Mahanadi dispute: State postpones all-party meet

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Bhubaneswar, Jan 23: The Odisha government Friday put on hold the proposed all-party meeting on the Mahanadi water dispute with Chhattisgarh, and asserted that it was committed to safeguard the river which is a 'heritage' for the people.

This was stated by Deputy Chief Minister KV Singh Deo, who chaired an inter-departmental meeting convened to discuss the Mahanadi water dispute matter here.

Singh Deo did not mention the reason behind postponing the all-party meeting on the Mahanadi water dispute.

He, however, said in an X post, "Joined my colleagues Shri Prithviraj Harichandan, Hon'ble Minister of Law, Works & Excise, and Shri Suresh Pujari, Hon'ble Minister of Revenue & Disaster Management at the Inter Ministerial Committee follow up on Mahanadi. Our deliberations were not just about a river, but about safeguarding Odisha's heritage, strengthening our agriculture, and securing resilience for tomorrow."

Describing Mahanadi as the state's lifeline and a heritage for the state, Harichandan said, "The agriculture sector of our state, along with the livelihoods of the state's residents, is also dependent on the waters of the Mahanadi. In today's meeting, discussions were held regarding the security of all these."

Pujari claimed that the state's BJP government was putting its best effort to resolve the issue.

He said, "We (the BJP govt) inherited this (Mahanadi) problem from the previous BJD government which did not oppose the neighbouring Chhattisgarh when it built barrages on upstream of the river. The previous government took legal option only after the projects were completed."

Pujari noted that matters became difficult now because Chhattisgarh has placed a document in the Mahanadi Water Dispute Tribunal (MWDT) quoting the then Odisha's water resource minister saying in Assembly that barrages built by the neighbouring state will not impact the state. "This statement of the BJD minister has become a major hurdle for us in the tribunal," said Pujari, who is a lawyer by profession.

The state government, which has been trying to resolve the Mahanadi water dispute through negotiation, had convened the all-party meeting to build a common political stand of Odisha ahead of inter-state dialogue with Chhattisgarh on sharing of Mahanadi waters.

Nationwide outrage over assault on pastor in state

AGENCIES

Bhubaneswar, Jan 23: The alleged assault and public humiliation of a Christian pastor in Dhenkanal district has triggered strong reactions from political leaders across the country, with chief ministers and senior leaders describing the incident as a serious blow to India's constitutional values, religious freedom and rule of law.

The pastor was reportedly attacked by a mob January 4 on suspicion of religious conversion. According to allegations, he was assaulted, paraded with a garland of footwear and forced to consume cow dung, sparking widespread condemnation.

Kerala CM Pinarayi Vijayan termed the incident a "deeply inhuman act" and warned that it was not an isolated crime but part of a broader, systematic assault on India's secular fabric.

Echoing similar concerns, AICC general secretary KC Venugopal demanded the immediate arrest of all those involved. In letters to Union Home Minister and Odisha Chief Minister, Venugopal alleged that nearly 40 Bajrang Dal activists led the attack, describing it as a direct assault on religious freedom.

Adding to the chorus of concern, Meghalaya Chief Minister Conrad K. Sangma wrote to Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi, expressing distress over the incident. "Acts of extremism risk creating fear and mistrust among communities," he said, expressing confidence that the Odisha government would uphold justice and the rule of law.

Rupee hits 92/$

The Indian rupee plunged to a fresh all-time low Friday, as demand for the dollar from corporates and importers compounded existing pressure on the currency. With this, the rupee has posted its steepest weekly decline in six months, weighed by sustained foreign fund outflows from India's equity markets and hedging by importers.

The rupee's underperformance this week was all the more significant considering the fact that most Asian peers managed to post a modest advance against a weakening dollar index amid US President Donald Trump issuing threats over Greenland and later walking them back

The rupee has slumped by 202 paise, or over 2 per cent, so far this month. In 2025, the domestic unit had plunged 5 per cent on unabated foreign fund outflows and dollar strength.

"We expect the rupee to trade with a negative bias due to selling pressure from FII and risk-off sentiments in the global markets. Dollar demand from hedgers and imports may further pressurise the rupee," said Anuj Choudhary, Research Analyst, Mirae Asset ShareKhan.

However, a weak dollar and any intervention by the RBI may support the rupee at lower levels. USD-INR spot price is expected to trade in a range of 91.60 to 92.30, Choudhary added.

Meanwhile, the dollar index, which measures the greenback's strength against a basket of six currencies, was trading 0.01 per cent higher at 98.36.

The directive was issued through an official notification (Letter No. 93 dated January 23, 2026) by the office of District Collector Manoj Satyawan Mahaian (General Miscellaneous section).

As per the order, all tehsildars, block development officers and urban local body officials have been instructed to ensure that the sale of fish, meat and eggs is completely banned within their respective jurisdictions January 26.

NATIONWIDE BANK STRIKE ON JAN 27

Measuring just 9 cm, the black-breasted puffleg is one of the most threatened species on the planet

According to the International Union for Conservation of Nature, its global population has dwindled to between 150 and 200 birds beauty, its survival is at risk as high-altitude forests are cleared for grazing and agriculture. Shirley Farinango, of the Birds and Conservation Foundation, notes that the pressure is most intense because the puffleg occupies a narrow ecological niche between 3,000 and 3,500 meters (9,800 and 11,400 feet) above sea level. This specific elevation, she said, is "prime territory" to be converted to agricultural land.

On the slopes of the Pichincha volcano, 45 kilometres (27 miles) northwest of Quito, conservationists are now racing to restore this cloud-shrouded forest. For the "smallest fairies" of the Andes, these dense trees are more than just a habitat - they are their last stand.

SINNERS BREAKS ALL TIME OSCAR NOMINATION RECORD

Ryan Coogler has made Oscar history. His film Sinners smashed the Academy Awards' all-time nomination record Thursday, securing 16 nods, surpassing the previous record of 14 nominations held by All About Eve (1950), Titanic (1997), and La La Land (2016).

SYDNEY SWEENEY TO STAR IN CUSTOM OF THE COUNTRY

Sydney Sweeney is set to star in and produce the film adaptation of The Custom of the Country. Written and directed by Josie Rourke, the project will see Sweeney portray Undine Spragg, an ambitious Midwestern woman navigating turn-of-the-century New York as she strives to climb the city's rigid social hierarchy.

Ghatak's Meghe Dhaka Tara takes centre stage

Bhubaneswar: The second day at 15th Indian Film Festival of Bhubaneswar (IFFB) showcased a vibrant mix of compelling film screenings, insightful discussions, and enthusiastic audience participation.

The day started with three short films—Two Sinners by Samir Zaidi—a dark revenge drama set in a forest, where a man is coerced into executing the perpetrator of his sister's assault, The Unknown Filmmaker by Hemant Gaba—a story based on a woman's journey from India to Busan in search of a filmmaker friend leading to unsettling revelations and Samvega-Pasada by Elroy Pinto—story of a former sex worker in a Mumbai chawl whose spiritual awakening collides with social and political resistance.

As part of the retrospective on Adoor Gopalakrishnan, two of his acclaimed films Elippathayam and Kathapuri-shan were screened. A major highlight of the second day was Pradipta Bhattacharya's Nadharer Bhela—official selection to Rotterdam Film Festival. Nadharer Bhela, a man deemed dysfunctional for his extremely sluggish movements, becomes part of a travelling circus, where his condition turns into spectacle. The film is an expansive meditation on human nature, slowness, and being profoundly out of step with the world. The 4k restored print of Ritwik Ghatak's Meghe Dhaka Tara was also screened as part of Ghatak's birth centenary celebration by the society. Needless to say, the movie was the centre of attraction during the day.

Speaking about the festival, Debadish Jena who is volunteering at the festival said, "IFFB aims to cater to the growing interest for thoughtful and independent cinema among the young cinephiles in City. The festival has curated and handpicked films that narrate stories about less looked upon themes."

Elnaaz in awe of Indian fashion

Pune: Citing the example of Italian global luxury fashion house Prada's use of Kolhapuri chappal designs, Iranian-German actor and international model Elnaaz Norouzi has said there is immense creativity in Indian fashion, and the world is increasingly emulating India.

"The Indian fashion industry is very big, and Indian fashion is increasingly being embraced in the West. People in the West are inspired not just by our fashion, but by our creativity as a whole. I come from the West, I grew up in Germany, and I can see how much is happening in India," she said.

