Karki becomes Nepal's first woman PM

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Kathmandu, Sept 12: Nepal's former Chief Justice Sushila Karki Friday took oath as the country's first woman prime minister, ending days of political uncertainty after the abrupt resignation of prime minister KP Sharma Oli earlier this week following wide-spread protests.

After hectic consultations and negotiations among various stake holders Karki's name was announced as the head of the caretaker government that will conduct fresh parliamentary elections.

Karki is widely respected for her tenure as Nepal's first woman Chief Justice. Karki was chosen to lead the interim government after a meeting be tween President Ramchandra Paudel. Nepal's top military brass, and the youth protesters, who spearheaded the anti-gov ernment protests.

OAS topper held for ₹15K bribe

Bhubaneswar: Odisha Vigilance sleuths Friday arrested Aswini Kumar Panda, OAS, Tehsildar of Bamra, who was caught red-handed while accepting a bribe of ₹15,000 from a complainant for converting agricultural land to homestead land in a mutation case. Panda had topped the Odisha civil services exam in 2019. The complainant had been pursuing the land conversion for nearly a month. Panda initially demanded ₹20,000 for issuing the Record of Rights. When the complainant expressed his inability to pay the full amount, Panda reduced the demand to ₹15,000 and threatened to withhold the conversion if the bribe was not paid. Left with no option, the complainant approached Odisha Vigilance.

SC for pan-India firecracker ban

New Delhi, Sept 12: The Supreme Court Thursday raised pointed questions over the selective imposition of the firecracker ban in the Delhi-NCR region, saying if clean air was a right for "elite" residents of the national capital, the same must extend to citizens across the country

A bench comprising Chief Justice BR Gavai and Justice K Vinod Chandran was hearing pleas concerning regulation of firecrackers in the national capital region. "If cities in NCR are entitled for clean air, why not people of other cities?...Whatever policy has to be there, it has to be on a pan-India basis. We cannot have a policy just for Delhi because they are Amritsar last winter and the pollution there was worse than in Delhi. If firecrackers are to be banned, they should be banned throughout the country," the CJI observed.

Senior advocate Aparajita Singh, the amicus curiae, said, "The elites take care of themselves. They go out of Delhi when there's pollution."

The bench asked the Additional Solicitor General Aishwarya Bhati, appearing for the Centre, to get a detailed report on the issue from the Commission for Air Quality Management. The law officer said the National Environmental Engineering Research Institute was examining the feasibility of "green crackers" to reduce pollution.

Pak to host 2027 SCO summit

Islamabad, Sept 12: Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif Friday said that Pakistan will host the next Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) summit in 2027, as he urged the authorities to start preparations for it in the national capital.

Sharif made the announcement while addressing a road development project in Rawat area of Rawalpindi. "We have to start preparing now," the prime minister said, "We need to build accommodation and beautify Islamabad." he added

He did not give a date for the summit, which is held by the member states. Pakistan will become the Chair of the SCO in 2027, when it will host the annual Council of Heads of State summit. It will take over the SCO Chair from Kyrgyzstan, the current Chair, in 2026-27. Kyrgyzstan will host the SCO summit in 2026.

The announcement to host the next summit comes less than a fortnight after the SCO Summit in Tianjin, China, where Pakistan raised the issue of the Indus Waters Treaty (IWT). India has kept the IWT treaty in abeyance after the Pahalgam terror attack.

Albania appoints AI-generated 'minister' to take on corruption

Tirana, Sept 12: Albania's leader said Friday his new cabinet will include an artificial intelligence "minister" that will be in charge of running public funding projects and fighting corruption in public tenders.

Prime Minister Edi Rama said Diella, whose name means "Sun" in Albanian, is a "member of the Cabinet who is not present physically but has been created virtually from artificial intelligence.'

Rama said Diella would help ensure that "public tenders will be 100 per cent free of corruption." It will help the government work faster and with full transparency, Rama said on his

Facebook page Friday. Diella was launched earlier this year as a virtual assistant on the e-Albania public service platform, where she helps users navigate the site while wearing traditional Albanian folk costume. Rama's Socialist Party secured a fourth consecutive Assembly seats in the May 11 parliamentary elections. The party can govern alone and pass most legislation, but it needs a two-thirds majority, or 93 seats, to change the Constitution.

The Socialists have said it can deliver EU membership for Albania in five years, with negotiations concluding by 2027. The pledge has been met with skepticism by the Democrats, who contend Albania is far from prepared.

The Western Balkan country opened full negotiations to join the EU a year ago. The new government also faces the challenges of fighting organised crime and corruption, which has remained a top issue in the Western Balkan country since the fall of the communist regime in 1990.

Raveena exposes dark journalism

Mumbai: Raveena Tandon once spoke candidly about the dark side of '90s gossip magazines, revealing magazines thrived on body-shaming and slut-shaming, often making or breaking careers with harsh, dam aging headlines. In a conversation with Smita Prakash, Raveena didn'i hold back, calling those magazines "the worst." She pointed out that many women working behind the scenes fueled this negativity, yet now portray themselves as femin-

Raveena shared that despite being dmired for her beauty and charm, she too was a target of body-sham like "TTs" and "thunder thighs during the early years of her career when she started at 16 and was nat urally plump with baby fat—a fact she now laughs about and embraces. She emphasized that this wasn't an

She also revealed that female actions often sided with male ac tors, amplifying negative narratives about women in the industry. Even when corrections were published ready done lasting damage. Frus trated by this vicious environment, Raveena chose to take a break from acting after her marriage.

Diana slams ageism in showbiz

Mumbai: In her new show Do You Wanna Partner, Diana Penty plays a marketing expert who leaves a sexist workplace to launch a beer startup. Ahead of the show's release, she spoke about how many incidents in the series reflect real-life experiences, particularly the industry's ageism and appearance-based judgments.

She explained that female actors are often introduced with compliments like "the most stunning" or "the most beautiful," while their experience, talent, and hard work are overlooked. Though such remarks are polite, they reinforce a mindset that values women more for their looks than their skills, especially Diana highlighted how this bias becomes more apparent with age. Many male actors continue to play heroic roles well into their 60s, while actresses in their 30s are often cast as mothers or side characters. In the show, a scene shows Diana and her co-lead, Tamannaah Bhatia, ambushing Neeraj Kabi (who plays a liquor baron). As Tamannaah's character, barely in her 30s, calls Neeraj's 50-something-year-old uncle, he calls her aunty instead. Diana agrees that even this has a real-life parallel in many men not wanting to act their age. Diana emphasised that instead of constantly fighting this ageism, many female actors choose to make their own decisions about which projects to accept, finding strength in staying true to themselves rather than trying to challenge a system that hasn't changed.

