopolitical tensions between India and Pakistan following the death of 26 people in a terror attack on tourists at Pahalgam in Jammu and Kashmir. "The upcoming holiday-shortened week also marks the beginning of a new month, making monthly auto sales data a key area of focus for market participants. On the macroeconomic front, investors will closely track the Index of Industrial Production (IIP) data and the HSBC manufacturing PMI data.

"Meanwhile, geopolitical developments between India and Pakistan will remain on the radar. On the corporate earnings front, several prominent companies—including BPCL, IOC, Bajaj Finance, TVS Motor, and UltraTech Cement—are set to release their quarterly results. Globally, updates related to tariffs and trade will also be watched closely," Ajit Mishra—SVP, Research, Religare Broking Ltd, said.

Last week, the BSE benchmark gauge climbed 659.33 points or 0.83 per cent, and the NSE Nifty went up by 187.7 points or 0.78 per cent despite profit-taking in the last two sessions. Friday, the 30-share BSE barometer Sensex tanked 588.90 points or 0.74 per cent to settle at 79,212.53. The NSE Nifty dropped 207.35 points or 0.86 per cent to 24,039.35.

Siddhartha Khemka, Head - Research, Wealth Management, Motilal Oswal Financial Services Ltd, said, "Geopolitical developments between India and Pakistan could add volatility to the Indian market over the next few days. Meanwhile, stock/sector specific action would continue on the back of ongoing Q4 earnings announcements. Key results this week include those from largecaps like Ultratech Cement, Bajaj Finance, Trent, Ambuja Cements amongst others."

An interesting point in this reversal of FPI strategy is that it has happened at a time of heightened India-Pak tensions following the Pahalgam terror attacks.

'India to seek tech access parity with US'

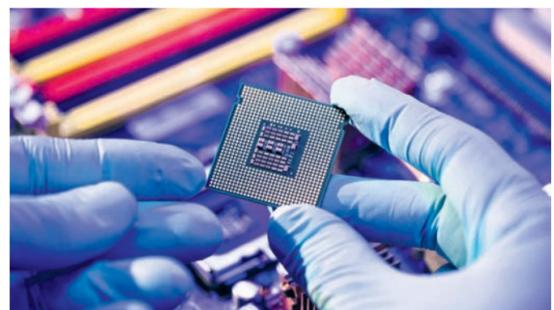

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 27: India is likely to ask the US to ease export controls and grant it access to critical technologies on par with key American allies like Australia, the UK, and Japan under the proposed bilateral trade agreement (BTA), sources said.

They added that India may seek these easing for sectors like telecom equipment, biotechnology, AI (artificial intelligence), pharmaceuticals, quantum computing and semiconductors.

The country is also seeking duty concessions for labour-intensive sectors like textiles, gems and jewellery, leather goods, garments, plastics, chemicals, shrimp, oil seeds, chemicals, grapes and bananas in the proposed pact with America. On the other hand, the US wants duty concessions in sectors like certain industrial goods, automobiles (electric vehicles particularly), wines, petrochemical products, dairy, agriculture items such as apples, and tree nuts, they said.

As part of the proposed BTA, one of the sources said, India may request the US to place it on par with other key US allies including Australia, UK and Japan regarding access to technology through easing of export controls particularly in key areas like telecom equipment, biotechnology, and AI.

Easy access to cutting-edge technologies in these sectors would help boost India's innovation capabilities, enhance its technological infrastructure, and further push the country's economic growth. The commerce ministry, which is leading the negotiations for the agreement, declined to comment when asked about these issues.

According to think tank GTRI, the US has eased export controls to strengthen technology partnerships with close allies like Australia, the United Kingdom, and Japan. The changes are designed to make collaboration easier in critical sectors. It said that as part of the AUKUS security pact, the US has simplified rules for sharing defence and dual-use technologies with Australia and the UK. Beginning September 1, 2024, about 80 per cent of defence-related exports to these countries no longer require individual licences under revised US arms regulations.

In September 2024, Washington also introduced new global controls on exports related to quantum computing and semiconductor manufacturing.

However, trusted partners such as Australia, the UK, Japan, and other G7 nations are largely exempt from these new requirements, helping keep research and trade channels open, GTRI Founder Ajay Srivastava said. On India's request, he said, while Washington is eager to strengthen tech ties with India, especially under the Quad framework, it may stop short of offering full parity.