Norouzi was speaking on the sidelines of the fashion show 'Runway Raaga' in Pune, hosted by Shruti Bengre, where she turned showstopper for celebrity designer Ken Fern's Silverblood collection.

"Indian people are incredibly creative. There is so much innovation here, and whatever we do in fashion, the world ends up copying it. Take, for example, Prada using Kolhapuri chappal designs," said Norouzi.

After the use of Kolhapuri chappals in a collection led to controversy, Italian luxury fashion brand Prada acknowledged the connection, saying the design was "inspired" by the Indian handcrafted footwear.

The fashion house also signed a memorandum of understanding with two government organisations to source sandals, inspired by Kolhapuri Chappals.

Ananya's grand wedding plans

Mumbai: Ananya Panday's wedding plans have already become a topic of curiosity, with both the actress and her family offering fun insights into how she envisions her big day. Recently, her parents Chunky Panday and Bhavna Pandey appeared on a cooking show, where they revealed their dream menu for Ananya's wedding.

Bhavna shared that the celebrations would be grand, featuring an elaborate spread of vegetarian and non-vegetarian dishes.

From mutton curry and garlic pickle to Indian-style tiramisu and purple parathas, the menu reflected the family's playful and festive taste, leaving the audience amused.

Ananya herself has earlier spoken about her ideal wedding in an interview. The actress revealed that she hopes to have two separate wedding ceremonies. One would be a lavish celebration in Udaipur, inspired by the wedding sequence of Kalki Koechlin in Yeh Jawaani Hai Deewani, complete with friends, family and members of the film industry. This would be followed by a smaller, more intimate ceremony at a beach destination such as the Maldives or the Bahamas, held about a week later.

Border 2: A patriotic spectacle with mixed results

Mumbai: Billed as the biggest film of the year so far, Border 2 finally arrives with Sunny Deol's iconic voice once again echoing across cinema halls. However, despite the hype, the sequel to the 1997 classic Border struggles to live up to expectations. A weak storyline and an often forced brand of patriotism weigh the film down, though strong performances and war sequences offer occasional relief.

Sunny remains the film's biggest strength, injecting energy and conviction into an otherwise uneven narrative. With an extensive runtime of 3 hours and 17 minutes, the film falters badly in storytelling, but its large-scale action and battle scenes help sustain interest. Mona Singh, Varun Dhawan and Paramvir Cheema add emotional depth, their restrained performances lending sincerity to select moments.

The story begins in 1969 at the National War Academy, following the friendship of Nirmaljeet Singh Sekhon (Diljit Dosanjh), Major Hoshيار Singh Dahiya (Varun Dhawan) and Lieutenant Commander Joseph Noronha (Ahan Shetty). Lieutenant Fateh Singh Kelar (Sunny Deol) serves as their mentor and hero. The first half focuses heavily on their personal lives, exploring family bonds, marriages and sacrifices made by soldiers and their loved ones. These emotional beats work well and recall the soul of the original Border.

The second half shifts to a conflict with Pakistan, featuring air, land and naval operations led by Diljit, Varun and Ahan respectively. While the action sequences are engaging, Sunny's trademark roar feels less impactful this time. Repetitive dialogues and an unconvincing narrative turn, particularly involving the martyrdom of Deol's on-screen son, expose major flaws in the screenplay.

Performance-wise, Sunny carries the film, while Varun disappoints with repetitive action beats. Paramvir stands out, and Mona delivers a tear-jerking moment. The music is largely forgettable, with only one song making an impact. Ultimately, Border 2 offers flashes of emotion and spectacle but struggles to sustain its patriotic core. AGENCIES

Min: PM SVANidhi promotes dignity, confidence among street vendors

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Jan 23: The ambitious Prime Minister Street Vendor's Atma Nirbhar Nidhi (PM SVANidhi) scheme is a landmark initiative that strengthens livelihoods and promotes dignity, confidence, and financial inclusion among street vendors, Housing and Urban Development (H&UD) Minister Krishna Chandra Mahapatra said Friday.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi launched the PM SVANidhi credit card – a UPI-linked, interest-free revolving credit facility from Kerala. On the occasion, Modi also disbursed loan amounts and credit cards to several beneficiaries under the scheme.

In Odisha, Mahapatra led the state-level event in Bhubaneswar, distributing loans and credit cards and felicitating three successful beneficiaries — including two women — who have become self-reliant through the scheme.

Parallel programmes were conducted across Urban Local Bodies in the state, marking a significant milestone in promoting financial inclusion and self-reliance among urban informal sector workers.

Addressing the gathering, Mahapatra highlighted the transformative impact of PM SVANidhi on the lives of street vendors, emphasising that they form the backbone of the urban informal economy by providing affordable goods and services while generating widespread self-employment.

"PM SVANidhi scheme is a landmark initiative that strengthens livelihoods and promotes dignity, confidence, and financial inclusion among street vendors," the H&UD Minister said.

The scheme offers collateral-free working capital loans starting at ₹15,000, with the option to scale up to ₹25,000 and ₹50,000 based on timely repayment and positive credit behavior.

The newly introduced PM SVANidhi credit card will allow beneficiaries to access flexible, revolving credit, enhancing business continuity and financial resilience.

Across Odisha, over 1.10 lakh PM SVANidhi loans have already been disbursed, directly benefiting street vendor families. In alignment with Centre's directives, the scheme is being

A special drive is also underway to ensure 100 per cent coverage under PMAY for PM SVANidhi beneficiaries.

Poor marketing, low prices hit Koraput ginger farmers

POST NEWS NETWORK

A few FPCs are operating for procurement of ginger in Koraput district while several others are struggling due to a lack of working capital, triggering resentment among farmers

Nandapur, Jan 23: Ginger growers in Koraput district have alleged that weak marketing arrangements are denying them fair prices despite large-scale production of the spice, which has received recognition as a single-crop specialty of the district.

The district Horticulture department has set a production target of 58,121 tonne during 2025-26 Rabi season as ginger was cultivated on 4,223 hectares in 14 blocks of the district. However, farmers claim that after setting aside about 20 per cent of the produce for seed, there is no clear mechanism in place to decide where and at what price the remaining stock should be sold.

In the absence of official procurement or price support, farmers say they are being forced to sell ginger in local markets at ₹20 to ₹22 per kg. They allege the price is insufficient to recover cultivation and harvesting costs. Farmers and local intellectuals have urged the district administration, the horticulture department and the state government to intervene and ensure better marketing support.

According to district deputy director of Horticulture Sudam Biswal, ginger cultivation during 2025-26 Kharif season covered 875 hectares in Nandapur block, 368 hectares in Lamtaput, 887 hectares in Semiliguda, 1,185 hectares in Pottangi, 20 hectares in Narayanpatna, 110 hectares in Laxmipur, 215 hectares in Dasmantpur, 27 hectares in Bandhugaon, 150 hectares in Koraput, 78 hectares in Borigumha, 84 hectares in Kotpad, 82 hectares in Kundura, 69 hectares in Boipariguda and 71 hectares in Jeypore block.

He said the overall harvest has been good and reiterated that total production is expected to reach 58,121 tonne. Farmers, however, remain apprehensive that prevailing market rates of ₹20 to ₹22 per kg will not cover their production costs.

As many as 54 Farmer Producer Companies (FPCs) are operating across 10 blocks of the district to facilitate the purchase and sale of various agricultural produce. Of them, 24 are engaged specifically for ginger trade.

Among these, Narishakti FPC is taking the lead role in ginger procurement and marketing in the district with support from NABARD. The Odisha Rural Development and Marketing Society (ORMAS), functioning under the Panchayati Raj department, is also involved in agricultural marketing activities. Several voluntary outfits, including Pragati and PRADAN, are extending support to farmers in marketing their produce.

This year, Narishakti FPC has set a target to procure 500 tonne ginger and has so far purchased about 180 tonne. Pragati, which had set a target of 60 tonne, has reportedly completed its procurement. Similarly, ITC has set a target of procuring 200 metric tons of ginger and has already purchased around 100 tonne.

However, several other FPCs are struggling due to a lack of working capital, resulting in sluggish procurement. This has led to growing dissatisfaction among farmers, who remain uncertain about where and at what price they should sell their remaining ginger.