Manoj's career choices

Mumbai: Actor Manoj Bajpayee recently opened up about his deliberate decision not to chase stardom, saying he feels claustrophobic when surrounded by new fans. In an interview, he compared his career path to stars like Shah Rukh Khan, Aamir Khan, Salman Khan, and Ajay Devgn, who gained fame early and are constantly followed by fans. Manoj explained that he has always focused on his craft and never experienced the intense fanfare that others have. "I've never had people chasing me or breaking down emotionally in front of me," he shared. Garg thrust on women's access to employment

Bhubaneswar, Sept 12: Even as Odisha has made substantial progress in education, healthcare, nutrition, and child and women empowerment, women's access to employment is crucial for achieving Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), said Development Commissioner-cum-Additional Chief Secretary to the government Anu Garg, while addressing a consultative workshop titled 'Sustainable Development Goal-5 (Gender Equality): Reimagining Development through a Gender Lens Inclusive, Safe, Sustainable' here Friday

The workshop was organised by Planning and Convergence (P&C) department in collaboration with United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), focusing on Goal 5 of the SDGs—Gender Equality.

Inaugurating the workshop, Garg highlighted the state government's initiatives to promote women's economic empowerment, gender inclusion in services, and participation across sectors.

In the fourth session on Engagement Community and Advocacy', Dharitri and Orissa POST Chief Executive Adyasha Satpathy delivered a presentation on gender-sensitive reporting. She said, "Womsented and unfairly judged in the media. Too often, when women appear in stories, they are viewed through a personal or stereotypical lens rather than for their achievements. In economic discussions, leadership forums, or policy debates, women's voices are still missing, while in entertainment or scandal, they are quickly blamed or mocked—labelled as 'home breakers' or judged for their marital status, appearance, or choices. This is not reporting; it is stereotyping." She further said, "Media trials often reduce women to victims of character assassination rather than focusing on truth and accountability. Even in sports, interviews highlight what women athletes wear rather than their training, future, or vision. When women excel in leadership, they are told they are 'like men,' as if excellence cannot belong to often sensationalises the identity of the survivor, instead of questioning the accused. Such narratives discourage women from speaking and silence their potential."

Satpathy also said, "Press plays a powerful role in shaping perceptions, and it must practice fairness, neutrality, and dignity. At my organisation, I insist on reporting that is gender-neutral, unbiased. and authentic-because media should not perpetuate bias, it should dismantle it."

The workshop also saw participation of AB Ota, Padma Shri Sabarmatee Tiki, Sujit Mahapatra, Meera Parida, and Ambika Prasad Nanda. It was coordinated by T Ao, Special Secretary to P&C department.

Decide bail pleas within 2 months: SC to HCs

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Sept 12: Prolonged delay in disposal of regular and anticipatory bail pleas amounts to a denial of justice, the Supreme Court (SC) said Friday and directed high courts (HCs) to decide such applications within two months from the date of filing.

Issuing a slew of directions, a bench of Justices JB Pardiwala and R Mahadevan said applications concerning personal liberty couldn't be kept pending for years while the applicants remain under a 'cloud of uncertainty'

The SC said regular and anticipatory bail applications must be decided expeditiously on merits without relegating the parties to a state of indefinite pendency cles 14 and 21, it added.

"High courts shall ensure that applications for bail and anticipatory bail pending before them or before the subordinate courts under their jurisdiction are disposed of expeditiously, preferably within a period of two months from the date of filing, except in cases where delay is attributable to the parties themselves," the bench said.

The SC also asked the HCs to issue necessary administrative directions to district courts to prioritise matters involving personal liberty and to avoid indefinite adjournments.

"Investigating agencies are expected to conclude investigations in long pending cases with promptitude so that neither the complainant nor the accused suffers prejudice on account of undue delay," the bench said.

Being the highest constitutional for a in states, the bench said, HCs must devise suitable mechanisms and procedures to avoid accumulation of pending bail or anticipatory bail applications and ensure liberty of citizens was not left in abeyance.

"In particular, bail and anticipatory bail applications shall not be kept pending for long durations without passing orders either way, as such pendency directly impinges upon the fundamental right to liberty. The Registrar (Judicial) of this Court shall circulate a copy of this judgment to all High Courts for immediate compliance and prompt administrative action, the bench said. The judgement came on an appeal against a Bombay HC order dismissing the anticipatorv bail of accused in a cheating and forgery case.

The court noted apart from the relief of anticipatory bail, a significant issue that arose for consideration related to the HC's delay in the disposal of the appellants' applications for anticipatory bail.

Fresh Lopar to dump more rain

Bhubaneswar: The state is

The weather office in a message said, "Under the influence of the upper air cyclonic circulation over west central & adjoining northwest Bay of Bengal off north Andhra Pradesh and south Odisha coast, a low pressure area has formed over the same region at 8:30am." The system is likely to move westnorthwestwards across south Odisha and adjoining north Andhra Pradesh and south Chhattisgarh during the next two days, the IMD said. RESIGNED BEFORE SUSPENSION: MALLIK

Bhubaneswar, Sept 12: Confusion prevailed over former Kamakhyanagar MLA Prafulla Kumar Mallik's exit from Opposition Biju Janata Dal (BJD) as the party Friday claimed that it suspended the senior leader on charges of being involved in anti-party activities, while Mallik said that he had already resigned from the party.

The party's action came a day after Mallik said that he might quit the regional outfit if it does not function properly. The former minister, however, rejected the allegation and asserted that he resigned from the primary membership of the BJD, citing "personal reasons".

In an order, BJD vice-president, Headquarters, Pratap Jena said, "Sri Prafulla Kumar Mallik, ex-MLA Kamakhyanagar, District- Dhenkanal, is hereby suspended from Biju Janata Dal for his anti-party activities with immediate effect.'

Jena said that Mallik was elected four times on a BJD ticket to the Assembly, and par ty president Naveen Patnaik himself had campaigned for him. "He was made a minister and entrusted with key portfolios like works and mines. However, after the BJD's defeat in 2024, he has started speaking against the party. The commit ment of a person is proved in difficult times. He has failed the test of loyalty," Jena said.

"I have resigned from the primary membership of BJD on personal reasons. The party has made me an MLA and also a minister. I thank BJD president Naveen Patnaik for giving me the opportunity to serve the party and the people," the 78-year-old leader said. Alleging that BJD sus pended him without serving any show-cause notice, he claimed: "This indicates dicta torship and lack of democratic process in the party.'

In the second case, district labour officer of Nayagarh Chittaranjan Rout was apprehended while demanding and accepting a bribe of ₹6,000 from a labourer for issuing labour cards.

Vigilance officials said the complainant, along with 19 other poor labourers, had ap-

Aggrieved by the delay and harassment, the complainant reported the matter to Vigilance authorities.

Acting swiftly, a Vigilance team caught Rout red-handed while accepting the bribe. The tainted money was recovered and seized from his possession. Sources added that Rout was already under Vigilance scanner for allegedly extorting bribes from poor labourers. Following the trap, searches are being carried out at three of his premises to check DA links.

Bhubaneswar Vigilance has registered a case under Section 7 of the Prevention of Corruption (Amendment) Act, 2018 against Rout, and further investigation is underway.