"American officials could point to ongoing concerns about India's export controls, intellectual property protections, cybersecurity standards, and military relationships with Russia. Rather than blanket exemptions, Washington may suggest mechanisms such as trusted partner programmes, project-specific licences, or expanded licensing exceptions for select Indian entities," Srivastava added.

The terms of references (ToRs) have been finalised by India and the US for the proposed agreement, which include around 19 chapters covering issues such as tariffs, goods, services, rules of origin, non-tariff barriers, and customs facilitation.

To give further impetus to the talks in the 90-day tariff pause window, an Indian official team was there in Washington to iron out differences on certain issues before formally launching negotiations for the pact. The US remained India's largest trading partner for the fourth consecutive year in 2024-25 with bilateral trade valued at USD 131.84 billion. The US accounts for about 18 per cent of India's total goods exports, 6.22 per cent in imports, and 10.73 per cent in the country's total merchandise trade.

Goyal refutes Reddit post

New Delhi: Zomato Founder and CEO Deepinder Goyal has rejected an anonymous Reddit post alleging that things were "going off the rails" with the company, rebranded as Eternal, losing market share to Zepto Cafe and Swiggy and forcing employees to order from its food delivery platform. The post also claimed that the work culture has become "laughably inconsistent" with "toxicity" baked in, and the only thing keeping the company profitable now is platform fees, and the "crisis" compounded by "underpaid and overworked" delivery partners. In a post on X on Saturday, Goyal said, "All of this - reddit.com/r/StartUpIndia! - is utter nonsense. Neither are we losing market share, nor will we ever force our employees to order on Zomato. Freedom of choice is something we stand for vehemently." He further said "it is embarrassing to even clarify this -- but doing it since many people reached out to me with concern. And thanks everybody for your concern.. appreciate it".

Economic uncertainty now higher than ever: IMF

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Barcelona, April 27: The International Monetary Fund (IMF) has just published its World Economic Outlook, and it does not take an expert to deduce that, even among some of the world's top economic minds, confident predictions are currently hard to come by.

Every spring the IMF and World Bank hold their Spring Meetings in Washington DC: a week of seminars, briefings and press conferences focusing on the global economy, international development and world financial markets.

At both the Spring Meetings and the Annual Meeting, held each autumn, the IMF publishes its global economic growth forecasts.

For its 2025 Spring Meeting the IMF has published a baseline forecast, as well as an addendum analysing the tariff events that took place between 9 and 14 April. According to the Fund's report, world GDP will grow by 2.8% in 2025 and 3.0% in 2026. For the euro area, growth will be 0.8% and 1.2% for 2025 and 2026 respectively.

These forecasts represent a substantial downward revision from IMF figures published just three months ago. Globally, growth in 2025 is down by 0.5% compared to the Fund's January update, with a reduction of 0.2% for the euro area.

One major shift is key to understanding the most recent IMF report and its pessimistic predictions: we live in a much more uncertain world than we did three months ago.

If one had to sum up the new shipping and rail sectors, listed since May 2017 gave positive returns to investors who bought shares in the initial public offering (IPO) and have stayed invested in the company so far.

Besides, Mazagon Dock Shipbuilders, Rail Vikas Nigam Ltd (RVNL), Garden Reach Shipbuilders and Engineers Ltd and Indian Railways Catering and Tourism Corporation (IRCTC) provided over 1,000 per cent returns to IPO investors. Sector wise analysis reveals that Railways and Shipping

CPSEs have outperformed CPSEs in other sectors. Mazagon Dock, which listed on bourses in 2020 at an issue price of ₹145, was trading at ₹5,510.2 a share on April 22, 2025, despite a stock split in December 2024. Garden Reach Shipbuilders listed on bourses in 2018 at an issue price of ₹118. The shares are currently trading at ₹1,733.9 apiece, thus giving a 1,369 per cent returns to investors. Cochin Shipyard, which listed in 2017, has given returns of 590 per cent with share price rising to ₹2,979.7 from the IPO issue price of ₹432. This return is despite a stock split.

Among Railways CPSEs, RVNL gave returns of 1,866 per cent, rising from 2019 IPO issue price of ₹19 a share to ₹373.6. Similarly, IRCTC shares jumped 1,110 per cent from ₹320 in 2019, to ₹3,872.75 a share. Others like RITES and IRCON International (listed in 2018) gave investors returns of 225 per cent and 243 per cent, respectively.