Taking advantage of the district's weak marketing system, traders from neighbouring states are reportedly approaching farmers to lift ginger at throwaway rates. Many distressed farmers say they are being forced to sell their ginger at low prices due to a lack of alternatives.

According to experts, weak agricultural marketing system not only incurs losses to farmers but also leads to a decline in government revenue generated. Although more than 25,000 women's self-help groups operate under Mission Shakti programme in the district, only four department-run ginger processing centres are currently functional—in Nandapur, Lamtaput, Semiliguda and Pottangi blocks.

Experts said ginger processing units should be established in every block to support farmers and add value to their produce. They also stressed the need to ensure that functioning farmer-producer companies (FPCs) do not face a shortage of funds to procure and market ginger and other agricultural produce from the district.

They further called on researchers to focus on improving the quality of ginger produced in Koraput so that it meets international standards.

MKCG docs perform rare spine surgery

POST NEWS NETWORK

Berhampur, Jan 23: Doctors at the MKCG Medical College and Hospital here have successfully performed a rare surgery to remove a tumor from the spine of an 18-year-old girl student, hospital authorities said.

The patient, Manisha Jena of Dengapadar village under Kukudakhandi block in Ganjam district, had been experiencing severe pain for more than a month due to the spinal tumor. Despite treatment at private hospitals and later at AIIMS, Bhubaneswar, she did not get any relief.

The surgery was performed by a team led by Dr Sudhir Mohapatra, head of the Orthopaedics Department at the hospital. Doctors said the tumor was successfully removed through a complex surgical procedure.

Jena, a student of Dugapadar village under Kukudakhandi block in Ganjam district, had been experiencing persistent leg pain leading to frequent falls while walking. As her condition worsened, her family took her to a private hospital in Berhampur about eight months ago, where she underwent surgery. Although she showed improvement initially, the pain soon returned, her father Muna Jena said.

On the advice of relatives, the family later approached Dr Mohapatra at MKCG Medical College and Hospital, where detailed diagnostics confirmed the presence of a tumor in the spinal bone. She was subsequently referred to AIIMS, Bhubaneswar for surgery, but the procedure could not be carried out there due to unknown factors.

After returning to MKCG Medical College and Hospital last month, doctors performed a corpectomy to remove the tumor. The patient is currently in the intensive care unit and her condition is stable, hospital sources said.

The surgery was carried out with support from Dr Sarada Prasanna Sahu, head of the Cardiothoracic and Vascular Surgery Department, and anesthesiologist Dr Bishnu Mohapatra, along with the orthopedic team.

Earlier this month, MKCG doctors had successfully removed a brain tumor from another patient, highlighting a series of complex surgical achievements at the institution.

NEW GLOBAL DISORDER

The world is desperately feeling the absence of global statesmen like Woodrow Wilson, Jawaharlal Nehru, Abraham Lincoln, Dag Hammarskjöld, Sukarno, Olof Palme, Gro Brundtland, Nelson Mandela, Barack Obama and many more

With a leadership vacuum, world governance is in severe crisis. Under the UN watch, the US attacked, captured and abducted the Venezuelan President on the pretext of a drug trial in the US. If that's not a blatant violation of the so-called rule-based order, the US intended, by military or otherwise to annex Greenland, an autonomous territory of Denmark, a NATO member. Consequently, NATO members in the EU have deployed their troops to defend the largest island against the President's ambition. Beyond these erratic and whimsical actions, the US has withdrawn from 66 international organisations (IOs), conventions, and treaties, including the India- and France-led International Solar Alliance (ISA). In a nutshell, the US, singularly, through its legitimately elected President, can hang the world upside down.

Is this the so-called liberal order that handful of Western countries have been defending tooth and nail or pretending to do so? Or is this rule-based order an arrangement by the Western world, for the benefit of the Western world, but imposed upon the non-Western countries since the post-World War II era? Interestingly, the Kaisers (leaders) of highly ambitious emerging power centres of a multipolar world are keeping mum or maintaining their silence to avoid the wrath of a verbal illegal tariff hike from the US.

It is no exaggeration that the most powerful country in the world, the US, uses social media, especially 'Truth Social', to conduct its grand foreign policy. Most of the countries, allies or non-allies, are compelled to hook up to Truth Social with bated breath to know their assignments and missions with respect to the world affairs depending on the posting of the US President. In other words, public diplomacy has taken centre stage in the age of faster, smarter and concise communications but not as unpredictable and uncertain as we have been witnessing in recent months in the US.

On the other hand, the argument put forward by Trump for the mass withdrawal from international organisations, conventions, and treaties that were earlier agreed upon through negotiations is now against the interests of the US. Unflinchingly, the scholars and commentators in the Global South are lamenting that the action would lead to the loss of the US' leadership role, creating a destabilised, fragmented and riskier world.

The US has been the single largest donor and creator of such multilateral and regional institutions and agencies in the world that constitute the global structure. For the last eight decades, no power centres or regional blocs or emerging economies come close to dismantling such relative superiority of the US. When the US, or for that matter, any single country considers itself as indispensable for the survival of the prevailing global architecture, such an edifice has an inherent tendency to send frequent shock waves like the prevailing scenario. We must acknowledge the fact that greater connectedness has a relative trauma, as the Pandemic taught us recently. The present collective arrangement, which is highly dependent on both sides of the Atlantic, needs to be rearranged now through drastic changes by equal regional representations, irrespective of its economic strength.

Meanwhile, in Davos, the venue for the annual business jamboree- World Economic Forum- becomes the venue for the signing of the 'Board of Peace' on Gaza, initiated by the US President for the reconstruction and rebuilding of the Palestinian resettlement. The Board of Peace (BOP) is touted by the proponent, while bypassing the UN, as the alternative to the UN. Can this BOP replace the UN Peacebuilding Commission, a multilateral (31 members) advisory agency established in 2005 by the General Assembly and Security Council to collectively arrange resources and advise on integrated strategies for post-conflict peacebuilding and recovery?

Very unlikely. Many invited members are sceptical of the intent and purpose of this ad-hoc unilateral initiative of BOP. With the invitation letter to the world leaders to join the BOP, the draft Charter of the BOP is being shared as an attachment shows its seriousness. None of the leaders who are joining the group or who are considering joining have either participated in drafting the Charter or deliberated its purpose and objectives. If one closely examines, this BOP for Gaza was part of the US-initiated and UN Security Council approved Resolution in November 2025 that limits its function to Gaza and terminates by 2027. However, the draft Charter is considering the function of BOP in all conflict zones and beyond 2027. India, being an integral part of the UN Peacebuilding Commission for its contribution to peacekeeping, must not be coerced into joining this unilateral and ambiguous BOP.

Unquestionable unipolarity has a tremendous negative impact on global governance. The relevance of non-alignment or its hybrid format of multi-alignment or mini-alignment as an option for countries can't be outrightly discarded. Meanwhile, the world is desperately feeling the absence of global statesmen like Woodrow Wilson, Jawaharlal Nehru, Abraham Lincoln, Dag Hammarskjöld, Sukarno, Olof Palme, Gro Brundtland, Nelson Mandela, Barack Obama and many more.

SPECTRUM ECONOMY

Trade trends encouraging

German Chancellor Friedrich Merz's recent visit to India resulted in promising economic discussions. He assured Prime Minister Modi of progress on the European Union trade deal, while Germany formalized 19 defence and technology agreements. Eight other announcements seek to boost cooperation in areas like people-to-people contact, Indo-Pacific ties, green development, and visa-free transit for Indian passport holders through Germany.

A key outcome was the joint declaration of intent to strengthen bilateral cooperation, with Prime Minister Modi indicating that both parties will collaborate on a strategic roadmap aimed at enhancing defence industry partnerships and fostering new development opportunities.

At same time, Spain, Germany, Belgium, and Poland are becoming reliable export markets for India in the EU, according to commerce ministry data. Spain saw a 56% increase in Indian exports, reaching $4.7 billion between April and November, while exports to Germany rose 9.3% to $7.5 billion. These figures show that India is diversifying its export strategy across Europe, achieving rapid growth in Spain, steady gains in Germany, and stability in Belgium, reflecting a balanced export profile combining market diversification from traditional markets, according to government officials.

There are also reports that in various other areas, exports are showing a healthy trend. Mention may be made regarding apparel exports to the U.K., Russia and Germany as Bangladesh is in a turbulent situation presently. If the trade deal with the EU is signed early, India may greatly make up for some loss that has happened as regards the US market.