Berry borer infestation in Andhra alarms Koraput coffee cultivators

POST NEWS NETWORK

Nandapur/Padua, Sept 12: Coffee plantations in Andhra Pradesh's Alluri Sitarama Raju district, bordering Odisha's Koraput district, are facing a severe infestation of the berry borer pest, causing alarm among farmers in Koraput's Nandapur, Lamtaput and Pottangi blocks.

A 500-member team of experts from the Coffee Board, Andhra Pradesh Agricultural University and other agencies is inspecting the affected fields to assess the extent of damage and identify solutions. Upendra Kumar Saha, a senior liaison officer from Koraput, is part of the team.

The group Friday visited plantations in Dumuriguda block, specifically Gorapur and Kuredi panchayats, about 1.5 km from Nandapur's Chatua panchayat. Saha said the berry borer, a tiny beetle, bores into ripening cherries, lays eggs and feeds on the fruit's interior, causing significant damage. The pest can destroy cherries from within, reduce bean quality and weight, and cause flowers to drop. It spreads through wind, birds and other animals, he added.

Koraput coffee, known for its high quality due to the region's climate and soil, has earned national and international recognition. About 1,000 hectares in Nandapur block and 2,759 hectares across Koraput's remote areas. including those near the Andhra border, are under cultivation. The Coffee Board manages 369.77 hectares, while

Farmers in Nandapur's Padua panchayat — including Sulochana, Manik Guntha, Hari Khara. Parshuram Guntha, Dasharath Guntha, Raghuram Guntha, Mangaraj Khara, Rajnath Sisa and Jinu Majhi expressed concern as their plants are laden with flowers and fruit. They urged the Koraput administration, the Coffee Board and state authorities to take urgent measures to protect their crops.

Sachidananda Swain, deputy director of the Coffee Board in Koraput, said no berry borer infestation has been reported in Koraput's fields so far, but the proximity to affected areas in Andhra Pradesh raises conndia's top anti-corruption watchdog, the CVC, has just delivered a stinging reality check to the CBI, and it's not a flattering picture. The agency that loves raiding others for "delays, irregularities and misconduct" seems to have no time for the skeletons in its own cupboard. Sixty pending departmental actions against its own staff, with 22 festering for more than four years, makes one wonder whether the CBI runs on a "do as I say, not as I do" manual?

When the country's premier investigative agency drags its feet on disciplining its own, it chips away at its credibility. The CVC is blunt: such pendency dents the CBI's image. Translation: if the cop on the beat looks corrupt, how do you expect anyone else to behave?

And then comes the other kicker—1,500 vacant posts. Nearly 900 of them are in the executive ranks. That's like trying to run a hospital without doctors but keeping the canteen stocked. How does the CBI plan to investigate high-profile corruption cases when it doesn't even have the people to chase down files, let alone white-collar criminals?

There's an old joke that the CBI is a "caged parrot." But looking at this report, one wonders if the parrot has not just been caged but has also lost its voice. It can still squawk loudly when unleashed politically, but when it comes to cleaning its own nest, the silence is deafening.

For an agency that claims to guard India's integrity, the first order of business should be simple—set its own house in order. Otherwise, every raid, every press conference, every "we got them" moment will ring just a little hollow.

This is not governance

The latest dust-up between Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar and IPS officer Anjana Krishna is more than about illegal sand mining in Maharashtra. It's about the perennial tug-of-war between politicians and babus. On paper, both swear by the Constitution. In practice, one sees oneself as the master, the other as the keeper of rules. Sparks are bound to fly.

Krishna stood her ground when Pawar dialed in, reportedly with a threatening tone, after his party worker complained about her action against unauthorized mining. She didn't budge because—imagine this—the miners couldn't show valid documents. That's how the system is supposed to work, but in our political culture, asking for paperwork often

We've seen this movie before: Durga Shakti Nagpal in Uttar Pradesh was suspended for taking on the sand mafia; IAS officers in Madhya Pradesh and Karnataka were heckled, insulted, and compared to pets. It's a script that rarely changes—politicians flex muscle and babus, at least some of them, resist, and we get a ringside view of power games.

What's more insidious is digging up Krishna's caste and educational records to discredit her. This is not governance, but plain vendetta politics. When officers are targeted personally for doing their jobs, the message to the entire bureaucracy is clear; step out of line, and we'll settle scores. That's why these clashes matter more than they seem.

A fake babu exposes the real rot

Every few years, India throws up a scam that feels less like a crime report and more like the script of a Netflix thriller. The arrest of Saurabh Tripathi, the fake IAS officer who glided around Lucknow in convoys of SUVs, complete with seals, passes, and a personal staff, is one of those stories. It's both absurd and chilling.

Because let's be clear: you don't waltz into high-level meetings, rub shoulders with senior officials, and strike deals on officer postings just by flashing a plastic ID card. You do it because the system is porous, and also because people inside the system are willing to play along. Tripathi's diary, call records, and financial trail don't just expose his hustle; they raise uncomfortable questions about the babus and cops who might have been perfectly happy to let a pretender grease the

And surely that's the part we can't ignore. A man with no official authority allegedly became a power broker in transfers and promotions—something ordinary citizens already suspect is a marketplace for influence. His scam worked not because he was a master of disguise, but because too many in the corridors of power were ready to buy what he was selling.

The police can continue to parade seized cars and fake seals, but unless this probe names and shames the officers who enabled him, the story won't be about one conman. It'll be about a bureaucracy so compromised that even a fake babu could thrive.

VIOLENCE AS POLICY

ing of the far-right activist Charlie Kirk has been met with calming, statesman-like responses on both sides of the political aisle. But it has also demonstrated yet again the fundamental asymmetry of contemporary American politics. Many prominent figures on the right, all the way up to President Donald Trump, have called for nothing less than retribution against the "radical left" - all in the absence of information about the killer and his motivation.

Trump has been signaling for a decade or so that political violence committed by his supporters is acceptable and might even be rewarded. Those he pardoned for their participation in the January 6, 2021, insurrection at the US Capitol included many convicted of violent crimes. But Trump and many of his acolytes frame such conduct not as violence, but as legitimate, even patriotic, self-defense; like other right-wing populists, they portray themselves as perpetual victims.

There have been some deeply distasteful postings about Kirk's killing by apparent leftists on social media, pointing out with schadenfreude that Kirk had claimed that gun deaths were an acceptable price to pay for the right to bear arms. But, on the whole, liberal commentators have gone out of their way not just to condemn violence but to recognize Kirk as a good-faith debater with a "taste for disagreement." On the right, by contrast, prominent voices have called for repression - invoking the illegal practices of FBI founder J Edgar Hoover as a model - if not outright "war."

More worrying still, Trump himself seems to relish the occasion as a pretext to attack

US president Donald Trump has been signaling for a decade or so that political violence committed by his supporters is acceptable and might even be rewarded civil-society organizations not to his liking. Members of his administration had already declared the Democratic Party itself to be a "domestic terror organization.' Given that Trump has shown absolutely no restraint in unleashing the powers of the federal government on any individual or organization, the implied threat of prosecuting the opposition should set off alarm bells for any democrat (not just Democrats).