Just one week later, the US president then made two further announcements. First, a 90-day freeze on tariff hikes, apparently in search of bilateral agreements with the countries to which he had applied tariffs above 10%. Second, that China would be excluded from this exception, with tariffs on its products being raised to 145%.

This freeze means that until July EU goods being sold to the US will have a 10% tariff instead of the 20% that was announced on 2 April. However, the 10% applied by the new US administration is still much higher than the average tariff of 1.34% that was in force before 5 April. But what will the tariff be after these 90 days? What about in December? What about in 2 years' time? What goods will be exempted? How far will the trade war between China and the US go? The answer to all of these questions is: nobody knows. This uncertainty is evident in of the IMF's spring forecast. The IMF's world trade uncertainty index is currently 7 times higher than it was in October 2024, much higher than in the pandemic.

As far as the economy is concerned, this uncertainty is far worse than a high but definitive tariff. With a tariff, companies can at least reorganise their production chain, and consumers can look for alternative products. There is a cost, but at least businesses and consumers can plan for it.

KOUNDE LEAVES IT LATE TO WIN COPA DEL REY FOR BARCA AFTER 3-2 THRILLER

Barca lift Copa del Rey cup

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Seville, April 27: Barcelona has launched its bid for a treble after edging Real Madrid 3-2 in a thrilling Copa del Rey final with Jules Koundé scoring an extra-time winner.

Right back Koundé pounced on a pass by Luka Modric and fired into the low corner of Thibaut Courtois' net for the 116th-minute decider.

Barcelona will carry momentum from its record-extending 32nd Copa del Rey title into Wednesday's start of its Champions League semifinal series against Inter Milan. It also leads La Liga by four points over Madrid.

Pedri González dictated the game for Barcelona from midfield and scored from long range to take a 28th minute-lead at La Cartuja Stadium.

Madrid rallied with two second-half goals, with Kylian

I am very proud of my team. We had trouble keeping control of the second half but again we showed our character. And then, we pulled it off at the limit when we were very tired

JULES KOUNDE | RIGHT BACK, BARCELONA

We left it all out but it wasn't to be. 5 more finals now, we've to give everything we have. Hala Madrid, hasta la muerte (Which roughly translates to Real Madrid, until death)

JUDE BELLINGHAM | MIDFIELDER, REAL MADRID

Mbappé coming off the bench at halftime and scoring from a free kick in the 70th and midfielder Aurélien Tchouaméni's header in the 77th making it 2-1. Ferran Torres leveled in the 84th to force extra time.

Barcelona has beaten Madrid in all three of the clásicos this season, including a 5-2 rout in the Spanish Super Cup final in January after winning 4-0 at Madrid in the league in October.

"This was such a physically demanding game, but we showed that we are a great team that never gives up," said Torres, who filled in perfectly for the injured Robert Lewandowski.

The loss to its fierce rival was another blow to Madrid after it was knocked out of the Champions League quarterfinals by Arsenal. This could have been its last title decider with Carlo Ancelotti in charge. The Italian coach said he will decide his future this summer amid speculation he is bound to take over Brazil.

Ancelotti, when asked about his future, said: "As I have said, I can continue, I can stop, it will be a topic for the coming weeks."

While Ancelotti's second stint in Madrid appears to be coming to an end, Hansi Flick has only added to his superb first season with Barcelona. The German coach has invigorated a group of players who seemed spent under Xavi Hernández and helped young players such as Lamine Yamal and Pau Cubarsi continue to grow into stars.

"I have to say thanks to the team because they had an unbelievable performance," Flick said. "A huge win in the Copa final is great for everyone and it gives us confidence for more."

King Felipe VI awarded the trophy to Barcelona captains Ronald Araujo and Marc-Andre ter Stegen, after the monarch returned to Spain following his attendance at the funeral of Pope Francis.

The trophy is the first piece needed to repeat a treble that Barcelona won under Pep Guardiola in 2009 and Luis Enrique in 2015.