Coming to China, New Delhi has rightly decided to open up the Indian economy. This would signify the consolidation of the bilateral relationship that had witnessed seismic shocks in the light of Chinese incursions on the Indian border. However, new shoots of calm have been sprouting for a while as last year both New Delhi and Beijing agreed upon a series of mechanisms to improve relations. It makes sense for India to develop closer trade relations with China and the EU.

As is generally agreed, an economic engagement with China is thus very much desirable. However, India's trade gap with China is expected to exceed $100 billion in 2025 with exports estimated to improve last year but imports surged much faster from $87.7 billion in 2021 to $109.6 billion in 2024, according to data from the Global Trade Research Initiative.

If the trade deficit must be checked, India should give special focus on electronics and critical minerals to reduce dependence on China.

In recent years, electronics manufacturing, including mobile phones, increased in the country but imports haven't come down as the manufacturers rely on components produced in other countries, especially China. This should not happen and manufacturers should see and use Indian products and prove their worth.

Apart from China, India's economic relations with the UK, Australia, Germany, France, Israel, Brazil and some African countries are on strong foundation and expected to be enhanced. The Indo-Japan strategic dialogue held a few days back agreed to boost cooperation in AI and critical minerals while seeking enhanced engagement on issues related to South Asia, West Asia and Africa.

At same time, with India taking up the leadership role in BRICS, it would help engage with all other and new members, specially, Egypt, Ethiopia and the UAE. India is also giving a thrust to increase trade with the African world, and this may help boost up exports.

Regarding attracting foreign direct investment (FDI), it is tragic that over the next decade, India dropped in the rankings for net FDI/GDP from 12th to 19th among the 25 largest emerging countries. While the net numbers have been depressed recently by foreigners repatriating past profits, gross profits are low too with India ranking below most emerging markets last year.

In the past year, the government has introduced major reforms to reduce bureaucracy by streamlining labour codes, simplifying bankruptcy rules, and digitizing many public services. These changes are expected to encourage greater investment and stimulate economic growth.

While foreign direct investment (FDI) plays a role, it is also important for domestic private investment—especially in manufacturing—to become more active, supported by favourable reforms. Promoting innovation and increasing both domestic and foreign investment are essential for boosting exports, driving broad-based growth, and creating new jobs.

Delayed justice

Sir, Sajjan Kumar, a former Congress leader, was acquitted in one specific case related to the 1984 anti-Sikh riots because the court found insufficient legally reliable evidence to prove his role beyond reasonable doubt. There was no concrete proof placing him at the crime scene in that case. Under criminal law, each charge must be established independently, regardless of historical allegations or public opinion. However, this acquittal does not clear him of all responsibility. Sajjan Kumar is already serving life imprisonment in other 1984 riots cases where courts accepted evidence of his involvement in mob violence. Public response has been largely negative, with survivors and Sikh organizations expressing disappointment and anger. Legal remedies remain available through appeals in higher courts, while his existing convictions continue to stand. Justice delayed loses its impact with time.

Animal terror drives migration from hilly regions

People living near forests have often been victims of attacks by tigers and leopards, while wild boars, monkeys, and langurs have damaged their crops

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Dehradun, Jan 23: The escalating human-wildlife conflict in Uttarakhand has become one of the major factors driving migration from hilly regions, with residents forced to guard their family members with firearms even during routine chores.

Former Army Subedar Mohan Singh, who returned to his ancestral village of Kanalganj in Bageshwar district after retirement, described a harrowing existence.

"The terror of wild animals in our village is such that when one member of the family goes to the toilet at night, another stands guard outside with a gun," Singh, in a social media post shared by Congress leader Harish Rawat, said.

Expressing concern over the situation, Rawat said that he wonders how those who do not know how to handle a gun are coping with such a situation.

able," he added.

A song describing these conditions is also becoming quite popular on social media. Its lyrics, referring to the terror of animals, say "Gaaon-Gali mai dar hai chhaya, fasal chaupat sab hai teri maya" (Fear has spread in every village and street, crops are ruined—it's all your doing).

This song was reportedly written addressing Satpal Maharaj, the MLA from the Chauhattakhal area of Pauri district faced by people living in the hilly regions, Rawat said that the terror of wild animals has increased three to four times since 2010, and this has led to increased difficulties, resulting in 7 to 10 per cent migration in the last 12 to 14 years.

The Rural Development and Migration Prevention Commission has also acknowledged that there has been some increase in migration cases in recent years due to the increasing menace of wild animals in populated areas.

The Commission's chairman, SS Negi, said that the main reason for migration from the state is the search for employment. However, he also admitted that "the terror of wild animals is also a reason for migration, and about 7 to 8 per cent of people have cited it as the reason for their migration."

State Forest Minister Subodh Uniyal said that the government has ordered a study by experts on human-wildlife conflict in the state to find a permanent solution to this problem.

Similar weather conditions prevailed in districts such as Tonk, Nagaur, Alwar and Jaipur, where intermittent rain and strong winds intensified the cold. Meanwhile, the lowest temperature was recorded in Pushkar (Ajmer).

Light to moderate fog was also observed in parts of the state. The India Meteorological Department (IMD) has issued orange and yellow alerts for thunderstorms, strong winds, rainfall and hailstorms in various districts. An orange alert is in force for 14 districts today, while 11 districts are under a yellow alert.

The rainfall led to a drop of 2-3 degrees Celsius in temperature, bringing back a strong winter chill. Heavy rain also disrupted traffic in parts of the city, including Tonk Road, Malviya Nagar, Jagatpura, JLN Marg and surrounding Earlier on Thursday, light rain was recorded in border districts including Jaisalmer, Bikaner, Barmer, Ganganagar and Jodhpur, while dense fog was observed in northeastern districts such as Ganganagar and Hamanagar.

1 YEAR OF UCC

'Devbhoomi' became the first state in the country to implement UCC January 27, 2025, a law aimed at streamlining various personal laws, relating to marriage, succession, divorce and inheritance

INDO-ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

Dehradun, Jan 23: The Uniform Civil Code (UCC), implemented in Uttarakhand a year ago, has achieved considerable success particularly in the registration of marriages under the new law.

Nearly five lakh marriages have been registered in the hill state in one year alone, highlighting the successful launch of 'one nation, one law' scheme and also its penetration among the people.

Online procedure is seen as the key reason behind 'astronomical' figures in marriage registrations in the state, within one year as it not only simplified the administrative process but also exempted the married couples from compulsory presence at the Sub-Registrar for marriage registration.

It was January 27, 2025 that the 'Devbhoomi' became the first state in the country to implement UCC, a law aimed at streamlining various personal laws, relating to marriage, succession, divorce and inheritance.

As the state prepares to observe first anniversary of UCC rollout soon, women empowerment, protection of children's rights and equality in civil rights have emerged as the most significant achievements under the new law.

The simplification of administrative procedures has achieved positive results in multiple domains.

According to government's own estimates, 4,74,447 marriages have been registered under the UCC, within less than one year of its implementation.

Previously, the married couples had to be physically present at the Sub-Registrar's office on a fixed date along with two witnesses, for registering their marriages but the online services lowered restrictions and facilitated faster registrations.

Uttarakhand Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami congratulated people on the UCC achieving a landmark and also hoped that this becomes a model for other states.

"By implementing the Uniform Civil Code, Uttarakhand has shown the way to other states. The transparent and simple manner in which the provisions of the UCC have been implemented over the past one year has increased public trust in the entire process."

"This is the reason why a large number of people are now opting for registration under the UCC. In every sense, the Uttarakhand Uniform Civil Code has emerged as a model law," Chief Minister Dhami added.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Dehradun, Jan 23: The gates of the Badrinath temple in the Chamoli district of Uttarakhand will reopen for devotees April 23 this year after a six-month winter closure, temple officials announced Friday.

During the religious ceremony, Maharaja Manujendra Shah, royal priest Acharya Krishna Prasad Uniyal, and other dignitaries consulted the almanack and the Maharaja's horoscope to announce that the temple's gates would open at 6:15 AM April 23, Dwivedi said.

The Maharani of Tehri and Lok Sabha member from Tehri Garhwal, Mai Rajya Lakshmi Shah, Badrinath temple priest Rawal Amarnath Namboodiri, temple committee officials, and many pilgrimage priests were also present during the ceremony.