Beyond abusing the law, Trump has consistently encouraged, or at least clearly tolerated, political violence: from imagining himself shooting someone on Fifth Avenue, to encouraging his supporters to rough up people, to describing violent racists marching in Charlottesville, Virginia, as "fine people," to his apparent willingness to see his first vice president, Mike Pence, be lynched on January 6, 2021, so that he could remain in power.

While Trump's first term featured ostentatious displays of cruelty, his administration is now devoting significant resources to creating a cult of violence. The killing of 11 people at sea off the coast of Venezuela - without any apparent legal justification - is gleefully shared on social media. The Department of Homeland Security routinely uses social media to celebrate the pain of families whose loved ones are brutally taken away. One post goes so far as to show masked ICE personnel with Nazi Wehrmacht helmets.

Of course, Trump has always relished a spectacle and relied on props to convince people that he was doing something important. Except now it is images of actual suffering that are used to delight his supporters and prop up his increasingly unpopular presidency

Some will say that such displays of suffering are necessary deterrents. But we do not show prisoners being tortured because we believe that will bring down crime - although, come to think of it, Kirk once demanded public executions, broadcast live on television and ideally "sponsored by Coca-Cola."

Trump may well lift all restraints on his followers after all, he himself has felt completely unconstrained in his second term, not even pretending to stick to legality, let alone norms about how to treat political adversaries in a democracy. He probably believes his undemocratic conduct is justified because the other side supposedly weaponized the Justice Department to put him in prison; so it is only fair that he seeks to punish them now with charges like "mortgage fraud."

Once again, Trump is not the perpetrator but the victim. And he has an entire grievance-industrial complex on his side. From Fox News to talk radio, his propagandists tell their audiences that they are right to feel resentful. Victimhood can be turned into a justification for violence.

This does not mean that the US is sliding toward civil war. Some appear to be itching for it and might feel well-prepared. But surveys show that an overwhelming majority oppose political violence; and, as the political scientist Brendan Nyhan has reminded us, support for such violence declined after the attempt on Trump's life in July 2024.

While hope springs eternal that Trump will become presidential and seek unity, there is every reason to believe that his behavior the night of Kirk's killing will continue: polarization has always been his political business model. Unfortunately, at a time when his administration is nurturing not so much a "taste for disagreement" as a taste for cruelty, some Americans might take their cues from him.

India's GDP boom: Miracle or mirage?

Mohapatra

LOWER NOMINAL GDP MEANS LOWER REVENUE AND ELEVATED DEFICITS, LARGER BORROWING AND LOWER SIZE OF ECONOMY

ndia's GDP growth rate of 7.8 per cent in April-June 2025 was far higher than anyone expected. This growth, in fact, bettered the assessment of most analysts, who expected it to be 6.5-7 per cent. Like past, the number triggered prompt celebration and self-patting by ruling dispensation at the Centre. But many economists have raised doubt and distrust over the veracity of GDP growth. HSBC India and ICICI Securities Primary Dealership cautioned that GDP growth may be overstated due to low deflators, especially in services and manufacturing. Critics also point to perceived inconsistency and statistical sleights of hand. However, on September 10, TCA Ananta, Chief Statistician of India, contradicted the allegations and said that talk of statistical mysteries should not distract us.

Nominal GDP uses current market prices while real GDP takes constant prices from a base year to adjust for implied inflation in the economy called GDP deflator. Under a new methodology adopted in January 2015, with change of base year from 2004-05 to 2011-12. the GDP is measured in nominal terms, which are then deflated by price indices (price deflator) to derive the real GDP numbers or GDP at constant price. In other words, the GDP in 2011-12 is used as a "base" over which the GDP growth of any following year is calculated. The deflator has therefore become crucial. If the deflator underestimates actual inflation, then real growth will be overstated. This is what has been happening recently.

There are two separate problems with India's GDP deflator. First, the National Statistics Office (NSO) does not use the international standard measure of output prices the producer price index — to deflate GDP. This is because India does not have a PPI. The NSO proxies the PPI with the wholesale price index (WPI). However, the WPI does not follow producer prices very well. It is, in fact, heavily tilted towards commodities such as oil and steel which are crucial inputs in commodity importing countries like India. Also, the WPI does not compute the price of services which constitute around 55 per cent of the economy. Second, most G20 countries including the United States,

Sir, Apropos, "India tells Russia to end recruitment of Indians in its

China and most European Union countries, calculate real gross value added (GVA) using a methodology known as double deflation. In single deflation, as used in India, nominal value added is deflated by output price index. But in case of double deflation, nominal outputs are deflated using an output deflator, while inputs are deflated using a separate input deflator. Then the real inputs are subtracted from real outputs to derive real GVA. India, by contrast, deflates nominal numbers using a single deflator. In April-June, Wholesale Price Index (WPI) inflation in India averaged less than 0.3 per cent, the lowest since the first quarter of 2024. Meanwhile, Consumer Price Index (CPI) inflation averaged 2.7 per cent, the lowest in more than six years. As a result, the 'GDP deflator' was just 1 per cent – the lowest in roughly six years. This number is down from 3.1 per cent recorded in the last quarter of 2024-25. Smaller the deflator, narrower is the difference between the real and nominal GDP growth rates.

Lower nominal GDP means lower revenue and elevated deficits, larger borrowing and Further, GDP might have been overestimated as inconsistencies seen between the 'real' GDP growth rate and nominal GDP growth. While, the 'real' GDP growth rate in April-June 2025 quarter is the highest in five quarters, the 'nominal' GDP growth rate was at a three-quarter low of 8.8 per cent. This does not augur well for the economy as budget 2025-26 envisages nominal GDP growth of 10.1 percent. This has serious implications.

When the present government revised the GDP figure of the Manmohan era, it didn't revise nominal GDP but deliberately used a high price deflator to show lower GDP growth. Now, it has used a low-price deflator to show high real GDP which is misleading.