Red for Rudiger on bench

Real Madrid defender Antonio Rudiger, who could face a lengthy ban after appearing to throw an object towards the referee in a fit of anger during the Copa del Rey final Sunday, apologised for his behaviour. In the final stages of the match, Rudiger and his Real teammates reacted angrily to a foul given against Kylian Mbappe shortly before the final whistle. Rudiger was so angry at the decision, and he appeared to throw an object towards the referee De Burgos Bengoetxea. The defender was then shown a red card, as were Vazquez and Bellingham, after the trio attempted to protest. Having been sent off, Rudiger was restrained by his teammates and was prevented from reaching the match official. "There's definitely no excuse for my behaviour last night. I'm very sorry for that. We played a very good game from the 2nd half on - After 111 minutes I was not able to help my team anymore and before the final whistle I did a mistake. Sorry again to the referee and to everyone I have disappointed last night," Rudiger posted on X.

MI crush LSG for fifth straight win

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Mumbai, April 27: In-form Mumbai Indians extended their winning run with a 54-run hammering of Lucknow Super Giants, recording their fifth consecutive victory in the Indian Premier League (IPL) here Sunday.

The hosts smashed LSG in a one-sided clash in which Suryakumar Yadav grabbed lead as tournament's leading run-scorer, with his 28-ball 54.

Suryakumar continued to plunder runs to become the leading run-scorer in this IPL, crossing the 400-run mark with his third fifty. The India T20 skipper also completed his 4,000 runs in the tournament.

Ryan Rickelton also sizzled with a 32-ball 58 that helped MI post a stiff 215 for seven being invited to take first strike.

With a handsome total to defend, Mumbai Indians juggled their bowlers cleverly as the visitors struggled to find response to the challenges thrown by the home bowlers.

With his wickets column not reflecting how well he has bowled since his comeback, pacer Jasprit Bumrah finally reaped the rewards to return with impressive figure of 4-0-22-4. He broke the back of LSG's chase with three wickets in the 16th over. In the process, Bumrah also went past Lasith Malinga (170) to become MI's leading wicket-taker in IPL history. LSG's chase was also marred by another poor outing for their captain Rishabh Pant (4). They were shot out for 161 on a perfect batting surface at the Wankhede Stadium.

Bumrah, usually reserved for later stages, was brought on early into the attack against a top-heavy LSG batting line-up and he produced immediate breakthrough in the third over.

Bumrah nailed Aiden Markram (9) with precision as he angled three deliveries straight into the right-hander, who hit the next one straight to Naman Dhir trying to fend off

Pooran went after Deepak Chahar in the sixth over, slicing sixes off two wide full tosses and putting one into the stands over midwicket but his charge didn't last against MI's dependable right-arm spin option in Will Jacks (2-0-18-2).

In the seventh over, Suryakumar, placed at long off just before the first delivery from Jacks, ran to his left and took a sharp diving catch to get rid of the dangerous Pooran.

Jacks then had the out-of-form Pant caught at short third man off a meek reverse sweep, with LSG sliding to 60 for three.

Krunal's rare IPL fifty helps RCB thrash DC

Royal Challengers Bengaluru extend unbeaten away run

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, April 27: Krunal Pandya recorded his first fifty in IPL since 2016, helping Royal Challengers Bengaluru pull off a six-wicket win over Delhi Capitals on a challenging Feroz Shah Kotla track here Sunday.

Krunal (73 not out of 47 balls), who has part of every IPL season since his debut in 2016, paced his innings perfectly while batting alongside chase master Virat Kohli (51 off 47).

The duo shared a 119-run stand off 84 balls as RCB chased down 163 in 18.3 overs to extend their unbeaten run away from home.

RCB bowlers put a squeeze on Delhi Capitals in the middle overs through Josh Hazlewood and the spinners to limit the home team to 162 for six.

For RCB, it was their seventh win in 10 games while DC suffered only their third loss in nine matches. Both teams are on course to make the play-offs.

At 26 for three, RCB felt the heat before Krunal and Kohli bailed them out.

In his maiden season for RCB, Krunal has made valuable contributions with both bat and ball.

On Sunday night, Kohli played the perfect anchor as Krunal came up with timely hits on a difficult surface to deliver a fine win for his team. His straight hit through the line off Mukesh Kumar and an aerial drive over cover off the wily Kuldeep Yadav stood out among his four sixes.

Kohli's consistency has been remarkable this season and the knock against DC was his sixth 50-plus score in 10 innings. The highlight of his solid effort was the straight drive off Mitchell Starc.

The night, however, belonged to Krunal who collected only his second 50-plus score in 116 IPL innings.