Life-term convicts to marry after 'live-in' at Jaipur open jail

Wednesday," he said.

The wedding is scheduled to take place in Barodameo in Alwar district, Prasad's native town. Sources said the two had selected inmates are permitted to work outside during the day and return to the camp by evening. Seth was convicted for the sensational 2018 Jaipur murder of Dushyant Sharma (27), whose body was found stuffed inside a suitcase on the city's outskirts. Police said she had met the victim through a dating app, held him captive at her rented flat in Bajaj Nagar, killed him, and later disposed of the body. She was sentenced to life imprisonment in 2023.

Prasad, also convicted in 2023, was found guilty in a 2017 murder case in Alwar involving the killing of a man, his three sons and a nephew. Police said he had developed a relationship with the man's wife, Santosh Sharma, and allegedly conspired with her to murder the family after drug-ging the victims.

The decision to grant parole, however, has sparked opposition. Sandeep Loharia, counsel for the victim's family in the Dushyant Sharma case, said they would challenge the parole order.

"We were not informed even after parole was granted. We will move the high court against the decision," he said.

While the wedding has drawn public attention for its extraordinary circumstances, prison officials stress that the process followed existing rules. Under the open-air camp system, a six-member committee evaluates eligibility for parole and rehabilitation, an official said.

Hanuman Prasad (29) conspired with a woman he was in a relationship with and killed her husband and her kids

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Jaipur, Jan 23: In the austere confines of Jaipur's open-air prison, two high-profile murder convicts serving life sentences developed a relationship, which will now culminate in a wedding Friday.

Priya Seth (34) is in jail for trapping a guy on a dating app and later strangling him and stuffing his body into a suitcase. Hanuman Prasad (29) conspired with a woman he was in a relationship with and killed her husband and her kids.

Placed in Sanganer open jail, they fell in love and have decided to get married. Their union, forged within prison walls, follows the grant of a 15-day parole to both convicts earlier this week.

The parole was granted after the Rajasthan High Court January 7 directed the parole committee to decide on their applications within seven days, their counsel Vishram Prajapati said.

"Acting on the court's order, the committee cleared their release, allowing the pair to step out of prison

TN battle: PM tears into DMK

Modi, who addressed a massive rally that turned out to be a show of strength with the presence of top leaders from key alliance parties, including AIADMK and AMMK, also attacked the DMK over the Karthigai lamp lighting row, accusing it of insulting Lord Murugan and the courts for electoral gains

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Madurantakam, Jan 23: Prime Minister Narendra Modi Friday launched the NDA's poll campaign in Tamil Nadu with a no-holds-barred attack on the ruling DMK, calling it "CMC- corruption, mafia and crime" promoting government, and asserted that the countdown for its exit has begun.

Modi, who addressed a massive rally that turned out to be a show of strength with the presence of top leaders from key alliance parties, including AIADMK and AMMK, also attacked the DMK over the Karthigai lamp lighting row, accusing it of insulting Lord Murugan and the courts for electoral gains.

Modi was presented with a silver Thiruprakurundam Murugan frame as a memento, along with a cardamom garland, by the alliance party leaders. Setting the tone for the high-stakes 2026 electoral showdown for the 234-member Tamil Nadu Assembly, Modi asserted that "a BJP-NDA double-engine government is being formed for sure. This huge sea of people is a strong message to the whole of Tamil Nadu, the country; Tamil Nadu is ready for change", while referring to the massive gathering at the rally.

"You gave the DMK a clear mandate twice. But they have broken the trust of the people. The DMK gave so many assurances, but their work is zero. People are calling DMK the CMC government-Corruption, Mafia, Crime-promoting government.

The people have made up their mind to uproot the DMK, CMC," The Prime Minister said.

The Assembly elections are expected to be held in the next few months. Modi said, "we just don't talk about Tamil culture, but take serious efforts to protect it," and mentioned restoration of the bull-taming sport 'jallikattu' through the legal route after a 'ban' during the "DMK-Congress" government, calling it another pro-Tamil achievement of the NDA, which ensured the Tamil heritage.

The state wants to get free from the DMK's "misgovernance" and looks forward to the good governance of the BJP-NDA. "All our senior leaders are here to decide TN's fate, with the determination to free it from the DMK rule," he said.

AIADMK chief and Leader of Opposition Edappadi K Palaniswami, Amma Makkal Munnetra Kazhagam (AMMK) chief TV Dhinakaran, PMK's Dr Anbumani Ramadoss, and TMC-M leader G K Vasan were among those who shared the dais with Modi.

Incidentally, old foes Palaniswami and Dhinakaran shared the stage for the first time in many years, with each complimenting the other and stressing the common goal to show the door to the DMK in the hustings.

The DMK government has nothing to do with democracy and accountability, and "functions for only one family," Modi, and added its "countdown (for defeat) has started."

The NDA government has done "unprecedented" development work for Tamil Nadu in the last 11 years, ensuring a manifold increase in allocation of funds to the state, including in the railway sector.

The BJP-led dispensation at the Centre was concerned about the welfare of Tamil Nadu farmers, fishermen, and women and has initiated various steps in this connection, the Prime Minister pointed out.

On Tamil language and culture, he listed out various efforts to popularise them. He said he has gifted copies of 'Thirukkural' to various heads of state with a view to "linking them to Tamil Nadu's knowledge. Thirukkural is a collection of 1330 couplets dealing with various facets of life, including governance. In his address, Palaniswami slammed the DMK-led government, saying its only achievement was "dynasty rule" in Tamil Nadu.

AMMK General Secretary Dhinakaran, who rejoined the NDA recently after walking out in September 2025, said his party had wholeheartedly joined the alliance to unseat the ruling DMK and not under "coercion".

Though he may have differences with the AIADMK leadership, he said he did not want these to come in the way of public welfare or efforts to end the DMK rule in the state.

Reacting strongly to Modi's double-engine government pitch, Chief Minister M K Stalin asked Modi to ponder how states such as Tamil Nadu, Kerala, Telangana, Karnataka, and West Bengal, where the "double engine" has not entered, were registering growth.

Stalin noted that the all initiatives whether it is an infrastructure project or a scheme to uplift the livelihoods of the people, all the programmes were implemented efficiently without discrimination in Tamil Nadu. "In several Union government projects, Tamil Nadu ranks first in India and continues to receive appreciation from various ministries."

Stalin said amid thumping of desks by the Treasury benches.

Chennai, Jan 23: The Tamil Nadu Assembly Friday adopted a resolution urging the Centre to continue with the MGNREGA to protect the livelihoods of the rural population in the state.

The resolution was moved by Chief Minister M K Stalin. Referring to the latest rural employment scheme Viksit Bharat-Guarantee for Rozgar and Ajeevika Mission (Gramin) (VB-G RAM G) introduced by the Centre, Stalin said, "The proposed new scheme replaces the MGNREGA and is designed in a manner that undermines the livelihoods of rural people across India, the financial structure of the states, the self-reliance of the local bodies and employment opportunities for the rural women."

Recalling that the DMK MPs have strongly opposed the VB-G RAM G scheme at its introduction stage, Stalin said, "All opposition parties have raised their voices together. However, the Union government disregarding the people's voice has passed it. This new scheme is not based on the needs of the people. I have already written a letter to the PM regarding this December 18, 2025."

The Chief Minister said under the new scheme VB-G RAM G, employment to is not provided as a "Right to Work" but is based on a provisional allocation to be determined by the Centre.

KERALA POLLS
PM Modi targets Left over gold theft

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Thiruvananthapuram, Jan 23: Prime Minister Narendra Modi Friday launched a blistering assembly poll campaign offensive in Kerala, accusing the ruling Left of "corruption" over the Sabarimala gold loss case while branding the Congress as a "compromised coalition" ideologically tethered to the Muslim League and Maoists.

Visiting the state for the first time since the BJP's historic victory in the prestigious Thiruvananthapuram Corporation, Modi addressed a massive rally Friday, seeking a decisive mandate in the upcoming April polls to fulfill the developmental aspirations of the people of Kerala.

Elections to the 140-member assembly are expected to be held in three to four months

Branding the Congress as 'MMC', Muslim League Maoist Congress, Modi said it was important to be vigilant against them, as they were allegedly using Kerala as a "testing ground" for their strategies.