As GDP measurement drives macro policy, flawed GDP figures can provide a deceptive picture of the economy's health, leading to foolhardy and imprudent policy decisions by governments and wrong investment strategies by businesses.

military," Orissa POST, September 12. Russia must immediately halt the recruitment of Indian nationals for its military campaigns, a practice that is both exploitative and dangerous. Reports of young Indians being lured with false promises of jobs or higher pay, only to be pushed into frontline combat in the Russia-Ukraine war, are deeply disturbing. Such actions violate international norms, endanger innocent lives, and undermine India's sovereignty. Many recruits, often from modest backgrounds, are misled into perilous situations without adequate training or understanding of the conflict. India has consistently maintained neutrality and pursued balanced diplomacy on the war. Allowing its citizens to be exploited as foot soldiers compromises this stance and risks diplomatic friction. Russia, as a long-standing partner, must respect India's position and immediately cease these unethical practices. The Indian government, on its part, must intensify efforts to track, rescue, and prevent further recruitment of its citizens. Strong diplomatic engagement, combined with awareness campaigns at home, is essential to safeguard vulnerable youth. Protecting the lives and dignity of Indians cannot be

Sir, People crossing the railway tracks unmindful of approaching trains, and the consequent danger, is a common but distasteful sight across the Indian railway network stations. Despite overbridges, escalators and lifts, passengers' proclivity to make a quick entry or exit, to and from the platforms, calls for an expeditious action. Track cordoning or fencing, an idea that was mooted sometime back especially across huge suburban railway network, remains an unfinished task. Importance of passenger awareness, of course, cannot be underscored more. It should also be noted that apart from bonafide commuters, hawkers, bystanders and local residents gain easy entry into stations and many of them use railway tracks as bypass to their homes and offices. PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Itanagar, Sept 12: The 48-hour shutdown of hospitals across Arunachal Pradesh was called off Friday evening after the state government assured the medical fraternity of addressing all their demands and ensuring their safety.

At a meeting held at the civil secretariat, Health Minister Bivuram Wahge and Home Minister Mama Natung assured representatives of the medical fraternity to look into their demands at the earliest and announced a mass meeting with doctors and nurses at TRIHMS at 8am Saturday am to further reassure them.

"Consequent upon these assurances from the government, the medical fraternity decided to call off the shutdown with immediate effect," the minutes of the meeting stated.

However, the fraternity also resolved to monitor the government's commitments and review its stand if the assurances were not implemented.

Earlier in the day, panic and distress gripped patients across Arunachal Pradesh Friday as hospitals shut down for 48 hours in protest against the assault on two doctors, leaving only emergency services operational, officials said.

Families carrying sick children and elderly patients lined up outside emergency wards from early morning, while some were forced to travel long distances in search of functioning facilities.

Routine consultations, diagnostic tests, and non-emergency treatments were suspended, leaving thousands of residents struggling for timely medical care.

The shutdown was called by doctors' and nurses' associations in protest against the assault on two doctors at Tomo Riba Institute of Health and Medical Sciences (TRIHMS) in Naharlagun Thursday

The attack occurred in the ENT ward when a 28-year-old man, reportedly dissatisfied with the treatment provided to a patient known to him, struck Dr Arvind Pusha, a senior paediatric resident, from behind with an iron rod and repeatedly punched and kicked him.

When Dr Tam Tariang, another senior resident, intervened, the assailant attacked him too, inflicting grievous injuries. Both doctors are undergoing treatment at TRIHMS.

the TRIHMS Faculty Association, Indian Medical Association (IMA) Arunachal branch, Arunachal Pradesh Doctors' Association (APDA), and Trained Nurses' Association of India (TNAI) Arunachal Pradesh branch issued a joint statement on Thursday evening, announcing the 48-hour closure of all government and private hospital services, except emer-

They also submitted a memorandum to the state government demanding immediate measures to ensure a safe work ing environment for healthcare staff, warning that the next steps in their agitation would depend on the government's response.

"We do not want to call strikes and agitate, but the circumstances have forced us to do so. We are sad, we are scared," Dr Rinchin Dorjee Megeji, senior cardiologist and president of the TRIHMS Faculty Association, told reporters Friday. The associations have called for permanent security arrangements in hospitals and the augmentation of nursing staff in state-run facilities to protect healthcare workers Ajmer, Sept 12: The demolition of the Seven Wonders replicas built in the Anasagar Wetland area of Ajmer began Friday.

Acting on the Supreme Court's directive, the Ajmer Development Authority (ADA) started removing the structures that were declared encroachments on the wetland. The Supreme Court had ordered the removal of these constructions six months ago. Initially, only one statue was shifted, but now the administration has begun full-scale demolition. In its affidavit to the court, the district administration had assured that the structures would be razed by September 17. The replicas, constructed under the Smart City Project at a cost of about Rs 12 crore and inaugurated by the then Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot in 2022, included miniature versions of the Taj Mahal, Eiffel Tower, Egyptian Pyramids, Leaning Tower of Pisa, Roman Colosseum, Statue of Liberty, and Christ the

t just 26 years old. Abhimanyu Nirban, born in Sikar, Rajasthan, has built one of India's most talked-about startups — Bharat Innovations. Known as the first AI-driven marketing agency in India, Bharat Innovations today manages over 40 lakhs in monthly ad spends, delivers ROAS up to 15x, and partners with more than 70+ e-commerce brands across 4 countries, including 42 jewellery brands alone. The company's client portfolio boasts some of the most recognized names in India such as Samsung India, Burger Farm, Nikon India, and many more. What makes this journey extraordinary is not just the numbers, but the story behind it. Abhimanyu started Bharat Innovations alone in a small room with an old laptop gifted by his father. With no team and no external funding, he turned his vision of an AIfirst marketing agency into a reality, building from scratch an operation that now has an international footprint.

In 2024, Abhimanyu introduced the RASA Framework, a breakthrough innovation designed specifically for the jewellery industry. After testing more than 100 marketing frameworks, he crafted a system that consistently delivered a minimum of 6x ROAS, something many agencies considered impossible. The RASA Framework — rooted in Brand Intelligence, AI Nurturing, Engagement Ecosystem, Experience Automation, and Trust Building through PR - has become a defining model for scaling jewellery brands globally. Abhimanyu describes it as "a framework born out of sleepless nights, endless failures, and the obsession to decode how jewellery brands can scale profitably in a highly competitive market. What sets Bharat Innovations apart is its dual strength: on one hand, it is India's first AI-driven marketing agency, relentlessly focused on helping e-commerce brands achieve profitability at scale. On the other hand, it has also built one of India's largest PR networks in just two years, offering access to more than 1,000 media portals that establish authority and credibility for its clients. This unique combination of AI marketing precision and PR dominance has made Bharat Innovations one of the fastest-scaling agencies in the country.

Abhimanyu's vision is bold and unapologetic. He firmly believes that AI is not just the future of marketing — it is the present. His philosophy is simple: creativity should be guided by data, and marketing should be measured not in vanity metrics but in profitability and growth. Today, the agency's work speaks for itself, with jewellery and e-commerce brands achieving global recognition and returns they once only dreamed of.

From a gifted laptop in a modest room in Rajasthan to managing campaigns for multinational brands, Abhimanyu Nirban's journev is a testament to clarity of vision, relentless execution, and the courage to innovate. With 70+ e-commerce clients, 42 jewellery brands, and a growing global presence, Bharat Innovations is aggressively expanding internationally, aiming to establish itself as a world leader in AI-powered marketing and PR.

PM to visit Manipur today

Addressing a press conference here, the chief secretary asserted that peace is "not only the absence of violence but also the presence of trust, harmony and reconciliation"

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Sept 12: Prime Minister Narendra Modi is scheduled to embark on a threeday visit from September 13 to Mizoram, Manipur, Assam, West Bengal and Bihar to launch multi-crore infrastructure projects, participate in the birth centenary celebrations of Bharat Ratna Bhupen Hazarika and attend the Combined Commanders' Conference.