Earlier, KL Rahul (41 off 39 balls) was the top-scorer for DC but it was Tristian Stubbs (34 off 18 balls) who helped the hosts post a fighting total.

RCB put the opposition in to bat, expecting better batting conditions during the run chase.

Faf du Plessis (22 off 26 balls) returned from injury to join Abhishek Porel (28 off 11) at the top of the order but it was the latter who ensured DC reached 52 for two in the powerplay.

It was only towards the end of the innings that DC managed to get some momentum, all thanks to the blitzkrieg from Stubbs. The 18th and 19th over from Hazlewood and Dayal yielded 17 and 19 runs, enabling DC to cross the 160-run mark.

Brief Scores:

Delhi Capitals: 162 for 8 in 20 overs (KL Rahul 41; Bhuvেশ्वर Kumar 3/33) lost to Royal Challengers Bengaluru: 165 for 4 in 18.3 overs (Krunal Pandya 73, Virat Kohli 51; Axar Patel 2/19).

LIVERPOOL BAG PREMIER LEAGUE TITLE

The Reds lift their 20th league title, tying Manchester United for most in England's top division

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Liverpool, April 27: Liverpool have been crowned the 2024-25 Premier League champions after their 5-1 win over Tottenham Hotspur at the Anfield Stadium. Goals by Luis Diaz, Alexis Mac Allister, Cody Gakpo, Mohamed Salah and an own goal by Destiny Udogie saw The Reds lift their 20th league title, tying Manchester United for most in England's top division.

It is fair to say that the Arne Slot era is off to a glorious start. The Dutch head coach came to Merseyside with a job not many thought was possible - replacing Jurgen Klopp - but Slot has led Liverpool to their second league title in the Premier League era, matching the German's tally.

It was Tottenham Hotspur who looked like they were in the mood to delay the title celebrations when they fired early through Dominic Solanke in the 11th minute when he headed past Alisson via a James Maddison corner.

However Liverpool were not willing to lie down and equalized just five minutes later when Szoboszlai squared the ball to Diaz for a simple finish. The Reds snatched the lead eight minutes later when Ryan Gravenberch won the ball in the Spurs box and kay it off for Mac Allister who buried it into the top right corner to take the lead into half-time.

Cody Gakpo added to their tally shortly after the half when a corner fell for him inside the box and he danced around the Spurs defender to find the bottom corner of the goal.

With The Reds marching towards the title, how could Salah not be involved in the proceedings. The Egyptian continued his almost mythical season when he scored his 28th goal of the campaign and added a fourth to Spurs' misery. A cross by Trent Alexander-Arnold saw Destiny Udogie nudge the ball into his net to complete the five star performance by Liverpool.

Liverpool clinched the title in 34 games, having conjured 82 points with 25 wins, seven draws and two losses. They hold a 15-point lead over second placed Arsenal who seemed poised to finish as runners-up for the third season running.

Indian women's hockey team suffer second loss against Australia A in Perth

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, April 27: The Indian women's hockey team put in a determined and gritty performance but fell short against Australia A, going down 2-3 in their second game of the Australia tour, at the Perth Hockey Stadium Sunday.

It was India which took the lead through Jyoti Singh (13'), after which Australia A came back from a goal down with Evie Stansby (17'), Dayle Dolken (48'), and Jamie-Lee Surha (52') finding the back of the net. India's second goal came through Sunelita Toppo (59').

The Indian team was out of the blocks faster than Australia A, showing great intent and control in their attacking forays. The early pressure was on the hosts, as India attacked at pace. However, Australia A were able to hold its own and made the Indian side work hard. The pressure eventually paid off as the visitors won a PC in the final phase of the first quarter, and Jyoti Singh (13') wasted no time to give her side the 1-0 lead.

Under pressure, Australia A fought back in the second quarter and were awarded a Penalty Stroke which was converted by Evie Stansby (17'). After that, the Indian team continued to attack the hosts, who however held on for the rest of the quarter. At the half-time break, both teams were locked at 1-1.

After the break, both Australia A and the Indian team were going for the second goal, resulting in a flurry of attacks at both ends. While it was Australia A which did most of the attacking in the initial phases of the quarter, the Indian team counter-attacked and closed out the third quarter strongly. With 15 minutes to go, the teams were still level at 1-1.

India will face Australia in the third match of the tour May 1, Thursday.