No FIR against TMC MLA even 24 hrs after EC deadline

Kolkata: More than 24 hours after the Election Commission's deadline expired, no FIR has been registered against TMC MLA Monirul Islam in connection with the vandalism at the Farakka Block Development Office in Murshidabad district during the ongoing SIR of electoral rolls, officials said Friday. The Commission had Thursday directed the Murshidabad District Magistrate-cum-District Election Officer to ensure that an FIR was filed against Islam by 5 pm the same day for his alleged role in the January 14 violence at the Farakka BDO office. However, police sources said no complaint had been received so far. "We have not received any formal complaint yet. Therefore, no FIR has been registered," a senior police officer said. The delay has raised questions over the implementation of the Commission's directive, even as the poll body has reiterated strict enforcement of law and order during the SIR process ahead of the 2026 West Bengal Assembly elections.

Violence had erupted during a Special Intensive Revision (SIR) hearing at the Farakka BDO office January 14, when a group of people led by the local MLA allegedly vandalised the premises.

Sabarimala gold loss: Court grants statutory bail to ex-TDB officer

Kollam (Kerala): A court here Friday granted statutory bail to former TDB administrative officer Murari Babu in two cases related to the alleged gold loss from the Sabarimala temple. Kollam Vigilance Court Judge Mohit C S granted bail to Babu as 90 days had elapsed since his arrest, and the Special Investigation Team (SIT) had failed to file chargesheets in the two cases. Babu is the second accused in the case related to the alleged gold loss from the Dwarapala (guardian deity) idol plates and the sixth accused in the case pertaining to the alleged gold loss from the doorframes of the Sreekovil (sanctum sanctorum). The court granted bail, subject to the condition that he should not influence witnesses or tamper with evidence, and that he should appear before the investigating officer whenever required. Babu, who was lodged at a Special Sub Jail in Thiruvananthapuram, was released Friday night and later left for his residence with his family.

Turkman Gate violence: HC sets aside bail granted to accused

New Delhi: The Delhi High Court has set aside the bail granted to an accused who was allegedly part of the mob that indulged in stone-pelting during a demolition exercise near Faiz-e-Elahi mosque in Turkman Gate here early this month, and remanded the matter to the trial court for reconsideration. The trial court had granted bail to Ubedullah January 20. On Friday, Justice Prateek Jalan directed that the bail plea be re-heard Saturday at 10 am, after he was informed that the Principal District and Sessions Judge (PDSJ) concerned has placed the matter before the sessions judge who passed the bail order. Justice Jalan said if the sessions judge was unavailable for any reason, the PDSJ would either take up the matter herself or assign it to any other judge for consideration. The order was passed after the counsel for the accused moved an application to inform that the sessions judge who was supposed to hear the bail plea during the day was not available and the matter was also not taken up by the link judge.

Failed twice in NEET, youth amputates foot for quota seat

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Jaunpur (UP), Jan 23: "I will become an MBBS doctor in 2026." Lakhs of medical aspirants likely gave themselves this self-motivation talk but a youth from Uttar Pradesh took on an unheard-of gambit to realise his dreams: he amputated his foot to be eligible for disability quota.

Findings of a police probe into the incident that happened in Khalipur village in Jaunpur district were shared with Additional Superintendent of Police (City) Ayush Srivastava on Wednesday.

The matter came to light after the aspirant's elder brother, Akash Bhaskar, informed police on Sunday that "unidentified assailants" allegedly assaulted Suraj the previous night, leaving him unconscious with a severed foot before fleeing.

Suraj Bhaskar, around 20 years of age, had twice failed the medical entrance exam, NEET, for admission into a government medical college, leading him to take the extreme step and claim he lost a foot in a violent attack, police said

Accordingly, a case was registered and an investigation launched, which was later handed over to City Circle Officer Goldy Gupta, he said.

During the probe, police found several inconsistencies in Suraj's statement. Examination of his phone and questioning a woman whose number cropped up in the probe further deepened suspicion, police said.

Investigators also recovered a diary belonging to Suraj in which he had written, "I will become an MBBS doctor in 2026." Failing to clear the National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test (NEET) examination twice, he slipped into mental stress, police said.

To avail admission under the disability quota, he allegedly devised a plan to become physically disabled by amputating his own foot and staging the incident as a criminal attack, they said.

The accused tried to mislead the investigation with a fabricated story, but his claims did not stand scrutiny during sustained questioning and examination of evidence," police said, adding that further legal action is underway.

Line Bazar Station House Officer Satish Singh said Suraj is currently undergoing treatment at a private hospital.

SK imposes travel bans on 3 civilians

Seoul: South Korea placed overseas travel bans on three people as part of an investigation into alleged drone flights over North Korea that have deepened animosities between the rivals, authorities said Friday. North Korea threatened retaliation earlier this month after accusing South Korea of launching surveillance drone flights in September and again in January. The South Korean government denied operating any drones during the times specified by North Korea and began probing if civilians sent them. The development threatens to further dampen prospects for a push by South Korea's liberal government to resume long-stalled talks with North Korea.

'Rebuilding Sri Lanka' fund exceeds Rs 8.5bn

Colombo: Sri Lanka has received LKR 8.5 billion (around $27.5 million) in foreign contributions to carry out post-cyclone reconstruction, a top finance ministry official said Friday. A total of 47 countries contributed in the form of aid, with the US topping the list with LKR 1 billion worth of assistance, followed by Australia. "Since the process began, we have been overwhelmed by the assistance extended by well-wishers, citizens overseas, organisations, and individuals contributing from overseas," Secretary to the Treasury Harshana Suriyapperuma told reporters. The island nation received assistance worth LKR 8.5 billion, which also includes USD 9.49 million in foreign currencies, he said.

Takaichi dissolves Japan's parliament

Tokyo: Japanese Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi dissolved the lower house of parliament Friday, paving the way for an early election February 8. The move is an attempt to capitalise on her popularity to help the governing party regain ground after major losses in recent years, but it will delay parliamentary approval for a budget that aims at boosting a struggling economy and addressing soaring prices. Takaichi, elected in October as Japan's first female leader, has been in office only three months, but she has seen strong approval ratings of about 70 per cent. Takaichi's Liberal Democratic Party could still face some challenges as it reels from a series of scandals about corruption and the party's past ties to the Unification Church.

Russia, Ukraine clash over Donbas deadlock

REUTERS

Kyiv/Moscow, Jan 23: Ukrainian and Russian negotiators met in Abu Dhabi Friday to tackle the vital issue of territory, with no sign of a compromise, as Russian attacks plunged Ukraine into its deepest energy crisis of the four-year war.

Kyiv is under mounting US pressure to reach a peace deal in the war triggered by Russia's full-scale invasion in February 2022, with Moscow demanding Kyiv cede its entire eastern industrial area of Donbas before it stops fighting.

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskiy said the territorial dispute would be a top priority of the talks in the United Arab Emirates.

"The question of Donbas is key. It will be discussed how the three sides... see this in Abu Dhabi today and tomorrow," he told reporters in a WhatsApp chat a day after talks with US President Donald Trump at the World Economic Forum in Davos that yielded no immediate results.

The negotiations in the Gulf are expected to continue on Saturday morning, Zelenskiy's aide said.

The talks unfold against a backdrop of intensified Russian strikes on Ukraine's energy system that have cut power and heating to major cities like

- Trilateral talks in UAE will focus on key issue of land
- Negotiations scheduled to continue Saturday
- Ukraine resists Russia's demand to cede Donets region
- Zelenskiy says US security guarantees ready

Kyiv, as temperatures hover well below freezing.

Russian President Vladimir Putin's demand that Ukraine surrender the 20% it still holds of the Donetsk region of the Donbas - about 5,000 sq km (1,900 sq miles) - has proven a major stumbling block to a breakthrough deal.

Zelenskiy refuses to give up land that Russia has not been able to capture in four years of grinding, attritional warfare. Polls show little appetite among Ukrainians for territorial concessions.

Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said on Friday that Russia's insistence on Ukraine yielding the Donbas was "a very important condition".

Donetsk is one of four Ukrainian regions Moscow said in 2022 it was annexing after referendums rejected by Kyiv and Western nations as bogus. Most countries recognise Donetsk as part of Ukraine.