Addressing a press conference here, the chief secretary asserted that peace is "not only the absence of violence but also the presence of trust, harmony and reconciliation"

Modi will interact with internally displaced people in Churachandpur and Imphal, and address two rallies during his visit to the state, he said. In a release, the Prime Minister's Office (PMO) said, "In line with his commitment to inclusive, sustainable and holistic development of Manipur. the PM will lay the foundation stone of multiple development projects worth over ₹7,300 crore at Churachandpur.

Modi will also inaugurate multiple development projects worth more than ₹1,200 crore at Imphal, it said.

Reacting to the announcement of Modi's visit, the Congress claimed that the trip, instead of providing a force for peace and harmony, is actually going to be a "farce".

During his press conference, Goel said the state government appreciates the efforts of the people of Manipur, both in the hills and valley, for "successfully moving forward to restore peace and normalcy" in Manipur. Manipur has been under the President's Rule since February, following the resignation of Chief Minister N Biren Singh.

Goel also said, "Manipur is not just a border state but a central pillar of India's Act East Policy and gateway to South East Asia, proud guardian of India's diversity.

According to officials, nearly 57000 internally displaced persons are staying in around 250 relief centres in the state till June this year. In the beginning (2023), there were more than 62000 IDPs, but many have returned to their homes after the law and order situation improved, former chief secretary PK Singh said in July this year.

'Giving details of Modi's Manipur visit, Goel said,"on his arrival in Churachandpur around 12.15 pm, he will first interact with some IDPs (internally displaced persons) in the district.

He will lay the foundation stones for various infrastructure projects to be taken up throughout the state. The PM will address a public gathering at Peace Ground in Churachandpur.

Thereafter, he will arrive at Kangla around 2.30 pm and first interact with some IDPs, and he will inaugurate various developmental projects.

The PM will address a public gathering at Kangla, Goel said.

Among the projects, the PM will inaugurate the new Manipur Police headquarters built at a cost of ₹101 crore at Mantripukhri in Imphal and a civil secretariat constructed at a cost of ₹538 crore in the same

From Churachandpur, Modi will lay the foundation stone for various projects, including the drainage and asset management improvement project worth ₹3,647 crore and the Manipur Infotech Development (MIND) project at ₹550 crore.

Though Modi's visit was officially announced only on Friday, the trip was talked about for nearly two weeks and the Manipur government had on Thursday evening put up a large billboard, announcing the PM's programmes at Churachandpur's Peace Ground and Kangla Fort in Imphal Saturday. The state government Thursday also issued an advisory, asking the public attending the "VVIP programme" in Peace Ground not to bring 'key, pen, water bottle, bag, handkerchief, umbrella, lighter, match box, piece of cloth any sharp objects or arms and ammunition". Israel has stated its intention to take full control of the ruined city, where about a million people are sheltering, as part of its plan to wipe out the militant group Hamas, and has been intensifying its attacks. The UN and many foreign governments, including those of countries traditionally allied with Israel, have condemned the Gaza City evacuation order, called for a ceasefire, and sharply criticised conditions in the humanitarian zone

Russia, Belarus launch military exercise

Moscow: Russia and Belarus Friday launched a longplanned joint military exercise involving thousands of troops that has raised concern in the West. The exercises, dubbed "Zapad 2025." or "West 2025," are held in Belarus and Russia and will last through Tuesday. They are intended to showcase close defense ties between Moscow and Minsk, as well as Russia's military might as it fights its 31/2-yearold war in neighbouring Ukraine. The maneuvers follow Wednesday"s incursion of Russian drones into Polish airspace earlier this week that fuelled longstanding fears that the hostilities in Ukraine could trigger a wider conflict.

The new caretaker government led by interim Prime Minister Karki is mandated to hold fresh parliamentary elections within six months

AGENCIES

Kathmandu, Sept 12: Former Chief Justice Sushila Karki Friday night became Nepal's first woman prime minister to lead an interim government, ending days of political uncertainty after the KP Sharma Oli dispensation was forced to quit in the face of a nation-wide agitation triggered by a social media ban.

President Ramchandra Paudel administered the oath of office to Karki, 73, this evening three days after Oli resigned from the prime minister's post following the worst unrest that the Himalayan nation has witnessed in decades

President Ramchandra Paudel said the new caretaker government led by interim Prime Minister Karki is mandated to hold fresh parliamentary elections within six months.

The swearing-in ceremony of the new prime minister was attended by Nepal's chief justice, senior government officials, se curity chiefs, and members of the diplomatic community.

Karki was chosen to lead the interim government after a meeting between President Paudel, Nepal's top military brass, and the youth protesters, who spearheaded the anti-government protests. The former chief justice, known for her integrity and plain-speaking, studied Banaras Hindu University.

A meeting held between President Paudel, the Nepal Army chief and representatives of the 'Gen Z' protesters agreed on Karki's name to head the interim government following a series of meetings. In the first meeting of her cabinet, she is dent, top sources said. President Paudel also consulted leaders of all major political parties, legal experts and civil society leaders separately before deciding to appoint Karki as the caretaker prime minister. The major demands by the Gen Z protesters included checking corruption, ending political disorder, and nepotism. The students-led "Gen Z" protests that began against a government ban on social media expanded into a larger campaign reflecting growing public criticism of the Oli dispensation and ■ atest data from Nepal police said that at least 51 people, including an Indian national, died in the 'Gen Z'-led violent protests that began Monday

Though the ban on social media was lifted Monday night, the intensity of protests grew Tuesday with the focus of the agitation shifting to alleged corruption and luxury lifestyles of the political elite.

In his resignation letter to President Paudel, Oli had cited the "extraordinary circumstances" facing Nepal and said he is quitting to pave the way for a "constitutional and political" resolution of the current situation. Earlier Friday, Speaker of Nepal's House of Representatives Devaraj Ghimire and Chairman of the National As sembly Naravan Dahal called for resolving the ongoing political deadlock "within the framework of the Constitution."

epal's first female chief justice, Sushila Karki, is set to take charge as interim head, stepping in to run the poor Himalayan nation after anti-graft protests plunged it into the worst political crisis in decades. Karki's appointment Friday came days after violence led to the deaths of at least 51 people and forced Prime Minister KP Sharma Oli to resign Tuesday. A judge who displayed zero tolerance of corruption, Karki is known for taking on powerful interests, in a stance that may have cost her the top judicial post, as the government moved to impeach her less than a year into her tenure. The proposal was dropped after public pressure, but a disillusioned Karki quit on her own. "She faced an impeachment motion... but never lowered her principles. She is the perfect choice to handle Nepal's crisis," Supreme Court lawyer JL Bhandari told Reuters. This week's violence subsided after Oli stepped down but authorities have retained prohibitory orders in some areas, with the army patrolling the streets and key political leaders, now discredited, in hiding. I is against this backdrop that Karki, with limited experience of politics or governance has been temporarily handed the leadership role. "She is a good choice but will need a good team," Dipendra Jha, a Supreme Court advocate who worked with Karki for 10 years, told Reuters. The eldest of seven children, Karki was born in 1952 to a farming family in the jute-growing village of Shankarpur and completed a master's in law from India's Banaras Hindu University before launching her legal practice in 1979. As a student, she was associated with the Nepali Congress party that dominated politics and joined a 1990s movement against the panchayat system, a centralised form of government that consolidated the king's power, leading to a brief jail spell. "Even as a child she treated everyone as equals and encouraged us to go to school," her young sibling, Junu Dahal, told the Thomson Reuters Foundation in 2016, the year Karki became chief justice. Karki has vowed to work for Nepal's development. "We will try to establish a new beginning for the country," she told CNN-News18 Wednesday.

"We are confident that we must not stray from the rule of law and constitutionalism," they said, stressing that the ongoing process to form a citizen-led government should address the protesters' demands while ensuring that democracy grows stronger and more resilient.

Latest data from Nepal police said that at least 51 people, including an Indian national, died in the 'Gen Z'-led violent protests that began Monday.

Charlie Kirk murder suspect in custody

Orem, Utah, Sept 12: A young Utah man suspected of killing the influential conservative activist Charlie Kirk at a university in the city of Orem was in custody Friday, Utah Governor Spencer Cox told reporters.

"We got him," Cox told reporters. The suspect, identified as Tyler Robinson, had confessed to a family friend - or "implied that he had committed the murder" to that friend - and that person in turn had contacted the Washington County sheriff's office Thursday.

A family member interviewed by investigators said Robinson had become more political recently and spoke in a disparaging manner about Kirk, Cox told reporters. Robinson was taken into custody Thursday night, about 33 hours after Kirk's murder, FBI Director Kash Patel said at the press conference.

Kirk, a close ally of US President Donald Trump, was killed by a single bullet as he spoke onstage at an outdoor amphitheatre at Utah Valley University Wednesday.

Previously, US investigators said they had found the bolt-action rifle believed to have been used to kill Kirk and released images of a person of interest.

Investigators spoke to Robinson's roommate, who showed them comments Robinson had made on Discord, a chat and streaming platform popular with gamers, discussing retrieving a rifle from a drop point and then leaving the rifle in a bush wrapped in a towel. This matched the description of the gun that authorities recovered after the shooting in a wooded area near campus.

Ammunition found at the scene had been inscribed, Cox said. The messages on the casing included, "What's this;" "Oh, Bella Ciao, Bella Ciao, Bella Ciao, Ciao;" "If you read this, you are gay, LMAO;" and "Hey fascist, catch!," Cox told Kirk, a well-connected activist, author and podcast host, helped build support for Trump and the Republican Party among younger voters.

Kirk was the co-founder and president of the conservative student group Turning Point USA and appeared at Utah Valley on Wednesday as part of a planned 15-event "American Comeback Tour" of US college campuses. His killing stirred outrage and denunciations of political violence from Democrats, Republicans and foreign governments.

Indian-origin motel manager beheaded in US; co-worker held

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Houston, Sept 12: A 50-yearold Indian-origin motel manager in the US was beheaded in front of his wife and son in Texas following a dispute over a washing machine, police said.

The suspect, a co-worker with a criminal record, has been arrested and charged with capital murder.

The incident took place Wednesday morning at the Downtown Suites motel in Dallas.

Chandra Mouli "Bob" Nagamallaiah, originally from Karnataka, was killed after a dispute over a broken washing machine with his 37-yearold Cuban co-worker Yordanis Cobos-Martinez, according to the Dallas Police Department.

Cobos-Martinez reportedly became enraged when Nagamallaiah asked another person to translate his instructions instead of addressing him directly.

Surveillance footage showed Cobos-Martinez attacking Nagamallaiah with a machete.

The victim fled toward the motel office, where his wife and 18-year-old son were present. Nagamallaiah's wife and son tried to intervene several times, but Cobos-Martinez pushed them away and continued the tim's cell phone and key card from his pockets before again resuming the attack until Nagamallaiah's head "was removed from his body", police said in court affidavit.

"The suspect then kicked the [Nagamallaiah"s] head twice into the parking lot and proceeded to pick it up and carry it to the dumpster and put it inside,' police said.

The crime is "unthinkable" they said.

Cobos-Martine is being held without bond. If convicted, he could face life imprisonment without parole or the death

According to official records, he has been arrested twice for auto theft in Florida and has indecency with a child and as sault charges in Houston. The records also show an immigration hold.

ICE officials said Cobos-Martine was released under super vision earlier this year due to the lack of deportation flights

HOUSING MARKET HEAT FUELS RENTAL PRESSURE

The concentration of well-paying jobs in a handful of cities and stagnating wages has pushed home ownership out of reach for millions moving to urban areas for work, forcing most would-be buyers to rent

Bangalore, Sept 12: Home prices in India are set to rise faster than expected, fuelled by demand from wealthy buyers, while a shrinking supply of affordable housing is likely to keep many stuck in ever more expensive rentals, a Reuters poll of property experts found.

economy grew 7.8% last quarter, faster than most major peers, experts warn the gains are increasingly captured by a small segment of the population of 1.4 billion, leaving job seekers on the sidelines.

That inequality is spilling over into housing, where premium demand thrives but affordable options lag far behind. India now faces a deficit of about 10 million affordable homes, a gap Knight Frank, opens new tab projects could triple by 2030.

Milan, Sept 12: Late designer Giorgio Armani has instructed heirs to gradually sell the fashion brand he created 50 years ago or seek a stock market listing, his will said, marking a surprising turn for a company highly protective of its independence and Italian roots.

The will, reviewed by Reuters, states heirs should sell an initial 15% stake in the Italian fashion house within 18 months and later transfer an additional 30% to 54.9% stake to the same buyer between three and five vears after Armani's death. The designer, known in the industry as "King Giorgio", died on September 4, at 91 and with no children to inherit his fashion empire. The will also says that priority should be given to luxury giant LVMH, beauty heavyweight L'Oreal, eyewear leader Essilor-Luxottica or another group of "equal standing" identified by a foundation the designer set up to preserve his legacy with the agreement of Armani's business and life partner Pantaleo Dell'Orco.

As an alternative to the sale of the second tranche of shares, an initial public offering should be pursued, in Italy or in a market of equal standing, it said.

It was not immediately clear what would happen if one of the heirs or the foundation did not fulfill the instructions on a sale set out in the will. The explicit mention of stake sales and of France-listed players as potential buyers comes as a surprise, given Giorgio Armani's persistent refusal to dilute his control or list his fashion group on the stock market. It could also spur a race to secure a slice of the brand, which industry experts say has retained its appeal despite a global luxury slowdown.