As Friday's talks proceeded, the head of Ukraine's top private power producer, Maxim Timchenko, told Reuters that Ukraine needs a ceasefire that halts attacks on energy, saying the situation was nearing a "humanitarian catastrophe".

SECURITY GUARANTEES AGREED, ZELENSKIY SAYS

Zelenskiy said Thursday in Davos that the Abu Dhabi talks would be the first trilateral meetings involving Ukrainian and Russian envoys and US mediators since the war began.

Last year Russian and Ukrainian delegations had their first face-to-face meeting since 2022 when they met in Istanbul. A top Ukrainian military intelligence officer also had talks with US and Russian delegations in Abu Dhabi in November.

Ukraine has sought robust security guarantees from Western allies in the event of a peace deal to prevent Russia, which has shown little interest in ending the war, from invading again.

French govt survives no-confidence votes

REUTERS

Paris, Jan 23: The French government survived two votes of no-confidence in parliament Friday over its decision to ram through the income part of the 2026 budget without giving the National Assembly the final say.

A total of 269 lawmakers voted in favor of the no-confidence motion presented by the hard-left France Unbowed together with the Greens and Communists, whereas 288 votes were required to bring down the government. Even fewer backed a second no-confidence motion, brought by the far right.

Prime Minister Sébastien Lecornu will now again invoke article 49.3 of the constitution to force the expenditure part of the budget through the National Assembly - a move that will almost certainly trigger further votes of no confidence.

What is Trump's 'Board of Peace' and who has joined so far?

REUTERS

US President Donald Trump has invited dozens of world leaders to join his Board of Peace initiative aimed at resolving global conflicts but diplomats say it could harm the work of the United Nations.

While some traditional allies of the US have responded cautiously, and in a few cases have rejected Trump's offer, others including nations that have long had strained ties with Washington such as Belarus have accepted.

WHAT IS TRUMP'S BOARD OF PEACE?

Trump first proposed the Board of Peace last September when he announced his plan to end the Gaza war. He later made clear the board's remit would be expanded beyond Gaza to tackle other conflicts worldwide.

The US president will be the inaugural chairman of the board and it will be tasked with promoting peace around the world and working to resolve conflicts, according to a copy of the draft charter seen by Reuters.

Member states would be limited to three-year terms unless they pay $1 billion each to fund the board's activities and earn permanent membership, the charter says.

The White House has named US Secretary of State Marco Rubio, Trump's special envoy Steve Witkop, former British prime minister Tony Blair and Trump's son-in-law, Jared Kushner as members of the initiative's founding Executive Board.

WHICH COUNTRIES HAVE ACCEPTED TRUMP'S INVITATION SO FAR?

A senior White House official said Wednesday about 35 world leaders have so far committed to joining the Board of Peace out of the 50 or so invitations that were sent.

These include Middle East allies such as Israel, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates, Bahrain, Jordan, Qatar and Egypt. NATO members Turkey and Hungary, whose nationalist leaders have cultivated good personal ties with Trump, have also agreed to take part, as have Morocco, Pakistan, Indonesia, Kosovo, Uzbekistan, Kazakhstan, Paraguay, and Vietnam.

Others which have accepted include Armenia and Azerbaijan, which reached a US-brokered peace agreement last August after meeting Trump at the White House.

More controversially, Belarusian President Alexander Lukashenko, long shunned by the West over his country's poor human rights record and backing for Russia's war in Ukraine, has accepted Trump's invitation, which comes amid a broader rapprochement between Washington and Minsk.

Russia, which has also seen frosty relations with Washington improve markedly as Trump courts President Vladimir Putin while accusing Kyiv of blocking efforts to end the Ukraine war, has not yet said whether it will join the Board of Peace.

Neither has China, which has often been at loggerheads with Trump but recently struck a delicate trade truce.

Russia and China are both veto-wielding members of the United Nations Security Council, so are likely to be cautious about any initiatives that could be seen as undermining their power at the world body.

WHICH COUNTRIES HAVE REFUSED TO JOIN OR HAVE YET TO COMMIT?

The Board of Peace initiative, which comes amid a growing transatlantic rift over Greenland, tariffs and other issues, has drawn a cautious response from some close US allies who are often uncomfortable with Trump's belligerent, unilateralist, "America First" approach to international diplomacy.

Norway and Sweden have declined its invitation, while Italy's Economy Minister Giancarlo Giorgetti said joining the board appeared problematic. Italian daily Il Corriere della Sera reported that joining a group led by one country's leader would violate Italy's constitution.

France also intends to decline the invitation, a source close to President Emmanuel Macron said, prompting Trump to threaten to hit French wines and champagnes with 200% tariffs unless Paris joined his board.

Canada said it has agreed "in principle" to join but that the details were still being worked out. Other key US allies including Britain, Germany and Japan have not yet taken a clear public stance, though a German government spokesperson said Chancellor Friedrich Merz would not attend a signing ceremony for the board on Thursday at the World Economic Forum in Davos.

Ukraine has said its diplomats are examining the invitation but President Volodymyr Zelenskiy has said it is hard for him to imagine being on any board with Russia after four years of war.

Pope Leo, the first US pontiff and a critic of some of Trump's policies, has been invited to join the board and is evaluating the proposal, the Vatican said Wednesday.

WHAT POWER WILL THE BOARD HAVE?

The UN Security Council in November mandated the Board of Peace but only through 2027 and to be solely focused on Gaza. Russia and China abstained, complaining that the US-drafted resolution did not give the UN a clear role in Gaza's future.

The resolution welcomed the establishment of the Board of Peace as a transitional administration "that will set the framework, and coordinate funding for the redevelopment of Gaza" under Trump's peace plan until the Palestinian Authority has satisfactorily reformed.

It also authorized the Board of Peace to deploy a temporary International Stabilization Force in Gaza. The Board is required to report to the 15-member Security Council every six months on its progress.

Gross tax revenue to improve 9.6%, capex to grow 10%: Report

AGENCIES

New Delhi, Jan 23: India's gross tax revenue is projected to improve in FY27, rising by 9.6 per cent, marginally lower than projected nominal GDP growth of 10.1 per cent, a report said Friday.

The report from CareEdge Ratings said that direct tax collections are expected to see some improvement in FY27, aided by recovery in income and corporate tax collections. The government's capex is projected to grow 10 per cent to ₹12.3 trillion in FY27, while the fiscal deficit is expected to be budgeted at 4.2-4.3 per cent in FY27. "We expect gross borrowing to be in the range of ₹16-17 trillion in FY27; Net borrowing likely at ₹11.5-12 trillion," the report said.

Though GST rate rationalisation is expected to weigh on collections, GST revenues are likely to show signs of improvement. Non tax collections have been healthy this fiscal year aided by a higher Reserve Bank of India dividend, with non tax revenues up 20.9 per cent during the first eight months of FY26. The RBI dividend transfer is likely to remain high at ₹2-Rs 2.5 trillion in FY27 compared to ₹2.7 trillion in FY26 and non debt capital receipts may fall short by ₹0.2 trillion in FY26, the firm forecasted.

The ratings agency noted that excise duty on tobacco products, effective February 1, 2026, is expected to support union excise duty growth in FY27.

"With higher-than-expected dividend transfer by RBI, we expect the non-tax revenues to overshoot the budgeted amount of ₹5.8 trillion, by ₹0.3 trillion in FY26," the report said.

Another recent report said that Budget 2026 will maintain fiscal prudence and prioritise strategic, capex heavy sectors making defence sector the top beneficiary.

A pre budget survey of over 50 investment managers found that infrastructure ranked second at about 29 per cent, reflecting confidence in public capex and long term growth multipliers.

India's forex reserve crosses $700 billion

INDO ASIAN NEWS SERVICE

New Delhi, Jan 23: India's foreign exchange reserves witnessed a massive surge of $14.167 billion to reach $701.36 billion in the week ended January 16, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) data showed Friday.

In the preceding week that ended January 9, the country's foreign exchange reserves had increased by $392 million.

The largest component of the foreign exchange reserves, Foreign Currency Assets (FCA), increased by $9.65 billion in the week ended January 16, reaching $560.51 billion. FCA includes the value of other major global currencies such as the yen, euro and pound, in addition to the dollar, expressed in dollar terms.

The gold reserves also increased by $4.6 billion to $117.45 billion in the reporting period.

According to the RBI, the value of Special Drawing Rights (SDRs) decreased by $35 million to $18.70 billion in the week ended January 16. The value of the reserve position in the IMF decreased by $73 million to $4,684 billion.

Previously, October 17, 2025, the country's foreign exchange reserves had reached $702.25 billion. The all-time high for India's foreign exchange reserves is $704.89 billion, recorded in September 2024.

SENSEX FALLS 1%, SETTLES AT 81,537

AGENCIES

Mumbai, Jan 23: The Indian equity markets posted strong losses Friday, flipping early gains amid continued selling by institutional investors.

At the closing bell, the Sensex lost 769 points, or 0.94 per cent to settle at 81,537. The Nifty declined 241 points, or 0.95 per cent, to close at 25,048.

The broader markets posted stronger losses than the benchmark indices as Nifty Midcap 100 index lost 1.95 per cent, while the NSE Smallcap 100 declined 2.06 per cent.

Nifty 50 and Sensex began the final day of the trading week slightly up, tracking global cues as geopolitical tensions over Greenland eased.

But the indices dipped sharply due to strong foreign selling and mixed earnings reports leading to investors maintaining a cautious outlook.

On the sectoral front, all indices were in the red. Nifty Realty fell the most down 3.42 per cent. Nifty Media dropped 2.79 per cent while Nifty PSU Bank declined 2.43 per cent. Nifty Auto eased 1.25 per cent while Nifty Oil and Gas slipped 1.30 per cent.

Analysts said that Indian equity markets went on a sell-off mode despite an optimistic global market and supportive domestic PMI data. The sentiment was weighed down by an uptick in crude oil prices, a sharp depreciation of the rupee, FII selling and earnings delivery falling marginally short of expectations amid premium India valuations.

Looking ahead, market sentiment will likely remain cautious as investors keenly wait for the upcoming Union Budget and the US Fed's interest rate decision, they added.

Market watchers predicted that if better-than-expected results for Q3 FY26 are reported for some companies, they could trigger only a stock-specific reaction because foreign institutional selling is expected to continue in the near term.

The rupee slumped 41 paise to touch 91.99 against the US dollar in intraday trade on Friday, amid persistent foreign fund outflows.

Analysts said that intervention from the central bank has kept the volatility in check to some extent, but could not reverse the overall negative trend for the domestic currency.

Air India Express awarded for enhancing domestic connectivity

POST NEWS NETWORK

Bhubaneswar, Jan 23: Air India Express has been announced as the winner in the airline category at Wings India 2026, constituted by the Ministry of Civil Aviation, government of India, in collaboration with FICCI and the Airports Authority of India (AAI).

The airline has been selected by the jury for enhancing guest experience, growing connectivity, delivering superior services, leveraging digital and technology, driving sustainability, and innovation. The award will be presented 28th January at Wings India, India's premier aviation event, in Hyderabad.

The award was conferred by Manohar Lal, Minister of Power and Housing & Urban Affairs, at the maiden annual conference of the All-India Discoms Association (AIDA). It acknowledges TPCODL's focused approach towards operational discipline, technology adoption and community-centric reforms aimed at improving service delivery and financial sustainability in rural areas.

Commenting on the achievement, Arvind Singh, CEO, TPCODL, said, "This Award from AIDA reflects the commitment of our teams working across rural Central Odisha. Through operational discipline, technology adoption and active consumer engagement, we are strengthening power distribution while ensuring reliable and sustainable electricity services for our communities."

The AIDA Awards saw participation from 29 DISCOMs across India, with 78 nominations evaluated by an independent jury of industry experts. Utilities from both public and private sectors were recognised across multiple categories.

Organised over two days, EDICON 2026 brought together policymakers, regulators and power sector leaders to deliberate on key issues such as DISCOM viability, utilisation of smart meter data, renewable energy integration and improvement in the quality and reliability of electricity supply.

The recognition further reinforces TPCODL's role in enabling reliable, efficient and sustainable electricity services for rural communities across Central Odisha, supporting inclusive growth and development.

experience, larger overhead bins for more cabin storage, and fast-charging USB-C and USB-A ports for every seat. In December, Air India Express ranked number one in on-time performance amongst all Indian airlines.

The airline has also made sustained investments in elevating its airport, onboard and digital experience. 'Gourmair' hot meals inspired by regional flavours and the industry's first customised fare options including India's only Lite (cabin-bag only) fare. The airline's network is anchored by its three largest hubs - Bengaluru, Delhi, and Mumbai, which together form the backbone of its connectivity. These hubs enable seamless transfers, and improved schedule reliability, enhancing convenience and efficiency for guests. Nearly 80% of domestic capacity is deployed on routes connecting metros to non-metros, the fastest-growing segment in Indian aviation.

By the end of FY25, the airline operated over 1,260 weekly domestic flights across approximately 120 routes, reflecting a 47% year-on-year increase. Of the 20 million guests carried by Air India Express in FY25, nearly three-fourth were domestic travelers.

This momentum accelerated further in FY26, with weekly domestic flights rising to around 2,700, an increase of nearly 115%. As part of this expansion, the airline launched 12 new stations in 2025, further strengthening network reach and accessibility.

Koida, Jan 23: Arcelor Mittal Nippon Steel India (AM/NS India), under its flagship Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) initiative Project 'Daksh', successfully concluded a two-day, industrial training visit in Ghoraburani - Sagarasi mine of AM/NS India followed by knowledge sharing seminars and certificate distribution ceremony at Government ITI in Koida, Sundargarh during January 20-22, 2026.

The initiative was designed to bridge the gap between classroom learning and real-world mining practices, equipping students with practical technical expertise while fostering a strong culture of safety.

On the first day of the visit, 20 ITI students were trained at the Sagarasi mine, gaining hands-on exposure to stone processing, machinery, operations, and safety. On the next day, an additional 21 students from the Mines Machineries Trade visited the mine to learn about mining machinery, iron ore crushing, safety practices and the slurry beneficiation project. On the third and last day, seminar and training sessions were organised for 165 ITI students which featured discussions by officers from AM/NS India on health and safety protocols, mining machinery operations, and best industrial practices.

Big win for Men in Blue

Kishan's statement knock, Surya's welcome fifty give India 2-0 lead

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Raipur, Jan 23: Ishan Kishan justified his national recall with a sensational 32-ball-76 while captain Suryakumar Yadav scored his first fifty after 23 innings as India decimated New Zealand by seven wickets for a 2-0 lead in the five-match T20 series here Friday.

Ahead of the all important T20 World Cup, it all seems to be falling in place for India with Suryakumar (82 not out off 37) overcoming a prolonged lean patch and Kishan emerging as a destructive top-order enforcer. India were expected to chase 209 on a belter of a pitch but not with such ease after losing Abhishek Sharma and Sanju Samson by the second over of the chase.

Suryakumar and Shivam Dube (36 not out off 18) closed out the game in a canter as India gunned down the target in 15.2 overs.

Kishan, back in the side after a gap of more than two years, went berserk from ball one and ended with 11 fours and four sixes.

Suryakumar maintained the momentum generated by Kishan in the able company of Dube, who too collected his fair share of sixes.

At the start of the chase, Samson could not carry on for long despite being dropped at deep square leg on the second ball of the innings.

The pressure piled up on India when trump card Abhishek's mistimed flick off Jacob Duffy to be holed out at deep square leg.

The counter attack from Kishan tilted the game in favour of India. Earlier, Kuldeep Yadav regained form with two timely strikes in the middle overs as India limited New Zealand to 208 for 6. Rachin Ravindra (44 off 26) and skipper Mitchell Santner (47 not out off 27) took the attack to India in different phases of the game to ensure New Zealand got past 200-run mark.

At 111/3 in 10 overs on a true surface, New Zealand looked on course for a total well over 200 but India were able to pull things back. Shivam Dube, the seventh bowling option introduced in the 12th over, got rid of the in-form Daryl Mitchell off a slower ball to build pressure on the opposition. Santner ensued his team got 57 runs off the last five overs with a flurry of boundaries and a straight six off Hardik Pandya.

BRIEF SCORES
New Zealand: 208 for 6 in 20 overs (Rachin Ravindra 44, Mitchell Santner 47 not out; Kuldeep Yadav 2/35) lost to India: 209/3 in 15.2 overs (Ishan Kishan 76, Suryakumar Yadav not out 82) by 7 wickets