EssilorLuxottica, controlled by the heirs of Italian entrepreneur Leonardo Del Vecchio and with commercial ties to Armani, said in a statement it would consider a possible deal. "We're proud of the consideration our group and its management received from Mr

Armani," a spokesperson for EssilorLuxottica told Reuters "Together with the board we'll carefully assess such a development prospect given the deep ties already existing between the two groups ARMANI'S LEGACY

Over the years, the maker of popular unstructured suits that gained him international fame received several approaches, including one in 2021 from John Elkann, scion of Italy's Agnelli family, and another from luxury brand Gucci, when Maurizio Gucci was still at the helm.

Armani was the sole major shareholder of the company he set up with his late partner Sergio Galeotti in the 1970s and over which he maintained a tight rein - both creative and managerial - until the very end. He has left behind no children to inherit the business, which generated relatively stable revenue - 2.3 billion euros ($2.7 billion) in 2024 - but whose profits have shrunk amid a broad luxury industry recession.

The will, which lists six different types of shares with different voting rights, gives the Fondazione Giorgio Armani and life partner and righthand man Pantaleo Dell'Orco 30% and 40% of the company voting rights, respectively, meaning they would together control the fashion group with 70% of voting rights combined.

The foundation will retain a 30.1% stake in a listing, according to the will.

Its five-member board will be chaired by Dell'Orco, in accordance with the foundation's bylaws. Other board members include Rothschild partner Ir ving Bellotti, Armani's nephew Andrea Camerana and two family outsiders, a person close to the matter told Reuters.

Heirs should consider other fashion and luxury companies with which the Armani group has commercial ties for a future sale, the will also said

The Armani group has commercial partnerships with both L'Oreal and EssilorLuxottica.

Yet, with a market value of 240 billion euros and a repu tation for being a patient and supporting minority investor conglomerate LVMH controlled by billionaire Bernard Arnault may ultimately prevail.

'We think that LVMH would likely be the most interested, of the three, in a stake, were it to become available, given the strategic fit," analysts at Berenberg said in a note. They said the group could easily afford to buy Armani, which they valued at between 5 and 7 billion euros.

Kateryna Lagno of Russia made most of her white pieces and defeated Mariya Muzychuk

Lagno took her tally to 6.5 points out of a possible eight and is now a half point ahead of Assaubayeva, Vaishali and Yuxin Song of China who all have six points apiece. Nihal opted for the Queen's gambit accepted with his black pieces and did not face any tough challenge from Bluebaum.

The German has played some exemplary chess in this event but in the eighth round he did not push hard enough. The game was drawn in a mere 21

India take 2-0 lead against Switzerland

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Biel (Switzerland), Sept 12: Pulled out of reserves, Dhakshineshwar Suresh stunned higher-ranked Jerome Kvm of Switzerland in straight sets before Sumit Nagal made a triumphant return to the Davis Cup, placing India on the cusp of a rare win against a European side in an away tie, here

Captain Rohit Rajpal showed immense faith in Dhakshineshwar, playing him ahead of Aryan Shah, and the tall Chennai player did not disappoint, coming out a 7-6 (4) 6-3 winner against 155th ranked Kym.

Dhakshineshwar is placed 626 on the ATP charts but his stupendous game and confidence belied his low ranking. He charged the net a lot more after measuring the game of his opponent who seemed to be lacking a plan B.

Nagal, who is now struggling to stay inside top-300 after being in top-100 last year, made a winning return to the Davis Cup with a 6-3 7-6 (4) result against Marc-Andrea Huesler that gave India a commanding 2-0 lead at the end of day one.

India are now very close to pulling off a memorable Davis Cup win on the European soil as they need to win one of the three matches Saturday.

The team of N Sriram Balaji and Rithvik Bollipalli will clash with Jakub Paul and Dominic Stricker before the reverse singles are played.

A look at the Indian Davis Cup team's travel history suggests that India managed to beat formidable Asian teams like Uzbekistan and Kazakhstan while touring but when it comes to a European team, its record is poor.

The last time India beat a European side in an away tie was back in 1993 in Cannes when Leander Paes and Ramesh Krishnan led the team to a 3-2 win over France in the quarterfinals.

Since the turn of the century, India have lost away ties to Sweden (2024), Denmark (2023), Norway (2022), Finland (2021), Croatia (2020), Italy (2019), Serbia (2018, 2011), Canada (2017) Russia (2010), Romania (2008) Sweden (2005), Netherlands (2003), and Sweden (2000).

In the opening singles, Dhakshineshwar was in a spot after consecutive unforced errors put him down 0-40 in game

He, though, reeled off five straights points to keep it even His serve yet again came under pressure. At 30-all in game six, the Indian kept hitting on the backhand of his rival and found a backhand winner himself to close the game.

12 ISL clubs agree to participate in Super Cup, OFC indecisive

Winner to get ACL 2 play-off spot

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, Sept 12: All the Indian Super League clubs except for Odisha FC have agreed to take part in the season-opening Super Cup football tournament, starting next month, according to an official of the national fed-

The Super Cup, which normally happens at the end of the season, will be held at the start this time so as to give the clubs enough matches in the wake of a delayed ISL season. The ISL has been put on hold by the organisers FSDL but is likely to start in December.

"Except Odisha FC, all the other 12 clubs of the ISL have agreed to take part in the Super Cup. We have asked them again to confirm in another couple of days. After that we will finalise the tournament," an AIFF official told PTI on Friday on the condition of anonymity. The 16-team tournament will also have at least three sides from the I-League. The number of I-League sides will increase if any ISL team pulls out.

The AIFF earlier this week decided to hold the Super Cup from October 25 to November 22 in a phased manner.

It is also learnt that the AIFF has told the clubs that the winning team of the Super Cup will also be awarded the AFC Champions League 2 play-off spot for 2026-27 season.

But such a team will have to possess the Premier 1 License under the Indian Club Licensing Regulations relevant for the 2026-27 season.

FC Goa made it to the ACL 2 play-offs -- and subsequently in group stage -- this season as champions of Super Cup 2024-25. But, a few clubs have asked the AIFF to clear the air on the matter, and the national federation has done that.

The AIFF also said that if an Indian club participating in ACL 2 play-off is unable to secure qualification, it will automatically enter the group stage of the AFC Challenge League (ACGL), the third tier of the continent's club competition (one level below ACL 2).

This mechanism will ensure continued continental participation for Indian clubs, even in the event of ACL 2 play-off stage exit.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Liverpool, Sept 12: Jaismine Lamboria cruised into the final while Minakshi assured India of a fourth medal in the ongoing World Boxing Championships but the men's campaign ended without a podium finish for the first time in 12 years here Friday.

However, the men's campaign came to an end, follow ing Jadumani Singh Mandengbam's 0-4 quarterfinal loss to reigning world champion Sanzhar Tashkenbay of Kazakhstan in the 50kg event.

With his exit, India's 10-member men's squad finished without a medal for the first time since the 2013 edition. The disappointing campaign comes on the back of 2023's high in Tashkent, where India returned with three bronze medals

India are assured of four medals in the women's section through Minakshi, Jaismine, Pooja Rani (80kg) and Nupur Sheoran (80+kg)
